In the afternoon Cobourg, Bobcaygeon, Lindsay and Peterborough Thistles played and Bobcaygeon came out five ahead of Cobourg, while Peterborough Thistles defeated the renowned Lindsay rinks by 2 up. That left Peterborough and Bobcaygeon in the finals, which were played off in the evening, resulting in the home rinks winning.

The Peterborough rinks now stand a very good chance of walking off with the Ontario Tankard, which for the past two years has fallen to Lindsay.

The rinks were composed as follows:—

Referee—Dr. Boucher, Peterborough.

After the whole affair had been concluded the local clubs entertained the players from Bobcaygeon and Whitby in McCallum's Restaurant, where an oyster supper was served. After the repast Mr. R. Neill, who acted as chairman, rose and thanked the visitors for their attendance, and stated that he hoped they would participate in the bonspeil to be held here some time in February.

Mr. Read replied on behalf of Bobcaygeon and Mr. Willis for Whitby, the latter especially inviting the Peterborough rinks to their bonspeil to be held during the first week in February.

Mr. Neill acknowledged the invitation and stated that two or three rinks would probably be present.

HOW BELLEVILLITES ACCOUNT FOR DEFEAT.

Admit that Peterborough Defeated Them Fairly, but Say McGuire's Absence from the Team—Lost the Game.

If the Belleville Intelligencer knows what it is talking about, the hockey team in that city had better keep McGuire out of exhibition games in future, for, according to that paper, his absence from the team here Wednesday, lost them the game. The sporting editor says:—

"Last night they were beaten because McGuire was out of the game, he having had a chunck chopped off his ankle bone in the game with the Frontenacs—another Kingston team. No doubt about it at all—dear old Kingston put us on Queer street. The boys were up against a pretty swift aggregation last night. The Petes have speed to throw at the men who shovel the shavings out of the rink, and can handle sticks like artists. They started out at a whirlwind pace, and at first made some of the Bellevilles look like cripples, but towards the end they slowed up a lot, and at one time it began to look as though we were going to beat 'em out, after all.

"It was a pretty game to watch, from a Peterborough point of view particularly. The Petes have a good forward line, and their centre, Whitcroft, is a dashing and clever player. He is easily the star of the team. The wings are fast, and that's about all. Harold Armstrong, the rover, was only a shade behind Whitcroft, and when those two broke away with the puck and started down that big sheet of ice, the Belleville forwards didn't seem to be able to check back fast enough to catch them. The wonder is that they didn't score oftener than they did; only the really splendid work of the Belleville defence stopped them. The Peterborough defence was good. To sum it all up, the Petes beat our lads, and beat them fairly last night, but they had all the luck, and were on their own ice, with the cheers of their supporters ringing in their ears. Wait till we get McGuire on, and shake hands with those gents down on Pinnacle street. If there isn't a different story to tell you can have our Sunday hat for a football."

Some good advice is given the Belleville team when he says:

"With McGuire in his place at centre, and some steady, consistent general practice indulged in (something, we are told which has been scarce in the past) there is still good reason to think that the locals can annex the championship to this group. But they must strike their proper gait and keep agoing all the time, otherwise the head of the procession is not for us."

Regarding the fact that some of the Belleville people were unable to secure admittance to the rink, the Intelligencer says:

"There does not seem to be any blame attached to the rink management, but it was pretty hard luck to cough up good money, lose a night's rest, and then find the doors shut in their faces. However, that's one of the ups and downs of sporting life."

The Intelligencer man accounts rather peculiarly for the first goal credited to the visitors. Everyone saw the way it got into the net, by first hitting the boards behind and bouncing in from the back. But it must have escaped the attention of the sporting editor of the Intelligencer, for he says:

"At last Kennedy intercepted a pass, went down two thirds of the way and let go at Mercer, who stopped the puck, but the Belleville forwards, who had followed up fast, batted it through. Then we tore off a few remarks ourselves."

This was one of two striking instances in the game when the "luck" was with the Belleville team.

PLAY PORT HOPE ON MONDAY NIGHT.

Peterborough's Supporters Will go to the Lake Town by Special Train.

The game between the local Intermediate team and Port Hope on Monday night will sure to be a good one. Those who saw Port Hope play here last year know that they they are capable of putting up a good game, and on their home ice will no doubt give the visitors a hard run. The locals are expecting a good tight game, and will get in some stiff practices in the meantime to be in readiness for it, and the Port Hope team are also "sawing wood," and will make a big attempt to take a fall out of the visitors, which they feel capable of being able to do.

The club will run a special train for the benefit of those who wish to accompany the team, and the indications that there will be a good crowd of Peterborough supporters along to cheer the boys on. The train will leave here at 5.30, making the run in an hour, and will return after the game, arriving here in good time. The low rate of $1.10 has been secured for the round trip, and it is expected that the team will be accompanied by a large crowd.

T. A. S. PLAY KEENE TO-NIGHT.

The T.A.S. team, with a large number of supporters left this afternoon for Keene where they will play the team of that village in a Trent Valley League game. The T.A.S. team will be constituted as follows: Goal, McCoy; point, Meagher; cover point, Crowley; forwards, Lynch, George, McGrath and Parnell; spare man, Barbeau. Mr. McIntyre, of Bobcaygeon, will referee the game.

The indications are that there will be a monster crowd in attendance, the liverymen report that nearly all the sleighs in their possession have been engaged for this evening.

HOCKEY.

Mr. W. A. McIntyre, of Bobcaygeon, will referee the Keene—T.A.S. game in Keene to-night.

* * * *

Owing to the fact that there was no quorum present last night the meeting of the Trent Valley League Executive was postponed until next Wednesday.

* * * *

The West-enders accept the challenge of the Nationals and will play at any time suggested by the latter.

* * * *

The Lakefield News writing on the Lakefield—Peterborough II game, played there last Monday says:

"The visitors played a great game of hockey, their combination being very effective. It was a great sight to see their forward line go down the ice at a fast pace, the rush generally resulting in a goal. If the quality of hockey displayed by the visitors on Monday night is continued, the Peterborough II team should come very near the championship. It was the best game ever witnessed in Lakefield, and was entirely free from roughness. The most friendly feeling was displayed by the members of both teams, and the referee Mr. J. McIntyre of Keene, had an easy time of it, only two players decorating the fence for minor offences. His decisions gave entire satisfaction to both teams, and he proved himself to be a most impartial referee."

* * * *

The Intermediate Team of St. Andrew's Junior Guild, go to Lakefield to-morrow to play a team from the Grove School. The team has won many games through the town, and ought to pull it all over the Lakefield boys. The junior team would like to get a game with some other club, the ages of the players ranging from 8 to 12 years. Any seven who wish to have a game with the juniors may notify the secretary of the hockey club.—Com.

The P.C.I. Hockey Team challenge the senior team of St. Andrew's junior guild to a friendly game in the Brock street rink as soon as possible. R. Todd, secretary.

ARMY INSTRUMENTS HAVE ARRIVED.

Will be on Exhibition in the China Hall Window in a Day or Two.

The new instruments for the Salvation Army Band, have arrived from London, England, and will shortly be on exhibition in the China Hall window. The instruments were manufactured by the Salvation Army, who are estimated to be among the best in England. Together with the instruments, which are twelve in number, there is a handsome torch. The band instruments consist of two cornets, one soprano trumpet, one B flat Flugel horn, one Triumph solo horn, two E flat altos, one baritone, one solo euphonium, one B flat bombardone, one E flat trombone and one bass drum. The Army also bought a band megaphone from Toronto.

A grand presentation of the instruments will probably be held on Feb. 1st.

NEW MUSICAL ORGANIZATION.

A Quartette Formed to Furnish Music for Balls, Banquets, Etc.

It will be welcome news to many in Peterborough, who have long recognized the need of such an organization, that a quintette has been organized here, and will be available for at homes, banquets and balls in future. The new organization, which will consist of two violinists, a cornet, a pianist, and a clarinet player, will be under the leadership of Mr. J. J. Halley, a musician of considerable ability, while Mr. J. Halpany will have the business management. With these gentlemen in charge, the success of the enterprise is assured and it will indeed be a long welcome addition to the musical organization of Peterborough.

Engagements for the new Quintette made be made at Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

TEMPERATURE AND PITCH.

To Keep Church Organs in Proper Condition—The Building Should be Heated Continuously.

The following is from the "Church Economist," of January, 1904:—

"A cold church and an out-of-tune organ, go hand in hand. If this could be impressed upon church trustees and committees, the woes of the organist would be lessened in number. Many a man has been criticized for faulty playing on Sunday when the fault lies with the church officers, who think Saturday night sufficiently early to start fires to heat the church for the Sunday services. Laymen are not to be expected to know, unless the matter is specially brought to their attention that, although the air in the church may have been brought to a normal temperature, some of the air in the organ pipes may still be several degrees below the mean, with consequent discordant tones when the instrument is used.

"If a properly tuned organ is to be maintained, and it is no small aid to an effective and dignified service, the church building should be kept heated throughout the winter months and the temperature never allowed to fall lower than 55 degrees Fahrenheit. This may seem an unnecessary expenditure of fuel, but is it not possible that if the church is kept heated it may be put to use through the winter for meetings and social gatherings on week days and nights, whereas it would otherwise be left cold and cheerless? Another point worth making is that keeping the church at a fairly even temperature will tend to reduce the size of the organ-tuning bill."

NEWS NUGGETS.

—A special meeting of All Saint's Boys' Brigade will be held at the church to-night.

—At the Police Court this morning T. Henderson, a vag, was lodged in gaol for six months.

—Among the latest arrivals from England are a lot of fine Soudan war pictures. See them at the "Framery," 428 George street.

Mr. A. P. Choate has contributed $10.00 towards the 57th Regiment Colour Fund. Any further contributions made to the fund should be forwarded to Mrs. Donnistoun, the President.

The Cashew Nut.

The cashew nut serves a unique purpose as a cosmetic in the West Indies, where women desiring to remove excessive tan anoint the skin with an oil from the outer surface of the raw nut. For two weeks the patient must retire from society, for the face and hands so treated turn black. At the end of a fortnight's seclusion, however, the woman who has undergone the cashew treatment emerges, observers state, "with skin and complexion as fair as a babe's."

WAR IS INEVITABLE

Tokio Papers Are Taking a Gloomy View of Situation.

WHOLE NATION TO SACRIFICE

Exhortation to Patriotism Results in Many Voluntary Contributions to Japan's Treasury—Twenty-Five Steamers to Be Suspended From Mercantile Service and Used For Transports.

London, Jan. 16.—The correspondent of The Times at Tokio says all the leading journals now regard war as inevitable and insist upon the necessity of sparing no expense in preparations. They discuss the marked strength of Japan's financial position to-day as compared with what it was in 1904, on the outbreak of the war with China, and exhort the whole nation to sacrifice everything in the country's cause.

Voluntary War Subscriptions.

London, Jan. 16.—The Tokio correspondent of The Times says that the voluntary war subscriptions are reaching the treasury in considerable numbers.

The correspondent says that the Japanese steamship services with the United States, Australia, Europe and Bombay will be immediately suspended, thus freeing 25 large steamers. Special arrangements, however, are being made for the transportation via Tacoma, Wash., of the Japanese exhibits to the St. Louis Exposition. Continuing The Times correspondent says: "The Japanese press approves the neutrality of China inasmuch as China's military capacity forbids any other course. Moreover, the neutrality of the far eastern states and colonies in the event of war will greatly embarrass Russia who would thus be obliged to draw all her supplies from home."

Both Sides Optimistic.

London, Jan. 16.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from St. Petersburg, says:

"Russian Government circles and the Japanese legation are both optimistic.

"The Japanese legation reiterated yesterday that the Tokio Government was pacific and denied that the sentiments of the Japanese nation were so bellicose as represented by many newspapers.

"The Japanese Government has the Nippon Maru and the Kasuga Maru two new fast steamers of the Nippon Line as despatch steamers."

Russian Troops Move.

Pekin, Jan. 16.—It is reported from consular sources at New Chwang that Russian troops are concentrating at the Towns of Liao Yang and Hai Sheng and other places, where they will be in a position to re-occupy the territory between the Liao River and the Great Wall and seize the New Chwang-Shan Hai Kwan section of the Chinese railroad.

PANAMA TO DEFEND.

Colombian Army Is on the March—12,000 Panamanian Troops Prepared to Repel the Invaders.

New York, Jan. 16.—Authentic information from the frontier is anxiously awaited here, as the belief is wide-spread, cables the Herald's Panama correspondent, that the Colombians have already started to march upon the Isthmus.

The Panamanian troops are ready to leave on a moment's notice. The conscription has been completed and 12,000 fighting men can be placed in the field.

There is a great bustle in the armory in preparation for the shipment of rifles and ammunition to the Indians of the interior, who have agreed to join against the Colombian forces.

Many light cases of fever are reported to already exist in the camps of the United States marines, especially among those who have been scouting along the trails. There is some yellow fever in Panama now, but none has appeared in the camps.

$90,000 TO INSTITUTIONS.

PROSPECTS FOR A NEW INDUSTRY.

Mr. M. J. McDermott may Establish Cooperage Here.

There is a possibility of Peterborough securing another industry, and one for the product of which there should be a good demand.

Mr. M. J. McDermott, of Ingersoll, is in town visiting Mr. A. J Clark, and it is possible that Mr McDermott's visit may result in the early establishment of an addition to Peterborough's industries.

There is a large and growing demand for apple barrels in this county and at present the demand is greater than the supply. Mr McDermott proposes to establish a cooperage manufactory, provided he finds the conditions favourable. There should be a good opening here for such an industry, for the fruit growing end of modern farming is coming to be an important one, and in Peterborough County the quantity of apples shipped each year is becoming increasingly large, consequently the demand for barrels is increasing. The establishment of this industry would would be a great convenience to farmers and fruit buyers who last year experienced the greatest difficulty in providing enough barrels for their requirements.

INSTALLED OFFICERS IN LOCAL HOME CIRCLE.

A Revival in Interest in the Order, Due to the Work of Mr. J. A. Walker.

There was a good turnout of members at the regular meeting of Peterborough Circle No. 193, C. O. H. C., on Thursday evening, January 14th, to witness the installation of the following officers for the year 1904:

Past Leader.—T. H. W. Young, M. D.
Leader—William Kemp.
Vice Leader—W. J. Nelson.
Rec.-Sec'y—R. Roddick.
Treasurer—L. A. Turner.
Fin.-Sec'y—S. A. Oke.
Chaplain, Rev. J. A. Wilson, B. A.
Marshal—J. H. Filling.
Warden—Volney Reid.
Guard—Miss Minnie Kitney.
Sentinel—Willard Caldwell.
Medical Examiner—Dr. Young.

J. M. Foster, B. A., Supreme Secretary, Toronto, installed the officers, assisted by M. G. Walker, Winnipeg. At the conclusion of the installation the supreme secretary gave an address on the work of the order, and urged the members of the Circle to continue in the progressive work which had characterized the last few months. Mr. M. G. Walker also gave an address which the members evidently appreciated.

The present satisfactory condition of the order here is largely due to the excellent work of Mr. J. H. Walker, who since October has been engaged in special work here on behalf of the Order. At the time of his arrival the Circle had not met for three years and was in a dormant condition, but by his efforts the members have become enthused, and a large addition made to the list of members.

PRACTICALLY NOTHING ON THE MARKET TO-DAY.

Roads So Bad that Farmers Did Not Venture Forth.

The market this morning was the smallest of the year, and beyond quantities of butter there was practically nothing for sale. Farmers stated that the roads were very heavy and in some places almost blocked. Snow fell very heavily in the rural districts last night, and a high wind has made it drift to such an extent that in some places it was almost impossible to travel.

The chief prices on the market were as follows: Butter, 21 to 23c.; chickens, 60 to 80c. per pair; turkeys, $1.25 to $1.90; and geese, $1 to $1.25.

On the evening of January 26th all members of the Association are asked to meet at 7 o'clock in the Association rooms, for tea, after which a social evening will be held. The members are requested to bear this date in mind and to be present if possible.

During the month of February, cooking classes will be held in the Association rooms. Miss Jessie Hills, a graduate of the Technical School, Toronto, will be the teacher in charge. Miss Hills comes to this Association very highly recommended, and her work will prove helpful and interesting. She will give lessons in plain, household and superior cooking, and her course in each branch is unusually complete. All those wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity to attend up-to-date cooking classes are asked to leave their names at once with the General Secretary, 411 George street.

PRESENTATION TO DEPARTING MEMBER.

Mr. Gibbs Given Handsome Clock by Members of 57th Band.

At the practice of the 57th Regiment Band last night, Mr. Gibbs, who has for about a year been a member of the Band, was made the recipient of a handsome clock on the eve of his departure from town. The presentation on behalf of the band was made by Mr. Crowe, who in a short speech referred to the great assistance that Mr. Gibbs had been to that organization during his residence here. He is a clarinet player of more than ordinary ability, and his loss will be felt very severely by the band as a whole.

Mr. Gibbs replied, thanking the members for the gift, and the kind words expressed on their behalf by Mr. Crowe. He had enjoyed thoroughly his associations with the band and should always remember his stay here with pleasure.

The evening closed with the serving of refreshments.

DOMINION FINANCES.

One of the most important functions of an Administration, is the management of the national finances since they are the medium by which all the other departments are effectively administered. Tried by the standard of successful management of our finances, the Laurier Government is conspicuously entitled to credit and to a continuation of public confidence. The subject is too large to be exhaustively treated in a single article but a concise summary of the Liberal Administration of our financial interests and a contrast with the manner in which the precedent Conservative Government managed our financial affairs, will give the reader a good idea of the respective efficiency of the two Administrations.

During the seven years the Liberals have been in power the Government only added 6 1-2 million dollars to the public debt—whereas the Conservatives in their last seven years added 21 millions.

The Conservatives added to the debt at the rate of 3 1-2 millions a year for 18 years.

The Liberals added less than one million dollars a year for 7 years.

In 1896, the public debt per head of the population was $50.96—to-day it is $47.97—a reduction of $3.00 per head.

It should be noted here that in the foregoing calculations as to the public debt, no credit is taken or allowance made for a reduction of the debt last year to the amount, $3,305,243, which was due to a re-adjustment of the provincial accounts. If that amount be included the actual increase of debt under Liberal rule was only 3 million—and the per capita debt is $3.59 less than in 1896.

Though they increased the debt at a much smaller rate than the Conservatives, the Liberal Government in the last seven years spent 65 millions on capital account for beneficial public works, as against 37 millions spent by the Conservatives during the last seven years they were in office.

The Liberals spent nearly twice as much as the former Government for the present and future good of the whole people, yet added much less to the public debt.

Out of the 37 millions spent on capital by the Conservatives between 1889 and 1896 — 21 millions were provided for by additions to the debt.

The Liberals between 1896 and 1903 spent 65 millions on capital—yet only added 6 1-2 millions to the debt.

The ordinary revenue exceeded the ordinary expenditure in the seven years of the Liberal Government, by 41 millions. During the previous 7 years the excess revenue was only 2 millions.

Deficits to the amount of $5,694,759 were recorded during the last three years of Conservative Government.

Surpluses to the amount of 27 millions were recorded for the three years 1901-02 and 03.

The revenue increased from 36 to 66 millions between 1896 and 1903 as compared with a reduction of 2 millions during the previous 7 years.

The increased revenue was obtained without adding to the burdens of the people; on the contrary taxation has been lowered. Custom duties are on the average 13 per cent. less than they were—postage rates for home letters and U. S. letters are one-third less, and for British letters over one-half less.

It is true the ordinary expenditure has been largely increased. No apology is offered and none is necessary. Rather is it confidently believed that the financial record is worthy of approval and commendation. The Government kept pace with the progress of the country.

One cannot fairly compare Canadian expenditure of to-day with that of 7 years ago, without making allowance for the tremendous advancement the country has made.

As a business man's expenses increase with the growth of his business, so do a nation's.

Ample return has been received for every dollar expended.

Do not pass judgment on expenditures in the gross without scrutinizing the details.

Through the efforts of the Government, the country's securities were placed by the British Government on the highly favoured Trustee List in Great Britain, which comprises only the most gilt-edged investments—such as British Consols.

Keeping the Yankees Out.

Bellingham, Wash., Jan. 16.—The British Columbia Government is succeeding in its efforts to keep American mill owners from obtaining their log supply from the British side of Puget Sound. In retaliation for the American tariff on Canadian lumber, the British Columbia Government has imposed restrictions which make it impossible for American mill men to operate camps in British Columbia.

PROFESSOR J. MILLS

Guelph Principal Invited to Join Railway Commission.

IN TOUCH WITH AGRICULTURE

If He Accepts, As He Doubtless Will, the Complete Commission Will Consist of Messrs. Blair, Bernier and Mills—Secretary Yet to Be Appointed —Another Big Surplus to Note.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—Professor James Mills, Principal of the Ontario Agricultural College, has been offered a position on the Railway Commission created under the statute of last year. If he accepts, as he doubtless will, the constitution of the Commission will be complete. The other members are Mr. Blair, chairman, and Mr. Bernier. The office of secretary is as yet unfilled.

Prof. Mills is in every way qualified to fill the position which the Prime Minister offered him last night. He is thoroughly in touch with the great agricultural industry and is a man in whom the farmers have every confidence.

Commission and Its Conditions.

The salary of the chairman of the The salary of the chairman of the Commission is $10,000 a year, and that of each of his 000 a year, and that of each of his colleagues $8,000. They are appointed for the term of ten years, but may be re-appointed on the expiration of that period. They are not eligible for office after reaching the age of 75. The Commissioners are to reside in Ottawa and their office must be located here. A vice-chairman may be appointed to act when the chairman is not present. Two members will form a quorum. The board must hold no railway stock and must not be interested in any matter that comes before them. If a Commissioner has any interest he must be replaced by another Commissioner, appointed for the purpose. The salary of the secretary is not to exceed $4,000 per annum. The remaining officers will be appointed by the board, subject to the approval of the Government.

Another Big Surplus.

Canada is a country not only of big crops but of big surpluses. The first half of the current fiscal year closed with a surplus $14,222,267 over ordinary revenue, and more than $10,000,000 over all expenditures combined. The revenue for the six months ending December 31st, exceeded that for the same period of the previous year by $3,673,600. The total ordinary revenue was $34,936,462, and the ordinary expenditure $20,714,195. For the same period of last year the ordinary revenue was $31,262,862, and the ordinary expenditure $19,549,688. The capital expenditure for the past six months was $3,845,934 as against $4,123,975.

MINISTER OF RAILWAYS.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson Sworn in—Mr. Hyman Slated For Cabinet.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson went to Rideau Hall yesterday morning, accompanied by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and was sworn in as Minister of Railways. It is likely that Hon. L. P. Brodeur will be sworn in as Minister of Inland Revenue shortly. The Prime Minister entertained Mr. Emmerson, Mr. Turgeon, M.P., for Gloucester, and Mr. Taffin, publisher of Little France, at luncheon.

Mr. Hyman Slated.

The latest report in political circles here is that Mr. C. S. Hyman, M.P., for London, is to be called to the Cabinet as a member without portfolio. Mr. Hyman has been long looked upon as a Cabinet possibility, and his promotion to the Ministry would not occasion any surprise. He is a keen business man, a clever speaker and immensely popular in Ontario.

SCOURGE OF THE AGE IS KIDNEY DISEASE.

Terrible Increase in the Number of Deaths from This Ailment.

It is Common to All Classes and Conditions of People.

It Creeps Stealthily into the System and Develops Into Many Diseases.

Bright's Disease, Heart Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy and Rheumatism, are Among the Forms it Takes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills the One Remedy That Never Fails to Cure it, No Matter How or Where it is Found.

Of all the diseases the human body has to combat in its struggle for health, the one that is steadily growing in strength and terrors is Kidney Disease. Quietly, stealthily as a serpent, it creeps on its victim till the latter is enveloped in its folds, and the greatest physicians the world has ever known stand helpless before it. As the last fold goes around the struggling victim and the doctor shakes his head and whispers "Bright's Disease," hope fades to nothing, and the sorrowing friends feel that death has marked their loved one for its own.

The alarming increase this terrible disease is making is evidenced by the columns of almost every newspaper. For not among the lowly of the earth alone does it look for its victims. Statesmen, judges, eminent lawyers, and honoured divines are numbered among those who in recent months have gone down to their graves with the fell marks of this dread disease upon their bodies. In fact, so prevalent has the disease become that a celebrated New York specialist stated recently that not one person in a hundred was free from some taint of Kidney Disease.

WORKS IN SECRET.

It is the secrecy of Kidney Disease that makes it the more dreaded. You can fight an enemy in the open with some chance of success, but if he is lying in wait to take you at an unwary moment your chances of successfully fighting him are terribly diminished. So it is with Kidney Disease. Its first warnings are so faint as to be hardly noticeable, a slight pain in the back that is charged up to over exertion, a slight discolouration of the urine or a burning sensation while urinating that hardly attracts attention. That is all. But that means that Kidney Disease is at work gradually eating its way into your system. The pain in the back grows more severe, the urinary trouble more complicated, swellings under the eyes and of the limbs denote the coming of Dropsy, sharp shooting pains in the joints and muscles tell that Rheumatism has you in its grasp, or perhaps a day or two's illness leads to the calling of the doctor, and suddenly the terrible truth is forced upon you—Bright's Disease has you in its grasp.

WAY OF ESCAPE.

With this silent, relentless enemy slowly but surely eating its way into prominence and marking that prominence by a yearly increase in the length of its death list, the demand of the day, of the hour, is "Show us the way of escape." Nature never put mankind in a critical condition without providing a way of escape — providing mankind were wise enough to take the way provided. In this case the way of escape is a simple vegetable remedy. It has been before the people of Canada for thirteen years, and, like all the great relievers of nature, has been first received and first appreciated by the lowly in life, those known as the common people of Canada.

Is it the common people of Canada who die of Bright's Disease? No, it is the bright and shining marks, those who are stationed above the heads of the masses. Ask the reason of this! Go to the people who are practically exempt from Kidney Disease in its worst form, and ask them. With almost a single voice they will reply: "We cure our Kidney ailments with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and and they never get a chance to develop into that terrible disease that carries so many prominent men into the grave."

ON WITH HIS WORK.

And so it is; the man who does manual labour must heal his slightest aches or they hinder him in his work. when he has backache he cures it with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and goes on with his work; when he feels a twinge of Rheumatism he drives it out of his body with Dodd's Kidney Pills— and goes on with his work. Necessity has taught him that he must cure his Kidneys to get rid of his pains, for he must work to live. He has not been educated to that standpoint where a prescription to cure must be written by a specialist at a cost of dollars for every letter. He may not even know that there never was a disease that took in all classes of the community but what nature provided a cure within the means of all classes of the community. What he does know is more to the point than all this. He knows that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure all aches which experience has taught him come from the Kidneys. He takes Dodd's Kidney Pills, and goes on with his work.

SOME EXCEPTIONS.

Of course there are exceptions to every rule. Even among common people there are those who neglect the early warnings of Kidney Disease. It takes exceptions to prove the rule—but many of these exceptions prove more—they prove that no case of Kidney Disease is too far gone for Dodd's Kidney Pills to cure. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Heart Disease, —all the various forms of Kidney Disease in its advanced stages—have been met by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and never once has Canada's great Kidney Remedy had to admit defeat. From the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Great Lakes to Hudson's Bay, Dodd's Kidney Pills are used, and wherever used they have triumphed over Kidney Disease in every form. Thousands of Canadians are shouting their praises of the conqueror.

Just a few of those who have neglected the early symptoms, reached the more advanced stage of Kidney Diseases, and found a cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills, are given below. There are thousands of others. Ask in your own immediate neighbourhood. You will not have to go far to meet men, women and children who have either warded off or cured the terror of of the present age by using the old Canadian stand-by — Dodd's Kidney Pills.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE CURED.

Bright's Disease has invariably yielded to a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills, no matter how firm a hold it had secured on its victim. Possibly the most talked of case of recent date is that of Alice Maud Parker, of Shubenacadie, Hants Co., N. S. The full story of this case will be found in the current number of Dodd's Magazine. Herewith a short statement from the young lady's mother is appended.

Two doctors pronounced my daughter's illness Bright's Disease, and gave her up to die. Her eyelids swelled until she could hardly see; her legs from her ankles to her knees swelled. Her belt in health was twenty inches; when she was at her worst it was 48 inches. Then she gave up all other treatment and started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. By the time she had taken the first box I saw a change. It took a long time to bring her back to perfect health, but Dodd's Kidney Pills did it. To-day my daughter is in perfect health.

DIABETES CURED.

Diabetes is another of the most fearful and fatal forms of Kidney Disease that has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and by no other medicine. Among those cured of this terrible ailment is Mr. Charles Gilchrist, for fifteen years Chief of Police, of Port Hope, and afterwards for twenty two years Fishery Overseer under the Dominion Government. He makes the following statement:

I was a sufferer for ten years with Diabetes and Kidney Disorder. At times my urine was a dark bricky colour, and I would suffer something awful while passing. I tried doctors and medicines but could get no help till I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have made me a new man. The citizens of Port Hope all know me and can vouch for the above.

Chas. Gilchrist,
Ex-Chief Coast and Fishery Overseer,
Port Hope.

HEART DISEASE CURED.

Heart Disease is a result of Kidney Disorder. Bad Kidneys mean impure blood; the action of impure blood on the heart causes Heart Disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

I suffered for years with Heart Disease, Bright's Disease and Rheumatism. I was so feeble I was unable to do anything. There were three months I abandoned all medicines and resolved to let myself die. Then I was led to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and the good the first box did me surprised me. I have taken twenty boxes in all, am well of my Heart Disease, my Bright's Disease, and my Rheumatism.

Dame Louis Provosts,
St. Magloire, Que.

DROPSY CURED.

Dropsy, another disease caused by Diseased Kidneys failing to do their work, and remove the surplus water from the blood, is another ailment Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure. Here is an example:

I was a total wreck before I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. In the mornings before I got out of bed I could hardly put my feet to the floor they were so much swollen by Dropsy. My arms used to swell at times so that I could not put on my coat. I had to be tapped to be relieved from my terrible pains. On the advice of a friend I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished the second box I felt much better. Seven boxes cured me completely. I don't know what it is to be sick since I used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Rheumatism and kindred Kidney Diseases, such as Lumbago, Sciatica and Gout are used by uric acid in the blood. If the Kidneys are put in working order they strain all the uric acid out of the blood, and the Rheumatism goes with it. Take the case of W. G. Cragg, of Dresden, Ont. Here is his statement:

For 8 years I was troubled with Inflammatory Rheumatism. I could scarcely get around to do my duties in my store. I had some of the best doctors I could get but nothing I tried would ever give me relief. I was also troubled with Gout. I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills and had only taken six boxes when I was completely cured.

W. G. Cragg,
Ex-Reeve of Dresden, Ont.

ALL KIDNEY DISEASES CURED.

These are only a few cases taken from thousands to show the efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills in advanced stages of Kidney Disease. In other forms of Kidney Trouble, such as Urinary Troubles, Gravel, Female Weakness, etc., Dodd's Kidney Pills have the same record. They always cure. As for pain in the back, the first symptom of Kidney Trouble, ask your neighbours. You'll find the majority of them look on Pain in the Back as a danger signal, and on its first appearance safeguard themselves against this terribly fatal Disease by driving it away with the old Canadian standby—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MET INSTANT DEATH.

Vancouver Tobacconist Killed By Shock From a Telephone Wire Crossed With Electric Light Wire.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 16.—Wm. Loveless, a tobacconist, was killed last evening by shock from a fallen telephone wire which had got crossed with an electric light wire. The wire was lying in the centre of the street and Loveless not seeing it in the dark walked right into it. Death was almost instantaneous.

Boy Killed By a Bear.

Ponoka, N.W.T., Jan. 16.—An Indian boy was out hunting a few days ago, when he discovered two bears in a hole. He was successful in killing one of them, but the other attacked him, tearing and scratching him in such a manner that he died in a few minutes. His father found the bodies of the boy and bear lying side by side near the bear hole.

Man Frozen to Death.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 16.—Joseph F. Noyes, a man who has been doing rough work around the Heydon House, Weston road, was yesterday morning found frozen to death in an out of the way spot west of Quebec avenue, and not far from Bloor street. Noyes had been drinking heavily.

34 Persons Injured.

Detroit, Jan. 16.—An eastbound Michigan avenue Line car carrying a heavy load of passengers, hurrying home at the close of the day, was struck by a Grand Trunk passenger train last evening at Gratiot avenue and Dequendre street. More than 34 people were injured, the double truck car being carried 200 feet down the track from the point of collision and being almost demolished. Seven of the injured were taken to hospitals and twenty-seven were taken to their homes. No one was killed.

DO NOT WALK ON THIN ICE.

If You Have Catarrh You are in Danger—It Breeds Dyspepsia, Bronchitis and Consumption.

Aside from the extreme offensive and odious nature of the disease catarrh is also very dangerous if left to run its course unchecked. The constant droppings into the throat, which are mostly swallowed during sleep cause poisonous disorders of the throat, stomach and lungs which rapidly develop into dyspepsia, laryngitis, bronchitis and consumption. When these diseases become established, especially the latter, the result is too well known to need pointing out.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a certain and absolute cure for catarrh in all forms and all stages. Catarrhal conditions are always of the same nature, whether they exist in the head, throat, stomach, bowels or bladder, and these Tablets act on all alike. They cleanse, renovate and purify the entire system of all catarrhal poisons, and by thus going to the very root of the disease, effect thorough and permanent cures. This is the only way to treat catarrh as local applications, such as sprays, ointments, inhalations, etc., afford only temporary relief and the malady takes hold again with increased vigour.

An Indianapolis physician says:—"I prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets on all occasions, because I find they are most thorough and effective in their work. I have tried a great many prescriptions, my own and others, during thirty years of practice, but have never found anything quite so satisfactory in all respects as these Tablets. I have known the most stubborn and virulent cases of catarrh to yield time after time to Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend them."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. It will pay you to give them a trial and get away from the suffering, humiliation and danger caused by catarrh.

London, Jan. 16.—(C.A.P.)—The bye-election in Norwich for a successor to the late Sir Harry Bullard, resulted in the free traders gaining the seat. The vote was as follows: Tillet, Liberal, 8,756; Wild, Unionist, 6,756; Roberts, Labor, 2,240.

Praise For Borden.

London, Jan. 16.—(C.A.P.)—The King Magazine says: "The Dominion has been the last to adopt the cadet system, because her militia training is so good," and adds that "Sir Frederick Borden to whom the credit is due, is the most energetic militia minister since Sir John Macdonald."

WITH AN OPEN MIND

Tariff Commission is to Investigate Into Conditions.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S ADDRESS

Commission Not to Formulate Tariff Laws —Varied Comments of London Press— Mr. Goldwin Smith Calls It a "Procrustean Scheme of Fiscal Union," and Says Canada's Position Renders it Impracticable

London, Jan. 16.—Joseph Chamberlain presided at the meeting of the Tariff Commission, which assembled here yesterday afternoon. Mr. Chamberlain in a speech drew a parallel from what the United States and Germany had accomplished under protective tariffs, and denied that any tariff could be framed here which, as its opponents alleged, would make the rich richer and the poor poorer.

The United States under protection had reached prosperity unequalled in the world. In no other country was wealth so evenly distributed, while there was no other country in the world where such a large proportion of the population was on the verge of hunger and distress as in Great Britain.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the object of the Commission was not to formulate tariff laws, but to investigate and inquire with open mind. All that had thus far been decided was that the policy adopted so many years ago required reform.

At the conclusion of Mr. Chamberlain's speech, the Commission discussed a general method of procedure.

On Mr. Chamberlain's motion, Mr. Pearson was unanimously elected vice-chairman.

A General Purpose Committee was then appointed. It includes among its members Charles Booth, Sir Vincent Caillard, Frederick L. Harris, M.P., Sir Alexander Henderson, Sir Robert Herbert, Sir Alfred Jones and Alfred Mosely, the last two named being respectively, chairman and vice-chairman of the committee.

Future meetings of the committee will be held Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

THE LONDON PRESS.

Lively Comments on the First Meeting of the Tariff Commission.

London, Jan. 16.—(C. A. P.)—The Telegraph calls the Tariff Commission a sitting of a parliament of experts, and says it is far more interesting and significant than the opening of Parliament in nine sessions out of ten.

The Chronicle calls it the first gathering of the interests.

The Post says that Mr. Chamberlain's speech was the most admirable delivered during the fiscal campaign, that it was based, not on the exigencies of party politics, but on the results of an impartial examination of the present tendencies of British trade.

Body Guards and Janissaries.

The News calls the members of the Tariff Commission "Chamberlain's body guards and janissaries," and says that if Prof. Ashley is able to convert them to the idea that a fifty or seventy-five per cent. tariff is necessary to protect a struggling ironmaster like Sir Alfred Hickman or if the Hon. Henry Chaplin should be able to prove to them that a two shilling duty on corn would be a mere mockery to the tenant farmer, they will report accordingly. It asks: "Why should these busy business men go tariff-mongering in the interests of the colonies when Chamberlain called them in to look after their own interests."

Scientific Tariff Scheme.

The Times expects the Tariff Commission will produce a scientific tariff scheme evolved from other countries by men with no super-human endowments as a model as to how the benefits of fiscal revision can be distributed over all the community.

How to Retrieve.

The Standard maintains that if the Unionist position is to be retrieved no time should be lost in putting the Commission on a proper constitutional footing and to summon evidence from hostile quarters would be like inviting brewers to give evidence re. the licensing laws before a commission of tectotallers.

PROCRUSTEAN SCHEME.

Mr. Goldwin Smith's Letter to the London Times.

London, Jan. 16.—(C.A.P.)—Goldwin Smith, writing in The Times, says: "If Chamberlain says Canada prospers through protection I take the liberty of contradicting him flatly and so do the facts of Canada's property, due to the bounty of nature. Owing to Canada's position in regard to the United States it is impracticable to include her with the other colonies in any procrustean scheme of fiscal union. The protection party is now aroused by fear of a reciprocity movement with the United States."

Must Remove Surtax.

London, Jan. 16.—(C.A.P.)—The Post's Berlin correspondent wires that the German Government is being strongly urged that unless the tariff armistice is concluded with the Dominion without delay the German export trade will be lost. To avoid this many German firms agree to pay the surtax out of their own pockets.

Strathcona Hon. President.

London, Jan. 16.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Strathcona has accepted the position of honorary president of the London International Commercial Association, which holds an Anglo-French banquet in London next month.

Colonies Will Capture It.

London, Jan. 16.—(C.A.P.)—Wedel's Review, based on the Royal Statistical Society's figures re the frozen meat trade of 1903, shows that the colonies contribute to Britain a little under 12 per cent., all the beef coming from Canada and mutton from New Zealand. Foreign countries export to England 399,000 tons, which the Review says will be captured by colonial shippers

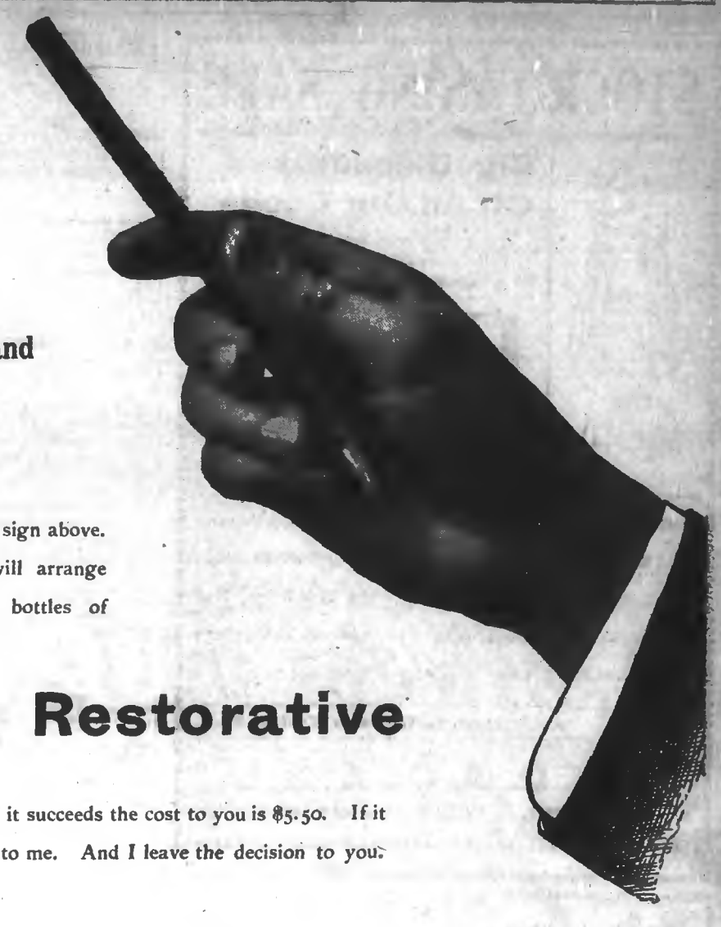
That is all. Send no money. Simply sign above. Tell me the book you need. I will arrange with a druggist near you for six bottles of

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

Take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the druggist will bill the cost to me. And I leave the decision to you.



Don't Wait until You Are Worse.

Taken in time, the suffering of this little one would have been prevented. Her mother writes me:

"Two years ago my little girl was sick continuously for six months. We tried many doctors, and they failed, yet it took only two bottles of your remedy to cure her, and she has remained cured. You can tell others of this cure if you so desire."
Mrs. C. H. Avery, Rockdaly, N.Y.

'Tis a pity she did not first write me before the case was dangerous.

The wife of Omer Andrus of Bayou Chicot, La., had been sick for 20 years. For eight years could do practically no work. He writes:

"When she first started taking the Restorative she barely weighed 90 pounds; now she weighs 135, and is able easily to do all her housework."

Twenty "dark" years might have been "bright" ones.

J. G. Billingsley, of Thomasville, Ga., for three years has been crippled with disease. Now he is well. He writes:

"I spent $250 for other medicines, and the $3.00 I have spent with you have done me more good than all the rest."

Both money and suffering might have been saved. And these are only three from over 65,000 similar cases. These letters—dozens of them—come every day to me.

How much serious illness the Restorative has prevented, I have no means of knowing, for the slightly ill and indisposed simply get a bottle or two of their druggist, are cured, and I never hear from them.

But of 600,000 sick ones—seriously sick, mind you—who ask for my guarantee, 39 out of each 40 have paid. Paid because they got well.

If I can succeed in cases like these—fail but one time in forty, in diseases deep-seated and chronic—isn't it certain I can always cure the slightly ill?

Why the Restorative Succeeds.

You may oil and rub, adjust and repair a weak engine. It will never be stronger nor do its work better without steam. More power—more steam is necessary.

And so with the vital organs. Doctor them as you will. That's mere repairing. Permanent cures never come save through treating the nerves that operate those organs.

And that my Restorative does.

After almost a lifetime of labour—of study at bedsides and research in hospitals—I made this discovery. I found a way to treat, not the organs themselves, but the nerves—the inside nerves—that operate these organs and give them power and strength, and health.

That discovery has shown me the way to cure.

It makes my offer possible.

I know the remedy. I never can forget the study, all the research, the trials and tests that perfected it. I have watched its action year after year in cases difficult and discouraging. Time after time I have seen it bring back health to those poor ones whom hope had almost deserted. I know what it will do.

My only problem is to convince you.

And so I make my offer. And the bare fact that I make such an offer ought of itself to convince you that I know how to cure. Please read it again. It means exactly what I say. No catch—no misleading phrases in it. Simply this—you take the medicine and I will take the risk.

And you—not I decide if you are to pay.

All You Need to Do.

Simply sign the above—that is all. Ask for the book you need. The offer I make is broad—is liberal. The way is easy—is simple. The Restorative is certain.

But do not misunderstand me.

This is not free treatment with nothing ever to pay. Such an offer would be misleading—would belittle the physician who made it. But I believe in a sick one's honesty—his gratitude. That when he is cured, he will pay the cost of the treatment—and gladly.

I make this offer so that those who might doubt may learn at my risk.

Tell of it please, to a friend who is sick. Or send me his name. That's but a trifle to ask—a minute's time—a postal. He is your friend. You can help him. My way may be his only way to get well.

I, a stranger, offer to do all this. Won't you, his friend, his neighbour, simply write?

He will learn from my book a way to get well. Perhaps, as I say, the only way for him. His case may be serious—hopeless almost. Other physicians—other specialists may have failed. The matter is urgent, then!

Write me a postal or sign above today.

It is a very creditable publication, in a typographical sense, and is filled with excellent reading matter on general church subjects, and parochial matter, which shows that, as Rev. Mr. Stevenson's friends in Peterborough, will be glad to hear, under his administration the parish of Grace church is flourishing.

At a time when wood is selling at almost prohibitory prices, it is a matter of more than ordinary interest to learn that there is still in the old settled part of the Township of Asphodel a solid piece of hardwood bush of 120 acres on the farm of the late T. C. M. Humphries. Mixed with the hardwood is a large quantity of very valuable basswood, ash, elm and cedar timber. One hundred acres of this woodland is about to be offered in blocks of from 20 to 30 acres each. dl

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The report of the annual tea and entertainment of the Central Smith Dairy Company is held over till Monday.

—Among the latest arrivals from England are a lot of fine Soudan war pictures. See them at the "Framery," 428 George street.

—Miss Gerogia Turner, of Montreal, one of the finest violinists ever heard in Peterborough, will play some of her best numbers at the second concert in the Opera House Monday evening. Don't miss hearing her.

—Eight below zero was registered last night, but a rise in temperature towards morning sent the mercury up to 12 degrees above zero. This was followed by a snow fall, and the latter will likely be succeeded by much colder weather.

—In the list of officers elected at the annual meeting of the George street choir in yesterday's paper, the name of Mr. J. Edgecumb, as treasurer, was inadvertently omitted. Mr. Edgecumb has for a number of years filled the office of treasurer, and is one of the most staunch supporters of the choir.

—The advantage of having a Trust Company named as Executor and Trustee in a will instead of a private individual is well exemplified by the very large number of persons who have appointed The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, Toronto, in that capacity. The Company forwards will forms and gives suggestions to those sending their addresses.

The peculiar cough which indicates croup, is usually well-known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by all druggists.

TWO PRESENTATIONS TO REV. MR. ARMITAGE.

Members of the Choir and Boys Brigade Express Regret at His Departure.

Clock Presented by Choir Which Boys Brigade's Gift is a Student Lounge —In Recognition of His Interest and Work in this Behalf.

The fact that Rev. W. L Armitage as a rector, was popular with all sections of his parish, has been amply evidenced by the universal desire of his parishioners to show their regret at his departure, and to express their appreciation of his work during the years in which he has been rector of All Saints.

Last night he was made the recipient of two addresses, accompanied in one case by a beautiful clock, the gift of the choir of All Saints' Church, with which Mr. Armitage has been actively associated, as leader, and the present proficiency of which is largely due to his efforts; and in the other by a student's lounge, given by the Boys' Brigade of the church, in which the late rector has taken a deep interest.

The first presentation was made on behalf of the choir. Mr. Record read the following address and Mr. Brundrette presented their late leader with the clock;—

Rev. W. L. Armitage:

Dear Rector,—It is with feelings of the deepest regret that we meet this evening to bid farewell to you. Our relations for the past seven years have indeed been very happy ones. We have always found you ever ready and willing to combat the labourious task of looking after the interests of the choir and the church at large. We have appreciated your never-failing attention to our welfare and tuition, and feel assured that in your new sphere you will have even greater success than you have had heretofore.

During the time you have spent with us you have carried on a splendid and lasting work, and while we feel that you have a harder task before you, we are sustained with the hope that you will bear up with that Christian fortitude which is so characteristic of you. As a token of our deep respect and affection we ask you to please accept this small gift as a memento of the very happy moments spent together in the dear old parish of All Saints' Peterborough.

We wish you God-speed and may you gain every success in your undertakings.

The members of the choir,

May Bullen, Bertha Best, Emma Bullen, Ada Williams, May Edwards, Mollie Bloise, Bertha Brundrett, Bessie Brightman, May Hopkins, Lillian H. Rush, Maggie Flower, Mabel Rickey, Lucy Woods, Louise Lacheur, Ada Sabin, Marion Elliott, Nellie Hall, Eva Hopkins, Herbert Rush, Mary I. Rush, Josephine Sproule, R. H. Shepherd, A. Williams, A. E. Brundrett, W. B. Rickey, J. W. Edwards, A. W. Allen, Sidney Rogers, Frank Barclay, Joseph Legg, W. Allen, R. Nimmo, Jas. A. Mills, Ida Mulholland, Willie Dickson, Arthur Flower.

Peterborough, January 15th, 1904.

Mr. Armitage responded to the address and acknowledged the handsome gift in a characteristically modest manner. He expressed his pleasure at his association with the choir and was very grateful for this pleasing remembrance of his work with the members. He urged them to stand by the new rector as they had stood by him, and assured them that he would always think with pleasure of his association with All Saints choir.

The Boys Brigade had gathered at the church last night for the purpose of doing a similar honour to Rev. Mr. Armitage, and after the choir had made their presentation, the Wardens of the Brigade took charge of affairs, and Mr. A. Hopkins on behalf of the members of the Brigade, read an address expressive of the regret experienced at Mr. Armitage's departure, and Messrs. S. Rush, Price Adamson and Will Hopkins presented him with a student's lounge. The address follows:

To Rev. W. L. Armitage,

Reverend and Dear Sir,—We cannot allow this opportunity to pass without availing ourselves of the privilege of addressing to you a few farewell remarks and thus endeavouring to show and convey to you our best and heartiest wishes for your success in your future labours. As warden of the Boys' Brigade we must say that we have always found you everything that could be desired and we trust that the good work that you have started amongst us may be carried on with yet increased vigour to the good of the parish and ourselves generally which we know would be to you one of the best of encouragements to redouble your efforts in your sphere of work.

We would ask you to accept from us as a slight token of esteem the accompanying student's lounge which may, when you rest from your labour, seem to remind you of us.

A. HOPKINS,
Captain.
S. U. RUSH,
Secretary,

Mr. Armitage, replying, thanked the boys for the kindly interest they evidenced in him, and reviewing his stay in Peterborough, said no small degree of his pleasure had been from his connection with the Boy's Brigade, in which he was deeply interested, and although he was leaving town his interest in them would continue, and he hoped that the Brigade would continue its present efficiency.

The members of the Brigade and the choir then bade their late rector farewell, and gave him their best wishes for his future success.

LAWN BOWLING CLUB'S CONCERT A SUCCESS.

Mr. W. Spencer Jones Brings Artists of More Than Ordinary Talent.

Mrs. Bertha Cushing-Child, Bostons Leading Contralto Delighted the Audience—A Musical and Literature Treat.

Under the direction of Mr. W. Spencer Jones, one of the few recognized concert directors in the world, Mrs. Bertha Cushing Child, of Boston, who is one of the best contralto vocalists ever heard in Canada, appeared in the opera house last night, the concert being under the auspices of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, and it is making no exaggerated statement to say that the programme rendered was a highly artistic one, and one which gave genuine pleasure to those who appreciated the artistic in music.

Mrs. Cushing Child, who is on her second Canadian tour, gave ample evidence of her possession of a delicious contralto voice, rich in tone and generous in volume, and added to the natural gift is the equally essential accomplishment, a perfect control, which the singer also possesses. The event was a thoroughly pleasing one, and the Bowling Club is to be congratulated upon giving a Peterborough audience the opportunity to enjoy such a programme as that presented last night.

The audience was not a large one, but that it was appreciative no one who participated in its enjoyment, could doubt. Mr. Spencer Jones has attained a reputation, which is more than national, for presenting artists which are among the best in their repective lines, and in those who appeared before the audience assembled last night, this well-merited reputation was fully sustained.

In addition to the vocalist, Miss Mabel S. Leonard, a highly accomplished reader, and Miss Georgie Turner, a young violinist of great promise appeared on the programme and to both was accorded a very cordial and enthusiastic reception. The work of both of these artists was fully up to the standard of excellence demanded by the audience, which was one capable of appreciating the best, and that they succeeded in satisfying those present, is sufficient proof of their attainments.

The programme, while it was not a lengthy one, was most pleasingly arranged, and the selections in excellent ttaste. It opened with a violin solo, "Rhapsodic Hongroise," by Hauser, rendered most effectively by Miss Turner. This is a most difficult selection, requiring a thorough appreciation of the composer's thought, and that it was so well rendered, is especially creditable, when the fact of the artist's youth is considered.

Miss Turner puts an expression into her playing which stamps her as a true musician, and in her opening selection, as indeed in all her others, her execution was excellent, the soft passages being particularly well rendered.

Miss Mabel S. Leonard, the third member of the Company, gave the audience distinct pleasure by her clever impersonations and dramatic readings. Her first number, a double one, was a humourous sketch, "What Jack Said," followed by a reading from "The Countess Laura," in both of which she displayed good elocutionary talent. Miss Leonard pleasingly responded to an enthusiastic encore.

Mrs. Child's first number was the Aria, "Amour Viens Aider," and in it her beautiful contralto voice was heard to good advantage. In response to an encore she gave, "Oh That We Two Were Maying."

Miss Turner followed with a violin solo, "Romance," which, as were all her numbers was, enthusiastically encored. A reading, "Why Schoffer Did Not Play," by Miss Leonard, with violin obligato was a most enjoyed number. Miss Leonard put considerable feeling into her selection, which was well received. Mrs. Child followed in a double number, (a) "May Morning," by Denza, and (b) "What the Chimney Sang," by Norris. A violin solo, "Barcarole and Pizzicatti," Delibes, by Miss Turner, was her last number, and as a recall number she gave "Home, Sweet Home."

Miss Leonard closed her contribution to the programme with a double number, (a) "Things Aint Like They Uster Be," and (b) a reading from "London Assurance," in which the characters of Lady Gay Spanker, Max Harkaway and Sir Harcourt Courtley, were impersonated. In this number, Miss Leonard proved herself a most interesting and clever reader, and her selections was a thoroughly enjoyable treat.

Mrs. Child, by request, sang, Sir Arthur Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," and in response to an encore gave, "Good-Bye, Sweet Day."

The Bowling Club is to be complimented upon the excellent quality of the concert rendered under its auspices, and Mr. W. Spencer Jones, at whose direction the programme was rendered, has strengthened his friendship with Peterborough music lovers, and future concerts under his direction should be well attended.

The Bowling Club has arranged to secure this splendid company for a second concert on Monday evening next, with an entire change of programme, the following being the numbers to be given.—

THE ASSESSMENT FIXED AT $10,000.

By-Law in the North Monaghan Regarding Beet Sugar Factory was Passed.

Yesterday the electors of North Monaghan, or as many of them as dared brave the stormy weather, voted on a by-law fixing the assessment of the Peterborough Beet sugar Company's factory at $10,000 per year. There was almost unanimity in favour of the by-law, and the latter was carried by a very large majority. Although the electors were comparitively few the decision was arrived at by a large percentage and is said to be in accordance with the sentiment which is expressed in the township.

The previous assessment has been $3,000 and it was merely a matter of conjecture what the result would be when a twenty year increase of $7,000 was assured of, for the same property.

In conversation with the Examiner this morning a local gentleman who is interested in the Beet Sugar Company, stated that the passing of this by-law was a step forward towards the closing of the compact with the Dresden Beet Sugar Company. It will be remembered that the Dresden factory closed down owing to a disagreement between the management and the corporation regarding the assessment of the factory and premises, the management alleging that the corporation had broken faith with them regarding a guaranteed fixed assessment. The local factory management then got an option on the machinery of the Dresden factory and amongst the conditions was one that the Peterborough factory get a fixed assessment for 20 years of $10,000. Should everything turn out satisfactorily and the Dresden machinery transhipped to Peterborough, Captain Davidson, the owner of the Dresden factory, will take $100,000 worth of stock in the local concern.

TORONTO JUNCTION PASTOR RESIGNS.

Rev. W. J. Pady, Formerly of Park Street Church Here—Leaving the Junction.

The Toronto Star last night contained the statement that Rev. W. J. Pady, who for six years has been pastor of Annette street Baptist church, Toronto Junction, has tendered his resignation. Rev. Mr. Pady is well known in Peterborough, having for some years been pastor of Park street church. He left here about eight years ago for Little York, where he lived two years before removing to the Junction. The Star says:—

"The congregation of Annette street Baptist church held its annual meeting last night, and considered the resignation of its pastor, Rev. W. J. Pady. The large majority of those present were much opposed to their pastor's departure, but Mr. Pady was decided on the point, and at his earnest request the resignation was accepted. Mr. Pady stated that his only reason for leaving the church was that he considered he had served his time here, had practically done all he could do, and he considered that it would be in the interest of both the church and himself to have a change. The congregation reluctantly accepted his resignation, many expressions of regret being made by the members.

"The reports submitted showed the church to be in an encouraging financial condition, and also a gratifying increase in the membership. During the six years of Rev. Mr. Pady's pastorate here he has baptized about 80 persons, and received into the church some 130 new members. When he came here the church was financially depressed, and now the change is most remarkable. It is not known yet when Mr. Pady will leave, but he will probably fill out his present year."

THE CHICAGO THEATRE HORROR.

A Letter from a Former Peterboroughnian.

A Graphic Description of the Catastrophe.

Mr. Richard Sheehy has received a letter from his brother, Mr. J. J. Sheehy, of Chicago, giving some sadly interesting details of the Chicago theatre horror, and the Examiner is permitted to make a few extracts from it. "Jimmy" Sheehy, who is now a prominent business man in Chicago, will be well remembered in Peterborough. He won his literary spurs as the first reporter on the staff of the Daily Examiner in 1885, and the same graphic style will be recognized in the subjoined letter, which was, however, not written with an idea of publication:—

To-day is the first business day of 1904, but it is not by any manner of means a day of business for Chicago. To-day by special proclamation of His Honour Mayor Harrison, the people of Chicago bow their heads in great grief over the bodies of 689 persons who perished in the awful fire of last Wednesday afternoon. I will venture to say that long ere this letter reaches you you will have read ten times more about that awful catastrophe than I have read. I have, I think, bought every "extra" issued by the Chicago papers but only to glance at the swelling list of names of the dead and dying. Is it not terrible to think that nearly a thousand—principally women and children—should be sacrificed in such a way?

Christmas and New Year's Vacations brought to Chicago homes thousands of boys and girls from colleges, academies, boarding schools and convents. Little wonder that parents should give their children a half day's enjoyment at some theatre in the city, and what spot more beautiful than the "Iroquois" theatre, just finished and fresh, so to speak, from the hands of architect and builder. Nothing is too good for those boys and girls who will be with their parents but a few days, when they once more return to their studies and again, it's Christmas time, and "what does it matter if it costs $1.00 for the seat away up at the dome," and two or three dollars for the dress circle and orchestra chairs? What's the difference? Give the children a good time before they go back to their studies. That seemed to be the spirit of the people and in they packed and jammed and crushed until the sign "standing room only" is posted. But in they crush until every square foot of space is taken. That was the condition of things at 3.35 p. m., when some part of the lacey effects of the scenery catch fire and in less time than it takes to write it four or five hundred people

ARE STIFLED AND TRAMPLED AND BURNT TO DEATH.

Can you imagine the scene of about 2,500 women and children in that death trap and not a speck of light to show them the way to any exit? Not a glimmer but the awful flames creeping on them and devouring them. As soon as the firemen reached the scene the occupants of the first few rows in the balcony were all found dead sitting upright in their seats. Scores of children left there by their parents who promised to return for them were burnt to a crisp in the body of the theatre. Express waggons of every description were hurriedly pressed into service and dozens of them did the work of carrying the dead to the various morgues in the city. At 6 p. m. the morgues were filled, and special squadrons of police were detailed to keep in order—in so far as it was possible—the surging multitude who clamoured for admission to view the dead and identify the bodies of missing relatives. In the month of April, 1901, I visited the principal morgue in Chicago. A beautiful young woman was shot to death by a demented husband who committed suicide two minutes after he shot his young wife. I knew both of them and was called to the morgue by the sister of the murdered woman. I shall never forget that 20th of April. The murdered woman was a bride of less than a year and there she lay on a marble slab, her warm blood oozing from the fatal wound and trickling down the cold, corrugated stone couch. She seemed to wear a smile even in death and when I turned away from the scene I said to myself, "She died happy." If you knew the circumstances you would say so too. Last Wednesday night I visited the same morgue and at the bodies of 119 victims every one of them blackened by smoke and fire. Not one of those poor creatures died with a smile. There they lay black and cold in death—their eyes opened wide—their arms upraised in supplication as much as to say, "Come to me—for God's sake help me." Here a young school-boy or girl; there a woman clasping in her arms a mere child. Evidently they clung to one another till the death. Carriages with liveried servants dash up from without and later the father, husband or young woman wildly looking for child, wife or mother. In some instances the gold filling of the teeth is the only means of identification and then the scene which would wring tears from the heart of a stone. Oh! What a dreary New Year's Eve. It has been the custom in Chicago, as in every large city in America, to usher in the New year as noisily as possible. Every boy who possesses a dime or a dollar invests in a tin horn or a blank cartridge revolver. Every fireman in every tugboat from the mouth of the Chicago river to the "Calumet" keeps up steam until the midnight hour of December 31st. During the past ten years it seemed to me that some unwritten law commanded every mother's son of them to pull the rope leading to the whistle; and then such a midnight of tin horns, pistols, whistles and foghorns—all Chicago let loose, as it were, from the northern suburb of Evanston to the Indiana state border, 25 miles south everybody working overtime to usher in the new year. The night before last it was different. The feebleest of blasts from the smallest of tin horns was looked upon as a sacrilegeг and the small boy who was guilty was cautioned and did not dare to repeat the offence. The omnipresent Israelite who had taken time by the forelock and had purchased a stock of horns, attempted for a brief moment to make sale in the old stereotyped curb-stone mercantile style but only for the briefest of moments and we see him in tow of a burly policeman. Chicago has paid an awful price for its mad dance of theatrical pleasure. I hate to think of it as a divine visitation and yet I believe it to be nothing else. The one only consolation Chicago has is this: The six hundred poor women and children who perished last Wednesday were better prepared to die than the ordinary night audience. It looks to me like a warning to Chicago and every large American and perhaps a few large Canadian cities. The class of plays in the principal cities is such that, as a rule, they bring no special illumination to the soul. Time was when people went to the theatre to be educated. We looked at "The Old Homestead," or "Hearts of Oak," or "Poor Relations," and we left the theatre feeling better men. Now we read of a great "hit" made by some lead-lady and the theatre is crowded for a three months' run, and the play? Positively indecent. We must look in vain for worthy successors to Booth, Barrett, Salvini, James Ahern, Sol Smith Russell and Mary Anderson.

LOOKED WITH HORROR

HONOUR COMES TO A PETERBOROUGH MAN.

Mr. Bernard A. Matschke Promoted to Position of Fire Chief.

Well-Known Local Man Now One of Brooklyn's Prominent Citizen—Well-Merited Promotion.

The Brooklyn Daily Eagle on Saturday last published a very creditable half tone portrait of Mr. Bernard A. Matschke, formerly of Peterborough, and well known here, and who now holds the position of Chief of the 21st Battalion of the City Fire Brigade. The article says in part:

"Probably no recent promotion in the Brooklyn Fire Department has given as much general satisfaction as that of Bernard A. Matschke, who on December 31st was made chief of the Twenty-first Battalion, with quarters at 247 Pearl street. Matschke who was known for a long time as "The Flying Dutchman," because of the fearless manner in which he drove in responding to an alarm of fire, is one of the most popular men in the entire department, and has a record which is the envy of hundreds. He figured in many thrilling rescues and earned his promotion in every instance. He was appointed to the force in April, 1890; was made assistant foreman in January, 1894; foreman in December, 1896, and previous to his late elevation had been acting battalion chief for some time. Matschke got his early training in the navy. He entered as an apprentice in September, 1883, and was honourably discharged in December, 1886, as captain of top, the highest rank that could be attained by a naval apprentice at that time."

A long list of instances when Mr. Matschke had distinguished himself by personal bravery, is given.

It will be pleasing to his many friends here to know that he has been so successful, and that in the comparatively short space of fourteen years he has arisen to the position of Chief.

PULLING UP STAKES IN PETERBOROUGH

No Matter When or Where You see a Bargain, There's a Better One for You at

GOUGH BROS' Good-Bye Sale

The second week adds to the intense interest of this sale. Its an occasion that warrants unbridled enthusiasm. Nothing can stop its progress.

Do you know how we're fixed? $68,000 worth of Suits, Overcoats, Furs, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishings, must be slashed to pieces to bring down the stock. Are you thinking? Can't you see what this means? Can't you see that we must sell at a heavy loss in order to pull up stakes in time to let in the new firm.

WILL ANYBODY KINDLY RISE IN THE MEETING and say that Gough Bros. ever was or ever will be undersold. The fears of competitors and the frantic efforts of their bosses, cut no figure with us. No cast-iron "transformation" sale bulletin of reduced prices can side-track GOUGH'S GOOD-BYE SALE. We stand by the town and will issue new lists of cut prices every week that must beat the best markings by fully 25 per cent. of any dealer in town.

If anybody offers to sell Men's Overcoats and Suits worth $10 for $6.98, down goes Gough's Prices to $5.98.
If anybody offers to sell Boys' Suits and Overcoats worth $6.00 for $4.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $3.48.
If anybody offers to sell $3.00 Trousers for $2.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $1.98. And so on all through the gamut.

Don't you see the logic in our slashing — were pulling up stakes in Peterborough—necessity knows no law—the stock can't be moved or kept for another season.

WESTERN DAIRYMEN.

Mr. J. N. Paget of Canboro Elected President—Interesting and Practical Addresses—A Senate Nomination.

St. Thomas, Jan. 15.—The three days' annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario was concluded yesterday afternoon. The number of delegates in attendance has averaged 400. Three sessions daily were held, and many spirited debates were indulged in. The features of the convention have been the marked demand for improved railroad and water transportation.

The important business yesterday was the election of officers. They are:

President, J. N. Paget of Canboro.

First vice-president, Robert Johnston, St. Thomas.

Second vice-president, J. W. Steinhoff, Stratford.

Honorary presidents, Hon. Thomas Ballantyne, Harold Eagle.

Directors—Seventh district, John McQuaker; 8th, W. R. Shearer; 9th, John Brodie; 10th, James Connolly; 11th, W. R. McLeod; 12th, W. A. Bothwell; 13th, A. F. MacLaren.

Auditors—J. A. Nelles, London; Geo. Smith, Woodstock.

Representatives to Industrial Exhibition at Toronto—A. F. MacLaren, J. N. Paget; London Exhibition, J. W. Steinhoff, John R. Isaacs.

Mr. J. C. Bell opened the discussion on churning and packing creamery butter. Prof. J. A. Ruddick of Ottawa delivered a practical address on "Preservation and Safe Transportation of Dairy Products." Mr. Archie Smith talked entertainingly on "Requirements of the Export Butter Trade." Prof. Frank T. Shutt spoke on "Recent Investigations re. the Percentage of Water in Butter." Prof. Dean discussed "Experiments in Ripening Cheese at Various Temperatures."

The resolutions adopted recommended the appointment of the Hon. Thomas Ballantyne to a seat in the Senate, and recorded sincere appreciation of the services which the late Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., a former president of this association, has rendered to his country and more particularly for the efforts which he put forth to promote the interests of the dairymen in the territory under the jurisdiction of this association.

Suffered Ten Years from Nervousness and Neuralgia

Mrs. Alexander Allen, Ramsay, Ont., testifies to the efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound as follows: "It gives me much pleasure to testify to the fact that Paine's Celery Compound has caused a remarkable change in my condition. For ten years I suffered from nervousness and neuralgia, and used medicines of all kinds without finding relief. Paine's Celery Compound was recommended to me, and after using seven bottles I find myself well and strong, and can rest and sleep with ease and comfort. I believe it to be the best medicine in the world."

Stepping to the Curb.

"Did you ever notice," said the man who prides himself on his powers of observation, "that every one uses the same foot almost every time in stepping up or down the curb at a street crossing? Maybe you haven't, but it is a fact just the same. It may be the right foot that is used or it may be the left, but it is the same one pretty much all the time.

"The movement is made so often that it becomes a habit of the most tenacious kind. By one of those involuntary actions of the nervous system the nerves of the eye and the leg and foot work in unison. The eye of a person approaching a crossing gauges the distance to be traversed before the final step is taken, and the stride is regulated to bring the favorite foot forward in time to take it. The same thing happens when the curb on the other side of the street is reached.

"Sometimes, especially when one is walking rapidly or when the street is crowded, it takes a deal of jockeying to get the chosen foot into position, but the rule is seldom broken. You needn't try to find the truth of this principle by keeping tab on your own steps, for in so doing your will power will come in to play and you will use whichever foot you please. Just watch some other fellow, and you will find out that what I am telling you is a fact."

A Stag Hunt.

"I shall never forget an experience I had one winter," said a visitor from northern Michigan. "It was during the deer season when I went out alone one day to see what I could get. Well, I hunted all day long without even seeing a deer. Finally I sat down on a log to rest and to meditate on my bad luck, when all of a sudden I looked up and saw a big buck making a dead line for me!

"He threw up his flag as soon as he scented me, and I had buck fever for an instant. There we were, both motionless, each staring at the other and both frightened stiff. The next instant, though, I collected myself and brought him down with a shot. It seemed a queer thing to me that after I'd hunted all day long without success that big deer should come walking right into the muzzle of my gun. But I suppose that's the way with the world."

Funny Old Signs.

One of the most notable of old London signs, "The Dog's Head in the Iron Pot," had its beginning in the early years of the reign of that same bluff King Hal. It stands out, a lonely figure, on Blackfriars road at the corner of Charlotte street, the sign of a wholesale ironmonger's establishment. The dog is in the act of eating out of a three legged iron pot which it has overturned. There were also "The Black Dog" and "The Dog and the Duck." "The White Greyhound" was the sign of John Harrison in St. Paul's churchyard, a bookseller who published some of Shakespeare's early works.—St. Nicholas.

WAKEFUL BABIES.

No baby cries for the mere fun of the thing. It cries because it is not well—generally its little stomach is sour, its bowels congested, and its skin hot and feverish. This is why babies are wakeful and make nights miserable for the parents. Relieve the little one and it will sleep all night and let the mother get her needed rest as well. Just what mothers need for this purpose is Baby's Own Tablets — a medicine that speedily relieves and promptly cures all the minor ailments of young children. The experience of thousands of mothers has proved the truth of this, and amoag these mothers is Mrs. Jas. Farrell, Henberry, Ont., who says, "I think Baby's Own Tablets the best medicine in the world for little ones. My baby was cross and gave me a good deal of trouble but since using the Tablets I could not wish for a healthier or better natured child."

Stronger praise could not be given and the mother has a guarantee that the Tablets contain no opiate or other harmful drug. Sold by medicine dealers or sent postpaid at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

Malt Purity

Ale brewed from malt alone possesses important dietic properties that are lacking in common ales.

Carling's Ale is brewed from the purest and most scientifically prepared malt, and contains more food and less alcohol than common ales.

That is why it is so regularly prescribed by family physicians for building up their patients.

No Ale is equal to Carling's for medicinal purposes.

Ask for Carling's Ale—accept no other, because no other is quite so good.

LOCAL PATRIOTISM.

A STUDY OF CANADA'S LITTLE LONDONS BY EDGAR WALLACE.

Except Dawson City the Dominion Has No So-Called Boom Towns—Many Northwest Cities Have Sprung Into Importance in a Few Years—Faith in the Future Justified.

I turned at the door to light my pipe and congratulate the lady behind the counter on the obviously growing prosperity of the town.

"Take your pipe out, mister," she commanded; "I don't allow no smoking in this store." Then, mollified by my evident confusion, she resumed: "Well, we reckon this is a fine city."

"Hardly a city," I murmured ingratiatingly; "you mean town."

"City I said," said the lady sharply; "and don't put your muddy boots on that there pair of pants. City I said, and City I mean. At any rate, we shall soon be incorporated. This here Moose Jaw is as thriving and prosperous a place as there is in the West, I guess." I guessed so, too, but ventured to express my doubt as to the chance of its incorporation is so near a future as "pretty soon."

The lady eyed me scornfully; she knew the commercial importance of her own town—nay City—Moose Jaw.

Out in the street—the straggling, loose-strung street, where the noble red man in a plug hat and moccasins trod painfully the corded sidewalks, what time his brick-faced squaw gazed in silent wonderment at genuine woollen underwear marked down to a dollar fifty—the street, with all its untidy newness, and the raw, unfinished edge of things slovenly displayed—only he who is initiated into the mysteries of colonial development would trace indications of unusual prosperity. To the uninitiated it was a struggling line of one-storey shacks, beginning promisingly enough with red-brick hotel and trailing off into prairie land.

There are no boom towns in Canada—if you except Dawson City—as we understand boom towns. There are towns which have sprung into importance in a few years, such as Edmonton and Calgary and Regina. But these have had existence of long standing, and have only increased in ratio to the prosperity of the surrounding country. When Winnipeg was the Hudson Bay Company's post Fort Garry, it occupied relatively the same position to Manitoba as it does now. Immigration increased—it was a pitiably slow process—more and more prairie-land was broken in; the wheat crop became bigger and bigger—the needs of the urban population correspondingly increased both in quantity and variety; agriculture became a scientific pursuit, necessitating improved machinery; the old settler, who for years had roughed it on the bare essentials of life, found the little luxuries of civilization easier to procure; and so Winnipeg become at once the receiving station for products and the distributing point for necessities, whether it was fine cloth or patent plows.

As is, and was, Winnipeg, so Moose Jaw, or the thousand little townships spread over Canada, tapping the country, feeding the country, banking money, and dreaming of incorporation. For a town reaches not the dignity of a city till it has a population of 10,000. Any number of people from 10,000 to 20,000, gathered together in one place, constitute a township. From 10,000 to 100,000 they form the population of a city. Over 100,000 they are The Earth.

This is the way of Canada; it is also the way of the States, except that there any old street of framehouses has its city hall and corporation. In Canada, incorporation is a prize to which every proper town aspires. It is a goal to which the newest village that was ever tacked on to a C.P.R. elevator strives. Consequently, men from the back places are inveterate liars, though this may be said in their favor, that they believe all they tell. Brag! There is no brag quite like it.

"If you can find time it will pay you to stop off at Wrinkles. A fine town, yes sir. I don't suppose there's another town like Wrinkles in all Canada. We've got as magnificent a church as you've ever seen outside of Montreal; banks, court-house, postoffice, hotel; and we're just installing electric light and a car service.

You know Wrinkles.

Alas! That the bank, postoffice and court-house are beneath one humble roof; that the hotel is kept by Hee Chow; that the church is a microscopic barn with a wooden steeple; that the electric light and car service are unblushing myths.

Or it is, "You ought not to miss Bear's Head Creek. I don't want to brag about it, but you'll be surprised. Don't leave Canada without seeing it. We've got a newspaper there, too, that will interest you."

You go.

It is indeed, a thriving township, and the newspaper is a fact. The day you arrive, there have been big happenings in Bear's Head Creek. Behold the front page of the paper.

Across four columns in black type—"Local firm gets a thousand-dollar contract. Contractor O'Grady in open competition secures order for erecting new hotel. Successful competitor speaks with Gazette man, and expresses confidence in the future of Bear's Head Creek."

Lest it be thought that I am attempting to poke a poor form of fun at these little Londons struggling for recognition, let me say right here that I know no finer, no more inspiriting sight than is afforded by the spectacle of the almost Homeric efforts of the average Canadian township of smaller size to justify its glorious faith in the future.

"Here," says the man of the new town, "is a spot which by Providence, by natural position, by extraordinary conditions, and the proximity to the Canadian Pacific Railway is destined to be the Chicago of the West. Let us, the early fathers of the city, prepare the ground for future generations."

So the man of the new town sits on the snake-fence, puffing at his pipe, dreaming dreams, peopling the mellow cornfields with phantom millions; erecting on this patch a skyscrapper, on that a mammoth store, and sacrificing with some regret, but withall a stern sense of duty, the little church and the postoffice shack to make place for a ten-storied hotel.

And of their faith shall they in a degree be justified. Not all of them shall be citizens of a new Chicago—a poor enough ideal, God wots!—but they shall greatly grow. They shall hit higher than they aim, because that is how the ideal works out; but in the meantime their never-ceasing fight to thrust into fame and place the town of their adoption constitutes as fine a display of true patriotism as one may well wish to see.—Edgar Wallace, in London Daily Mail.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhea, that, after over a third of a century's experience in curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

IT STANDS ALONE.—The "Favorite Prescription" stands alone, as the one and only remedy for these distressingly common forms of weakness, possessed of such positively specific curative properties as to warrant its makers in proposing, and binding themselves to forfeit, as we, the undersigned proprietors of that wonderful remedy hereby do, to pay the sum of $500 in legal money of the United States in any case of the above diseases in which after a fair and reasonable trial of our treatment, we fail to cure. No other medicine for the cure of women's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee; no other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its manufacturers in making such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and turn your back on any unscrupulous dealer who would insult your intelligence by attempting to foist upon you some inferior substitute, under the plea that "it is just as good." Insist on having the article which has a record of a third of a century of cures and which is backed by those willing to forfeit $500 if they cannot cure you.

In cases attended by a leucorrheal drain a solution of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets should be used conjointly with the use of the "Favorite Prescription." They are sold by all druggists, or sent post-paid to any address, on receipt of 25 cents in stamps. Send 50 cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address WORLD'S DISPENSARY, Buffalo, N. Y.

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

His Own Manuscript.

George Ade, in the early days of his career, before the "Fables In Slang" had brought him fame, called one morning in Chicago upon a Sunday editor on a mission from a theatrical manager.

"I have brought you this manuscript"—he began, but the editor, looking up at the tall, timid youth, interrupted:

"Just throw the manuscript in the wastebasket, please," he said. "I'm very busy just now and haven't time to do it myself."

Mr. Ade obeyed calmly. He resumed: "I have come from the —— theater, and the manuscript I have just thrown in the wastebasket is your comic farce of 'The Erring Son,' which the manager asks me to return to you with thanks. He suggests that you sell it to an undertaker, to be read at funerals."

Then Mr. Ade smiled gently and withdrew.

"Capping" Crows.

The following account is given in Country Life of the way in which pilfering crows are dealt with by Italian agriculturists: A hole of a certain depth is dug in the ground, at the bottom of which is placed some decayed meat. A funnel shaped wedge of paper is then inserted into the hole, the upper edge of the paper being coated with birdlime. "Maitre Corbeau" sees the food, descends to grasp it, and when he has firm hold of it he rises up again. His head is, however, swathed with the paper cap, and in his mad endeavor to rid himself of it he circles up to extraordinary heights in the air, revolving constantly and at so rapid a pace that, soon overcome with giddiness, he falls to the earth dead.

A Giant in Strength.

"How's the baby getting on?" asked a family friend. "Growing bigger and stronger every day, I suppose?"

"He's growing bigger every day," said the proud father, "and he's plenty strong enough now to suit me. You remember what a tremendous voice he had when you saw him three months ago? Well, it's still more tremendous now, yet he lifts it a dozen times a day."

MEDICAL DELUSIONS.

An Old Family Physician Tells of Some of His Experiences—The "Sure" Diseases of Childhood.

Tradition and superstition, it is said, die hard, and even in this twentieth century, the age of education and progress, it is surprising what erroneous and delusive ideas prevail regarding medical matters.

In some of the more common ailments of children a doctor hears at times peculiar views expressed. Many patients are under the impression that it is for their children's welfare that they should contract while young such diseases as measles, whooping cough, and chickenpox, or glasspox, and they will even go so far as to expose them to infection so as to, as they express it, "get it over and done with."

As a matter of fact, there is no reason or necessity why any child should suffer from any of these diseases. Happy is the family that escapes them, for then there is a chance of the youngsters growing up healthy men and women and useful members of society.

Most erroneous ideas prevail as to the effect of these complaints of childhood. I have often heard it said: "Oh, it's only measles!" or chickenpox, as the case may be; quite oblivious to after effects. Any one who would take the trouble to read health statistics would soon be convinced that measles especially is not to be trifled with. And yet medical men, as a rule, find a reckless disregard for isolation, and in many cases not even the precaution of calling in the family doctor, the result being, naturally, that the disease spreads at its own sweet will and often works havoc.

In the treatment of this complaint, again, delusions and erroneous ideas exist among a large number of the community. Tradition, so it appears, to me, is more prevalent with regard to measles than almost any other children's disease.

A remedy that has been handed down from mother to daughter for I don't know how many generations is saffron. Now, what effect saffron has upon this particular fever no doctor knows. Certainly there is no peculiar element in its composition that makes Certainly there is no peculiar element in its composition that makes it a necessity. When one remembers that saffron is merely a dye—principally used commercially in that role—and that it possesses no medicinal value, one fails to understand why it is so universally used. The only thing to be said in its favor is that, while being useless, it is harmless.

A favorite addition to saffron is brandy; but as saffron is harmless, brandy, on the other hand, especially with babies and young children, is positively injurious, and should never be given except under medical advice.

Children are always thirsty in their feverish ailments. Yet how seldom the mother thinks of giving her child water to drink! It is nearly always milk—another popular delusion. Milk is an excellent food, but it does not quench thirst; in fact, it increases it. Give the child cold boiled water, and it will become quiet and less fretful.

A very popular error is that spirits keep the cold out. As a matter of fact they do just the opposite. Alcohol increases the action of the skin, opens the pores, and makes the individual more liable to contract chills and colds, often with serious results. A glass of hot milk is far better and much cheaper and purer.

It is a popular delusion that doctors are compelled to attend to any and every call made upon them. Nothing of the kind; but medical men very rarely refuse, although in many cases the chance of receiving a fee is remote. Street accidents or people suddenly taken ill (sometimes a malingerer) will make a kind-hearted onlooker run to the nearest doctor for assistance, quite oblivious as to who is responsible for payment. As a matter of fact, the one who call the doctor is liable.—Tit-Bits.

Fortune's Favor Sufficient.

"What do we want with gold and precious stones?" said the proud young mother, gazing fondly upon the baby. "This is fortune enough for us."

"Huh!" grunted the father, who had been walking the floor nearly all night. "I'm glad fortune didn't knock twice at our door."

Sympathy.

He—I got a note from Dunne today saying that he absolutely must have the money I owe him by tomorrow morning.

She—Oh, the poor fellow!

THE T. A. S. LOST TO THE KEENE BUNCH

Fast Game in the Trent Valley League Last Night.

Keene and T.A.S. met in the Trent Valley League at Keene last night, and the Peterborough bunch went down to defeat by a score of 8 goals to 5. In this, the return game, both teams gave a good exhibition of the game throughout, while there were only three players ruled off, and none of these for more than a minute at a time. The game was fast from the start and continued so. Moreover there was no slashing. At half time the score stood at 4 to 2, and up to that time nobody had decorated the fence.

The home team began the second half in great form, netting 4, and 15 minutes before full time the score stood at 8—2 in favour of Keene. Encouraged by the persistent cheers of their followers, and stung with the sense of defeat the T.A.S. pulled themselves together and in that seemingly short quarter of an hour piled up three more goals on to their previous score.

Referee W. McIntyre of Bobcaygeon, gave satisfaction, and it is the opinion of the losers that he certainly filled the bill well.

The T.A.S. were accompanied by some 70 of their supporters, who drove down, leaving Peterborough at 4 o'clock, and arriving at Keene about 6. They were met by the Keene seven and treated in a most gentlemanly manner. The game began at 8 o'clock sharp and was witnessed by nearly 800 persons, the gate receipts being $74, which is a record for Keene. After the game the visitors were entertained at Keene-ally's hotel, and a number of pleasant speeches made and a most enjoyable time spent. The T.A.S. are enthusiastic over their considerate treatment at the hands of the Keene rink management. They left Keene at 12.30 and arrived in town about 2.30 this morning.

The teams were:

Keene — Goal, McIntyre; point, Dickson; cover, Quinn; forwards, H. Quinn, Miller, McCarthy and C. McCarthy.

T.A.S. — Goal, McCoy; point, Meagher; cover, Crowley; forwards, Lynch, George, McGrath and Parnell.

BELLEVILLE PAPER HANDS OUT ADVICE,

Says Players Must Work in Combination or the "Tail End of the Procession" will be Theirs.

The Belleville Intelligencer continues to hand out some good advice to the Belleville hockey players and their critics. The paper in commenting on the game here says:—

"As to the game itself, the players are coming in for much criticism, some of it deserved, and a great deal altogether uncalled-for. It is bad enough for any player to work his hardest and lose, without being roasted by self-constituted critics who, perhaps, lost the price of a ton of coal on the team. The match, we believe, was fairly won by the Peterborough team, who, in the first half, outplayed our lads, weakened as they were by the absence of McGuire and the indisposition of Marks. On local ice the Bellevilles should win, and, we believe, will win, if they play their old-time game, either from Peterborough or any other team in the district."

"And now a word to the home players. It was admitted on all sides last winter that the main cause of Belleville's success was system. Every man had his place, and every man kept it. There was no "solo" playing and the standing order was "Pass the puck."

"And that same order must be put in force this season, or it's the tail end of the procession for us. From now on there should be hard, systematic practice in combination work. Come, now, gentlemen, it's up to you. Don't think that a dashing run, at the end of which you lose the puck, is as good as an unselfish pass which brings a score. Remember that there are four forwards in the game, every one of them as anxious to win as you are. It's not too late yet to make good for this season. You can lose one game, or even two games, and still make the next round. All together now, you Red and White Boys. Every man, woman and child of us have our eyes on you."

There will be no practice of the T. A.S. to-night.

* * * *

MR. MELTON PRIOR WAS INTERVIEWED.

Celebrated War Artist Passed Through Peterborough Yesterday En Route for Japan.

Mr. Melton Prior, the veteran war artist on the London Illustrated News staff, arrived in Canada on Tuesday and passed through Peterborough from Montreal, per 5.10 C. P.R. train, for Toronto and thence to Vancouver. An Examiner reporter went to Norwood yesterday and boarding the train at that point made himself acquainted with Mr. Prior, who submitted to an interview as far as Peterborough. Mr. Prior is known in five continents as an artist correspondent and arrived in Montreal from New York. He sailed from England in the steamer Umbria and is bound for Nagasaki, Japan to represent his paper in the impending struggle between Russia and Japan. As a veteran of twenty-seven year's experience, Mr. Prior speaks with considerable knowledge of the situation in the Far East and probably no other man is in a better position to forecast the outcome of a war or even the possibility of such a thing, than he, as he is well acquainted with the methods of war strength of both countries, while the probable scene of operations is a familiar one to him.

"This will be my twenty-seventh war. Since 1870, when I began with the France-Prussian war, I have, as a matter of fact, missed a few wars, but, on the other hand, I have been in twenty-six."

And will there be war in the East?

"There will surely be war between Russia and Japan and before it is ended other European nations will interfere and the war will be far more serious in its consequences and more far reaching in its scope than people have any idea."

"WAR CANNOT BE AVERTED."

Mr. Prior is of the opinion that war cannot be averted, though he says: "Japan should have gone at the Russians before this, as delay adds to the Russian power in the East by enabling her to concentrate her ships there. Japan has and will have a great advantage in being able to repair her war vessels practically on the ground, while Russia has a long way to bring them, and a long way to take them home for repairs.

"The Japanese are far better gunners; in fact, fully 60 per cent. better and in the sea fights should be able to knock the Russians about a bit."

In Mr. Prior's view the first sea fight between the two powers will last from an hour and a half to two hours. "In that time," he said, "both fleets will have exhausted their available ammunition and probably half of the fighting ships will be either blown out of the water or rammed.

"The Japanese ships, having the advantage of a nearer base of supplies and repairing station, will be able to repair, refit and get after the Russians again before the Czar's navy, or that portion of it that happens to be in Eastern waters, can be made ready to continue the struggle.

"Japan should have considerably the better of any naval engagements as they have better ships and better bases, while their men are much better fighting men than those ruled by the Czar.

JAPAN WON'T BE CRUSHED.

As to the possibility of Japan being crushed by sheer weight of superior numbers eventually, Mr. Prior remarked:

"Japan will never be crushed. The reports about Russia being able to pour hundreds of thousands of men into the scene of war by land is all balderdash. Even if they can get the men there how are they going to feed them? That is the question that hurts in Russia just now. The Trans-Siberian Railway, of which so much has been written, will not help to a great extent. It is but a single track road and not a good road at that. I doubt if Russia can support 200,000 men in Manchuria or anywhere where they will be of great service to her.

"And another thing, Europe will never stand by and see Japan crushed by Russia. With the exception of France, every power in Europe is actively in sympathy with Japan. France and Russia will naturally side together, but let me say that the British Government has already warned France that if she interferes in the slightest degree in behalf of Russia Great Britain will certainly take a hand in the fun on the side of Japan.

MEANING BEHIND ALL.

"Of course the warning was sent in a nice way and couched in diplomatic language, but there was meaning behind it just the same.

"I believe there will be a big European war before this thing is through and that the war cloud in the East is much more serious than people generally imagine.

"At the same time, should my prediction be wrong, there would still be modern Japan to sketch, which I will do in any case."

As to the Russian attitude towards Britain, Mr. Prior's remarks would lead one to belicve that at the present time it is none too cordial.

"The Russian ambassador in England, refused to see me on one occasion," said Mr. Prior, "saying he was too tired to see anyone. Again he would only see me through his secretary. I originally intended to go to Japan by way of Siberia, but I learned in London from an authoritative source, though privately, that I would never get through Siberia, as Russia did not want any Englishmen at the front, if possible. Consequently I came by Canada. The Russians are the politest people in the world, you know," said Mr. Prior, "but they have a way of stopping you which is peculiarly their own."

Mr. Prior has recently returned from Somaliland, and was optimistic regarding the situation there at the present time.

Mr. Prior who does not look a day older than he was twenty years ago is at the present time engaged in writing his life, which will appear shortly. He has been in twenty-six wars in all parts of the world. He has seen remarkable events at close quarters. He has been present at the making of history on the august scale; and he is now trying to bring back the memories which made record ever since the year 1870.

ROAD INSPECTOR FISHING FOR MEN.

The Deep Snow Seriously Impeded Local Traffic.

Snow to the depth of nearly four inches fell in Peterborough early this morning, and to-day the town was very quiet, especially for a Saturday, and market day at that. However, this is mainly due to the fact that the snowfall in the country is much deeper than here, and in some places the snow has drifted to such an extent as to almost form an impassable barrier. The snow in town seriously impeded local traffic, but the snow ploughs materially improved the situation by clearing the streets. The storm to a certain exteut also affected the railways. This morning Mr. A. MacCuley of Toronto, road inspector for the C.P.R., was in town trying to get men to help in the work of clearing the tracks. Both railways certainly did creditably as the trains to-day were very little late.

"77" knocks out GRIP Prevents Pneumonia.

Pneumonia is due to exposure to chill while heated, and if the system is not in good tone the liability is increased.

First there is a general bad feeling, followed by headache, chill and vomiting. The worst thing about Pneumonia is that the patient does not usually suspect the disease until the third day when there is marked fever and pain in breathing, in eating and in drinking.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

Review of Evangelist W. H. Kennedy's New Book.

The Christian Guardian reviews as follows Evangelist H. D. Kennedy's new book "Misunderstood:"—

"Mr. Kennedy is pretty well known throughout the Methodism of Ontario, having laboured very successfully in our churches for a number of years. Though we had known him for some time, and been associated with him to some extent in evangelistic work, we confess to a feeling of pleasant surprise in reading the pages of this book. Its six chapters have this unity of thought, that they look at the Master in the different phases of His life and work as the Misunderstood One, aiming not only to give a better understanding and appreciation of what He was and did, but also to bring home to our own life many lessons of wisdom and of comfort. There is clear thinking and earnest application of truth, with a certain simple eloquence of expression that makes very pleasant reading indeed."

NERVOUS WRECKS VERY COMMON

Bad Stomachs are the Direct Cause—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the Preventive and Cure.

These are the days of nervous wrecks. You meet people every day who are nervous, irritable, low spirited and generally run down. They are the results, you say, of this strenuous business age. But the strenuous business age is only an indirect cause. The real and direct cause is a neglected stomach.

No man or woman with a good stomach ever became a nervous wreck. No man or woman need have a bad stomach if he or she takes the necessary precautions. It is when the stomach is over-worked that the trouble begins. If it gets the rest it needs it will right itself. If it does not get the rest it needs, it will go from bad to worse.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets give the stomach the rest it requires. They digest the food while the stomach rests. They cure all stomach ills and all ills resulting from bad stomachs. M. Mongeot, of Masson, Que., says:—

"I suffered from Dyspepsia, and was terribly troubled with nervousness and low spirits. An advertisement led me to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They helped me from the first and I was soon completely cured. I recommended Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to my friends and they have all been benefitted by them."

Thousands of others will give you similar experiences.

TRUST IN CZAR TO AVERT WAR.

Only Hope for Situation in the Far East.

Control of Corean Court Passes into the Hands of the Japanese—How McLeary Brown Spiked the Guns of the Coreans—Feeling at St. Petersburg Has Undergone Change.

London, Jan. 18.—In what it claims as an authoritative statement, The Daily Graphic this morning announces that the negotiations relative to the Far East have arrived at a stage leaving two points upon which neither Russia nor Japan is inclined to yield, and as to which no means of a compromise has yet been found. While both of these points concern Manchuria, their adjustment would not in the slightest modify the legal status quo or change the administrate situation in Manchuria, but Japan insists "that they be embodied in a treaty between Japan and Russia, while Russia, as a matter of amour propre, refuses to accept such dictation at the hands of Japan. Much, however, is still hoped from the Czar's influence."

What Might Occur in Few Hours.

The statement adds: "Of course, any attempt of Russia to increase very largely her naval forces in the Far East by moving her Black Sea or Baltic fleets would make war a question of only a few hours."

This statement is borne out by the Associated Press despatch from Tokio yesterday, that Japan has received Russia's communication relative to the treaty rights in Manchuria, which shows that negotiations are continuing on the question of Manchuria.

At the Japanese legation last night it was said that no fresh news had been received and the situation remained unchanged.

Coreans Breaking Out.

The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent says that M. Pavloff, the Russian Minister at Seoul, has notified the Corean Government that Corean troops have crossed the Chinese boundary repeatedly and committed excesses against the inhabitants. The Russian customs officials on the extreme northwestern border report similar occurrences, and assert that the Coreans are burning villages and killing people. Minister Pavloff warned the authorities that such proceedings will necessitate severe measures.

The correspondent says that riots have broken out at Chyung Chyongdo, in Corea.

According to The Daily Telegraph's correspondent, the Seoul correspondent of the Jiji Shimpo learns that a similar rising is imminent at Phong Yang, and that Corean soldiers are co-operating with the rebels. Phong Yang was the scene of the rising, which led to war between Japan and China.

The Daily Mail's Seoul correspondent says that an armored cruiser with quick-firing guns from the ships is ready at Chemulpo to rush men to Seoul at a moment's notice.

Japanese Have the Court.

The correspondent says that the Japanese have secured control of the Corean court, and that the Emperor has wired Pekin and Tokio, advising a triple offensive and defensive alliance, and promising not to leave Seoul.

According to the correspondent, McLeavy Brown, supervisor of the Corean customs, secured possession of Corean field guns on the pretence that they needed repairs and locked them up in the customs house.

The Daily Mail's Port Arthur correspondent estimates that the total number of Russian troops now in Manchuria is 200,000, half of whom are guarding the railway. The correspondent says:

"China's firm stand since the reoccupation of Mukden has complicated the Russian arrangements in Manchuria for defence and doubled the difficulties of guarding the long line of communication between the boundaries and the coast.

"The Council of War is sitting Daily. The port of New Chwang and ports on the Yalu River are icebound."

War Talk Diminished.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 18.—Emperor Nicholas' pacific utterances made during the New Year's reception at the winter palace in St. Petersburg Thursday last, together with the favorable comments of the foreign press, which have been reproduced here, have created a splendid impression and have also a good effect in perceptibly diminishing the war talk in army and navy circles, which were quick to take their cue from the assurances coming from the throne. The newspapers which have been discussing the Far Eastern situation with considerable freedom, have grown almost silent, and what they do say is commendatory of the improved prospects of peace.

Will Respect Rights.

Tokio, Jan. 18.—The Associated Press correspondent is reliably informed that Japan has received a Russian communication saying that Russia will respect their rights and privileges already acquired by the powers in Manchuria under existing treaties with China, excepting the establishment of foreign settlements, and in so far as these rights and privileges are not prejudicial to Russia's future in Manchuria. These reservations are regarded as nullifying the value of the assurances.

To Protect Italy.

PETERBOROUGH EAST.

An Appreciative Appeal to Unity of Effort.

St. Luke's Parish Magazine, "Church Work," thus refers to the recent municipal amalgamation:

"On January 1st we became citizens of greater Peterborough. Splendid opportunities lie before us, and as loyal men and women we ought to do our share in the progressive work that our leading men have undertaken to inaugurate. We hope it will not be far distant when a street railway will bring us closer to the city. Doubtless Peterborough has a splendid future before it, and everyone must help to make our municipality the best in Canada. After this it will not be said any more: 'St. Luke's, Ashburnham,' but 'St. Luke's, Peterborough (East.)'"

CENTRAL SMITH DAIRY COMPANY

Held Their Annual Tea and Entertainment

On Friday Evening Last—An Excellent Programme Was Presnt.

The annual tea and entertainment of the Central Smith Dairy Company was held Friday evening at the Fourth Line, Smith Township, at the Temperance Hall. The Hall was filled to the doors, notwithstanding the condition of the roads. The ladies furnished a most substantial tea, to which full justice was done.

The following is the programme given :—

Song, "A Vote of Thanks"...Messrs. McGregor, Graham and Campbell.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, was elected chairman for the evening. The programme consisted of songs and recitations and addresses. All by Messrs. Graham, McGregor and Campbell was well received and encored. The chairman then addressed the meeting, and congratulated the patrons of the factory on the splendid returns for the year, and spoke generally of the splendid condition in which the farming community found themselves at present, and after a few humourous remarks, called for the reading of the report of the factory for the year. It was as follows :—

CREAMERY REPORT

Creamery opened Nov. 2nd : closed Dec. 31st.
Number of patrons, 85.
Total lbs. of milk delivered, 2,531,666.
Total number of lbs. of butter manufactured, 236,398.
Average price per lb. for butter, 21 5-16c
Average lbs of milk to 1 lb. of butter, 10.62
Amt. paid for manufacturing, $2,362.98.
Amt. paid for whey, $477.59.
Amt paid to patrons, $21,789.83.
Gross value of milk, $24,590.31.
Gross value per standard of milk, $28.16.
Value per standard after paying manufacture, $25.88.
Total lbs. of milk delivered Saturday nights, 55,497.
Total lbs of butter manufactured, 2044.
Gross value of 2,044 lbs. at 20c, $408.80
Total aggregate business for season, $29,610 18-76.

This was followed by another well received song by Messrs. Graham, McGregor and Campbell. Mr. Daniel Derbyshire, of Brockville, known as the Cheese King, was called upon, and made the address of the evening. After expressing his pleasure at being present among his old friends, he congratulated the Dairy Company on their marked progress and pointed out that their President Mr. T. D. Young was shown the proper spirit and enterprise by attending the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Convention at Belleville. At that Convention the large Belleville Opera House was too small to hold the large numbers who came to show their interest in Canadian Dairy business. Last year, Canada exported $21,000,000.00 worth of cheese and this year had exported $28,000,000.00 worth. He pointed out that the decrease of $2,000,000.00 in butter, had been more than made up by the increased output in bacon, to the amount of $10,000,000.00.

He urged that all should endeavour to make their school, their church, and their factory the very best in the province, and help to demonstrate that Canada is the best country in the world. He pointed out the absolute necessity for covered milk stands, good cows, good milk cans, and good milk. He urged the patrons to help the cheesemaker in every way so that the cheesemakers could be enabled to make the best possible cheese. Mr. Derbyshire pointed out the necessity on the other hand of cheesemakers setting a good example by personal tidiness. He showed how the Dairymen's Association for Eastern Ontario was so watchful of the interests of the cheese industry, that they have now engaged 25 instructors to ensure that the cheese makers receive the very latest ideas so that the most can be made out of every pound of milk that is sent to the factory; and over these instructors had been placed Mr. Publow, to see that the instructors did their work as well.

In closing Mr. Derbyshire congratulated the chairman upon the happy manner in which he filled the chair, and congratulated the audience on the splendid order and attention. Mr. Derbyshire closed an hour's address amid enthusiastic applause.

The president, Mr. T. D. Young gave a short and interesting address and expressed the pleasure of those present of seeing Mr. Derbyshire and Mr. Kerr present with them. Mr. Young impressed upon his hearers this useful point—that the milk should be cooled to at least 60 degrees and on Saturday nights to 50 or 55 degrees. He also pointed out that it is not wise to aerate milk unless in an absolutely pure atmosphere. It was better under ordinary circumstances to stir the milk until it cooled to the proper temperature. He pointed out also that to an all-ruling Providence was to be ascribed the prosperity and success that all were enjoying.

The evening was a delightful one and the performers all did their parts exceptionally well, to the delight of the large audience which was present.

Bonier Guilty of Murder.

Buffalo, N.Y., Jan. 18.—Charles Bonier was Saturday night found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Franz and Johanna Frehr, an old German couple, on Nov. 19. The verdict carries the death sentence with it. Bonier, who is 74 years old, took his conviction coolly.

"What is a volcano?" asked the teacher.

ROYAL COMMISSION

Best Means of Making Colonial Statesmen Life Peers.

FOR CLOSER IMPERIAL UNION

Likewise Will Endeavor to Ascertain the Best Means of Including Colonial Representatives on the National Defence Committee and Adding Them to the Privy Council—"King Joseph's Commission."

London, Jan. 18.—"King Joseph's commission" is the description of the contents of the bills in the Liberal newspapers of the first meeting of the Chamberlain Tariff Commission. Punch's cartoon represents them all blowing trumpets, each man facially a replica of Chamberlain, who is conducting what is called "Joseph's orchestra."

The Commission numbers sixty-five and, although the official Tory Standard dubs them plutocrats and nonentities, they include a remarkable number of chief manufacturers, railway shipping managers and economists.

The statement by Premier Balfour at Sheffield last week that he wasn't now sure that fiscal methods were the best for securing a closer Imperial union is believed to prepare the way for the announcement in the King's speech, Feb. 2, when Parliament meets of a Royal Commission to consider the best means of including colonial representatives on the National Defence Committee, making it Imperial, and adding colonials to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, which is the ultimate court of appeal for the Empire, and making colonial statesmen life peers.

Balfour's friends say such a policy is complimentary and not antagonistic to Chamberlain's though they admit it may be difficult to so persuade the latter.

The Only Way.

London, Jan. 18.—Chamberlain, writing to a correspondent, says that the so-called Canadian free traders know perfectly well there is not the slightest indication of any desire on the part of the Canadian people to adopt their principles. Preferential tariff is the only way to increase commercial intercourse.

His Support Wholehearted.

London, Jan. 18.—(C.A.P.)—Postmaster-General Lord Stanley, speaking at Bolton Saturday, said his support of Premier Balfour was whole-hearted, but if Mr. Chamberlain carried the field he would follow the party implicitly, though probably not as a Cabinet minister.

Mr. Tillett's victory in Norwich is causing unbounded jubilation among the Liberals. Mr. Tillett has been flooded with congratulatory telegrams. Mr. Wilson, M.P., wiring, "What a corrective is Mr. Chamberlain's address to his vice-regal commission."

LOST IN THE STORM.

Sad End of a Farmer Near Lucknow in Snowstorm.

Listowel, Jan. 18.—About 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, A. W. Maybury, a well-to-do and highly respected farmer, who lives about five miles southeast of here, started for home with a load of chop. The roads were so heavy that he left his horses at Haddow's, about three miles out, and went forward on foot in a blinding snowstorm. He was found dead in a field about 6 o'clock Sunday evening, a mile from home, within fifteen rods of a farm house. He had apparently missed his way and had been overcome by the cold. He was 32 years old and leaves a widow and small child.

Dr. Murphy Dies Suddenly.

Brockville, Jan. 18.—Dr. J. B. Murphy, superintendent of Brockville Asylum for the Insane, died suddenly at noon yesterday for heart disease. He attended services at St. Francis Xavier Church as usual, walked part way home and was driven the remainder of the distance. He did not complain of ill-health until after reaching his home. After removing his overcoat, he lay down on a couch and expired in a few moments.

Flogging and Personation.

Toronto, Jan. 18. — Newspaper charges of plugging and personation in connection with the recent municipal elections in Toronto have stirred up a hornet's nest in the city. There will be a judicial investigation undertaken to clear the matter up, and if any aldermen, as charged, be guilty, to bring them to justice, which is six months in jail.

Revolt Over Anti-Slave Measures.

Rome, Jan. 18.—The company governing Benadir, in Italian Somaliland, has reported to the Government that the measures adopted to stamp out slavery have produced a rebellion in the tribes, and that the colony practically is in revolt. In order to put down the trouble, 10,000 men are necessary, and the company only has 1,000.

Ordered to Pay.

Constantinople, Jan. 18.—Orders have been sent by the Government to the Governor of Beirut, Syria, to pay the arrears due the Turkish troops there, the non-payment of which has kept the troops in a mutinous condition for several days past.

Machine to Wipe Out Army.

Paris, Jan. 18.—A Swiss physician has invented an electrical apparatus which is said to be capable of wiping out an entire army at a distance of twelve miles. The principle of the wireless telegraph is employed.

There are people in every town and village of this country who have been cured of itching, bleeding and protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Ask your friends about this great preparation, they can tell you of its great soothing, healing and antiseptic powers. More reputable people have endorsed Dr. Chase's Ointment than any preparation you can mention.

CALGARY'S WORST FIRE.

Damage to the Extent of $300,000 Done on Friday Morning.

Winnipeg, Jan. 16.—The most disastrous fire in Calgary's history broke out at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and before it was got under control, at 6 a.m., had done $200,000 damage and destroyed the following property: Norman Block, value $50,000, owned by Senator Lougheed; J. A. Glanville's dry goods store, $30,000; W. Robertson's clothing store, $25,000; Sale's clothing store, $12,000; Keer & Terrill, grocers, $8,000; D. J. Young & Co.'s book and music store, $15,000; New Normandie Theatre, ready for opening Tuesday, owned by Senator Lougheed.

The fire started in the furnace and would have been confined to the block had not an engine given out. Capt. Smart was seriously injured by inhaling gas. Senator Lougheed will rebuild at once.

FRENCH ULTIMATUM TO VATICAN.

Government Demands the Appointment of Five Bishops.

Rome, Jan. 16.—The French Government has presented the Vatican with a note in the nature of an ultimatum regarding the appointment of bishops to five vacant French sees, substantially saying that either the Pope must approve the selections of the French Government or they will be announced officially without the approbation of the holy see. In addition, the papal nuncio will be asked to leave Paris, and the clergy will be forbidden to collect Peter's pence in the churches, but the concordat will not be denounced. The rumor that the Pope had decided to approve the appointments is incorrect. The Vatican hopes to be able to continue the negotiations.

GALLERY AMMUNITION.

Will Be Supplied Militiamen If the Trouble at Copper Cliff Mines Be Not Settled Peacefully.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Jan. 16.—Five hundred rounds of gallery ammunition were sent from the stores of the 97th Regiment here to Sudbury yesterday to be supplied militiamen at that place who are in readiness to respond to a call from Copper Cliff, where Italian laborers are causing trouble. The request for the ammunition came to Col. Elliott from Capt. Cressy of Sudbury Company. The men of the Soo Company have been keeping in touch with local officers, so that they could respond to a hurry call without delay, which may yet come.

Trouble was first started by the reduction in the wages of the men loading coke cars for the Canadian Copper Company, who up to a few months ago were being paid at the rate of $1.75 per day, and were reduced to $1.50. The reduction effected both Finlanders and Italians from the first of the present month. Foreman White told President Turner he thought the Italians, who numbered nearly 800, could be made to accept a further reduction of $1.35, which arrangement was made, but the men were not told of it. It, however, leaked out among the Italians who immediately chased Foreman White from the job. Immediately after this began the general disturbances. A number of shots were fired both ways but only one took effect, hitting an Italian in the arm.

Special police have been sworn in, and about a dozen disturbers arrested. Their trials are to take place to-day before Magistrate Brodie, and it is then expected that the trouble will reach a climax. The precautions already taken by the authorities may prevent further trouble, although the Italians have armed themselves by buying up all the knives and revolvers in the neighborhood, and are vowing vengeance upon those who arrested their fellow countrymen. The Italian Consul from Ottawa is on the ground doing what he can to smooth over the trouble.

BAD FOR ROBERTS.

Application Made For Arrest of Captain of Clallam and Others.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 16.—Application was made yesterday at the coroner's inquiry into the Clallam disaster for warrants for the arrest of Capt. Roberts and others held responsible for the wreck, on charges of manslaughter. C. H. Lugrin, representing the British Government, yesterday said that sufficient evidence had been secured to show criminal negligence, and he would apply to the Provincial Government on behalf of the Dominion Government, seeking the arrest of the captain and any others held to be responsible.

Is an American Vessel.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The Deputy Minister of Marine states that the Clallam is an American vessel, and, therefore, the Canadian Government cannot investigate her loss. He states that he has so informed the people at the coast who asked for a Government inquiry.

Jaguars Attack Woman.

Paris, Jan. 16.—In Bostock's arena at the Hippodrome Palace yesterday afternoon Mme. Borelli, known as the "Queen of the Jaguars," was attacked by the animals during her performance and badly bitten. She was rescued with difficulty. It is not believed that her life is in danger.

Canada's Librarian.

Mr. Martin J. Griffin, the Parliamentary Librarian at Ottawa, has returned, with Miss Griffin, from a five months' trip to England and the Continent. Mr. Griffin was the guest of Senator Power in Halifax, on his way back. During his presence in London, The Canadian Gazette said of him: "Mr. Griffin, after completing his university course, studied law and was called to the bar of his native Province, Nova Scotia. He has had much experience in journalism, and was for some time managing editor of The Toronto Mail. He was secretary to the civil commission appointed to inquire into the working of the Canadian civil service. Upon the death of the late Dr. Alpheus Todd, Griffin was appointed to his present position. He is a voluminous contributor to leading reviews and magazines. His surviving son is a partner in law with Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, at Vancouver."

G. T. P. AGREEMENT

The Company is Asking for Some Modifications.

NO EXPLANATION YET GIVEN

Mr. Charles M. Hays, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, Refuses to Discuss the Question Until It Comes Before Parliament—Statement Now Would Be a Breach of Etiquette and Good Faith.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Mr. C. M. Hays, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, when asked last night for an explanation of the position of affairs between the Government and the company, said that the company had asked for certain modifications in their agreement, which would come up in due time in Parliament, and until then any statement from him would be a breach of etiquette, if not of good faith.

NORTH OXFORD.

Robert H. Butler the Dark Horse at the Conservative Convention—An Unknown Man to Politics.

Woodstock, Jan. 18.—At a convention of Conservatives of North Oxford in the City Council chamber Saturday afternoon Robert E. Butler of this city was chosen as the party's candidate to contest the constituency in the approaching Provincial bye-election. Mr. Butler has not been a prominent figure in the public life of the community, and his nomination is a matter of considerable surprise. He is a member of the firm of Butler Bros., which has for the last half dozen years carried on a lumber business here. He served one year as alderman. Other names proposed to the convention were those of John Young, Dr. Welford, Ed. Caister and J. G. Wallace, all of whom retired. The President of the association, Mr. Wallace, announced that next week the riding would be filled with prominent Conservative speakers. A resolution of sympathy in reference to the death of Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., was submitted and carried. Among those present were Organizers Birmingham and Wright, W. J. Hanna, M.P.P., and Donald Sutherland, M.P.P. The last two delivered addresses.

In the City Hall upstairs the Prohibitionists of the riding were holding a meeting at the same time. Mr. D. R. Ross of Embro announced that he would not be a candidate. This leaves the field clear between the nominee of the Liberals, Lieut.-Col. Munro and Mr. Butler.

East Middlesex.

London, Jan. 18.—Peter Elson was nominated by the East Middlesex Liberal-Conservative Association in convention here on Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance of delegates, and the meeting was harmonious. James Gilmore, M. P., the present representative, was nominated, but declined the honor, and then three names went to the convention—Joseph H. Marshall, ex-M. P.; John Ceary and Peter Elson. The last mentioned received a majority vote, and the choice was made unanimous.

MODERN CONFLICT FOR POWER.

England Asking If It Is the State or the Commercial Trust.

London, Jan. 18.—(C.A.P.)—The Standard says thoughtful men feel that with a commission of business men framing a tariff for the country, England is perilously approaching the conditions existing in America, where it is difficult to tell which is the greatest power, the state or the commercial trust.

Sees More Yankee Invaders.

The Quarterly Review publishes a long article by S. J. McLean dealing with pools, trusts and industrial combinations in the United States. Extracts from many American publications appear under the title of the article, but the views expressed are colored by the writer's individuality. He forecasts an expansion of the powers of the federal consitution for the regulation of interstate commerce, a more rapid increase of capital rather than of the highest types of managing ability, a readjustment of their finances by 25 per cent. of the existing combinations, and an American invasion of outlying countries which Europe has hitherto regarded as its own. The article is well written and carefully reasoned out. Mr. McLean is the secretary-elect of the Railway Commission of Canada. At present he is a professor in the United States.

To Oppose Newfoundland Government.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 18.—Sir William Whiteway, former Premier of Newfoundland, in a letter to a daily paper, announces his return to public life, and that he will be a candidate at the next general election, in opposition to the present Government. The regular Opposition which hitherto has been led by Former Minister of Finance Morine, is likely to be reconstructed under the leadership of former Premier Goodridge.

Spain Will Try Again.

Madrid, Jan. 18.—The Spanish naval program provides for the immediate construction of four cruisers and forty auxiliary vessels and the re-organization of the entire service. Altogether about $60,000,000 is involved, of which $16,000,000 will be devoted to arsenals at several places.

Laurier's Health.

London, Jan. 18. — The Chronicle's Ottawa correspondent wires that the Canadian Parliament dissolution has been postponed, owing to the health of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Two Excellent Speeches on the Address in Reply to Speech From the Throne—Adjourned Till Monday.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The Legislature commenced its serious labors yesterday afternoon in a business-like manner, and, after listening to two excellent speeches on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, adjourned until Monday afternoon.

Mr. Smith's Maiden Effort.

Mr. C. N. Smith, Sault Ste. Marie, made his maiden effort in moving the address, and exhibited a control of manner and a skill in presenting his subject which would do credit to an experienced member. He dealt convincingly with the Government's policy in regard to the preservation of forests and applauded its course in increasing the value of its standing timber by the construction of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway. Mr. Smith's address was listened to by the members with evident interest, and their applause when he resumed his seat demonstrated that the opinion was general that a valuable addition had been made to the debating forces of the House.

Dr. Currie Seconded.

Dr. Morley Currie of Prince Edward, who seconded the motion, dealt with the Government's record in several important branches. Among these were the encouragement of farming and the administration of the hospitals and asylums. He also commented upon the temperance question, claiming for the Government a record of wise and successful enactments, and venturing the opinion that their future course on the subject would be of the same nature. Dr. Currie's peroration was an eloquent and forceful appeal to Canadians to assert their national importance and fill the position which they were called upon by nature before long to occupy, that of the foremost nation upon the North American continent. Dr. Currie's address was also listened to intently, and awakened keen appreciation from all present.

Premier Moved Adjournment.

The Premier thought it might suit the convenience of the Opposition if the debate were to be adjourned till Monday. Mr. Whitney had no objection.

The House was adjourned at 4.36 until Monday at 8 p.m.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs must have Help.

Food taken into the stomach, which from the nature of the food, or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, as far as it goes, and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach, and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbence in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plan for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing hard work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bones of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of, that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

DR. MILLS HAS ACCEPTED.

Will Sit on Railway Commission—Has Telegraphed His Consent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier—His Career.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—Dr. James Mills who has been offered a position on the Railway Commission, returned here on Saturday night, after addressing the State Board of Agriculture at its annual meeting in Trenton, New Jersey. He was seen by a reporter yesterday, and stated that he had telegraphed his acceptance of the position to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Ottawa. Dr. Mills was not aware of the new honor which had been tendered him until his arrival in Hamilton on Saturday night. Being as yet unacquainted with the detailed duties which will devolve upon him, Dr. Mills was unwilling to give any interviews regarding the position. He believed that the appointment had been given to him because of his interest in the farming community and his acquaintence with their needs.

Of Dr. Mills it is said by those who know him personally, and have watched his career at college, his work as classical master in a high school and head master of a collegiate institute, and his administration for nearly twenty-five years at Guelph, that his most striking characteristics are strength, untiring effort, good judgment and unusual executive ability. He is a man of strong will and much courage, always standing for fair play and never shrinking from any man or combination of men. Whatever he undertakes he goes into with the utmost thoroughness down to the bottom facts, weighs everything carefully, and decides without fear or hesitation.

A few years ago a very serious trouble arose in the administration of the act for the destruction of the San Jose scale in this Province. Some people in the Niagara district and in the counties of Essex and Kent were most dissatisfied; so the Government appointed a commission, with Dr. Mills as Chairman, to investigate the whole question and report. The commission went quietly to work, and in a short time the difficulties and complaints from all sources were investigated so thoroughly, impartially and tactfully that all parties were satisfied. Dr. Mills was also appointed a short time ago on a commission to investigate certain complaints made by students and ex-students of the Institute for the Blind, and while the complainants objected to the commission on the ground that both the members composing it were civil servants, they stated openly and through the press that throughout the investigation one thing was manifest, viz., that Dr. Mills insisted on fair play, and seemed anxious to have the fullest possible statement of the case from both sides.

Hence, so far as Dr. Mills' weight and influence in the new railway commission may go, farmers, fruit-growers, manufacturers, merchants and railways may expect to get fair treatment without fear or favor, and nothing more.

HARD PRESSED.

Attempts to Relieve the German Garrison Have Been Unsuccessful.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—A despatch from Windhoek (German Southwest Africa) says the German post at Okahandya (a mission station of Damaraland) is being hard pressed by the revolted Hereroe tribe.

Attempts made from Windhoek to relieve the garrison, which has suffered heavy losses, have been unsuccessful. Windhoek itself is threatened and the militia has been called out. The Hereros are well mounted and armed, having obtained horses and guns from settlers they have raided.

A band of natives is marching on Karibib, to which place reinforcements have been despatched. One column arrived safely at Karibib Jan. 15, but a force commanded by Lieut. Zuelow, with 120 rifles, appears to be in a dangerous position near Waldau.

RESIGNATION OF MR. AMES.

Is Now No Longer a Member of Temiskaming Commission.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The announcement was made on Saturday that Mr. A. E. Ames had resigned from the position of Chairman of the commission in charge of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway. The resignation carries with it the seat on the commission as well. It is understood that the Government are already considering the appointment of a successor. The commission was appointed nearly two years ago, and this is the first break in its ranks. The other commissioners are Edward Gurney, Toronto; B. W. Folger, Kingston; M. J. O'Brien, Renfrew, and F. E. Leonard, London.

May Be a Conflict.

Indianpolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—What promises to be a most interesting convention of the United Mine Workers of America will open here to-day. The apparently preconcerted move on the part of several of the coal operators to cut wages at the rate of 10 cents a ton may result in a conflict with the miners' organization.

Liberty Seen For Col. Lynch.

London, Jan. 18.—The Weekly Despatch says that Col. Arthur Lynch, who commanded the Irish Brigade against the British forces in South Africa, and who was afterwards convicted of treason and sentenced to imprisonment for life, will be liberated soon.

Turkish Troops Concentrate.

Salonica, Jan. 18.—An important concentration of Turkish troops has begun at Kumanova, on the road leading to the Bulgarian frontier.

Sister of Van Horne Dead.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Miss Mary Van Horne, youngest sister of Sir William Van Horne, died here yesterday.

Relief Party Unsuccessful.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 18.—A despatch from Yakutsk, Eastern Siberia, says that the relief expedition reports that efforts to find Baron Toll on New Siberia and Bennett Islands, the Arctic Ocean, has been unsuccessful. Baron Toll left documents on Bennett island, showing that he turned southward, Nov. 8, 1902.

New Honors For Curie.

Paris, Jan. 18.—Prof. Curie's refusal to accept the cross of the Legion of Honor for his discovery of radium seems to have brought him more substantial recognition. One of the largest and best equipped laboratories of the Pasteur Institute has been placed at the disposal of the savant and his wife. Moreover, a bill has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies by Gerault Richard opening a special credit of $30,000 to permit Prof. Curie to continue his researches. There is every prospect that the bill will be passed by unanimous vote.

Stratton, of Peterborough, and her sister, Mrs. Hunter, also of Peterborough. The pretty rooms were made most attractive with many cut flowers, smilax, palms and ferns, and the lights all softly shaded. Pink carnations were used in the drawing-room, while the tea-room was done in crimson. Mrs. Fox, in a soft brocaded moull, over rose silk, with diamond ornaments, was assisted in receiving by the guest of honour. Mrs. Stratton donned a handsome cream gown with collar and trimmings of point lace. The polished table was tastily done with crimson carnations and smilax; and crimson-shaded lights, even the various tempting delicacies were in crimson.

RESIDENCE DEMOLISHED BY A VERY FIERCE FIRE.

Conflagration Near Lakefield on Sunday Evening.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Lakefield, Jan. 18. — Yesterday evening about five o'clock a very serious fire broke out at the residence of Mr. Thomas Nolan, lot 11, on. 6, Douro, resulting in the house being totally destroyed, and but very little of its contents saved.

The fire, which is supposed to have started through a defect in a stove-pipe, had gained considerable headway before discovered. Notwithstanding the efforts of the inmates and numerous neighbours, who quickly gathered, the building was completely gutted in a very short time. The timely aid of those who had hurried to the scene of conflagration saved the outbuildings. The house was partly covered by insurance.

PROF. JOHN CAMPBELL DEAD.

Aged Educationist Succumbs to Brief Attack of Pneumonia.

The Toronto World to-day has the following on the death of a former resident of Peterborough:

"John Campbell, M.A., died from pneumonia on Saturday evening at about 8 o'clock, at his boarding house, 13 Maple Grove, Parkdale, following an illness of a little over a week. He was in his 80th year.

"Mr. Campbell had a life long experience of the teaching profession, having been for over forty years associated with the staff of Victoria College, then for some thirty years principal or classical master of the High Schools, or Collegiate Institutes at Bradburg, Newburg, Napanee, Peterborough and Guelph. His former scholars are in almost every country and business calling.

"He was what may be called a teacher of the old school — a strict disciplinarian, faithful and exact in his duties, but with a loving kind heart for all.

"He leaves surviving him his widow and four children, viz., W. A. F., barrister at Ridgetown, Ont.; J. M., general advertising manager of the Rock Island System, Chicago; J. G., formerly of the Bank of Commerce, now of New Ontario, and Mrs. Day, wife of Prof. G. E. Day, of the O. A. C., Guelph.

"The funeral service will take place at 2.30 p.m., on Tuesday at the house and thence to Mount Pleasant cemetery."

ATTENDING MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Walter Stocker in Ottawa at Meeting of Bill Posters.

Mr. Walter Stocker, President of the Canadian Bill Posters' Association, is in Ottawa to-day attending a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Association. The Board will probably wait on the Government and ask for redress in a few matters in which the Association thinks the law is too stringent. The bill posting business has grown enormously during the last few years, a noticeable feature of the increase being the large amount of bill-board advertising being done by American manufacturers; Castoria and Gold Dust Washing Powder, are perhaps the most widely advertised commodities on the market to-day.

Advertising matter comes into Canada in 25-ton lots, all of which helps to make the bill-poster's business a prosperous one.

Mr. Stocker will be away to-day and to-morrow.

A Benefit to the Public.

The stock taking of furs, which Clarke, the Furrior, started last week, was very successful. The reduction in prices which he had put on furs brought lots of buyers, and as a result he had a busy week. This sale will continue for a couple of weeks, and as his stock of furs is very large, the public are assured of some great bargains. He told our reporter he was determined not to carry over any furs this season and for that reason is offering these bargains. There is a beautiful No. 1 Persian Lamb Jacket, mink collar and facings, bust 34, was $165.00, now offered for $137.50.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CEMETERY COMPANY.

Was Held This Afternoon at the Council Chamber.

The Reports of Officers Were Presented —Improvements Made to Cemetery Property.

The annual meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held this afternoon in the Town Council Chamber, and at it the reports of the different officers were presented.

Mr. W. H. Moore, the President of the Company, was in the chair, and read the report of the Board of Directors, as follows:—

DIRECTORS' REPORT

To the Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company:

Three years ago a purchase was made by the Company of about a half an acre of ground on Crescent street adjoining the cemetery, with the purpose, amongst others, at a future time, of erecting thereon a dwelling house for the use of their superintendent and an office in which to transact the Company's business. Last spring your directors, after an examination of the old dwelling house, and office in the cemetery, decided that the former had become unfit for habitation and that it was necessary to provide other premises, with an office more suitable for the management of the Company's affairs. Your directors therefore concluded to erect a new dwelling and office on the lot purchased outside and near the Cemetery gate. A contract therefor was made during the past summer and this has been carried out in all respects in a thoroughly substantial manner. The Company now has an excellent office with a fire-proof vault in it, in which to preserve its books and records, and a superintendent's residence, comfortable, and convenient in every respect and one which will relieve from further expense in this respect for a long period of time.

Your directors have also during the past season put down another concrete sidewalk, four feet wide, with a water table of the same material, extending from the gate to Lake Avenue, about three hundred and twenty-five feet parallel to the one placed north of it two years ago, as the former was not sufficient, on many occasions, for the convenience of those visiting the cemetery. In your directors' opinion, this, with the widening and grading of the driveway, has greatly improved the appearance of the approach to the cemetery.

The expenditure for these improvements has not been, and could not be expected to be met by the income for the past year, and it will probably require the surplus income for two more years to wholly discharge the liability.

The Company however has not, by reason of these undertakings, neglected the general care and improvement of its grounds and has, continued to apply its best efforts to enhancing the natural beauty of the cemetery.

A detailed statement of receipts and expenditures is shown in the secretary's auditor's and superintendent's reports, which will be submitted for your consideration.

W. H. MOORE,
President.

The financial statement showing the detailed receipts and expenditures is as below:—

Peterborough, Jan'y 18th, 1904.

JAMES A. HALL,
T. Q. QUARTERMAINE,
Auditors.

The report of the Superintendent, Mr. Frank Wise, was presented as follows:—

To the President, Directors and Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit the following report of improvements made in your cemetery during the year, 1903:

The cedar hedge on the south side of entrance driveway was taken up and carried back six feet, making room for a concrete walk four feet wide with waterable of same material 18 inches wide running from the gates to the top of the hill, at a cost of $361.00. The roadway for the same distance was gravelled and graded, much improving the appearance of the approach to the cemetery.

The section known as the single grave section has been graded, the graves levelled and the slabs and headstones put level with the adjoining soil. This was a much needed improvement and could only be dealt with in this way. It was a block wholly neglected by the relatives of those buried there, and presented a very bad appearance indeed with neglected graves and broken headstones. It is now one of the best plots in the cemetery.

The block known as the free block has been plowed and a crop put on to rot the sod so that with a very small amount of labour in the spring it can be put in good condition and seeded down. A quantity of top soil has been placed on ranges 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 of Section B and levelled, giving it a much improved appearance.

Owing to the dangerous condition of the windmill tower it was taken down and such parts as could be used for other purposes stowed away.

A concrete walk four feet wide, leading from the front door of the new dwelling to the street has been laid and the grounds around the house graded. A few more inexpensive improvements can be made in the spring which will add very much to its appearance.

In September I visited the City of Rochester to attend the Convention of the Association of American Cemetery Superintendents. I very much appreciated the kindness of the Board in giving me time to attend it. The knowledge I gained from association with the superintendents of many of the largest cemeteries in the United States and Canada will, I am sure, repay the time spent.

A report of our meetings in book form has been forwarded to me, copies of which I have placed in the hands of your president and secretary and the perusal of which I am sure you will find very instructive.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

FRANK WISE,
Superintendent.

During the year there were 165 interments in the cemetery, the religious denominations were represented as follows:—

Church of England	55
Methodist	53
Presbyterian	40
Baptist...	5
Other denominations	9

The election of officers was proceeded with, a report of which will appear to-morrow.

CITIZENS' SERVICE AT ST. JOHNS CHURCH.

Rev. J. C. Davidson was the Preacher—Mayor, Aldermen and Other Civic Officials were Present.

As the chosen representatives of the citizens of Peterborough, Mayor Roger, the Aldermen, and the members of the Board of Education, and Board of Trade, besides a large number of the prominent public and private citizens, attended St. John's church last night, when Rev. J. C. Davidson conducted the service and preached on "Christian Citizenship." The church was well filled, the town officials occupying the front rows of seats.

Rev. J. C. Davidson spoke on the necessity of Christian Citizenship, and the need of honesty and thoughtfulness in the transaction of public affairs. He also showed the benefit of unity between citizens, and pointed out that every citizen in casting his vote was shouldering a responsibility to which he should give deep thought. At this, the beginning of a new year in municipal affairs, it is needless to say that the service was most appropriate. Rev. Mr. Davidson spoke with the object of impressing upon the congregation, and more directly the town officials, the fact that such distinction as Mayor, Alderman, or other public rank, was one in which the holder perhaps held the welfare of his town at stake, and that therefore these men should endeavour to do what in their sincere judgment they deem right, and that outside all private and therefore secondary wishes.

Owing to press of news the text of Rev. J. C. Davidson's sermon is held over until to-morrow.

APPRECIATION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear sir,—I am greatly surprised that there was so small an audience to hear the really excellent concert presented under the direction of Mr. W. Spencer Jones on Friday night. Mr. Jones, as an impressario, furnishes only first-rate talent and anything that he offers is sure to be of the highest class. He is too thorough a musician—has too much of a good reputation to maintain to risk placing anything in the way of a concert before the public that would not meet every expectation. I am also surprised that he confines himself to the exceedingly useful, but comparatively obscure position of accompanist. Yesterday at a quiet little gathering he showed what an artist he is as a pianist, playing with "the spirit and the understanding also," using his facile technique to voice the soul of his selections. Mr. Jones goes to Australia in a month to conduct a concert company with the great English singer, Watkin Mills, as the chief attraction, with other members to correspond in merit. It is something creditable that a Canadian born impresario should show our cousins on the other side of the world how advanced we are in musical culture and enterprise.

From my knowledge of the ability of Mr. Jones' present company to furnish a first-class concert, I have no hesitation in recommending those who failed to be at the concert on Friday night, to be sure to attend the concert in the Opera House to-night.

Yours very truly,
ENCORE.

DIED AFTER A LINGERING ILLNESS.

Mrs Joseph Thorne Died on Saturday Night.

The death occurred on Saturday night at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. W. H. Wilson, 27 Cedar street, of Mrs. Jos. Thorne, at the age of 69 years. The late Mrs. Thorne had been ailing for about two years with a general break-up of her system, which modern science could do nothing for. The deceased lady was born in the township of Clark, County of Durham. Her husband predeceased her by 16 years, but there are left to mourn the loss of a mother, seven daughters and three sons. The daughters are: Mrs. Jos. Armstrong, of town; Mrs. Jos. Heaslip, of Cavan; Mrs. John Nesbitt, of the N.W.T.; Mrs. Wm. Garner, of Hope Township; Mrs. W. J. Hammill, of Lindsay; Mrs. W. H. Wilson, of town, and Miss Milly Thorne, who lived at home. The sons are: George and Thomas of Cavan, and John of Lindsay.

The late Mrs. Thorne was a devout member of the English church, and attended All Saints. She was a mother among mothers, a good living woman, and died peacefully resigned. The funeral took place this morning from the residence of Mr. W. H. Wilson to the G. T. R. station, the body being taken by the 11.45 train to Millbrook, where interment took place this afternoon at the Front Church cemetery, Cavan.

COMMISSION TO GO ABROAD THIS WEEK.

Will Look into Question of Steel Production in Foreign Countries

A special to the Montreal Star, from Ottawa, says: "The commission, composed of Dr. Haanel, Mr. Brown, assistant manager of the General Electric Works at Peterborough, and who was under Dr. Steinets, at Schenectady, and Mr. T. Cote, secretary, sail for Europe on Saturday of next week. The full scope of the commission is to enqure into the quantity of electric power required to produce one ton of steel, and also the loss in metallic iron which the process involves. Further the cost of repairs to furnaces and electrodes. With this data anybody can calculate the cost of manufacturing steel ingots according to local conditions. The commission will visit two works in Sweden, four in France, and one (governmental) in Italy. The system to be examined is that by which steel is manufactured from either scrap iron direct or ore reduced to iron and converted by means of electric agencies. It is believed that with this process steel could be produced in the Ottawa Valley at a cost of at least $1 per ton less than it can be brought in from the States. In British Columbia where pig iron at present fetches $25 per ton, the saving would be enormous."

WRONG MADE RIGHT, WRIGHT WAS RIGHT.

A Wages Case at the Police Court This Morning.

A dispute regarding wages waxed hot at the Police Court this morning. George Wright claimed $4.00 wages from Samuel Kennedy for work done. In December Kennedy hired a number of men to chop cordwood at the shanties. Among these was Wright. They worked for fifteen days, the first of which they put in by repairing the shanty, which was in a very leaky condition. However, this was not cutting wood and Kennedy did not pay his men for it. Kennedy claimed that he gave Wright $13.00 and four chunks of tobacco, at 10 cents a chunk. In all he said he paid Wright $14.00. Complainant said this was not right. He stated that he was hired for $1 a day and board. Thus $4.00 was due him. After all the evidence had been taken Police Magistrate Dumble awarded Wright $4, and made defendeandant pay that and the costs, in all amounting to $7.05.

THE CONSERVATIVES OF WEST PETERBOROUGH.

Held Annual Business Meeting on Saturday.

Officers Elected—Addresses by Mr. W. B. Northrop, M. P.—Mr. Kendry Possibly a Candidate.

A meeting of the Conservatives of West Peterborough was held in the Opera House, on Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of electing officers and general organization business.

The meeting had been advertised for some weeks, and, in spite of the fact that there was a general impression prevailing even among those who were in attendance at the meeting, that the principal business was to be the selection of a candidate for the federal elections, the attendance was about 200. At 2 o'clock the hour at which the meeting was advertised to open there were by actual count, 65 persons in the hall.

The principal speaker for the day was Mr. W. B. Northrop, M.P., for Hastings, who gave an address of about thirty minutes duration, the characteristic feature of his address being its mildness. The policy and record of the Liberal Government were criticized, naturally, but no specific charges were made against it, and the speaker's reference to the record of the Conservative party met with but indifferent applause. The only occasion when enthusiasm was displayed was when an eulogistic reference was made to the late Sir John Macdonald.

Mr. Northrop is a fluent speaker and was given a good hearing.

Mr. Gus. Porter, M.P., was advertised to speak, but wired Mr. Kendry that on account of illness he would be unable to be present.

Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., for the riding, was present at the meeting, and addressed the gathering briefly. He intimated that at a future occasion he would give a more complete report of his stewardship. The impression given by Mr. Kendry's words was that he would again offer himself as a candidate for the House of Commons, should he be requested to do so by the Conservatives. He assured the meeting that he had done all in his power for Peterborough during the time in which he had represented the riding in parliament, and excused his absence from town by saying that his business demanded it.

In addition to the speaker at the afternoon, Mr. Northrop, there were on the platform, Jas. Kendry, M.P., J. W. Garvin, the President, Mr. T. E. Bradburn and Mr. E. J. Toker, acting secretary.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, President of the Association, who acted as chairman of the meeting, opened the proceedings, and stated that the meeting was not for the purpose of selecting a candidate, although at the meeting the date for a convention might be arranged.

The first order of business was the election of officers.

Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., nominated the President, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, for the office again, and in doing so paid a high tribute to the ability of the president, and said that he felt that his election was largely due to the good work of Mr. Bradburn. The nomination was seconded by Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, and as there were no further nominations the President was declared re-elected, by acclamation. The election was made unanimous by a standing vote.

The question of having a constitution for the Association was next discussed, and a draft of one presented by the Secretary, and taken up caluse by clause, amended and adopted.

The election of officers was then proceeded with and resulted as follows:—

1st Vice-President—Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller.

Vice-Presidents.

South Monaghan, Jas Fisher.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolutions of confidence in Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition in Dominion House; Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, were passed amid the usual applause.

Mr. W. S. Robinson advocated the calling of a convention during the month of February for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Dominion House.

Mr. J. W. Garvin was of the opinion that a general election would not be held for at least two years. He believed that there was a change of feeling in the minds of the people, and he believed that the Government would hold to office as long as possible. It was decided to leave the matter of arranging the date of the convention with the Executive.

MR. NORTHROP'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Northrop, M.P., for Hastings, was called upon to address the meeting, and said that it was a distinct pleasure for him to be present on this occasion. He paid a high tribute to the ability of the present member for West Peterborough, in the Dominion House.

He was pleased to see such a state of progression in the town, and hoped to visit it in the future when the Conservative Government would have been returned to power, and the industries under a true system of protection would be larger and more prosperous than at present. He hoped also to see the Trent Valley Canal completed, and defended the Conservative Government for not completing it during their period of power. Although it had been promised by the present Administration to complete the canal, he believed that they had no intention of keeping their promises. He congratulated the Association upon what he considered a large audience.

WHY LAURIER SHOULD BE TURNED OUT.

Mr. Northrup said he hardly knew what to say to the gathering, because he believed that all present were "seized in the faith." Mr. Northrup then went on to show why he thought the present Government should be turned out, and the Conservative party returned to power. He contended that the Liberals had not kept the promises they had made, and upon which they obtained power. Canada, he said, had become a dumping ground for foreign manufacturers, because of the policy of the Government, which was of a free trade tendency. He had yet to find the benefit of the preferential tariff, and said that he could not see why the British subjects in Canada should be discriminated against for the benefit of British subjects in Lancashire or Yorkshire, which, he contended was being done by the preferential tariff on woollens. Referring to the administration of the Liberal Government he contended that it had not been a business one. Mr. Northrup said that when the Conservative party went out of power they had not completed arrangements for a fast Atlantic service, but they went out of office before the bargain could be carried out, the result of which had been that the fast Atlantic service was at present in the same condition as it was in 1896.

At the time of the late Queen's Jubilee, all Canadians, Mr. Northrup said, were pleased to know that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was the favoured representative of the Colonies, and all had hoped that Canada would be now recognized in the way that her importance demanded. Sir Wilfrid then assured the Mother Country that Canada would be ready to assist in the protection of the Empire, but the speaker contended that at the time of the South African war, Canada was the last to send troops, and at last when they were sent they were shipped C.O.D.

MOST IMPORTANT PERIOD.

This, he said, was the most important period in the history of the Empire. All nations recognized the value of union and England also recognizes it. There are two classes in England; first, those who are prepared to sacrifice the colonies, and the second class those who are in favour of cementing all the colonies of the Empire into one great nation. Sentiment, he said, had much to do with such a union, but the practical side had to be considered, and he believed that the only way to accomplish the union is by extending a preference to the colonies. Sir Wilfrid, he said, when in England in 1896, had stated that he was in favour of the preference, but when he came into power he refused to accept a preference from England, saying that the preference granted to Great Britain was given out of pure gratitude. The speaker said it was evident that the policy of the present Government was that they preferred the trade of the United States to that of Great Britain.

If Canada refused to accept this preference it would be impossible to bring into effect Mr. Chamberlain's policy. At the last session of Parliament there was an opportunity for the Government to endorse Mr. Chamberlain's policy, but it had not been given, and the Conservatives had not brought in a resolution in favour of it because they knew it would be voted down, and out of love for the Mother Land they had not brought it in! He made a reference to the late Sir John Macdonald, which met with hearty applause. He hoped at the next election Mr. Jas. Kendry would be the candidate.

At the conclusion of Mr. Northrup's address a large portion of the audience retired from the hall.

MR. KENDRY A POSSIBLE CANDIDATE.

Mr. Kendry addressed the meeting, and said that he hoped if he presented himself to the electors he would not be turned down. This was a business meeting and he did not intend to make a speech. He wished to contradict every rumour to the effect that if certain Liberals were nominated he would support them. He never made such a promise. He also denied that he had ever supported the member for West Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Kendry said that he had done all he could to build up Peterborough, but his business compelled him to be away for a considerable portion of the time. He said that the present tariff of the country had nearly ruined the woollen industry in Canada. The woollen industry had been hit the hardest by the preference, but he believed that Canada would soon become a dumping ground for the iron and steel industry of England and the United States. He thanked the electors for the confidence they had bestowed upon him, and hoped that it had never been misplaced.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers for the King, Mr. Borden, Mr. Northrup, Mr. Kendry and the chairman.

PULLING UP STAKES IN PETERBOROUGH

No Matter When or Where You see a Bargain, There's a Better One for You at

COUGH BROS' Good-Bye Sale

The second week adds to the intense interest of this sale. Its an occasion that warrants unbridled enthusiasm. Nothing can stop its progress.

Do you know how we're fixed? $68,000 worth of Suits, Overcoats, Furs, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishings, must be slashed to pieces to bring down the stock. Are you thinking? Can't you see what this means? Can't you see that we must sell at a heavy loss in order to pull up stakes in time to let in the new firm.

WILL ANYBODY KINDLY RISE IN THE MEETING and say that Gough Bros. ever was or ever will be undersold. The fears of competitors and the frantic efforts of their bosses, cut no figure with us. No cast-iron "transformation" sale bulletin of reduced prices can side-track GOUGH'S GOOD-BYE SALE. We stand by the town and will issue new lists of cut prices every week that must beat the best markings by fully 25 per cent. of any dealer in town.

If anybody offers to sell Men's Overcoats and Suits worth $10 for $6.98, down goes Gough's Prices to $5.98.
If anybody offers to sell Boys' Suits and Overcoats worth $6.00 for $4.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $3.48.
If anybody offers to sell $3.00 Trousers for $2.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $1.98. And so on all through the gamut.

Don't you see the logic in our slashing — were pulling up stakes in Peterborough—necessity knows no law—the stock can't be moved or kept for another season.

WOULD TAKE BOOKLET TO GIVE LIST OF OLD CHELSEA CELEBRITIES.

Features of the Chelsea Royal Hospital for Old and Disabled Soldiers—First Stone Laid March, 1682, by Charles II. —An Historic Eagle, That of the French 45th (The Invincibles) Hangs Over the Clerk's Pew.

Chelsea Royal Hospital for old and disabled soldiers had its first stone laid on March, 1682, by Charles II. The impressive building, designed by Wren, faces the Thames, and the grounds reach to the river. Features are the centre and its two wings with stone dressings, and the grand quadrangle embellished with a bronze statue of the "Merry Monarch," in Roman habit, by that gifted artist Grinling Gibbons. An embellishment of the chapel is a picture of the Ascension by Sebastian Ricci. Both this building and the hall are paved with black and white marble. There are numerous trophies in the hospital witnessing the achievements of our redcoats. Among the eagles in one most historic, that of the French 45th, the Invincibles, carried by them at Jena, Austerlitz, Wagram, and Friedland. It hangs over the chief clerk's pew. The capture took place at Waterloo, eleven in the day, by Sergeant Hewett, of the Scots Greys, after a succession of personal combats brilliant as any recorded of British valour. Hewett, by his dogged prowess, received an officer's commission. A functionary with a curious title, "the whitster," has a special seat in the chapel. The word means "to whiten," or "to make white," and the official so called has charge of the laundry.

It would take a booklet to give a list of celebrities associated with old Chelsea. Many of them are commemorated in the names of streets and other places. Chelsea, too, finds mention in the lives of some very notable authors. Pepys is one of them; and Smollett, who lived at Monmouth House, laid a scene of his "Humphrey Clinker" there, and in the same residence wrote "Sir Launcelot Greaves." In little Chelsea the third Earl of Shaftesbury often had at his dinner table John Locke and Joseph Addison; and in the same part once lived Boyle, the chemist, Lord Orrery, of astronomy fame, and in the early thirties of the 19th century Douglas Jerrold.

A quaint Chelsea nook is the Apothecaries' garden. When Sir Hans Sloan, who had studied botany there, purchased the manor in 1721, he granted the freehold of the garden to the company for scientific purposes. It has some noble cedars, and exotics are carefully grown.

Sir Hans Sloan, whose gifts formed the nucleus of our original British Museum collection, is remembered in Sloan street and Hans Place.

Stanley as a Fighter.

A thoroughly good man was Henry M. Stanley, whom I first met in the Ashanti expedition. No noise, no danger ruffled his nerve, and he looked as cool and self-possessed as if he had been at "target practice." Time after time as I turned in his direction I saw him go down to a kneeling position to steady his rifle as he plied the most daring of the enemy with a never-failing aim. It is nearly thirty years ago, and I can still see before me the close-shut lips and determined expression of his manly face, which, when he looked in my direction, told plainly I had near me an Englishman in plain clothes whom no danger could appal. Had I felt inclined to run away, the cool, firm, unflinching manliness of that face would have given me fresh courage. I had been previously somewhat prejudiced by others against him, but all such feelings were slain and buried at Amoaful.—Lord Wolseley's Recollections.

The Chinese Matchmaker.

In China the matchmaker, or "go between," is a very important factor in domestic life. He it is who casts his watchful eye around that he may find suitable husbands for the daughters of his acquaintances and then approaches the parents with due circumspection as well as a good deal of tact and diplomacy.

To the family of the young man he narrates the good qualities, beauty and amiability of a certain young girl; then he makes a visit to her father and dwells upon the riches, learning and wisdom of a youth he knows.

If he finds both sides willing to consider the question he plies back and forth between them with all the eagerness of a man anxious to drive a good bargain. He knows that if he succeeds he will get a nice little fee from each family, and so he paints the many charms of the young couple in glowing terms.

He is not always truthful, and oftentimes the bridegroom, who is not allowed to see his future wife before the ceremony, finds that after the red cloth and veil are removed he is married to an ugly old crone.

These instances of bad faith on the part of the "go between" are fortunately rare, and usually he exhibits much discretion in his matings.

Floating Gardens in Mexico.

While the City of Mexico is 8,000 feet higher than sea level, there are in the vicinity several lakes and marshy tracts which require extensive drainage operations. The Viga canal is one of these great drainage systems, and upon it are numerous barges which transport farm and garden produce from the market gardens to the city. Flat bottomed boats, propelled by a pole, convey passengers to the floating gardens.

The gardens are located upon marsh land quite similar to the tule lands of California. The soil is composed of decayed reed and grass roots, being entirely of vegetable mold and quite fertile. Ditches at frequent intervals drain the gardens and furnish means of communication by canoes and small boats to the larger canal and thus to the city. Here are the great market gardens where vegetables are grown for Mexico's consumption; here, too, are grown the magnificent flowers which form one of the principal attractions of the City of Mexico, the flower market being a wonder in the quantity and exquisite beauty both of the individual tropic flowers and the magnificent floral forms, which are made with great taste and skill. Street cars also connect the city with the villages upon the Viga canal, and they are well patronised.—Arboriculture.

A Poet and a Dreamer.

A story of Coleridge's boyhood, which appears in a book by Mr. Wilfred Brown son the poet's childhood and later years, shows the dangers that beset the star-gazer and also the rewards that come to him. From his early youth Coleridge lived in a world of books and dreams. Yet his favorite walk seems to have been the Strand, in London, the last place in the world for a poet to lose himself in reverie.

As he strolled down the street he imagined himself swimming the Hellespont—the feat of which other poets had written, and which the poet Byron was to accomplish later. Once, while the mind of Coleridge was thus far from the busy Strand, he absently thrust his hands before him in the manner of one swimming. Suddenly one hand came in contact with a gentleman's pocket.

The gentleman, thinking to capture a thief, seized the hand and exclaimed, "What! So young and so wicked!" He accused the poor, poetic boy of an attempt at pocket-picking.

With some fright and a few tears, the boy explained, and we can imagine that words did not fail him who was to become the most brilliant talker of his age. The gentleman was delighted with Coleridge's imagination, which could turn the Strand into the Hellespont. The intelligence of the young Leander made the stranger enquire into Coleridge's tastes, and when he found the boy liked books, he opened for him a subscription at the circulating library in Cheapside.

Mrs. C. Bondreau, Campbellton, N.B., was completely cured by MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills.

She tells of her experience in the following letter: "I was troubled with a pain in my heart and weakness for six years. Most of the time I could not lie on my left side. I consulted a doctor but got no relief and was completely discouraged. I did not think I would live long and expected my friends would find me dead. A friend brought me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I took them to please her, not thinking they would do me any good. I had not used half the box when I commenced to feel myself getting better and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers from heart trouble."

50,000 YEARS OLD.

Interesting Geological Discovery Made at Bunsted, Sittingbourne, England.

A most interesting geological discovery has been made at Bunsted, Sittingbourne, in the shape of two tusks and some bones of a mammoth or woolly elephant, the mighty creature having died, on or near the spot where the remains have been found, at least 50,000 years ago. The tusks were found on a layer of grey sand under about eight feet of brick earth near Tonge Church. They are semi-circular in shape, and though broken, having some two or three feet missing, the existing pertion of one that was measured was found to be seven feet long and three feet in circumference at the base. The mammoth is termed the woolly elephant because it had a heavy reddish-colored fur. This fact was first made known in 1799, when a complete mammoth was found frozen up in a Siberian glacier. These great creatures were undoubtedly plentiful in the Thames valley in the Pleistocene, or Age of Ice, when England had a climate resembling that of the Arctic regions at the present time, and their remains have been found in many places in Kent and Essex.

The Failing of Mr. Findlay.

Mr. James T. Findlay of Pembroke is to-day as imperturbable a platform speaker in presence of a hostile crowd as any of the most hardened campaigners in the country. He has been a critic, a "candid friend" of the Liberal party for many years. But he was not always as imperturbable. A tale is told of his being utterly crushed by a neat retort in the climax to his campaign against Sir Francis Hincks in 1869. They were joint meetings in those days, and Mr. Findlay was fond of narrating to the stern Scotch settlers who had gone out long ahead of the railway the circumstances which had fashioned his character into the likeness of "Honest James." At an early age he had left his mother in her village home and come out to seek his fortune across the sea. And he told with trembling voice and strong Caledonian accent how the old lady had kissed him good-bye at the gate with tears in her eyes, and laid on him the parting injunction, "Jamie, mind weel that ye dinna tell a lee," and how he had ever since tried to live up to that admonition. It was a good tale, and never failed to impress his hearers. But one day the then Sheriff of Ottawa, who was speaking for Hincks, arose to reply to James Findlay, and with a yet more pathetic voice and a yet more Caledonian accent pointed out the real significance of the story. "Aye, I can weel understan' the guid lady's sair heart at seeing her wee Jamie go out into this world alone. I can weel see the tear in her een as she bade him 'mind ye dinna tell a lee.' Who should know better than his mother her wee Jamie's frailties. Aye, weel she kenned whaur puir Jamie was weak. She didna tell him no to steal, nor to kill, nor to sip whiskey. No, she says to him, 'Dinna tell a lee,' and every mon of ye knows as well as his mother that you's just the word he needed."

Admiral Keppel Dead.

London, Jan. 18.—The Hon. Sir Henry Keppel, G.C.B., Admiral of the fleet, is dead. He was born in 1809. He was the fourth son of the fourth Earl of Albemarle. He commanded the naval brigade in the Crimean War and the naval forces in China in 1857, 1867-70. He was an enthusiastic sportsman, keen hunting man, and a good shot, both with large and small guns.

RAINING CATS AND DOGS.

Various Explanations of the Origin of This Expression.

Many explanations have been given of the origin of the expression "raining cats and dogs." One is that it is a perversion of the French "catadoupe," a waterfall—"it is raining a catadoupes," or cataracts. Another explanation is that the male blossoms of the willow tree, which are used on Palm Sunday to represent the branches of palm, were called "cats and dogs" in some parts of England, where they increase rapidly after a few warm April showers, and the belief prevailed that the rain brought them.

Others trace the saying to northern mythology, in which the cat is said to have great influence on the weather, and sailors still have a saying, "The cat has a gale of wind in her tail," when she is unusually frisky. Witches that rode upon the storms were said to assume the form of cats, and the stormy northwest wind is called "the cat's nose" in the Hars mountains even at the present day. Then the dog is a symbol of wind, which in old German pictures is figured as the head of a dog or wolf from which blasts issue. The cat therefore symbolizes a downpour of rain; the dog, strong gusts of wind, which accompany it, and so a rain "of cats and dogs" is a heavy rain with wind.

Evolution of the Bayonet.

The sweynes-feather (hog's bristle), which seems to have been the original prototype of the bayonet, was a long rapier blade, fixed in a handle and carried in a sheath, which was given to a musketeer for defense after he had discharged his piece. Stuck by its handle in the muzzle of his gun, it constituted a very efficient weapon for acting against pikemen. To diminish his incumbrance the sweynes-feather and musket rest were combined, the latter forming a sheath for the former, in the reign of James I.

Toward the latter part of the civil war the use of the musket rest was abandoned, and it became the practice to stick the dagger by its handle into the muzzle of the piece after discharging it.

In 1689 two rings were added by which the bayonet was placed on the muzzle without interfering with the firing. This improvement, the invention of General Mackay, an English officer, was introduced into the French army by Vauban in 1703. By the English themselves it was not adopted until after the battle of Fontenoy (1745), where the advantages its use conferred on the French were only too painfully manifest, the Duke of Cumberland's army being defeated with the loss of 15,000 men.

Unique Relics of Shakespeare.

A small but unique collection of Shakespearean relics was sold at Sotheby's in London recently. A silver seal-topped spoon of the period of James I., with a full-length figure of Shakespeare engraved on the back, with the date of his death, 1616, beneath, fetched £75. A casket made of the wood of a mulberry tree planted by Shakespeare, and fitted as an inkstand, brought £120. A picture described as "An unknown portrait of Shakespeare," which was pronounced to be a picture of the poet taken on his deathbed, sold for £131. Though this was evidently the work of an amateur, authorities say that in looking at it "we are gazing at the features of the immortal bard as he must have appeared when he was approaching death." Among other articles sold was a fourth folio copy of an issue unknown in this country, though there are two copies in America. It fetched £215.

The Broken Down Nervous System.

Often Found in Persons Who are Apparently in Good Health—Extraordinary Effects of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is not always the pale and bloodless who suffer from nervous exhaustion, and when a person of apparent good health finds himself almost helpless he gets little sympathy from physician or friends and not infrequently his ills are attributed to the imagination.

A tendency to put off the duties of the day, indisposition for exertion or concentration of the mind, depressed spirits, wakefulness at night, indigestion, headache, feelings of fatigue, and lassitude, dizziness, specks before the eyes, noises in the ears and irregularities and derangements of the sexual organs are among the most common symptoms of nervous exhaustion and prostration.

Nervous diseases are slow in coming on and patience is necessary in their treatment. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is absolutely certain to be of benefit to anyone suffering from exhausted nerves, for it supplies the very elements of nature which go to create new nerve cells and instill new vigor and energy into the nervous system.

Mrs J. Hatcher, 224 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is a moulder at the Hamilton foundry, states:—

"I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism which left me in a very run-down state of health, and in fact my whole nervous system seemed exhausted and worn out. I could not sleep and at times the pains in my head were almost unbearable. As a result of these symptoms I was unable to attend to my housework, and felt miserable most of the time. On the advice of a friend I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that it has proved of very great benefit to me. I am able to do my work now, and feel stronger and healthier than I have for years. I can truthfully state that this is due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I consider a great health builder."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

ROARIN' GAME IN '04

ALREADY THIS WINTER WILL BE LONG REMEMBERED BY CURLERS.

Talk of a Bonspiel for Toronto—Present Indications Are That a Week of Curling Weather May Be Secured—The Game in Canada Generally—Advantages of Curling—Origin of the Game—Curling Long Ago.

It is many years since Queen City curlers have enjoyed a better season than the present. Even should a thaw set in to-morrow and sap the life of the Winter, 1903-4 would be long remembered in the curlers' calendar. Last Winter a movement was on foot to hold a great bonspiel in Toronto. There was only one reason why the affair might not be a success, and this was the shameful fact that no one could confidently assert that the city, from November to March, would have a whole week of curling weather, says The Mail and Empire. And let it be remembered that curling weather is not necessarily Winter weather. A degree or two of frost will make ice fit for "the roarin' game." Times have changed, surely, since the Earl of Elgin enjoyed six successive months of curling in this country.

The Game in Canada.

Undoubtedly a great bonspiel would be a very welcome addition to our Winter attractions, but even without a national tournament local curlers have many opportunities of testing their metal. For several weeks past games have been played almost daily, and speculation on the outcome of some of the important contests to be decided in this city in the near future is becoming more interesting every day. These matches may not have the sentimental and historical importance of the great Scottish matches, but in point of the skill displayed they are no whit behind the more famous encounters on St. Mary's Loch at Linlithgow, or Ardoch Loch, near Dunblane. The noted Scottish curlers who visited Canada last year, and were defeated more often than they defeated their opponents, should bear witness to this fact, should such evidence be necessary. Indeed, it may be doubted if there are more expert curlers in the world than are to be found here. This might well be expected, since the game is a hundred years old in the Dominion. A quarter of a century ago an authority said that he had seen better curling in Toronto than ever he had before witnessed.

Advantages of Curling.

It is not surprising that such a fine game should bear transplanting and thrive as well on the St. Lawrence as on the Ayrshire Lochs. Had it not been for their favor to sport which they brought with them, many thousands of Scotchmen who came to Canada before there was much social life in the country would have put in some dreary Winters. Curling possesses advantages possessed by no other game, and a vast amount of literature setting forth and establishing this point is to be found by the diligent student. Without scanning this evidence, we may see the justice of the claim by reviewing a few of the peculiar features of the game. In the first place, it must be played at that time of year when so many sports are impracticable. In the second place, it is pre-eminently a social pastime, for at least eight players can take part in it simultaneously. In the case of a bonspiel, hundreds may be engaged at one time. That it is a healthy exercise cannot be gainsaid, and furthermore, that it is a game where the utmost skill may be displayed is readily admitted. Finally, no one who ever saw a close game can doubt that it is intensely exciting. And now, says the enthusiast, did you ever hear of a keen curler who was not a good citizen and a fine fellow?

Origin of the Game.

There have been several explanations of the origin of the game, all of them extremely plausible, but none more so than the other. It is generally believed, however, that the Flemings imported curling from their own country into Scotland three or four centuries ago. Proof of this is found in the etymology of the sport, but disproof in the fact that there is no trace of the game to be found anywhere outside of Scotland before the year 1750. It is rather surprising to learn that even up to 1825 curling was known only in parts of the Land o' Cakes. Even yet, in some parts of the Highlands, it is regarded as an innovation. This is despite the fact that almost every Scottish writer of note for hundreds of years has had something to say about the fascinations of the sport. To the lasting regret of all true Scotchmen, Burns mentioned the game on only two occasions. In one of these he mentions

"The long expected tryst,
To play their yearly bonspiel."

In "Tom Samson's Elegy" he has two fine curling verses, as follows:—

"When Winter muffles up his cloak,
And binds the mere like a rock;
When to the lochs the curlers flock
Wi' gleesome speed,
Wha will they station at the cock?
Tom Samson's dead!

"He was the king o' a' the core,
To guard or draw or wick a bore,
Or up the rink like Jehu roar,
In time o' need.
But now he lags on Death's hog score—
Tom Samson's dead!"

Curling Long Ago.

The history of the game is no less interesting. Though tradition gives it an earlier origin, the first authentic proof of its existence dates to about the middle of the sixteenth century, and is in the shape of a curling stone, inscribed 1551, found near Dunblane. It is ten inches broad, eleven inches long, and four inches thick, and is simply a rough block of stone, pierced by holes for finger and thumb. This is called a "finger stone," the addition of a handle to the instrument having been made within the last hundred years or so. In the early days of the sport the stones were not even smoothed. Gradually, however, as the player would become more expert, he would pay more attention to his stone, both in choosing it and in keeping it in condition. So it came, after awhile, that some ingenious player got the idea of fastening a piece of thorn brush to his stone and using it as a handle. Some of the stones were of enormous size, weighing more than a hundred pounds. Even with these crude implements, players, we hear, have been known to hurl a 75-pound stone across a mile of loch ice. It is in the precision, possible only with the modern stone, that the game of to-day is chiefly superior to the game of a century ago. An expert curler has the control over his stone that a billiard player possesses over his ball. He can make it curl a distance of eight feet in forty-five yards, and can place it nine times out of ten within a foot of his objective point. Nowadays strength does not enter very largely into the game, for the mere force required to send a stone from one end of a rink to the other, on smooth ice, is no more than a child can exert. This is one reason why curling should be an excellent Winter sport for women. There are 48 other reasons, equally good, which any curler will be pleased to supply.

THE TOWN BEAUTIFUL.

What an Improvement Society Is Doing for Hamilton, Ont.

Hamilton, Ont., is being made more attractive every year through the efforts of the Civic Improvement Society, which awards prizes for the best kept lawns, flower boxes and gardens, says The Toronto Mail and Empire. The idea is so excellent that it is remarkable that it has not been more generally adopted.

The natural tendency of all centres of population is toward ugliness and untidiness. To resist this and aspire toward "the town beautiful" is a worthy effort. We are influenced more than we are generally willing to acknowledge by our surroundings. The power of beauty to cheer and purify human nature is immeasurable. Why, then, should all the natural beauty of a city be confined to its parks or its boulevards, which are visited only on rare and exceptional occasions.

Here and there, it is true, efforts are made to beautify the daily surroundings. In Toronto some of the modern factories are adorned with flowers and clinging ivy. For this and the consequent appearance of cheerfulness the public, we believe, is sincerely grateful. It is a contribution to the comfort of every one. The splendid lawns and the gardens of our residential quarters also appeal to public appreciation.

But there are districts of the city in which the sun of beauty seldom shines. Prominent among these are the business quarters, where the tiresome monotony of brick walls is rarely relieved by the presence of any green thing. It is here that the people spend most of their time, and here it is that beauty and freshness are most required. In the more humble quarters, too, though there is many a homely garden and many an effort to catch an inspiration from nature, the lack of beauty is often painful and depressing.

Anything that will awaken an interest in the adornment of a town and stimulate effort along that line is a wholesome and valuable influence. By all means let us beautify our towns, and if Hamilton has shown us how to do it thoroughly and well we shall be grateful.

Birds and Insects.

If a man should habitually introduce and disseminate injurious insects he would be denounced as a public enemy and be severely punished. Suppose a man should gather a lot of cotton boll weevils and take them to Louisiana and turn them loose in a cotton field. If detected in the act, how much of him would get away? And yet we have men and boys throughout the country who employ their idle time in killing birds that destroy injurious insects and thus accomplish the same purpose of protecting insect against their natural exterminators.—Farm and Home.

MME. TUSSAUD'S.

London's Wax show One Hundred Years Old—Romance of Founder—Once in Danger of the Guillotine.

The centenary of the foundation of Mme. Tussaud's Waxwork Exhibition in London was celebrated by a dinner at Baker street, on Dec. 17.

Like many other of London's "show" places, Tussaud's is even more famous throughout the country than it is in the metropolis. Just as visits to St. Paul's, the Abbey, and the Tower are inseparably associated with our country cousin's sojourn in London, so is a visit to Tussaud's regarded as equally indispensable.

Although the centenary of Tussaud's was celebrated in the last month of 1903, the exhibition was, in reality, started by Mme. Tussaud in 1802. It may seem strange, in view of this fact, to say that many who are no longer in their first youth must have a recollection of the neat little figure of Mme. Tussaud herself, seated near the vestibule of her palace of celebrities in wax; but such is the case, and it is explained by the circumstance that Mme. Tussaud died at the great age of ninety in 1850.

She had a singular and varied life. She was a contemporary of, and lived among, the historic men and women of the French Revolution, and framed their portraits in wax from direct observation.

One day she would model the horrible features of the assassinated Marat, for whom she had no love; and on another day she would imitate the countenance of his beautiful assassin, Charlotte Corday, for whom she had unbounded admiration. Now it was a Princess Lamballe, next Robespierre himself who was the object of her artistic attention.

Mme. Tussaud was for a time the inmate of a prison, and was in danger of the guillotine. She escaped from France and went through a period of adversity, which she faced with a stout heart. Once she was shipwrecked on a voyage to Ireland, and lost the whole of her stock; but she survived that calamity, and after a time was able to set up her models in London.

They had their first home at the Lyceum, Strand. In 1835 the collection was settled in Baker street, and the present great building was erected to contain it in 1884.

From the moment when Mme. Tussaud settled in London fortune smiled upon the plucky and ingenious little lady. She had nearly fifty years of constant prosperity, and she left to her numerous descendants the finest waxworks show in the world and a considerable fortune.

The present director and artist-modeler is Mr. John Theodore Tussaud, great grandson of the founder of the exhibition. Through four generations the popularity of Tussaud's has steadily increased.

Neither time, trouble, nor money is spared to obtain anything that may prove an attraction to the exhibition. Remarkable stories are told of the sleuth-like hunts of the Tussaud directorate for articles rendered famous by their association with notable crimes, criminals, famous personages, and the astonishing prices that have been paid for them.

Not a notable crime of the century has occurred that is not recorded by an exhibit in the Chamber of Horrors, and no world celebrity has escaped commemoration in wax for a hundred years.

The present exhibition numbers 1,000 figures, and its contents are valued at nearly half a million sterling. Over 250,000 people pass through the turnstiles in a year.

There is a regular army of dressmakers constantly employed on the premises, and the greatest attention is given to completeness and accuracy of costume. The most expensive dress ever made for use there is perhaps that for the model of the Empress Eugenie, which cost £650.

The exhibition is now the property of a small limited company, but Mr. J. T. Tussaud has absolute control of the artistic arrangements.—London Express.

The Cashew Nut.

The cashew nut serves a unique purpose as a cosmetic in the West Indies, where women desiring to remove excessive tan anoint the skin with an oil from the outer surface of the raw nut. For two weeks the patient must retire from society, for the face and hands so treated turn black. At the end of a fortnight's seclusion, however, the woman who has undergone the cashew treatment emerges, observers state, "with skin and complexion as fair as a babe's."

COSTLY CHRISTMAS CARD.

On It Were Carvings Representing 19,000 Scenes of Various Lives.

The most costly Christmas card in the world was undoubtedly, we are told, one made some years ago by an English firm in Calcutta, to the order of the Gaekwar of Baroda, the potentate who was afterwards deposed for attempting to poison the British Resident by mixing diamond-dust with his food. The "card," which was of ivory, measured 12 inches by 10 inches, and more than forty elephants were sacrificed before a perfect piece of ivory of the required size was obtained. Four of the most skillful ivory-carvers in the province were employed to decorate the plaque, each devoting his energies to his own particular quarter. They worked almost incessantly at their task for six months, and when it was finished the eyesight of all four was affected, and one of them went totally blind shortly afterwards. The carvings represented 12,000 scenes of various lives, or stages of existence, of Buddha, and their execution involved more than eight million distinct motions of the graver. Ranged round the edge, so as to form a sort of frame or setting to the whole, were forty-four diamonds, each as large as a hazel nut, of the purest water. Its value was estimated at half a million sterling, and it was intended as a Christmas gift to a certain European lady of high rank, with whose charms the Gaekwar was greatly smitten. It never reached its destination, however, for before the anniversary came round the Gaekwar was arrested. Its ultimate fate was never known.

A Notable Judge.

The Sussex Daily News has some interesting reminiscences of the late Judge Martineau. He sat on more days in the year than any other county court judge, and he traveled more than 20,000 miles a year by train to attend his courts. To the last he dispensed with anything in the nature of a luncheon, and a little light refreshment, taken while the cases were in progress, was all he permitted himself, even when sitting for six and seven hours. He was accurately described as "a glutton for work."

It is said he could "smell a liar." A very prosperous looking man came up as defendant on a judgment summons for a few pounds. The judge said, sharply: "Where did you come from this morning?" "Twenty miles by rail," was the answer. "Who paid your fare?" "I did," hesitatingly. It was a hot morning. "Did you have a drink at the hotel on your way from the station?" "Yes." "That's a fine watch chain you are wearing. Is it gold?" "Yes," sulkily. "How much money have you in your pocket?" No reply. "Answer my question! No—say—turn out your pockets." The man, with livid face, emptied on to the desk literally handfuls of gold and silver, to the tune of some £20 or more, his honor keenly enjoying the situation. "Thank you," he said. "Now count out for the plaintiff the amount of his debt, costs and expenses, including those of to-day, and then you may go."

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Ontario District Curling Matches Open To-Morrow—Variety of the Latest News in Sporting Circles.

GO WITH THE BOYS TO PORT HOPE TO-NIGHT.

Special Train will Leave here at 6.30, and Return After Game.

The senior hockey team will go to Port Hope to-night, by special train, leaving here at 6.30, to play the O.H.A. team of that town. There will in all probability be a good crowd accompanying the team to-night, as a special rate has been secured, and there will be a great many who will be anxious to see how the team plays in an outside game. The Port Hope team will give the locals a good hard game, and one which will be worth seeing. The special train will leave here at 6.30, arriving in Port Hope at 7.30, in ample time for the game, which starts at 8.30. The return trip will be made after the game, arriving home in good time. The rate of $1.10 has been secured, which is a very reasonable one, and all who are interested in the team should accompany them on this trip.

The team to play Port Hope to-night will be:

Goal, Mercer.
Point, Howell.
Cover point, Cavanah.
Forwards, Harold Armstrong, Roy Armstrong, Whitcroft and Chris. Graham.

Jack Hynes of Toronto, will referee the Port Hope-Peterborough game to-night.

JUNIOR GAME TO-MORROW NIGHT.

Port Hope Team Will Play Local Juniors.

The junior O.H.A. team will play the next home game to-morrow night, when he Port Hope team will be here. The youngsters are confident of being able to put up a good game. They have been practising consistently lately, and will give a good account of themselves. The junior team since the last home game have shown an improvement in form, and there is certain to be a warm contest to-morrow night. The team will be:—Goal, VanEvery; point, Moore; cover point, Parker, (Capt.); forwards, Hall, Long, McFarlane and Kennedy.

"VARSITY" APPLAUDS O. H. A.

Editorially the College Organ Endorses the Action Taken in Regard to Their Hockey Team.

Last week's issue of the Varsity, the University of Toronto paper, contains the following editorial reference to the hockey team that went to the Soo:

"The question of what should be done with the hockey team in view of their holiday trip to the Soo, is a burning one just at present. The action of the O. H. A. in disqualifying them as amateurs is quite approved as within the rights of that organization. The standing of the club in the Inter-collegiate League is, however the matter of most supreme importance and this will be determined in good time. We could wish that the occasion for putting the hockey team on trial had not arisen."

A writer in another department of the paper says:

"Playing against professional teams is not at variance with the rules of our Athletic Association, or of the Inter-collegiate Hockey Association, so the directorate have officially stated that the senior hockey team of the University of Toronto, together with its managers, is composed of amateurs. Not the O. H. A. Amateurs; not the kind of men who go to the O. H. A. annual meeting and vote against all amateur infringements and after the meeting make arrangements to change their residences for a money consideration; but clean amateurs. We honestly can say that we have a strictly amateur team, and that is more than fifty per cent. of the O. H. A. teams can say."

PUCKERINGS.

The junior team will be picked at the rink to-night.

• • • •

The Toronto Star of Saturday contained a half-tone cut of the Picton hockey team.

• • • •

The druggists accept the challenge of the Cressman staff to a game of hockey. The game will be played to-morrow night from 10 to 11, after the Port Hope—Peterborough junior game.

• • • •

St. John's Choir Boys' team challenges St. Andrew's Guild team to a game of hockey, to be played at any convenient date.

• • • •

Mr. Jas. T. McCabe has evidently made a good impression along the front as a referee, in the Trent Valley League, as there are numerous applications for his return.

• • • •

There are many of the opinion that Keene stands a good showing for the championship of this district in the Trent Valley League. Keene is an exceptionally well balanced team and will make things interesting.

• • • •

The following is the present standing of the teams in this district of the Trent Valley League:—

	Won.	Lost.
Peterborough	3	0
T. A. S.	2	1
Keene	1	2
Lakefield	0	3

Note.—This is presuming that Peterborough has taken the Lakefield and Keene games by default, which they have every right to do, but it is altogether probable that if the rink in Peterborough is at all available both Keene and Lakefield will be given another opportunity to play their defaulted games.

• • • •

Mr. W. H. McIntyre, of Bobcaygeon, is one of the most successful referees in the Trent Valley League, and gave every satisfaction at Keene last week.

• • • •

To show how hockey is growing, there are two more teams in the 5th ward, namely the Snow-Flakes and the Ice-birds. They have been playing a series of games the last few Saturdays, the Ice-birds winning last Saturday by a score of 4 to 3. They now claim the championship of the Fifth Ward and are open to receive challenges from any team whose ages are not over nine years. Percy Neil, capt.; Heber Rogers, sec.

• • • •

were defeated at the Brock street rink Friday night by the West End Midgets with a score of 2 to 1. The Snow-flakes were a little rough on the small men of the West End, but the West End men showed them how to play hockey. All the men in both teams played well. MacKnight was slow in the first half but succeeded in making the second goal by a wrist shot. The Snow-flakes got the conceit knocked out of them by this match so that they will not refuse to play the Midgets a game as they did before.

NATIONALS VS. GILMOUR STREET.

On Wednesday night the Young Nationals beat the Gilmour Streets by 2-0. The game was hot from start to finish. The Young Nationals' combination was of high variety. The first goal was scored by M. Nicholl on a combination down the ice between O. Giroux, Coughlin and Nicholl. The next goal also went to the Young Nationals, O. Giroux doing the trick on a pass from Coughlin. The Gilmour streets lacked combination and shooting ability. The line-up was:—Young Nationals,—Goal, L. Giroux; point, B. Fowler; cover point, F. Heffernan; forwards, E. Coughlin, W. Nicholl, C. Conroy and O. Giroux.

Gilmour Streets.—Goal, A. Dawe; point J. O'Brien, cover point, R. Robertson; forwards, G. Gormin, G. Cummings, T. Gormin, C. McNicholl.

• • • •

Outside the Keene-T. A. S. match three games were played in the Trent Valley League Friday night. Cobourg smashed Trenton at Cobourg by a score of 13 to 1. At half time the score was 3 to 1 in favour of Cobourg. At Brighton Colborne was trimmed by the Brighton Thistles by 11 goals to 3. At Belleville Napanee was defeated by the Belleville seven by 4 to 3.

• • • •

The T. A. S. team has requested the Examiner to thank Messrs. Gough Bros. thus publicly for the loan of a fur coat each for their drive to Keene on Friday.

THE SOCIETY'S APPRECIATION.

Children's Aid Society Acknowledge Handsome Sum from Alexandra Dramatic Club.

The officers of the Children's Aid Society acknowledge with many thanks the receipt of a cheque for $72.55 from the Alexandra Dramatic Club, this being the proceeds of the entertainment given in the opera house on the evening of the 12th of January. The time devoted to this work by the performers, and the interest manifested by the public, are much appreciated by the officers of the society.

ONTARIO AS SITE FOR MILITARY CAMP.

Negotiations Proceeding With Ontario Government.

Negotiations have been going on for some time between the Militia Department at Ottawa and the Ontario Government with a view to securing a suitable site in this Province for the great national military training ground for the Canadian militia. The Department looked favourably on a site up the Gatineau Valley from Ottawa, but have not confined their investigation to the one Province. Premier Ross and Hon. E. J. Davis have taken a keen interest in the matter, and have attempted to meet the necessities of the case as far as possible. The Department will require a plot of land of about 40 or 50 square miles, fairly level, not too rocky, and of a sandy soil which will drain easily. At present the Crown Lands Department have two sites in view, one near Algonquin Park, and the other along the line of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway. An inspection will shortly be made to determine with more exactness the suitability of either property.—Globe.

THE CHURCHES.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The pastor, Rev. J. P. Wilson, preached at both services yesterday, the evening congregation being particularly large.

The musical service was an especially pleasing one. The morning anthem was "O Worship the King," while at the offertory "Though your Sins be as Scarlet," was given. At the evening service the choir sang for the anthem, "God from on High had Heard." At the offertory Mrs. Bertha Cushing-Child sang "The Day is Ended," with violin obligato by Miss Georgie Turner, Mr. W. Spencer Jones playing the accompaniment on the organ. Mr. Child's solo was thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Mr. Jones played the organ for the last hymn and also gave the closing voluntary.

ENGLISH GIRLS FOR CANADA.

Twenty Factory Girls Leave London For Montreal This Week.

London, Jan. 18.—(C.A.P.)—Twenty factory girls of the east end of London will leave for Montreal this week under the British Women's Immigration Association. One thousand tailoresses, the association says, are about to be discharged in the north of England, and likely many will be sent to Canada. The Montreal correspondent says there is a great demand in Montreal for factory hands; some English girls are making $12 weekly.

Boys and Girls to Canada.

At the annual meeting of the Barnado's Homes on Saturday, the statement was made that 1,200 boys and girls were sent to Canada last year, and 15,000 since work began.

Wants to Find Mother.

A missionary of the Marlborough Police Court has received a letter from E. O'Connor, who twenty years ago was a London waif, telling how he had made a fortune in Canada, and saying his happiness would be complete if he was able to find his mother.

Rosebery-Devonshire Coalition.

The talk of the Rosebery-Devonshire coalition steadily gains in volume. This alliance, if carried out, will increase the dissatisfaction of the Radicals and irritate the Nonconformists. The Liberals are already sorely embarrassed by labor dissensions. The rancor of partnership involves the exclusion of politics from drawing-rooms and dinner tables. Political discussions have not been so bitter since Gladstone raised the Home Rule question.

Can Feed Motherland.

Rudyard Kipling says South Africa is able not only to feed the Motherland with corn, but the United States too. Victoria Falls, with 35,000,000 horse-power is able to furnish electricity enough to make the dark continent a blaze of glory to illuminate the earth.

Protests Against Asiatics.

Premier Seddon, speaking on Saturday, said whatever view was taken by the other Premiers of Greater Britain, New Zealand would protest against Asiatic labor dominating the country for which New Zealand's sons bled and died. The appearance of a Russian naval power in China seas was a danger to the British colonies, involving an increased Imperial expenditure to meet altered conditions.

One thousand English navies landed at Plymouth Saturday who had just returned from South Africa their work being completed. The colored labor experiment cost £60,000.

MAJOR J. E. GOUGH.

Commended Others Bravery, But Didn't Mention His Own.

London, Jan. 18.—Several months ago Victoria Crosses were awarded Capts. Walker and Rolland for gallantry during action at Daratoleh, in Somaliland, in carrying a wounded officer back under a heavy fire.

The announcement Saturday that Major J. E. Gough, commander of the column, had got the Victoria Cross for gallantry in the same action caused surprise and wonder why it was so belated.

It seems that Gough, as commander, recommended the other two, but made no mention of his own conduct. A private letter from Rolland first brought the news to England, with the result that it was called to the attention of the King recently.

Gough is but 32 years old. He has been mentioned three times in despatches for services in South Africa, and is now promoted to be brevet lieutenant-colonel.

BRITISH LAND MARINES.

Gen. Deschamps Takes Refuge in the American Consulate.

Cape Haytien, Jan. 18.—The Government troops, which disembarked recently at Sosua, were Saturday ordered to march on Porto Plata. A brisk attack supported by the guns of a Dominican war vessel began in the evening. Operations were resumed yesterday morning, and the Government troops entered Porto Plata, causing the flight of Gen. Deschamps, who took refuge in the United States Consulate. The British cruiser Pallas has landed marines to protect the Consulate. The United States cruiser Hartford has arrived.

FIRE DESTROYS THE HENTHORNE BLOCK.

Several Stores and Offices Totally Burned This Morning.

Roy's Studio Entirely Consumed—"The Metropole", Mrs. Darnley's and Holme's & Christy's Stores Also Burned—Heavy Losses.

With the mercury registering 30 degrees below zero, the fire brigade was called out at 4.35 this morning to fight a fire in the Henthorne block, on Hunter street. This proved to be the most serious downtown fire that has occurred in Peterborough for some years, and involves a sweeping loss of many thousands of dollars to several prominent business men of the town. At the present stage it is utterly impossible to give even a rough guess in round numbers what the involved loss is, but the stores and offices above and including from "The Metropole" to the grocery store of Christy & Holmes, have been totally destroyed.

About half past four o'clock, Mr. Warne, the caretaker of the Peterborough club, which is situated above the Bank of Commerce, heard a man cry "Fire!" Jumping up he rushed to the windows facing the post office, and scraping away the frost from off the pane with his finger nails, peered out into the street. In one of the stores he could see a red flickering flame above which there curled a single column of tell-tale smoke. Rushing to the telephone Mr. Warne sent in the alarm and hastily slipping into his clothes ran out into the frosty weather. Just then the brigade dashed up, and the firemen fitted up several lines of hose, and put a ladder against the wall reaching up to Roy's studio. The flames by this time had begun to get a firm grip, and the firemen had to break in Holmes & Christy's front door in order that they might cope with the fire. Others, climbing the ladder, got into the second storey; however the dense smoke hid the whereabouts of the flames, while the intricate passages, with doors on each side leading into rooms from which one left by another door, was a veritable maze to the firemen, and it was some time before they were able to get a tangible idea of the lay of the buildings, and the communications to and from them. The smoke was very dense and choking and the iron qualities of the men who compose the brigade came out as they, with frozen hands, dragged the heavy hose through doors and up winding stair cases, while the smarting smoke made their eyes bulge from their sockets, and made breathing, even with protectors over their mouths, a painful effort. Hour after hour they persistently fought but step by step the flames took a hold of the building and by half past five it looked as though the entire block would be consumed. The water frose on its passage from the nozzle of the hose and pattered against the walls and windows like hail stones. About half past six the firemen began to get ahead of the flames, which had by this time burnt all the light combustible material in the stores. From then on the fire brigade with five lines of hose gradually succeeded in quenching the flames, and by noon every vestige of fire was gone. Stores which twenty-four hours ago were doing a large business are now practically a useless heap of ruins covered with frozen water.

The stores which were mostly damaged were, Roy's studio, The Metropole, Mrs. Darnley's millinery establishment, Christy & Holmes, grocers, and Dr. Wightman, dentist.

Mr. Roy when seen by the Examiner this morning stated that his loss was $7,000 on which he had only $1,500 insurance. His entire studio is destroyed and together with it the expensive apparatus which goes along with a photographic gallery. In one room there were mouldings, for pictures, to the value of $1,000. These had been totally destroyed by both fire, smoke and water. Cameras, negatives, lenses were all lost. Mr. Roy picked up a single lense in its case, which was worth $120 and which had been cracked by the heat of the fire. Mr. Roy prided himself on having the most up-to-date and original studio in Canada. When asked as to what he intended to do Mr. Roy stated that as soon as circumstances permitted he would begin over again in the same studio.

Mr. Hellowell, of The Metropole, has suffered a loss of $2,500 on which he has $1,750 insurance. He was brought out of bed about 5 o'clock this morning by Mr. Frank MacPherson, who on learning of the fire immediately got a livery rig and drove to Mr. Hellowell's residence. The Metropole consists of the first and second storeys and was badly gutted.

Mrs. Darnley this morning stated that her loss amounted to $2,500. The store was insured to the amount of $1,500.

Holmes & Christy, grocers, when seen to-day estimated that their loss amounted to $2,000, on which there was $1,600 insurance. Mr. Holmes had no idea how the fire could originate in his rear premises. He told the Examiner that when he left about 8.30 o'clock last night everything was all right.

Dr. Wightman when seen this morning was unable to state his loss. He had, however, $600 insurance.

J. T. O'Connell, the real estate agent had his office damaged by water to the extent of about $200.

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire's office suffered about $100 loss by water. The damage was, however, covered by insurance and was not of a serious nature. Their wires were unjured and they continued business shortly after the opening of the Wall street market.

Mr. E. W. Angus, an architect by profession, began to occupy an office in the rear of O'Connell's real estate office yesterday, and was unfortunately the victim of a fire the first day. With the exception of damage by water and smoke, Mr. Angus' rooms are unhurt.

The Sons of England Hall suffered slightly from water.

The Dominion Express Office was damaged by water to the extent of about $50.

The building was owned by Messrs. Aaron Cox and N. T. Laplante. Mr. Cox owned all the burned property except "The Metropole." He told the Examiner this morning that his buildings were worth $8000, and were insured to the extent of $4000. Last year he spent $2000 on general improvements to Mr. Roy's studio, and Dr. Wightman's dentistry rooms. Mr. Laplante, when seen, said that the Metropole building was worth $4500. It was insured for $2500.

A fire proof door between Roy's printing and framing rooms, the latter of which is situated over McMillan & Maguire's office, saved the rest of the eastern portion of the block from destruction. The scorched iron door evidences the intense heat it withstood, and thus fortunately saved nearly as much again as was lost. Had that door not been there the Sons of England Hall, McMillan & Maguire's office, Mr. D. O'Connell's law office, the Best Stove Store, O'Connell's estate office, and the Dominion Express Office would all have been destroyed.

Yesterday the stores were the scene of busy activity. To-day they are a ruined and unrecognizable mass, covered with hanging icycles. It is a matter for thankfulness that no loss of lives were involved in the truly disastrous catastrophe.

TWO PASSAGES FROM "THE STRENUOUS LIFE."

Quoted Sunday Night by Rev. J. C. Davidson in His Sermon.

At the citizens' service in St. John's church Sunday evening Rev. J. C. Davidson quoted, in the course of his sermon, two passages from "The Strenuous Life," by President Theodore Roseous Life," by President Theodore Roosevelt. They were as follows:—"The woman must be the housewife, the helpmeet of the home-maker, the wise and fearless mother of many healthy children. In one of Daudlet's powerful and melancholy books he speaks of the 'fear of maternity, the haunting terror of the young wife of the present day' When such words can be truthfully written of a nation, that nation is rotten to the heart's core."

The second passage was: "There must be no shirking of duty in big things or in little things. The man who will not work hard for his wife and his little ones, the woman who shrinks from bearing and rearing many healthy children—these have no place among the men and women who are striving upward and onward. Of course the family is the foundation of all things in the state."

Miss Hapgood tells how she escaped an awful operation by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for four years with what the doctors called Salpingitis (inflammation of the fallopian tubes and ovaritis), which is a most distressing and painful ailment, affecting all the surrounding parts, undermining the constitution, and sapping the life forces. If you had seen me a year ago, before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and had noticed the sunken eyes, sallow complexion, and general emaciated condition, and compared that person with me as I am today, robust, hearty and well, you would not wonder that I feel thankful to you and your wonderful medicine, which restored me to new life and health in five months, and saved me from an awful operation."—MISS IRENE HAPGOOD, 1033 Sandwich St. Windsor, Ont.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Ovaritis or inflammation of the ovaries or fallopian tubes which adjoin the ovaries may result from sudden stopping of the monthly flow, from inflammation of the womb, and many other causes. The slightest indication of trouble with the ovaries, indicated by dull throbbing pain in the side, accompanied by heat and shooting pains, should claim your instant attention. It will not cure itself, and a hospital operation, with all its terrors, may easily result from neglect.

MANY MEMBERS OF ONE BODY.

Citizen's Service at St. John's Church Sunday Evening.

Rev. J. C. Davidson Preached an Eloquant Sermon on Christian Citizenship.

The following is a condensed report of Rev. J. C. Davidson's sermon on Sunday at the Citizens' Service. Through lack of space it was inadvertently left over yesterday.

Mr. Davidson took his text from I Corinthians xii, 12, "For as the body is one and hath many members, and all the members of that one body being many are one body, so also is Christ."

"It is my high privilege, Mr. Mayor, and gentlemen of the Town Council, Board of Education and other officials," began Rev. Mr. Davidson, "to congratulate you on your election to office, or rather Peterborough, in securing your services." Last year he had addressed them on the "Ministry of Public Service," which was God's work for God's people, for which they were to be honoured. His subject this year was their Common Citizenship, which in ancient and modern times has been connected with high dignity.

Citizenship was defined as the status of those who participated in the life and government of the community, and Christian Citizenship as the exercise of these civic functions in a Christian spirit for Christian ends.

Its obligations were first dealt with and shown to be on the shoulders of all alike. Man was in his nature a social being, brought into existence as a member of a family, and growing up with a definite inheritance, with definite responsibilities attached thereto. His citizenship — to this then applies St. Paul's words in I Cor. xii, pointing out that no one exists for himself, but each for the whole. The only other type of life in which people lived for themselves, and as they pleased, was Barbarianism. No aggregation of such people could make a city worth the name. Mere numbers might mean unwieldly bulk, and the inefficiency of China was quoted as a case in point. Some sort of real civic unity was indispensable — a common life for a noble end. This had been realized in Greek and mediaeval cities which clustered around cathedral and guild hall. The lack of religious unity had been a grievous loss in the past, but brighter days were fast coming, if all would cooperate in bringing them about. Today in Peterborough there was close understanding, fellowship and cooperation between ministers representing 10,000 people, and this service was being held with the concurrence of these. But the path to this desired union was not undenominationalism described by Mr. Gladstone, as oreedless religion, like a rootless tree. The true path was by loyalty to one branch of the church, with an intelligent and charitable appreciation of the standpoints of others and occasional personal contact with them.

The unity of civic life was to be fostered by every means, commercial, social and religious, and in this connection favourable mention was made of the Board of Trade, Social Clubs, Secret Societies and the public Institutions, as also the associations for athletics and sport—and as citizens courtesies were to be extended to neighbours without distinction of creed.

Next it was shewn that true citizenship required the right exercise of the franchise as a duty to be done thoughtfully and honestly. The last word led the speaker to vigorously take up the cudgels on behalf of electoral purity. If men had to fight let them fight, with true British instinct, fairly, with fair weapons which all can see. One man or minority rule, abandoned by the civilized world in the past, would be more dangerous still when sustained by money involving the moral deterioration of both givers and receivers. If our political condition was bad it was largely through the lack of true principles of citizenship among the electrate. There were bright signs of hope for the future, however. The famous article in the "Globe" was instanced. The man who wrote that was a hero, and such men should be honoured and supported. Confirmed partisans should bring healthy influence to bear on their own party, but for the younger men there was a better way. Let them dissociate themselves from their parties, to which they only belonged by the accident of birth. Shake off prejudices, and hold themselves free to vote for the best policy and for the best men.

Mr. Davidson then went on to show the duty and privilege of the more gifted to serve the community and the support and encouragement which should be given them. Those, too who from local advantages had amassed fortunes might reasonably expected to be generous for the public welfare and the noble benefactions of the late Wm. Hall and of Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls were recalled. A list was also read of those who, during the history of the town, had rendered distinguished public service and were worthy therefore to be gratefully remembered.

Christian citizenship further called for a high sense of honour, sobriety and purity of life and a proper observance and guarding of the Lord's Day as a day of rest. This led up to the point that strength of character developed in individual citizens was the town's best asset, as being the foundation of a sturdy citizenship. The officials present were urged to read President Roosevelt's book "The Strenuous Life," and to stiffen themselves up to do their duty to the whole community without fear or favour.

Lastly woman's contribution to the community's welfare was referred to as bewing most important. She was the housewife, the gentle helpmeet of the home-maker, "the mother of many healthy children," in Roosevelt's words, and should train up her children and stimulate them to high ideals thus fashioning good future citizens.

In conclusion the preacher urged that their citizenship should be permeated by the spirit of sane practical Christianity. Thus would it be pure, wholesome and lasting and thus would it pave the way for the consummation of the future, perfect citizenship in a perfect City.

HIGH CLASS CONCERT A DECIDED SUCCESS.

Mrs. Bertha Cushing-Child Appeared in Opera House Last Night.

Together With Miss Leonard and Miss Turner, all Under the Direction of Mr. W. Spencer Jones.

Although the audience at the concert given last night in the opera house, under the direction of Mr. W. Spencer Jones, of Toronto, was not large, the programme was none the less delightful, and those who were present left at the conclusion of the evening's entertainment more than highly pleased at the opportunity given them of hearing such excellent music and recitations. The contributors to the programme were Bertha Cushing-Child, contralto, of Boston; Mabel Stanley Leonard, entertainer, of Detroit; Georgie Turner, violiniste, of Montreal; and W. Spencer Jones, accompanist, of Toronto. Individually, and as a whole, their work was excellent. Their work was encored repeatedly and it is safe to say that they reached a standard of perfection far higher than even that which was expected by the audience. The manner in which every selection was received evidenced the high approval of the audience.

The programme was opened with a violin solo by Miss Georgie Turner, entitled "Gypsy Dances," by Saraste. The rendition was exquisite, the player making a decidedly pronounced impression on the audience, who, in the usual manner, demanded an encore. On her return Miss Turner played one of Deserne's Lullabies. Miss Mabel Stanley followed with a recitation, "Stradivarius," by George Eliot, which was excellently done and appreciatedly endorsed by the audience. The star on the programme was Mrs. Bertha Cushing-Child, who was the third contributor, her selection being "Noel d'Irlande," by Holmes. Mrs. Cushing-Child has a powerful contralto voice, of very mellow tone, and in this selection she was heard to perfection. That she delighted the audience was apparent by the hearty way in which she was encored. She smilingly acquiesced with "Art is a Dream." Another violin solo from Miss Turner, one of Chopin-Wilhemy's nocturnes, evoked considerable applause, and the player, for the second time in his many selections, was encored, she giving "Pizzicati," which was rendered with the same degree of success as her previous one. A scene from "Captain January," by Miss Leonard, was encored, that artist complying with "She Wanted a Written Guarantee." The sixth item on the programme was a treble one from Mrs. Cushing-Child. The songs were (a) "Once at the Angelus," by Somerville; (b) "The Herb Forgetfulness," by Von Frelits, and (c) "Were I a Gardener," by Chaminade. All of these received the unstinted and merited applause of the audience. A double number from Miss Turner consisted of (a) "Serenade," by Dralu; (b) "Canzonetta," by D'Ambrosio, which so delighted the audience that a third was demanded. Miss Turner, with marked effect on her enthusiastic listeners played "Home Sweet Home." A monologue on "How School Girls Study," by Miss Leonard, was most realistic. She was encored and responded with a short selection entitled "Things ain't what they used to be." The last item on the programme was Behrend's "Crossing the Bar," by Mrs. Cushing-Child. The selection was given in such a manner as to perfectly enrapture the audience, who were rewarded with another selection "Oh that we were Maying." During the programme Mr. Spencer Jones accompanied the contributors. It is impossible to criticize Mr. Jones' playing; it can hardly be expressed in words.

The programme was brought to a close with the National Anthem.

DO NOT WALK ON THIN ICE.

If You Have Catarrh You are in Danger—It Breeds Dyspepsia, Bronchitis and Consumption.

Aside from the extreme offensive and odious nature of the disease catarrh is also very dangerous if left to run its course unchecked. The constant droppings into the throat, which are mostly swallowed during sleep cause poisonous disorders of the throat, stomach and lungs which rapidly develop into dyspepsia, laryngitis, bronchitis and consumption. When these diseases become established, especially the latter, the result is too well known to need pointing out.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a certain and absolute cure for catarrh in all forms and all stages. Catarrhal conditions are always of the same nature, whether they exist in the head, throat, stomach, bowels or bladder, and these Tablets act on all alike. They cleanse, renovate and purify the entire system of all catarrhal poisons, and by thus going to the very root of the disease, effect thorough and permanent cures. This is the only way to treat catarrh as local applications, such as sprays, ointments, inhalations, etc., afford only temporary relief and the malady takes hold again with increased vigour.

An Indianapolis physician says:—"I prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets on all occasions, because I find they are most thorough and effective in their work. I have tried a great many prescriptions, my own and others, during thirty years of practice, but have never found anything quite so satisfactory in all respects as these Tablets. I have known the most stubborn and virulent cases of catarrh to yield time after time to Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend them."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. It will pay you to give them a trial and get away from the suffering, humiliation and danger caused by catarrh.

Blame Put on Captain.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 19.—Wm. Jensen gave evidence to the coroner's enquiry regarding the Clallam yesterday afternoon that if the passengers had not been put in the boats until the Holyoke came no lives would have been lost until the tug came, and whether any would have been lost then depended on the captain's actions. He seemed not to have full control of himself.

A PIRATE ON BOARD

Probable Fate of the Unskillful Captain of Ontario Tories.

MR. ROSS TO MR. WHITNEY

Barnacles Better Than a Pirate—A Vituperative Petrel Well Scored—The Early Calling of the House—Country's Business Must Not Be Delayed By a Lazy Lawyer—House Called to Do Business.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—The Legislature yesterday listened to speeches from the leaders of both parties. Mr. Whitney attacked the Government with vigor along the line made familiar by his speeches in the recent bye-elections. A great wave of indignation was sweeping over the country, and the Government was on the point of being submerged beneath it. The Liberal press was criticizing the Government. Mr. Gamey was more popular than Ministers. The House should not have been called till the election trials were held, and he was prepared to pass upon urgent business if adjournment was made to permit of the trials going on.

Who Was Submerged?

The Premier made a reply worthy of his great reputation as a debater. He pictured the waves of Liberal victory that had submerged Mr. Whitney and his lieutenants in five bye-elections out of the eight held since the general election. He pointed out that a long recess had not added new features to Mr. Whitney's Parliamentary program or new lines to his part. It was, as Macdonald said of the Mackenzie Administration's speech from the throne, on one occasion, "the same old Brown stuff."

Barnacles Preferred to Pirates.

Mr. Whitney had referred to the barnacles on the ship of State, said Mr. Ross: "I would sooner have a few barnacles on the vessel than a pirate on board the ship. (Loud laughter and cheers.) Many a good ship of the line sails the untrodden seas with a few barnacles, and lands in port with a precious and noble cargo, but very few ships with pirates on board and unskillful captains land at the desired haven.

A Vituperative Petrel.

"My hon. friend has been long at sea and has failed to come to that haven of refuge which he has so long sought. He has a crew that are, I suppose, as anxious to reach the desired haven as he is himself. Notwithstanding the captain's efforts, she is still in the trough of the sea. She is water-logged. (Cheers.) The cargo she carries has brought her below the waterline by two or three feet more or less. (Renewed cheers.) The crew are always mutinous against the captain. Some day the ship will be scuttled; the ship will go down; the wave of indignation which the angry storms roll up will overwhelm them. (Applause.) Then there will be peace in the Province of Ontario. Then this stormy petrel that goes out to constituencies with his stock of vituperation and brings to them some lieutenants that are not too much appreciated by some of his followers, this stormy petrel will have a rest, and the House will meet in its usual way, will vote supplies, will pass legislation, will be prorogued by the Lieutenant-Governor, as ordinary Houses are properly prorogued, and the hon. gentleman will not find that wave of indignation which he claims has rolled over our vessel."

House Called to Do Business.

The Premier was particularly strong in his reply to the objections to the early calling of the House. He said it was called to do business of the country, and declared that the Province was not going to submit to embarrassment or delay through the action of a barrister, who had had six months in which to bring the election petitions to trial. He also showed that election petitions in far larger numbers have been pending at many meetings of the Legislature and of the House of Commons.

Mr. Foy has the floor, and Attorney-General Gibson will likely follow him. Mr. A. G. Mackay is also slated to speak early.

Germany to Send Reinforcements.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—Further advices from German Southwest Africa say the Hereroes are murdering settlers and burning homesteads over wide areas. The German colonial troops in the disturbed district are wholly insufficient to deal with the revolted natives. At a conference between Chancellor Von Buelow, Emperor William, War Minister Von Einen and Admiralty Secretary Von Tirpitz, it was decided to ask the Reichstag immediately to authorize the sending out of reinforcements.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible bu tit was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by all druggists.

BALFOUR'S CABINET

Illuminative Description of Administration by Morley.

HOW FISCAL CAMPAIGN GOES

Premier Seddon Talks of the Preference to Britain and Says More May Follow —Attorney-General Thinks Colonies Want Most a Voice in Imperial Affairs—The John Bull Store Song.

London, Jan. 19.(C.A.P.)—John Morley yesterday was presented with the freedom of Arbroath in recognition of his public services and for dedicating to the community his life of Gladstone. In an address he called the Balfour Government a scratch Cabinet crew afloat on a raft. The slower increase of trade was due to the larger volume of trade of the great free port of London, which drew like a loadstone the wealth and produce of every part of the world. That Imperialism he swore by. Retaliation was not possible. The Government was unable to say that the president of the United States was unfair because a certain Pittsburg firm was sending British goods.

Lord Avebury says he cannot see any colonial inclination toward free trade with the Motherland. If the colonies shut out our goods it is little advantage to us if they raise further barriers against foreign countries.

The Empress says the determination of Mr. Gibbs, M.P., to resign his seat in Parliament on account of being an intermediary in the purchase of the Chilian warships, speaks volumes for the purity of British public men.

How the Campaign Goes.

The proprietors of Kynoch's ammunition factory, Birmingham, employing 6,000 hands, say the preferential tariff would damage their business.

An open-air meeting of 8,000 people at Sydney yesterday cordially approved preferential trade.

Premier Seddon declared at Wellington that his preferential act had done something to help his kinsmen against foreigners, and more would follow if their overtures were not repelled.

The Attorney-General, addressing his constituents yesterday, said in spite of difficulties and the objections of preferential tariffs, he thought the colonies desired most having a voice in Imperial affairs.

The Leader announces that the John Bull's store song, which aroused tremendous enthusiasm in the Music Hall, has been printed and published by dumped German capital.

Premier Seddon wires The Express that the preference act was not forced through Parliament. It had a majority of 50 to 16.

Marquis Ito told an Australian visitor that it was a great mistake to shut the doors against the Japanese. If Australia was invaded by an enemy Japan would come to the rescue with both an army and a fleet.

Hold Together to Be Strong.

London, Jan. 19.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Chamberlain writing to the Attorney General of New South Wales, said: "If the Empire breaks up into atoms, each will be comparatively insignificant, powerless and uninteresting. If it holds together it will be the most powerful civilizing influence in the world."

A CONTINUAL DRAG.

The Exact Term.

Only those who have experienced the pain and suffering incident to Piles or Hemorrhoids, can know what a drag and handicap this complaint is; how even the mildest form hinders the patient from putting forth his or her best efforts, while those afflicted with protruding or bleeding piles realize all the tortures of the Inquisition.

It may surprise the reader to know that there is a sure, permanent cure for this disease, as the following testimony from Mr. E. A Leonard, an American resident in the City of Mexico will show.

"For twenty years I suffered with piles, sometimes being confined to my bed for days at a time. The relief received from doctors both in the United States and Mexico, was temporary and more frequently I received no relief; other medicines had no effect. It was a continual drag. I was fit for nothing. I finally tried Pyramid Pile Cure; first application was magical; I could not believe I was awake the next morning—I experienced a relief that I had not known for twenty years. One box cured me; but not believing myself cured I bought two more, but they are still in my trunk. I first used the remedy in July, 1902; and have had no occasion to use it since. The world should know of Pyramid Pile Cure. I have no words to express its merits."

Pyramid Pile Cure is in the form of a suppository, which is admitted by all physicians to be the best preparation for treating piles; it comes in direct contact with the painful tumours and does its work quickly and painlessly. It is sold by druggists generally at 50 cents a package, and there is no other remedy "just as good."

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

Fierce Fire at Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—A fierce fire yesterday afternoon in McLeod, Hawthorne & Company's trunk factory, developed into a very extensive conflagration. Swift, Copeland & Co., hats and furs, were the heaviest losers, their whole stock, valued at $50,000, was destroyed, $48,000 being insured, and the other firms, Finlay, Smith & Co., woollens, damaged slightly by water. The stock of the King Clothier Co., Woodhouse, Rezan & Co., milliners, were also burned. The loss has not yet been estimated. The building was owned by Charyler & Orkin.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure

Costs Nothing if it Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for Rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within 30 days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against Rheumatism—a potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do. And I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal card for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

Write me and I will send you the book. Try my remedy for a month, if it fails the loss is mine.

Address Dr. Shoop, box 47-9, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

THE UNRULY MEMBER.

Mine President Mitchell Tells Miners to Guard Their Speech—Relations Growing More Cordial.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—At the United Mine Workers' convention yesterday President Mitchell presented his annual report.

The report urges that the convention be moderate in speech and conservative in action, adding "we should keep in mind that the enemies of labor and the opponents of trade unionism, as represented by the Manufacturers' Association and the Citizens' Industrial Alliance, are ever ready to make capital out of the smallest indiscretion, and to magnify out of all reasonable proportion the slightest mistake that trade unionists may make."

The report then outlines the situation in each district. Of the anthracite field he says: "It is a pleasure to report that since the close of the anthracite strike the relations of operators and miners have grown steadily more cordial. With very few exceptions, the award of the Commission has been rigidly observed, and an era of comparative peace and contentment has reigned in that territory."

After reviewing the extension of the conference method of adjusting grievances, the report says: "On the whole we have every reason to feel fairly well satisfied with the gains during the year 1903." The report says the organization has increased in membership from 91,000 in 1899, to 287,545 in 1903, which does not include members idle or on strike. In 1903 there was a net gain of 366 unions, making a total of 2,322. "If," says Mr. Mitchell, "every local union would report in its full membership, there would not be less than 340,000 members."

President Mitchell voiced his earnest support of legislation prohibiting boys under 16 from being allowed to work in the mines, and asked the convention to endorse it. In closing, congratulatory reference is made to the "cordial business relationship that has existed between our organization and the operators in all States and districts in which wages and conditions of employment are regulated and determined by mutual agreement."

Strikers Hire Automobiles.

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 19.—The first shipment of automobiles ordered by the street railway strikers to compete with the cars of the car company, arrived here yesterday. There will be twelve in all. The machines will carry sixteen passengers and will be operated along the various lines of the street railway here. Passengers will pay five cents a ride and also will get transfers.

Destitution in Macedonia.

Boston, Jan. 19.—The latest reports to the American Board from the Relief Centres in Macedonia show that there are now 100,000 persons who are homeless and without means of support for the winter.

Over 52,000 are in Monastir district. The Turkish Government is affording some relief and funds are coming from America and England.

Another political outbreak in the spring is feared.

Create New Diocese and Province.

Rome, Jan. 19.—The congregation of the propoganda at a meeting yesterday morning decided to propose to the Pope the erection of Newfoundland into a new ecclesiastical province and also to create a new diocese at Joliette, Quebec, taking it from the Archdiocese of Montreal, as Archbishop Bruchesi proposed during his stay in Rome last year.

The Axe Falls on One.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Samuel Thompson, deputy returning officer at Sub-Division No. 9, Ward 4, has been arrested on the charge that he "did fraudulently vote for controller at the last municipal elections." The arrest is the outcome of proceedings conducted by Crown Attorney Curry.

For Federal House.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 19.—Liberal-Conservatives of Queen's, Sudbury, met at Gagetown yesterday afternoon and nominated R. D. Wilmot for the Federal Parliament. Mr. Wilmot represents the constituency at Ottawa.

MR. CHEW NOMINATED.

Liberal Candidate For East Simcoe—Convention Held at Orillia—Mr. Chew Given Time to Consider.

Orillia, Jan. 19.—East Simcoe Liberals nominated Mr. George Chew of Midland for the Commons. He was the unanimous choice of the convention. About three hundred delegates assembled in the opera house here yesterday afternoon to nominate a candidate for the Commons in the Liberal interest for the riding of East Simcoe. The chair was ably filled by Mr. W. H. Manning of Coldwater, Vice-President, in the absence of the President, Mr. J. B. Tudhope, M. P.P., who is discharging his duties in the Legislature. With him on the platform was Mr. D. Inglis Grant, Secretary, who explained why the convention had been called.

The following gentlemen were put in nomination: Dr. J. A. McLean, Orillia; Messrs. George Chew, Midland; D. L. White, Midland; H. Cooke, Orillia; W. W. Carter, Fesserton; Dr. P. H. Spohn, Penetanguishene; R. D. Gunn, K. C., Orillia; W. J. Leatherdale, Coldwater, County Commissioner; W. T. Trimble, ex-Reeve, Orillia Township; W. M. Harvey, Orillia; F. W. Grant, Midland; T. H. Sheppard, M. B. Tudhope, B.A., and John C. Miller, Orillia.

These gentlemen were called to the platform, when short but enthusiastic speeches were made, all of the nominees retiring except George Chew who asked a little time for consideration. Mr. Chew was the candidate at the last Dominion election, and was defeated by Mr. W. H. Bennett, M.P., by the narrow majority of 30. The convention expressed its hearty and unanimous approval of Mr. Chew's nomination by three hearty cheers. With the knowledge gained in his last campaign and the advantage of a revulsion of popular feeling against the present member, East Simcoe Liberals are confident that with Mr. Chew as their standard-bearer they will march on to victory. The Liberals redeemed the riding at the election for the Legislative Assembly, and will repeat the victory for the Dominion House at the next general election.

Resolutions endorsing Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his able colleagues, and approving of the course of Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, and Mr. J. B. Tudhope, member for this riding, were passed amid much applause, and with cheers for the King, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Geo. W. Ross and J. B. Tudhope, M. P. P., the convention closed.

YOU MUST DIGEST AS WELL AS EA

Your Food or Weakness, Lassitude and Despondency will Result—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

To heal a house you must not only have good fuel but you must have a stove or furnace that will burn it to the best advantage. In the same way to get strength and energy you must not only have good food but a stomach that will digest it properly. Take for example the experience of Mr. H. Bailey, of 256 Patrick street, Winnipeg. He gives it himself as follows:

"Before I began using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets no matter what I ate I never seemed to gain much strength or put on any flesh, although my appetite seemed good. But since I began using the Tablets I have gained in weight eight pounds and have otherwise been greatly benefitted. I think Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digested my food properly and turned it into strength and flesh."

Lassitude is weakness, so are many of the other common ills of the public. Properly digested food means health, strength and energy, and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food properly.

New Wife Every Year.

Mexico City, Mexico, Jan. 19.—Leon Vargas Navarro, Mexican Consul at Phoenix, Ariz., is in the city, having been called to the capital to explain several complaints made against him. One of these complaints is that the society of Phoenix is scandalized because, it is alleged, the Consul presents each year at the social functions of that town a different woman as his wife.

MR. S. KIMPEL

Suffered Terrib y from Dyspepsia. Was Almost Forced to Give Up Work.

Mr. S. Kimpel, Listowel, Ont., says: "Your Paine's Celery Compound is a most wonderful medicine and I wish all dyspeptic sufferers to know the good it has done for me. I suffered so badly for one year from the worst form of dyspepsia, that I almost had to give us work. I doctored and used many kinds of medicines but I found no relief or cure until I got hold of Paine's Celery Compound. Your medicine possesses such curing powers that in my case two bottles set me all right so that I can work as well as ever, sleep well and enjoy my food. I deep deeply grateful for such a medicine and at every chance I recommend it to others. No doctor can cure as quick as your Pain's Celery Compound."

PAINE'S Celery Compound Cured Him.

LIBRARY BOARD OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

An Annual Meeting of Board Held Last Night—Sale of Periodicals.

The election of officers of the Peterborough Public Library Board for the year 1904 was held last night in the rooms of the Board. The officers for last year were re-elected, as follows:—

President—Dr. Geo. Burnham.
Vice-President—Mr. W. H. Hill.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. John Corkery.

The different committees were constituted the same as those of last year, with the exception that the Class Committee was discontinued, and Mr. Knapman and Mr. Richardson, who were on that committee were transferred, the former to the Property Committee, and the latter to the Library Committee.

Subsequent to the election, the annual sale of periodicals was held, the sale being conducted by Mr. Chas. Stapleton.

The attendance, due probably to the cold night, was not large, and the prices obtained were only fair, and there was no sharp competition among the bidders.

INTERESTING LECTURE BY REV. DR. O'BRIEN.

Illustrated Lecture on Trip from London to Rome.

The regular fortnightly meeting held under the auspices of the Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. last night, was very well attended, and the programme presented was of a more than usually interesting character.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien delivered a lecture on the subject "From London to Rome," which was illustrated by lime-light views shown by Mr. R. M. Roy. The lecture was a most entertaining one, and the Rev. Dr. described most pleasingly the historic places for which the European countries are noted.

The lecturer is a gentleman of extensive travel, and has the happy faculty of interesting his audience in the subject spoken of.

Considerable time was spent describing the Colleseum at Rome, of which Mr. Roy had a large number of new coloured views.

In addition to the lecture a short musical programme was rendered, including vocal duet by Miss Lizzie Coster and Miss Nettie Lewis; vocal solo by Mr. Geo. Pope, and two flute solos by Mr. P. Broderick.

At the next meeting the speaker will be Rev. Father Fitzpatrick.

PETERBORO' NOT TO BE A CITY YET

Committee of Whole Council Vote Against City Incorporation.

EXEMPTIONS VOTED DOWN.

Dickson Company's Exemptions Passed by Ashburnham Council not Ratified—Fixed Assessment of Colonial Weaving Company Voted Against.

The members of the Town Council met in Committee of the Whole last night to consider the clauses in the application to be made by the town to the Legislature, upon which no decision was reached at the committee meeting held on Thursday night.

Clause 1, that referring to the incorporation of Peterborough into a city was first discussed, and on motion it was decided not to take any action upon the matter now, which, if the recommendation is adopted by the council, will mean that for at least one year longer Peterborough will be classed with the towns of Canada. Ald. Best was of the opinion that it was best to develop into a city naturally. In a short time, at the present rate of increase in population, Peterborough will be a city without special legislation. When the population reaches 15,000 the town will become a city automatically.

Ald. Clinkscale said that if any one could show him the benefit to be derived from being a city, he would be in favour of it. He would rather see Peterborough a good town than a poor city.

On motion of Ald. Best and Clinkscale it was decided to take no action in the matter.

THE EXEMPTIONS.

Clause 13, to ratify and confirm the bylaws passed by the Ashburnham council exempting the property of the Dickson Co. and the Ultimator Co., and Clause 5, to ratify and confirm a bylaw fixing the assessment of the Colhonial Weaving Co. at $4,000 for ten years, next came up for discussion.

The question of whether these three bylaws should be treated in a lump or each independent of the other, was then raised.

Ald. Best took strong exception to the Dickson Co's bylaw. It was, he said, contrary to public opinion in Ashburnham. The voice of a majority of the ratepayers in the village could be secured against the measure even to-day. Besides, if we exempt this company Mr. A. MacDonald would have a perfect right to demand the same treatment. His property is assessed for $10,000.

There was considerable discussion on these clauses, the aldermen expressing different views as to what the policy of the council should be.

Ald. Rush thought that the action of the Ashburnham council should be upheld. In 1902 the Dickson Co. were about to remove from Peterborough to Lakefield and only consented to locate in Ashburnham on a distinct understanding that their property should be exempted, excepting school taxes, should such a measure be ratified by the Legislature.

ALD. ADAMS MAKES VILLAGE COUNCIL'S ACTION PLAIN.

In reply to Ald. Best's statement that the bylaw exempting the Dickson Co's works was rushed through the council at the eleventh hour, Ald. Adams explained that the company had not a site upon which to build in 1902, and as he had explained at the last meeting, he did not know till October of 1903, that the Legislature had extended the authority of municipalities to grant exemption till December, 1904; this power according to the assessment act, expired in December, 1903, and the Ashburnham council could not act until certain of what action the Legislature would take in the matter. The bylaw was passed by a two thirds vote of the council.

The position taken by Ald. McWilliams was that if this exemption were granted to the Dickson Co. a precedent would be established, which would have to be continued, and a policy contrary to that agreed upon by the council, which was that new industries only were to be given exemptions, inaugurated; it was an injustice to exempt industries already located here.

MAYOR THINKS ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL'S ACTION SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED.

His Worship Mayor Roger felt that the action of the Ashburnham Council should be recognized as binding upon the new council. The union had been agreed upon to take place on January 1st, 1904, and it had been mutually understood that any measures enacted by either Council prior to the union should be binding upon the new council. For this reason he thought the town would be breaking faith with the Ashburnham Council if this clause was not adopted.

Ald. McWilliams contended that by carrying out the terms of Ashburnham's Ultimator bylaw and the Town's agreement with the Weaving Company it cannot be said that the council had broken faith with Ashburnham in rejecting the Dickson Company's bylaw.

Ald. Adams said that if they turned down the Ashburnham bylaws and not the other, the council would be breaking faith with Ashburnham in a manner never contemplated.

At this juncture, Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Rush, that all three bylaws be moved on together.—Carried.

Ald. Adams then moved that legislation be applied for on all three bylaws.

This motion was voted down, the effect of which will be that the action taken by the Ashburnham council is not ratified, and that should the recommendation of the Committee to the Council be accepted, the bylaw fixing the assessment of the Colonial Weaving Company by the unanimous vote of the 1903 Council, and upon the strength of the promise of which, the Company went ahead with their works, will be repealed. One of the Aldermen characterized the action of the Committee as a throw down to the Colonial Weaving Company.

TOWN TRUST'S POWERS.

It was decided to ask for legislation curtailing somewhat the powers of the Town Trust, so that they cannot lease for over five years or sell any of the Town property without the consent of the Council. That portion of the clause providing for alterations in the number, term of office and manner of appointment, is left in the hands of the Legal Committee.

Ald. McWilliams' idea is to reduce the number of the Commissioners to three, one retiring each year, and the appointments to be made by the Council.

The present Town Trust Commission consists of five members, who hold their office until death necessitates new appointments, by the Council. The first Board of Town Trust was appointed under a special act of legislation in 1861, of which Mr. Jas. Stevenson is the only surviving member.

The Committee will recommend the Council to accept the decisions arrived at.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

LAST NIGHT WAS BITTERLY COLD.

Thirty Degrees Below Zero—The Lowest for Some Years.

A few weeks ago the thermometer went down to 26 degrees below zero one night, and it was thought that no colder weather would be experienced in this, an especially hard winter, but that statement will have to be revised, as last night the official figures were 30 degrees below. This is the lowest figure since 1896. What little wind there was last night apparently came straight from the grazing grounds of the musk ox in the "barren lands" of Northern Canada. The local weather observer says that with two exceptions, last night was the coldest night for about 35 years. As all watches and clocks do not keep correct time, neither do all thermometers agree as to their readings, but as there is a standard for timepieces, so there is a standard measurer for heat and cold, and with this standard all instruments used in the Meteorological Service are compared and verified. The local instrument has a certificate certifying to the fact that at no place, from 90 degrees above zero down to 90 degrees below zero does it vary more than 2-5 of a degree from the standard at Greenwich, England.

A Benefit to the Public.

The stock taking of furs, which Clarke, the Furrier, started last week, was very successful. The reduction in prices which he had put on furs brought lots of buyers, and as a result he had a busy week. This sale will continue for a couple of weeks, and as his stock of furs is very large, the public are assured of some great bargains. He told our reporter he was determined not to carry over any furs this season and for that reason is offering these bargains. There is a beautiful No. 1 Persian Lamb Jacket, mink collar and facings, bust 34, was $165.00, now offered for $137.50.

THE LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY COMPANY

Held Their Annual Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

A List of the Shareholders Present—Directors Re-elected—The Business.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held yesterday afternoon in the Town Council Chamber when there were present Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, B. Shortly, Chas. Stapleton, W. H. Moore, Dr. Burnham, T. A. S. Hay, F. Brownscombe, Jas. English, E. H. D. Hall and E. A. Peck, Secretary-Treasurer.

The President, Mr. W. H. Moore occupied the chair.

After the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting. The President read the Directors' report, which on motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Stapleton, was adopted.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. E. A. Peck, read his report which on motion of Mr. Shortly, seconded by Dr. Burnham was adopted.

Mr. Frank Wise, the Superintendent read his report, which on motion of Mr. Hay, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, was received.

Regarding the large expenditure, recorded on the financial statement, laid out for the building of the caretaker's house and office combined, the President stated that the directors on resolving to build such a house, constructed one which would last well. It was made of the best building material obtainable and constructed in a very satisfactory, if expensive, manner. His private opinion was that the directors had done well in the way in which they laid out the money. Continuing Mr. Moore suggested that pictures of deceased Presidents of the Company be framed and hung in the Company's office and went on to say that with this view in mind, he had obtained an enlarged portrait of the late Mr. Conger, which he had much pleasure in presenting to the company for that purpose.

Mr. Stevenson thought the plan a good one, and personally thanked Mr. Moore for the donation. Speaking of the caretaker's house he said that the old residence was uninhabitable, and that the new one was all that was required in this direction. He was perfectly satisfied that the building was a good one, materially, and felt that the move on the part of the directors in building the house was one in the right direction.

Mr. Hay deemed the suggestion regarding the portraits of deceased presidents being hung in the company's office a good one, and moved a recommendation to the new Board of Directors that the portraits of all past presidents be procured and placed in the company's office. Mr. Shortley seconded the motion, which was carried.

Mr. Shortly moved, and Dr. Burnham seconded that, "That a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Moore for donating the picture of the late ex-President Conger to the Company." —Carried.

In reply, Mr. Moore remarked that he always took a deep interest in the cemetery, which he hoped to see in time, the most beautiful in Ontario. He thanked those present for their kind expression of thanks for what, he termed, a trifling matter.

On motion of Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Hay, Messrs. E. H. D. Hall and T. Q. Quartermaine were re-elected auditors.

On motion of Mr. English, seconded by Mr. Brownscombe, the old Board of Directors were elected en bloc.

The following officers were elected by the re-elected directors:—
President — W. H. Moore, (re-elected.)
Sec.-Treasurer — Mr. E. A. Peck.
Advisory Committee — Messrs. Stevenson, Stapleton, Hay and the president.
Superintendent.—Mr. F. Wise.

The meeting then adjourned.

"CONSUMER" ON THE WATER WORKS SYSTEM.

Thinks the Burden of Taxation is Unequally Divided.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I desire to bring to the attention of the ratepayers what seems to be an unequal distribution of the burden of taxation.

The town purchased the waterworks system, issued debentures for the purchase money and appointed a commission to administer the affairs of the waterworks system. The revenue is applied to the maintenance, the interest on the purchase price, provides a sinking fund to retire the bonds on their maturity, in the last two years part of the surplus revenue has been handed over to the civic council. As the water consumers are the only contributors to the revenue of the system, it is apparent that they, the water consumers, in addition to paying for the waterworks system, and maintaining the same, are unjustly taxed by reason of the surplus revenue being turned into the civic chest, which helps to keep down the rate of taxation of all property holders, a considerable portion of whom do not contribute to the waterworks revenue.

When the town places new sidewalks, roads, sewers or any public improvement on any street each piece of property abutting such improvement, is taxed for its share of the cost and maintenance, and I can see no reason why every piece of property abutting a water main should not contribute to the waterworks system the minimum charge for one tap, as charged by the commissioners in their tariff of rates. Every lot is enhanced in value by reason of water mains being laid, and every building is more or less valuable for the same reason, and is certainly more secure, and less liable to destruction by fire, by reason of the water mains abutting the property. If all properties contributed, the present rates could be very materially reduced and public health improved This is a matter that our civic council should take up with the water commissioners, and have the necessary legislation enacted to the end that each property will bear equally with each other the burden of the waterworks system. I desire to join in the general public opinion that the waterworks system has been very ably and economically managed and the citizens should see to it that the present board of commissioners are retained in their present position indefinitely.

Yours very truly,
CONSUMER.

MERITED TRIBUTE TO MR. HALL'S ABILITY.

Lindsay Post Speaks of His Early Life in that Town.

Was a Devoted Student and Hard Worker—His Achievement Merits the Admiration of All Who Knew Him.

The Lindsay Post in its issue of Monday refers to Mr. R. R. Hall, the Liberal Candidate for West Peterborough in the following terms:—

As mentioned briefly in our Saturday issue, Mr. R. R. Hall, a leading barrister, of Peterborough, is the unanimous choice of the Liberals of West Peterborough to contest the riding at the coming general elections. The convention was held Wednesday of last week, and was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings ever held in support of Reform principles in that County.

The selection of Mr. Hall as the choice of the convention possesses more than a passing interest for the people of this town and county, because he is an ex-citizen of Lindsay and because his boyhood days were spent in Fenelon township. Mr. Hall is a son of Mr. Wm. Hall, one of the most respected farmers of that township, and Reeve of the municipality for several years. In 1883 his son, Robert R., came to Lindsay and entered the law office of Mr. John A. Barron, Q.C., (now Judge of Perth County,) where he remained till 1888. As a student Mr. Hall was noted for his untiring energy and unwavering attention to the interests of his employer. Feeling an irresistible desire for knowledge—one of the promptings of an ambitious spirit—he studied hard both late and early, and in other ways manifested in a marked degree that he possessed the ability, the unconquerable spirit and the unflinching devotion to duty which command and merits the respect and admiration of all who appreciate application and self-denial in the young man who has his way to make in the world by his own unaided efforts. At the same time Mr. Hall found time to take an active part in the sports and beneficial amusements then popular, and his many good qualities won him a number of devoted friends.

Soon after passing a brilliant examination in 1888, and being admitted to the bar, Mr. Hall removed to Peterborough, where he quickly attained prominence both in his profession and in public affairs. His influence was manifested in everything that tended to the good of the community and the upbuilding of the town. Taking an active interest in politics, he threw himself into the various contests with an energy that proved infectious, and in his well-stored mind, and effective delivery, fitted him to render most effective service on the platform, while a spirit of broad toleration for the views of his opponents earned for him the respect of those whose arguments he tore to tatters.

In wishing Mr. Hall success The Post feels confident that it speaks for many citizens of Lindsay and the County outside the Liberal ranks.

PULLING UP STAKES IN PETERBOROUGH

No Matter When or Where You see a Bargain, There's a Better One for You at

GOUGH BROS' Good-Bye Sale

The second week adds to the intense interest of this sale. Its an occasion that warrants unbridled enthusiasm. Nothing can stop its progress.

Do you know how we're fixed? $68,000 worth of Suits, Overcoats, Furs, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishings, must be slashed to pieces to bring down the stock. Are you thinking? Can't you see what this means? Can't you see that we must sell at a heavy loss in order to pull up stakes in time to let in the new firm.

WILL ANYBODY KINDLY RISE IN THE MEETING and say that Gough Bros. ever was or ever will be undersold. The fears of competitors and the frantic efforts of their bosses, cut no figure with us. No cast-iron "transformation" sale bulletin of reduced prices can side-track GOUGH'S GOOD-BYE SALE. We stand by the town and will issue new lists of cut prices every week that must beat the best markings by fully 25 per cent. of any dealer in town.

If anybody offers to sell Men's Overcoats and Suits worth $10 for $6.98, down goes Gough's Prices to $5.98.
If anybody offers to sell Boys' Suits and Overcoats worth $6.00 for $4.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $3.48.
If anybody offers to sell $3.00 Trousers for $2.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $1.98. And so on all through the gamut.

Don't you see the logic in our slashing — were pulling up stakes in Peterborough—necessity knows no law—the stock can't be moved or kept for another season.

TRUE GHOST STORY.

Remarkable Experience of Bishop Wilberforce—Singular and Important Disclosure at an English Country House.

The following remarkable incident in the life of the late Samuel Wilberforce, Bishop of Oxford and afterward of Winchester, is related as absolutely authentic, and the good bishop himself is said to have many times rehearsed the story to his friends:

On a certain occasion the worthy bishop had accepted an invitation to stay at a country house not far from London. Entering the drawing-room previous to dinner on the evening of his arrival, he noticed a priest, evidently of the Roman communion, sitting by the open fire and taking no part in the general conversation. The bishop was somewaht surprised at not being presented to the priest, and his astonishment was great when a few moments later dinner being announced the guests retired, leaving the priest at his place by the fire. The hostess having assigned Bishop Wilberforce the seat of honor at her right hand, as soon as an opportunity offered he remarked:

"I beg your pardon, madam, but may I inquire who was the priest we left sitting apart in the drawing-room?"

"Ah, you have seen him then?" replied the lady. "It is not every one who has that privilege. I cannot tell you who he is or whence he comes. For many years this spectre has haunted the house and grounds. It has, in fact, been a tradition in the family. He seems to do no harm, and, although he appears only occasionally, we have become quite accustomed to our friendly ghost."

"How very singular!" remarked his lordship. "But have you never addressed your priestly spectre?"

"Indeed, I have had no opportunity, nor the desire, for that matter," responded the hostess, growing pale.

"May I take the liberty now?" inquired the dignitary.

"With all my heart, your lordship," replied the lady. The bishop arose and, returning to the drawing-room, found the priest where he had left him a few minutes before. Having no fear, the bishop said kindly:

"Who are you, my friend, and why are you here?"

The spectre seemed to sigh deeply and say as though to itself, "At last!"

Then in a hollow voice, addressing the bishop, it continued: "I am the spirit of a priest who left this world some eighty years ago, and I am here to impart to any one who will receive it a secret which died with me. I could not rest in my grave while a great wrong was being done which it was in my power to right. I have been returning all these years in the hope some one would address me, for it was not given to me to be the first to speak. All men have shunned me until now, and it is your mission to do my bidding. I was a priest of the church of Rome and was called to this house eighty years ago to receive the confession of a dying man. He was the sole possessor of a secret the knowledge of which would alter materially the entail of this vast estate, and in his death he wished to repair the terrible wrong he had brought upon his kin.

"At his request I wrote down the confession word for word as he gave it to me and when he finished had barely time to administer the final sacrament of the church before he expired in my arms. It was very important that I should return to London that night, and in passing through the library to leave the house I concluded it would be safer not to carry the paper on which was written the confession away with me, but to place it in some secure, unseen spot, where I could obtain it the following day and deliver the document to the person for whom it was intended. Mounting the steps to the bookshelves, I took out a copy of Young's 'Night Thoughts,' which was the first book upon the uppermost shelf nearest the last window, and inserting the paper carefully between its leaves, I replaced the book and departed. A horse was awaiting me at the door, but ere we reached the entrance of the grounds he took fright. I was thrown and instantly killed. Thus died the secret of my confessor with me. No one has disturbed that book in all these years, and no one has had the courage to address this messenger from the unknown. The paper will be found as I have stated, and it remains for you to correct the injustice which has so long been upon this noble family. My mission is over, and I can rest in peace."

At the close of this remarkable speech the spectre faded gradually from sight, and the bishop was left gazing into space. Recovering from his astonishment, Bishop Wilberforce went at once to the library and found the book exactly as indicated by the spectre. In its secluded corner upon the top shelf, thick with the dust of ages, evidently the book had remained unmolested many years There was the document just as described, but now faded and yellow. The secret of the confession never became known to the world. The good bishop regarded it as a confidence from the spiritual world and always ended the story with the assurance that the priestly spectre was never again seen. It is a fact, however, that about the time of this extraordinary occurrence the magnificent estate in question passed into possession of a remote member of the family who until then had lived in obscurity.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Cured Mr. George Graves, Pitts Ferry, Ont., of a very bad case of kidney trouble.

He tells about the cure in the following words: "I cannot recommend Doan's Kidney Pills too highly. I never took anything that did me so much good. I had a severe pain in the small of my back and could scarcely get up or down without help. I could hardly urinate, but when I did the pain was terrible. I was in the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, last winter and when I came out I was some better but not cured. It was then I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. Shipping Furs to Canada.

At first glance the idea of Russia exporting a large quantity of furs into Canada each year would appear almost incredible, in view of the fact that the Dominion is to-day, and has been ever since the days of La Salle, one of the world's chief sources of supply.

At the present time there is in Montreal a tall, distinguished looking Russian, a member of one of the big Moscow fur trading firms. When seen at the office of the Imperial Consul for Russia, M. Peter A. Swaeschnikoff, for such is the Moscow gentleman's name, stated that the trade with Canada was a very valuable one in such furs as Persian lamb, grey lamb, astrachan and taluppen, which is the Russian name for a cheaper lamb skin which goes into the making of moderate-priced overcoats.

First in importance in the importation of Persian lamb skins which amounts to some five hundred bales per year. As each bale contains two hundred skins, the sum total comes to no small figure. The importation is worth between three and four hundred thousand dollars per year. The astrachans which come out of Russia each year to Canada have a value ranging between $150,000 and $200,000. Taluppen is imported into the country to the extent of $50,000, and another fur called Crimea will amount to another $50,000.

Mr. Swaeschnikoff stated that the Persian lambs skins imported into Canada came from the Bokara district of Central Asia, which was a Russian possession. The astrachans come from Russia's northern territories. A sum total of the value of furs sent from Russia to Canada each twelve months will run in the neighborhood of three-quarters of a million dollars, and this does not take into consideration that most costly of all furs, the Russian sable. Of these, however, there are no great quantity imported.

M. de Struve, Russian Consul, who was present, gave some figures relative to the large business which his country is doing in the raw sugar trade. Of beet sugars the Russian Empire ranks third in the world's production, the figures for 1902-03 being 1,183,000 tons.

Valuable Shares.

The shares of the New River corporation are the most valuable in the world, and only fractions of them usually come upon the market. For many years the shares were sold at £5 apiece, and indeed Charles I. reassigned his king's shares to the company in return for a perpetual annual payment of £500, which sum, under the style of the "king's clog," is still paid. How bad a bargain that was is shown by the dividend for years past having averaged over £2,000 per share, while a few years ago one of the shares was sold for £122,000 by public auction. The actual face value of the shares is £100.—London Standard.

Webster Was Willing.

When Daniel Webster's market man had sued him for a long unpaid bill and got his money he was so scared at his temerity that he stopped calling at the door for orders. The godlike Daniel asked him why one day, and the man confessed that he supposed Mr. Webster would never trade with him again. "Oh," said Webster, "use me as often as you like, but for heaven's sake don't starve me." There was never a time when the great man was not willing to owe as much as anybody was willing to let him owe.

THIBET AND PEOPLE

LITTLE KNOWN LAND THAT GREAT BRITAIN IS NOW AFTER.

People Are a Strong, Well-Developed Race Physically—Habits Not Dictated by a High Moral Ideal—Polyandry and Polygamy Are Both Practiced—The Trade of the Country—Not Independent.

The Thibetan people by outward signs appear to be an intensely religious nation. Their practical professions as evidenced by their monasteries are convincing. Their worship is a form of Buddhism. The Lama, a name which is so often heard, is the title adopted by their priests. It is a religion more of the intellect than the heart—a religion of formality more than a religion of service. Buddha is the centre of it. Others saints recognized in Buddhism are also worshipped. There is distinct connection between the Government in sacred and secular things. At the head of all is the Dalai Lama. The ritual of the Thibetan religion is said to be akin to that of the Roman Catholic Church.

Habits of the Thibetans.

The rigid exclusion of the foreigner is more probably due to the animosity of the lamas than the hostility of the common people. Free access and intercommunication would necessarily result in a limitation of the influence exerted over the people by the priests. The formality of the religion is best exemplified in the habits of the people. The moral standard is not ideal. Polyandry and polygamy are practised, the former more so than the latter. Among the wealthier sections of the population, however, the custom of having more than one wife finds favor. There is no definite estimation as to what the population really numbers. Some calculations put it at six millions, another at a little over a half of that number. The uncertainty serves to emphasize the haze that surrounds this little known land. If the people have ever heard of the eighth commandment, or if any similar moral teaching is expressed in their creed, all of them are not particularly anxious to obey it. In short, their moral principles are not very strict. There is an Old World flavor about these Thibetans. Their language is the language of the ancient literature. It bears relationship to that of the Chinese. As a race they are physically strong and well-developed. For the craft that has long kept the outside world from satisfying its curiosity you must thank the holders of the reins of Government and not the common people.

The Trade of the Country.

As the slight indications given above will serve to show. Thibet has not a climate specially suited to agriculture. Nothing in the shape of produce is grown for export. Where crops are grown, they are meagre. Of animals there is an abundance of a kind. The yak, the musk deer, sheep and horses roam wild over the plains to the north. The yak is the most useful animal the Thibetans produce. It serves as a beast of burden, and its flesh is used as an article of consumption. It is a species of ox, and is much used in the trading caravans, for the Thibetans do a good deal of internal trade. Gold, copper and other minerals are to be found in small quantities. Woollen cloth is manufactured, and cottons are imported from India. There is not now, however, since the frontiers were closed, the trade there was with our Indian empire. With China, however, the Thibetans still exchange much of their produce. The warning to the European does not apply to China, and for special reasons.

Thibet Not Independent

The open hostility and spirit of independence that characterize the Thibetan nation do not lead one to suppose that such a people are themselves subservient to another power. Such, however, is the case. Thibet is not independent. It may be practically so indeed; it is not so in name. Before 1720 the country was governed by its own princes. Since then China has held sway. China maintains an army in Thibet. If reports be correct, it is an army scarcely worthy of the name. If it is anything like that which China possesses in her own land at the present time, then indeed it hardly deserves the compliment bestowed upon it by the name. It is questionable whether China has any real significance in Thibetan affairs whatever. She maintains a representative at Lhassa, and others in the principal towns, each with their own body of troops. But it is to be feared she is a suzerain power in name only. The Dalai Lama is invested with all civil and spiritual authority. Rumor has it also that the Thibetans resent what show of authority the Chinese Emperor already possesses, and are inclined to kick the traces.—B. W. T., in Toronto Sunday World.

System Poisoned by Defective Kidneys.

Results of the Most Dreadfully Painful and Fatal Ailments Known to Man.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Of the food which is taken into the body, part is digested and assimilated and goes to form new blood and tissue, and a certain portion becomes waste matter which is poisonous to the system. Much of such matter is cast out or excreted by the kidneys in liquid form and passes from these organs through the ureters to the bladder.

When the kidneys become deranged this liquid poison forms into solid material, sometimes collecting in the joints and causing rheumatism, at other times in the kidneys, ureters or bladder, and becoming what is known as gravel or stone in the bladder, probably the most torturing and fatal ailments known to mankind.

Don't wait for symptoms of these horrible diseases, don't wait for Bright's Disease, diabetes, dropsy or apoplexy before beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but prevent these results by taking warning from the first symptoms, such as headache, deposits in urine, loss of flesh, and any irregularities of the urinary organs.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

Hard Winter in London.

A reporter of the Salvation Army's Social Gazette, London, predicts an extremely hard winter for the unemployed in that city. The reporter appeared in reply to a number of "help wanted" advertisements and found crowds of applicants. For two places as carpenters at $8.87 a week 110 men applied; for a clerk's situation at $6.25 appeared eighty-seven men. Fifty-one waited in the rain for a liftman's berth and sixty for a stoker's at a salary of $6.25, with long hours, while 150 men of all ages between twenty and fifty, some dressed in frock coats and silk hats, applied for a post as a warehouse porter at $5.10 a week.

Took All He Could Get.

An old tenant once took tea with a former Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch at Drumlanrig Castle, his grace's Dumfriesshire estate.

His first cup of tea was gone almost before the Duchess had poured it out. Again and again his cup was passed along to the head of the table. At the sixteenth cup the Duchess became uneasy about the supper on hand.

"How many cups do you take, John?" she asked.

"How many do ye gie?" John asked, cannily.

An Effective Shot.

A clergyman once preached a long sermon from the text "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." After the congregation had listened about an hour, some began to get weary and went out; others soon followed, greatly to the annoyance of the minister. Another person started, whereupon the parson stopped his sermon and said: "That is right, gentleman; as fast as you are weighed, pass out." He continued his sermon at some length after that but no one disturbed him by leaving.

POWER OF THE PRESS.

Hon. Clifford Sifton Tells the Story of the Rising Success of the Government's Immigration Policy.

The Canadian Club in Toronto had an address from Hon. Clifford Sifton on the work of the Immigration Bureau the other day. Mr. Sifton admitted every department of Government was subject to criticism and an address on immigration might touch controversial points, but he would endeavor to speak of facts only. The question before them was that of procuring a population for Canada and placing it on their vacant lands.

Mr. Sifton then described the methods of the Immigration Bureau and its officers in lively, conversational style. The western States were selected in 1897 as the most profitable place to organize a propaganda. The difficulties of an agent who located in a western city and tried to get people to come to Canada caused much amusement. One went away full of hope, and expected to move the whole States over in a short time. In three months he telegraphed his resignation. When Mr. Sifton wanted him to go back he said there was not the slightest use. Nobody ever there knew where Canada was. The newspapers would not print an item about it. After two weeks' holiday he was persuaded to go back. After another trial he again resigned, and was again sent back with instructions not to write or telegraph until he was asked. After six months he telegraphed that he had secured one family. This agent has sent 5,000 people since then. The first year only 712 came from the whole States. With eight or nine agents and 200 or more sub-agents it was seen that a new course must be adopted, and a special study of the problem was made at Chicago.

Power of the Press.

Advertisements offering our free farm lands were placed in papers with a circulation of 5,500,000, reaching one-third of the United States people. The Editorial Association was invited over and escorted from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The editors went back and wrote appreciative accounts in their papers, which the department promptly collected in the form of a book, and then circulated 500,000 copies of this testimony among the farmers.

"Agents are now on pretty good terms with the press there, and they refuse to insert matter derogatory to our work," said Mr. Sifton. In 1897 it was impossible to convince farmers in Southern Minnesota that wheat fit for the mills could be grown in Canada. Last year 40,000 came from the Western States into the Northwest.

In Great Britain the work had been organized on business principles, the semi-diplomatic methods of the High Commissioner's office not being adapted to the conditions. A newspaper devoted to the resources of Canada had been prepared and mailed to 1,500,000 names of practically all the farmers and farm laborers in the United Kingdom. Forty to fifty thousand dollars a year was spent on advertisements in papers reaching ten millions of readers. Half a million books on Canada had been put in the schools, and 25,000 wall maps. To prove their loyalty at the coronation, and incidentally do a little advertising, they built the arch, of which it was said the two figures of the coronation were the King and the Canadian arch. They had a business office in the heart of London city, open from 9 till 6, fitted up with Canadian wood, set up by Canadian workmen, heated by a Canadian furnace. Business was done sharply and promptly. Last year 50,000 immigrants came from England. Four years ago the total from all countries was 42,000.

On the European continent arrangements were made with the North Atlantic Trading Co. to obtain suitable immigrants, and £1 per head was paid for every acceptable person landed in Canada, 98 per cent. of these having been farmers in a small way at home and going directly to the land.

Counting the Cost.

A good deal of money was spent, but while in 1898 the expense was $7.77 a head, in 1903 the cost was only $3.25. In five and a half years up to June, 1903, 128,000 immigrants had cost to procure, $5.67 per head, and in return they brought into Canada, in settlers' effects, $18,000,000 worth, and at the lowest calculation $25,000,000 in cash. The farmers as a rule take up half or complete sections, and in six years are producing $2,000 per year, averaging fifty millions a year added to the wealth of Canada.

These settlements made openings for young men. A place where a few years ago there were not a hundred people now had a large and thriving town, with a Board of Trade and all the concomitants of civilization, and no doubt a Canadian club to follow. One man there cleared last year $50,000. "And he made it all out of the farmers around," said Mr. Sifton.

Immigrants were carefully looked after from the time of landing till they were settled. Everything depends on taking hold of them when they arrive. It was said that last year 650,000 went to the United States, while we only got 135,000. But only 13 per cent. of the United States immigrants were agricultural, the remainder being of a class of which we could make no present use. It was not true that the public lands in the States were exhausted. More had been taken up there last year than in Canada, and violent opposition was met with from railway companies and others.

The bureau never assisted any one to come over. "A man who cannot scrape up money enough to come, is not worth having when he gets here."

It was said that farmers with money only were wanted, but it would be just as well to try to run a factory with foremen. Laborers were needed to assist the farmers or the crops would rot on the ground.

"I have no more nervous headaches and rest very well at night."

When a woman suffers from female weakness and irregularity or other forms of womanly disease, the effect is certain to be marked in her nervous system, the general effect being, as in Mrs. Woodin's case, "nervous headaches, restlessness at night" and a run-down condition. It is simply common sense then which says if you cure the female weakness, irregularity, etc., you will cure the nervousness, sleeplessness and other consequences of womanly disease.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, etc., by curing the womanly diseases which cause these ailments.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I feel more than grateful to you for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' writes Mrs. Ervie H. Woodin, of Millerton, Dutchess Co., N. Y., care of Box No. 1. "For a number of years I had been troubled with female weakness, nervous headache, irregularity, restlessness at night, and, in fact was all run-down, but after taking three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' feel that I am entirely cured. I have no more nervous headaches, and rest very well at night; in fact, feel like a different person. Thanks to your kind advice and wonderful medicine. I earnestly advise all who suffer from any similar troubles to write to Dr. Pierce at once. They will not regret it."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

BIBLE IN BIGAMY CASE.

May Not Prove a Guide in Marriage—Criminal Code May Differ.

Precedents are familiar in courts, but there was one introduced in the Toronto Police Court at a recent session which was quite novel.

Reference to chap. so and so, section this or that, sub section blank of the R.S.O. are familiar, but this morning the court was startled by citations from Holy Writ.

John Prentiss and Mary E. Worsley were charged with bigamy, because they were wedded on Sept. 5th, 1903, while the latter had a husband living. Both are far beyond the giddy age of youth, being about fifty years of age.

"I don't think I did anything wrong," said John, and the woman looked in a manner which seemed to say "me too."

Forthwith the lady produced a formidable looking paper which she handed to the Crown Attorney. He smiled.

"This is an order of separation," he said, "but that doesn't give the right to marry again."

"According to Deuteronomy it does," replied the man, producing his little Bible.

"I am afraid that is not in the criminal code," ventured the Magistrate, "and you know it is the criminal code we go by here."

It was agreed the case should stand to a later date, but before leaving court the alleged bigamists submitted their defence as contained in a Bible marked at Deut. 24, verses 1 and 2.

For the benefit of those who have not their Bibles handy, they are reproduced:

"When a man hath taken a wife and married her and it come to pass that she find no favor in his eyes because he has found some uncleanness in her, then let him write her a bill of divorcement and give it in her hand and send her out of his house.

"And when she is departed out of his house she may go and be another man's wife."

The complainant in the case is Thos. Worsley, of Fenelon Falls, and it comes to a Toronto court by a circuitous course. Three years ago Worsley found his wife with one McFadden, and gave his wife an order of separation, as well as her legal third of the property and family. A third of the family represented two. Shortly after she married the said John McFadden, but he died. On September 5, 1903, she again married John Prentiss of Toronto. He comes under the statute, because he is alleged to have known that the woman he married had another husband at the time. It is alleged the children have not been properly cared for in the city, and in this way the case came to the notice of the authorities.—Telegram.

Heist With His Own Petard.

In England public conveyances are licensed to carry a specified number of passengers, and the law is strictly enforced. The Birmingham Post tells the following story hinging upon that law:

It was a raw, cold night and the rain fell pitilessly as an omnibus drew up at the corner of Oxford street. A thinly-clad young woman stood on the curb and looked imploringly at the conductor. The latter, an Irishman, speaking in reply to the mute inquiry, said: "Shure, it's full I am; but"—glancing again at the little one—"come on, me honey, in wid ye; Oi'll chance it." The little woman was squeezed into a seat; but the 'bus had not proceeded very far when the following incident occurred: In the corner seat was a fop, who, with eyeglasses firmly fixed, had been watching the proceedings, and as the vehicle eased up he called out'

"Conductah!"

"Sor!"

"Are you aware that you have one over your number?"

"'Ave I, sor? Oi'll see." Pat counts, beginning at the opposite corner, leaving the "Johnny" until the last—"Wan, two, three, four, foive, six, sivin, eight, noine, tin 'leven, twelve, thir—so I have, and be jove! ye're the very wan. Out ye come!" And he went.

A PLEASANT REVELATION.

Gladstone's Father and Mother, as Told About in Morley's "Gladstone."

One of the most striking and pleasant revelations of this book is the greatness of the debt that he owed to his father, whose striking portrait Mr. Morley very appropriately places at the opening of the first volume. It was his father who gave him his start; his father who sent him to Eton and Christ Church, advantages which Disraeli, as appears again and again in his novels, always coveted; his father who made him work at Oxford and encouraged him at the Union, and who when he wrote, just before his degree, the wonderful and deeply characteristic letter proposing to give up a worldly career and take holy orders, tendered what was probably the best, and certainly the kindest, advice that could be given. Their relations indeed were ideal; nor is it to be wondered at, when we read what they were to each other, that the son should have called the father "the most interesting old man I have ever known," or that his eyes should have filled with tears as he spoke of him in his family and exclaimed: "None but his children can know what torrents of tenderness flowed from his heart."

But his devotion to his mother was no less active. When the family were in London, and he, a young man, was in the first intoxicating flush of his wonderful career, he never, we read, "allowed any other engagement to interrupt his sedulous attendance on her every day, reading the Bible to her and telling the news about levees and drawing-rooms, a great dinner at Sir Robert Peel's, and all the rest of his business and recreation."—Spectator's Review of Morley's "Gladstone."

Anecdote of Duke of York.

The following anecdote of the Duke of York is related in The Naval and Military Sketch Book (1842): About the year 1810, while His Royal Highness, in company with His Late Majesty King George IV., was reviewing the troops of the eastern district on Lexden Heath, near Colchester, then commanded by the Earl of Chatham, an old soldier was observed by His Majesty mounted on an infirm hack, and struck by the veteran's appearance, requested to be informed who he was. The Commander-in-Chief replied that it was Old Andrews, the oldest soldier in the service, having served in the respective reigns of George I., George II. and George III., and that he was then on half pay. An aide-de-camp was immediately despatched to require the attendance of the veteran soldier, and on his obeying the summons, a long and interesting conversation took place. "How old are you?" asked the Duke. "I am now 90 years old, your Royal Highness," replied Andrews, "and have been 70 years in the service." Observing that he was dressed in an old suit of regimentals, His Royal Highness asked how long he had them. "About 40 years," he answered, at which the Duke took up the skirt to feel its texture, and remarked that such cloth was not made nowadays. "No," said Andrews, "nor such men neither." The reply so amused the Duke and Prince that the veteran was ordered to be placed for the future on full pay, thus rendering the residue of his days comfortable. Andrews died at the age of 97, and was buried in the churchyard of St. Mary's, Colchester.

How He Went.

When going about officially Lord Wolseley was very particular about appearing in uniform and expected all officers invited to meet him to come similarly attired. Some years ago he arrived at a certain town to inspect the troops, and some people in the neighborhood gave a large dinner party in his honor, to which the principal officers in the garrison were invited. One of these officers told me that when he informed his soldier servant he should dress at a certain hour, as he was going out to dinner, the man at once inquired whether he was going as "an officer or a gentleman." I may add that as he was invited to meet Lord Wolseley, he went as an officer.—London M. A. P.

Poor Man's Hotel.

The latest of the L. C. C. "poor man's hotels" was opened at Deptford, a few days ago. The house is to be known as Carrington House, and appropriately it was opened by Countess Carrington. £80,000 has been expended on the building, which will give accommodation for 802 lodgers and 12 nurses.

Six Doctors Failed to Cure Him.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM WAS THE TROUBLE.

Burdock Blood Bitters

DID MORE THAN SIX DOCTORS COULD DO.

Mrs. Theo. Newell, Argyle Sound, N.S., expresses her opinion of this wonderful blood remedy in the following letter:

"It is with the greatest gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of Burdock Blood Bitters. For years my husband suffered terribly with Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. He was so bad at times that he could no sleep on account of the itching and burning. He had been under the care of six different doctors, but they failed to do him any good. I had read different times of the wonderful cures being made by Burdock Blood Bitters, so advised him to give it a trial. He did so, and after taking five bottles was cured without a doubt. I would strongly advise any person troubled with blood disorders to give B.B.B. a fair trial for I am sure it will cure them."

A TIRED BRAIN.

There Is Only One Doctor In Existence Who Can Cure It.

Is "brain fag" to be regarded as the distinguishing feature of life in the twentieth century? Following on this alarming question comes a list of symptoms—pain round the sockets of "otherwise healthy eyes," exhaustion following upon reading, thinking or any business excitement, etc. A physician, in answer to an inquiry, said: "The brain is the most exquisitely delicate mechanism known to us, but 'mechanism' is a brutal word to apply to the thing which can evolve a fiscal policy or a battleship, yet on which a sunbeam, a shadow or a perfume produces the most profound effects. Yet some women use this delicate machinery as no carter would use a horse; many men do so. When the brain is tired, it does not say so in words, but in symptoms. Then we grumble and call these symptoms 'brain fag.' It is an excellent name. This disease is as old as the hills, and it is on the increase. There is only one doctor in existence who can cure it. A brain fagged man I know spent some months going from door to door in Harley street seeking relief and finding none. One day he fortunately fell down and broke his leg. In came Dr. Rest and cured him. Dr. Common Sense is also a specialist on this disease, but he is rarely to be found at home."—London Mail.

What Can Be Done With Salt.

Salt cleanses the palate and furred tongue, and a gargle of salt and water is often efficacious. A pinch of salt on the tongue, followed ten minutes afterward by a drink of cold water, often cures a sick headache. Salt hardens gums, makes teeth white and sweetens the breath. Cut flowers may be kept fresh by adding salt to the water. Weak ankles should be rubbed with a solution of salt water and alcohol. Hose colds, hay fever and kindred affections may be much relieved by using fine dry salt like snuff. Dyspepsia, heartburn and indigestion are relieved by a cup of hot water in which a small spoonful of salt has been melted. Salt and water will sometimes revive an unconscious person when hurt if brandy or other remedies are not at hand. Hemorrhage from tooth pulling is stopped by filling the mouth with salt and water. Weak and tired eyes are refreshed by bathing with warm water and salt. Public speakers and many noted singers use a wash of salt and water before and after using the voice, as it strengthens the organs of the throat. Salt rubbed into the scalp or occasionally added to the water in washing prevents the hair falling out. Feathers uncurled by damp weather are quickly dried by shaking over a fire in which salt has been thrown. Salt always should be eaten with nuts, and a dessert fruit salt should be specially made.—Table Talk.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

Heart Disease the Most Sudden and Dangerous of Ailments.

Dr. Agnew's Cure.

Stealthy as a thief in the night, Heart Disease heralds its coming only by the deadly grip it lays upon its victim—the distressing symptoms of Palpitation and Short Breath, Smothering Spells, Vertigo, etc. Nothing will remove their fatal grasp save Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Totally unlike all other remedies, it acts on the nerves through the heart. It has saved thousands of lives—will save yours. A. Du Berger, Waterloo, Que., writes: "Alfred Couldry, who lives at Geo. Bell's, in West Shefford, has suffered from terrible heart trouble for the last four years. He has been completely cured after using eight bottles of Dr. Agnew's marvelous remedy."

Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is universally recognized as a specific for Catarrh, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Influenza, Hay Fever, Tonsilitis and all the distressing results of a neglected "bad cold." No. 3

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Peterborough Intermediates Defeat Port Hope at Home—Great Junior Game To-night—Other News.

PETERBOROUGH WON AT PORT HOPE.

Local Team Defeated the Lake Town's Team by 10-1.

The Visiting Team Clearly Outclassed the Homsters—A Clean Game.

Last night the local Intermediate O.H.A. team went to Port Hope to play the team of that town in a scheduled game. The team went by special train and was accompanied by about one hundred supporters. The team arrived in Port Hope about 8 o'clock, and the visitors had little difficulty in obtaining room in the rink. There was a small attendance, and the game was too one-sided to be exciting. The visiting team had things all their own way and the result was never in doubt. The ice was very keen and conducive to fast combination work, which the visitors indulged in frequently. The Port Hope team was weakened by the absence of some of the senior men, their places being filled by juniors, while the visitors were never in better form, and scored at will.

The game was a clean one, only two men being ruled off, and these were for minor offences. Mr. T. J. McCabe refereed the game and gave good satisfaction to both teams, between whom there is the best of feeling existing.

The Port Hope correspondent of the Globe says of the game:—

"In the Intermediate O.H.A. game played here last evening the Peterborough seven administered a severe defeat to the Port Hope team by a score of 10 to 1. The visitors came in by a special excursion train with a good crowd, but there was a poor attendance at the rink. Owing to sickness among the seniors the local team was forced to play three juniors, who acquitted themselves well, but the result of the game was a foregone conclusion. The Port Hope forwards were unable to work effectively against the strong Peterborough combination. Whitcroft, Armstrong and Howell played a brilliant game for Peterborough. At half time the score stood 6 to 1, which was increased to 10 at full time. Referee McCabe gave good satisfaction. The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough (10) — Goal, Mercer; point, Howell; cover point, Cavanah; forwards, Whitcroft, H. Armstrong, R. Armstrong and Graham.

Port Hope (1) — Goal, J. McMillan; point, Lockington; cover point, G. Brown; forwards, Roach, McMillan, Rowden and Alcott.

Referee — T. J. McCabe.

BELLEVILLE WON FROM HOME TEAM.

Defeated Picton by 4-3 on the Latter's Ice Last Night.

Picton, Jan. 18.—In the intermediate O.H.A. game here to-night between Belleville and Picton the former won by 4 to 3. At half time the score was two all. It was the roughest game ever witnessed here, very little hockey being played by either team. Belleville scored the first goal in one minute. It was see-saw from this to the finish, Belleville scoring the winning goal two minutes before full time. For Belleville McGuire and McMillian played a fine game, while for Picton Strike and Rocque in goal put up a steady game. The teams:—

Referee, Hugh Rose.

FAST JUNIOR GAME TO-NIGHT.

Local Game will Go Against the Port Hope Team.

The game to-night between the junior team and Port Hope promises to be a good one. The visiting team will come up determined to avenge the defeat of the seniors there there last night by the Peterborough team, and will make a big attempt to win out.

The local team will be stronger than they have been in any previous game, and spectators may depend on getting the worth of their money. The youngsters have put in some good work in practice lately, and with the experience gained in the game at Belleville, will be prepared to put up a good stiff argument. The team will be:—Goal, VanEvery; point, Moore; cover point, Parker; forwards, Long, Hall, McFarlane and Kennedy.

THE GUILD TEAM DEFEATED LAKEFIELD.

St. Andrews Team Won from Village Seven by 5-2.

The intermediate Hockey Team of St. Andrew's Junior Guild, which went to Lakefield on Saturday to play the Grove school came home victorious. The score was 5 to 2. Both teams had a good combination but that of the visitors was superior to that of the students. Casey, the goalkeeper for the visitors and M. Dobbin in goal did splendid work. A. Hall worked in some fine combination with the help of P. Grange. The defence of the Guild team is very strong and L. Fitzgerald at point stopped many a rush. G. Long as rover was a great help to the team. The Guild team was considerably weakened by the absence of C. Wareham. Ricard did the scoring for the home team. The teams lined up as follows:—

Guild,—goal, M. Dobbin; Point, L. Fitzgerald; cover point, P. Grange; centre, F. Hall; R. wing, A. Hall; L. wing, R. Healip; rover, G. Long.

Grove School—goal, Casey; point, Younge; cover point, Patterson; centre, Ricard; R. Wing, Patterson; L. wing, Pearce.

MR. PERCY RUBIDGE INTO HOCKEY TOO.

Calumet Lacrosse Club Team Plays in Chicago.

Mr. Percy Rubidge, formerly of Peterborough, at present a resident of Chicago, and an enthusiastic sport, has figured in one of the first hockey games ever played in the "Windy City." The Calumet lacrosse team of which Mr. Rubidge is a member, played the Hyde Park team, defeating them by a score of 10 to 0. The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "It was mainly due to the individual work of Jackson, Johnston and Rubidge that the Calumet team succeeded in running up so many points."

The game of hockey is taking a firm hold upon the sport-loving public of the United States, and when it is once introduced it will rapidly gain in favour.

PUCKERINGS.

The Beavers beat the Northern Lights on the Trent Valley canal. The Beavers scored the first goal and the Northern Lights the second. At half time the score was 1—1. In the second half the Northern Lights scored 1 and the Beavers 2, making the final score 3 to 2 in favour of the Beavers. The following is the line-up of the two teams: Beavers, —Goal, George Butcher; point, Cecil Clitheroe; cover point, Alex. Henthorne; forwards, Gordon and Clinton Brightmeyer; rover, Norman Geale. Northern Lights, goal,—Charlie Stevens; point, Laird Monroe; forwards, John Revay; George Evans, Lewis Miller, Robert Brotherson. Referee,—Guy Quartermaine. Timekeeper,—H. Faint.

Renton is a promising man for the Trent Valley team, and if he continues to show the speed and other capabilities already evidenced in practice should make a valuable man. With a little more practice in shooting he should prove a star.

NOW FOR PETERBOROUGH'S LADIES' CLUB.

The Lindsay Post says: Last evening a well-attended and enthusiastic meeting of athletic young ladies was held at the residence of Mrs. Milne, Cambridge street which, in due time resolved itself into "The Minto" Ladies' Hockey Club with the following officers: Patrons and Patronesses, Mayor and Mrs. Scotcherman, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson, President, Mr. A. M. Paton; Vice-president, Dr. McAlpine; 2nd Vice-president, Mr. W. Dundas; Secretary-treasurer, Mr. R. J. Menzies; referee, Mr. Fred Taylor jr., manager, Miss Jack Milne; captain, Miss Muriel Koyl; members, Misses Polly Maunder, Muriel Koyl, Bert Jeffers, Lill Jeffers, May Watson, Kit Watson, Emily O'Leary, Ruby Laidlaw, Viv. Laidlaw, Ett. Ellis, Kate Milne, Jack Milne, Nora Balfour, Pearl White.

The newly organized club has challenges from Peterborough, and Orillia, and will at once begin practising so as to be in trim to meet their opponents.

"ARTIE" EDMUNDS' ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

Wrestler, who has Appeared in Peterborough, Tells Things to the Toronto Star.

Artie Edmunds, the wrestler who has appeared in Peterborough on different occasions has been giving some "news" to the Toronto Star, which says:

"Artie Edmunds, the well-known Toronto wrestler, boxer and Rugby player, has returned to the city after an absence of two months in the States, during which time he participated in two boxing contests and a wrestling match and incidentally got married, the happy bride being Miss Lillie O'Brien, an actress, who has been playing the leading female role in the comedy drama "The Irish Pawnbroker." Mrs. Edmunds has retired from the stage, and is in Toronto with her husband.

Edmunds is without question the most wonderful wrestler of his weight in America. Jenkins, McLeod, Parr and all the other experts agree upon this. The Toronto athlete can make 135 lbs., but usually wrestles at 123. No man at this weight has a chance with Edmunds, and there are few within 10 pounds of his weight who can give him any kind of an argument.

Subsequently Edmunds went to Fon du Lac, Mich., where he boxed a 10-round draw with Frank Mahoney. Edmunds is contemplating taking up his residence in either New York or Philadelphia, where there is more scope for his ability. He will probably appear in Peterborough on the 28th inst. in a handicap match. He is to throw four men, Geo. Gauthier, Hockey Jones, Nick Vaughan and "Farmer Burns" within an hour.

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO PETERBOROUGH

Is the Appointment of Correspondent to Labour Gazette.

Ald. W. J. Johnston Will Supply News of Industries and Commercial Importance—Some of the Informations Asked for.

The appointment of Ald. W. J. Johnston as correspondent for Peterborough to the Labour Gazette, has a wider significance than may at first be appreciated. The fact that Peterborough is the only town in Canada in which a correspondent has been appointed is proof of the fact that the Government recognizes Peterborough's industrial importance, and the additional advertising which the reports presented each month in the Gazette, a publication which is read not only by labour unions, but by capitalists and manufacturers throughout Canada, will give, will have a decided beneficial effect upon it. It will now be classified among the cities, industrially, and the facts as presented monthly should show conclusively that it ranks easily among the best manufacturing cities in the Dominion.

The information asked for from the correspondent are of a comprehensive nature and deal with all phases of the labour and industrial situation.

Mr. Johnston would confer it a favour if the labour organizations and employers of labour would supply items in connection with their business which might be made use of in sending in reports.

There are a great many questions dealt with on the forms on which monthly reports are sent to the Gazette. On the general condition of the labour market information is asked as to the extent to which labour generally is employed, with particular reference to employment during previous month. Supply and demand of labour, opportunities for employment; industrial activity, as evidenced by starting or cessation of work on new industries; commercial activity, as evidenced by extent of transportations, shipments and bank clearings; business activity, as evidenced by wholesale and retail trade; changes in rates of wages or hours of labour.

On the condition of local industries general information is asked with regard to agricultural, fishing, lumbering, manufacturing, mining, railway and other industries. Information referring to particular trades is asked, all classes being included. Building trades, metal, engineering and shipbuilding trades; woodworking and furnishing trades; printing and allied trades; clothing trades; food and tobacco preparation; leather trades; miscellaneous; transport; unskilled labour.

Under the head of Formation of Labour Organizations correspondents are asked to state the name and number of local organizations formed during the month, the date of formation, the names and addresses of presidents and secretaries, and any particulars as to number of members, etc. While legal decisions affecting labour are asked to be reported.

On industrial accidents correspondents are requested to give information with reference to industrial accidents occurring, which involve the loss of life or limb, or other serious impairment to industrial efficiency. Specific information is asked as to trade disputes, giving the number of employees affected, cause or object of dispute, etc.

Mr. Johnston would esteem it a favour if those interested in having the true industrial condition of Peterborough reported would give him any information available which would facilitate an intelligent report being sent in.

The Board of Trade might find in this an avenue for profitable employment of their activities.

Peterborough should consider itself fortunate in being given a correspondent to the Gazette, and every assistance should be given Mr. Johnston.

THE FISCAL FIGHT

Chamberlain's Arguments Are Same in Country and City.

COINS A NEW CATCH PHRASE

"Think Imperially" Advice Former Colonial Secretary.—Mr. Chamberlain Asks Himself Many Questions and Answers Them Himself—Unionist Free Food League Fames Against Protection.

London, Jan. 20.—The Guild Hall was packed yesterday to hear Joseph Chamberlain speak. Mr. Chamberlain received a great ovation. He declared that the provincial centres of commerce of the United Kingdom had been heard from in regard to his tariff proposals; and he believed the same arguments he used in the provinces would appeal equally to imperialistic London.

London would be no longer the world's clearing house if Great Britain's present relations with her colonies and the general neutral countries of the world were disturbed by a diminution in the multiplicity of the extent of the transactions which hitherto had been creating new wealth.

His opponents claimed, that the recent board of trade returns destroyed his contentions; but he intended to base his future arguments on these returns, as they proved that the growth of foreign exportations to the British colonies had greatly exceeded the growth of exportation from the Motherland. The position of Great Britain was deteriorating, and though he anticipated no immediate catastrophe the situation called loudly for some remedy. The framework of a new Empire must be built up under new conditions, by adopting the protective policy adopted by every other civilized nation and creating the bonds of the union with the colonies.

Mr. Chamberlain in an eloquent peroration pointed out that the struggle for life and existence in the future would not be between the cities or between kingdoms, but between mighty Empires. The minor states would come off badly.

"Profiting by the experience gained when the finest jewel the British Empire ever possessed—the United States—left us for a separate existence, a new Empire had arisen, greater than any in the world, but the great work of keeping and making permanent this heritage remains to be solved. In the great revolution which separated us from the United States the greatest man that the revolution produced, in my judgment was Alexander Hamilton. He was a soldier and a statesman. He left a precious legacy to his countrymen when he said to them: 'Learn to think continentally.'

"I venture to give you a similar message: 'Learn to think imperially,' and remember that the future of this country lies in the future of the British race in our colonies and possessions."

His speech was cheered and applauded.

Questions and Answers.

London, Jan. 20.—(C.A.P.)—Speaking at the Guild Hall yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain asked: "Was the policy of free exports adopted under circumstances absolutely different from our present position? Was this policy most conducive to the maintenance of our commercial supremacy? Above all, would this policy break through the bonds of the Empire and bring us closer to the great nations that were rising across the Seas? Would it prepare us for the struggle which must inevitably come?

"What was the answer? If they had time to read the speeches of all his opponents they would find their cases substantially rested on one proposition. That was that under the policy of free imports adopted some 50 years ago they were better off now than they were 30 or even 10 years ago, and it was said, 'Why not let well enough alone?' That argument had been triumphantly borne out by the recent board of trade returns but taken alone he could not accept them with satisfaction.

"Our exports to our own possessions had been increasing. If everything we lost from foreigners we gained from our colonies he would be satisfied, but in the colonies there was an increase of foreign goods imported greater than the increase of goods from the home country."

Almost simultaneously with Mr. Chamberlain's exposition of his policy in the Guild Hall the Duke of Devonshire and Lord George Hamilton addressed at Liverpool an equally enthusiastic, if smaller meeting, which was held under the auspices of the Unionist Free Food League. The Duke of Devonshire said he was coming more and more to believe that the Government was right in advocating a policy of retaliation against protectionist countries, but with Premier Balfour allowing himself to be dragged into the Chamberlain propaganda it would be impossible for the Unionists to maintain their alignment with the Government before the country if it was desired to differentiate between retaliation and protection. He said he feared the Chamberlain Commission, representing the highly organized industries, would be able to prepare a tariff scheme whereby they would benefit, and that they would be able to force it on the country to the detriment of the consumer and the less well-organised manufacturers.

The meeting passed a resolution declaring against a general protective system.

CANADA IN LONDON

Canadian Club Entertains Hon. Mr. Lyttleton at a Banquet.

THE DEFENCE OF THE EMPIRE

Britain Has Confidence in Aid of Colonies —Colonial Secretary Refers to the Alaska Decision—Lord Strathcona Speaks of Canada's Wonderful Prosperity—Lord Strathcona the Canadian Imperialist.

London, Jan. 20.—(C. A. P.)—The Secretary of the Colonies was entertained Monday night at the Princess restauant in Piccadilly. Lord Strathcona presided and the banquet hall was filled with persons whose names are celebrated all over the Empire.

Lord Strathcona, in proposing the toast of Canada and the Earl of Minto, spoke of the vast propsperity of the Dominion. Her trade was wonderfully increasing and immigrants were coming in thousands. At the same time that she was building up the country Canada was not unmindful of the responsibilities pertaining to the Empire. She regarded Mr. Chamberlain as developing the Empire more than any man, and on the question of a preferential tariff Canada was not slow to respond to anything proposed.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, in proposing the forces of the Empire, spoke of the fine part Canada's splendid regiments played.

Admiral Sir John Hopkins said Canada's ability to supply contingents took away the feeling of anxiety Britain had felt during the stress of war.

General Lord Seymour emphasized the same point.

Colonial Secretary Lyttleton was heartily cheered. He said his predecessor, Mr. Chamberlain, had made his first colonial speech to the Canada Club in 1896. He wished he had Gibbons' stately style to speak on so colossal a subject as Canada. The grand Canadian outburst of loyalty in 1898 had not passed away. The presence of Canadians in South Africa not only added strength to the Empire's forces, but was a warrant of the righteousness of the cause. The services rendered the Motherland by the colonies were voluntary, and no appeal could ever be made to interest, ambition or greed, that would reach the ears of those great democratic states which yet always vibrate to the trumpet call of honesty, justice and truth.

He thanked Lord Strathcona for his tact in not referring to the Alaska case. The award had removed a subject of irritating difference. The difficulty of the Tribunal was not on the question of facts, but on the construction of a loose treaty made thirty years ago. It would be presumptuous on his part to say anything in regard to the intellectual qualifications of Lord Alverstone. He had reached the head of the English bar without any adventitious aid. As his friend for twenty years he could say that he was noted for his vast unselfish industry and goodness of character. They were not able to remedy the past, but they might turn it to some future use. Such a lesson as they had already learned had resulted in placing on the great war commission Lord Strathcona a few weeks ago. Sir Frederick Borden came over at first only on a departmental matter, but Premier Balfour had summoned his counsel on the matter of Imperial defence.

Two obstacles appeared. There was the difficulty of the colonial states sparing their leading statesmen to be permanent members of such a council, and a feeling that through such absence they would lose touch with democratic ideas. He believed that whenever any question arose touching foreign affairs of colonial states, it would be well for one of the leading men of that colony to come over and give us his advice on that subject and in this way form the germ of a permanent future council for the Empire.

The Duke of Marlborough spoke of the wonderful loyalty of Canadians he had seen in South Africa.

The Bishop of Ripon said Canada produced the type of men who have ruled the world, and he referred to Lord Strathcona as the "great Canadian Imperialist."

Ruffled Feelings of Guests.

London, Jan. 20.—At the annual dinner of the Canada Club, at which Lord Strathcona presided, Colonial Secretary Lyttleton ruffled the feelings of the people present by upholding in a speech Lord Justice Alverstone's recent ruling in the Alaska boundary case.

The Duke of Marlborough, Under Secretary of State for the Colonies, spoke a little later and succeeded in smoothing matters out by a tactful speech.

AN OLD COLD.

Is Chronic Catarrh—The Worst Disease Known.

Summer and winter, spring and autumn, catarrh ceases not to afflict a large per cent. of the inhabitants of this country. But it is especially during the winter season that catarrh does its most deadly work. Every cold wave, every wintry blizzard, every storm of sleet, snow or rain adds thousands to the annual list of victims of chronic catarrh.

Peruna used promptly to protect against and cure colds is a safeguard against all catarrhal diseases of winter.

Address, the Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, for a free book on chronic catarrh in its different phases and stages.

LAMENTED DEATH OF PROMINENT CITIZEN.

Mr. Samuel Nelson. Died in Lakefield After Brief Illness.

The death took place on Friday morning of last week, of one of Lakefield's most prominent and respected business men, in the person of Mr. Samuel Nelson, at the age of 73 years. Mr. Nelson was first taken ill on Saturday evening. A short time after retiring he took a chill, but which passed away, and he appeared to be much better next morning. On Monday he prepared to go down to the village as usual but was prevailed upon to stop at home. In the afternoon he did not feel so well, and had to take to his bed, the illness developing into pleuro-pneumonia, and terminating in his death on Friday morning about five o'clock. Up to the time of his death he had been in comparatively good health, and his death occurring so suddenly and unexpectedly, occasioned great surprise and sincere regret. The late Mr. Nelson was born in the township of Smith in the year 1830, on the farm on which he resided at the time of his death. Part of the farm was purchased by Mr. W. A. Hunter and about twenty-five years ago deceased moved into this late residence. For over a quarter of a century he very successfully conducted a grain and coal business, and was well and favourably known all over this part of the country. He always took a deep interest in public affairs, and for a number of years was a member of the Smith School Board. In municipal matters he took a very great interest and was a member of the village council for several years. In politics he was a Liberal, and the party loses one of its most active members. By his death Lakefield loses one of its most valued citizens, and one who has done much for its advancement. He leaves a widow, four married daughters and a son, as follows: Mrs. R. J. McWilliams, Peterborough; Mrs. Sacret, Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. W. F. Trude, Lakefield; Mrs. F. Pethick, Rochester, N. Y.; and William John of London, Ont. Two members of the family are dead, Mrs. Smith and Milton. Two sisters survive him, Mrs. Thos. Casement, of Inkster, North Dakota, and Mrs. Jos. Fitzgerald, of this place. The grandchildren number eighteen. Mr. W. H. Casement is a nephew. The funeral took place on Sunday, from his late residence to the Lakefield cemetery and was very largely attended. The members of Beresford, L.O.L., of which lodge deceased was a member, attended the funeral in a body. The services were conducted at the residence and at the church, by the Rev. G. Warren. The large number of citizens who followed the remains to the cemetery was testimony to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Nelson was held. A number of handsome wreaths were on the casket, including one from the Lakefield Portland Cement Co., one from the Hon. J. R. Stratton, and a floral pillow from the family, with the motto, "Husband—Father." The pall bearers were: Messrs. J. P. Strickland, J. Cooper, Hon. J. R. Stratton, F. J. Lillicrap, R. Q. Dench and J. Dinwoodie.—Lakefield News.

MOUNT IRWIN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mrs. Robert Allen, who has been very ill, is improving.

Mr. Lawrence Doherty had the misfortune of getting his hand badly bruised.

Miss Mary, and Messrs. James and Ambrose Coughlin, of Lakefield, spent Christmas with friends in this vicinity.

Miss Annie Hickey, who has been seriously ill for the past week, is improving very slowly.

It is with great regret that we record the death of Miss Mary Ann Dolan, who died on Tuesday last after a short illness. The deceased, who was 28 years of age, had been a life long resident of Mount Irwin. She was a popular young lady and her death will cause her many friends genuine sorrow.

Miss Ettie Collins left on Wednesday where she intends spending the winter.

Wm. Coffee, who spent the past year in British Columbia, has returned home. We are glad to welcome him to our midst.

Mrs. Sam Pearson, who has been ailing for the past two months, is improving.

Miller's Granules cure sallow skin. Sold by all druggists.

HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

We are glad to see Mrs. S. Cross who have been seriously ill for for ome time, out walking.

A number of people went up to Norwood to see the hockey match between the above named town and Warkworth. A number of our boys also took in the Belleville-Peterborough match.

A concert by the Bell Ringers given under the auspices of the Methodist church, in the town hall last Friday, was a complete success as an entertainment. A few of the instruments played upon were a mystery. The bell solo given was exceptionally fine. The people very much enjoyed it and thought it a treat.

The Havelock Electric Light Co. are making good progress now. They have a large staff of experienced men employed, and during the last three days about as many miles of poles have been put up. The people of this place are looking anxiously forward to the time when they will have their houses lit by electricity.

A Mrs. Deans, while travelling from Toronto to Montreal, was taken suddenly ill and had to stay off here. She is now under the doctor's care.

A very pleasant time was enjoyed by a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig, who gave a party at their residence in town on Monday evening.

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church was held in the church on Monday evening last, when all reports of the year were read. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

The hockey boys are rather glum on account of the way the rink has been left after the heavy snow-falls. It seems as if it gets a little smaller every time its snows.

Mr. Wm. Spinks had the misfortune to break his leg a few days ago.

Mr. Fred Chiles is spending his holidays at his home here.

It looks as if the band concert which is to be held in the town hall on Friday, Jan. 22, will be a great success by the ways the seats are being taen on the plan at Denike's drug store.

The reeve was authorized to tell if the trees are dead. The clerk was instructed to send for one copy of the Municipal World. Jas. Bryce and R. J. THE BEAR'S BACKDOWN.

German Newspapers Paving the Way to Explain the Situation—Opinion Now Inclines to Peaceful Issue.

London, Jan. 20.—The German newspapers this morning appear to be paving the way to explain the Russian retreat in the negotiations with Japan, and in all the capitals of Europe opinion now inclines to a peaceful issue in the Far East.

Japan Firm, Russia Conciliatory.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—The apprehension that there might be war between Japan and Russia, which prevailed at the Foreign Office here two or three days last week, has been replaced by temperate confidence that Russia will be able to satisfy Japan. The official news from St. Petersburg describes the relative attitudes of the two powers as Japan firm and positive, and Russia as conciliatory. Japan and Russia now exchange ideas, informally, by telegraph daily.

Trouble in Corea.

Seoul, Jan. 20.—Russia complains that Corean soldiers are causing trouble. Corea answers that Russia must not interfere. The tension in Seoul is increasing, and the native press, which probably is inspired, is more bitter against foreigners than formerly. The Emperor's trusted advisers are holding daily Councils. The Russian and English legations have increased their guards by 16. Japan is buying and storing much rice in North Corea. The gining trade is dead. The Corean General, Yihak Kiun, whose sympathies are pro-Russian, has made a veiled threat against foreigners.

Riots May Break Out.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The only advices received over night at the American State Department from the east, came from United States Minister Allen at Seoul. He reported that Corea is in a panicky condition, and there is apprehension of a riotous outbreak at any moment.

BREEDERS OF SHORTHORNS.

Great Annual Meeting—Will Not Exhibit at St. Louis.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—One of the largest and most representative annual meetings of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Association was held yesterday in Richmond Hall. All the Provinces were represented. The association was most liberal in its grants to the different exhibitions, as follows: $1,200 for the Dominion Exhibition at Winnipeg; Winter Fair, Guelph and Ottawa, $700; Winter Fair, Amherst, N.S., $100; Dominion Exhibition, Toronto, $1,500; Brandon, Man., $250; Calgary, Alberta, $100; New Westminster, B.C., $100; Victoria, B.C., $100; Sherbrooke, Que., $100; Fredericton, N.B., $100; Halifax, N.S., $100; Charlottetown, P.E.I., $100; London, $250; Ottawa, $100.

The meeting unanimously decided not to exhibit at the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., owing to the United States Government having decided not to allow Canadian breeders to make sales.

The annual report of the executive committee was presented and adopted. There were imported during the year 84 bulls and 428 cows. Since 1895 the association has distributed prize money amounting to a total of $17,900. The membership of the association, divided into provinces, is as follows: Ontario, 13,545; Manitoba, 323; Assiniboia, 79; Alberta, 79; Saskatchewan, 18; British Columbia, 16; New Brunswick, 5; Quebec, 26; Prince Edward Island, 9; Nova Scotia, 17; United States, 10.

The membership roll showed an increase of 174 in the last year. The assets of the Association are $15,794, after all liabilities are paid.

The officers were then elected. The chief officers are: President, William Linton, Aurora; first vice-president, W. G. Pettit, Freeman, Ont.; second vice-president, A. W. Smith, Maple Lodge, Ont.; Henry Wade, secretary.

McGILL UNIVERSITY.

Will Found School of Railroad Engineering and Transportations.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—Following the suggestion of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, McGill University is about to found a school of railroad engineering and transportation. Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson has given a general promise of support. The C.P.R. and the G.T.R. have promised an annual subsidy of $5,000 each, and Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann $2,000. It is expected that $20,000 annually will be obtained from similar sources. The preliminary task of drawing up a scheme of studies has been entrusted to a committee, which has the advantage of the services of Mr. Morse, third vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, and of Mr. McHenry, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and this committee will in course of time submit a detailed report.

SIXTY PEOPLE DROWNED.

Bloemfontein, Jan. 20.—It is now estimated that sixty persons were drowned as a result of the bursting of a reservoir here Sunday, which also destroyed 170 houses and three hotels. There was a public funeral and interment yesterday morning of 28 of the bodies already recovered.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur Sworn in.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—At 11 o'clock yesterday morning Hon. L. P. Brodeur was sworn in at Government House as Minister of Inland Revenue.

King Peter Ready to Quit.

Vienna, Jan. 20.—King Peter of Servia, according to a report from Gettinle, Montenegro, is prepared to voluntarily renounce the throne.

Czar Appears in Public.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 20.—The Czar made his first public appearance this season at yesterday's solemn ceremony of blessing the waters.

Russia's One Right Step.

Moscow, Jan. 19.—The law providing compulsory compensation for factory employes and miners in the case of all accidents, one of the most important measures of the present reign, has become effective. In the event of death an annuity is payable to equal the wages of 260 days per annum, whereas the average of working days only number 220.

UNITED STATES SENATOR THURSTON,

The Brilliant Statesman from Nebraska, Makes an Important Public Utterance.

INTERIOR OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE CHAMBER.

Ex-Senator John M. Thurston, of Omaha, Nebraska, is one of the most prominent and influential men in the country. He made the speech nominating President McKinley at the St. Louis convention, and was made permanent Chairman of this convention. He was also made Chairman of the convention that renominated the late President McKinley at Philadelphia. He was appointed by President McKinley to be Chairman of the St. Louis Exposition Commission.

This prominent gentleman recently wrote the following letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio:

Washington, D. C., April 6, 1901.

"I have used Peruna at various times during the past year or two with most satisfactory results.

"It entirely relieved me from an irritating cough—the result of excessive effort in the presidential campaign, and I am a firm believer in its efficacy for any such trouble."—Jno. M. Thurston.

Catarrh has already become a national curse. Its ravages extend from ocean to ocean.

More than one-half the people are affected by it. It has become such a serious matter that it has passed the boundaries of the medical profession and become a national question. Senators are talking about it; Congressmen are discussing it.

They are not only considering the extent and chronic nature of the disease, but the possibility of finding a national remedy to meet this national calamity.

The catarrh remedy, Peruna, seems to be the main expectation in this direction.

Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, devised the remedy, Peruna, over forty years ago, and the remedy as a catarrh cure has been growing in favor steadily all these years.

It stands to-day before the nation as a thoroughly tested, accurately scientific internal remedy for catarrh. There are practically no medicinal rivals in the field.

Peruna is not a local application or temporary relief; it is a permanent cure. Peruna is a systemic remedy. It eradicates catarrh from the system. It cures catarrh wherever located. Its cures are radical and lasting.

Fritz Vollmer, President Schwabischer Saengerbund, Chicago, in a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., says:

"My voice was so badly affected from catarrh that I was afraid I would lose it entirely. I read of some of the wonderful things your Peruna would do and thought it advisable to try some myself.

"I am pleased to state that in a very short time I was cured."—Fritz Vollmer.

AT AN EASY PACE.

Debate on the Address in Reply to the Speech From the Throne—

The Assessment Bill.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—The easy pace of debate on the address by the rank and file of the Legislature began yesterday. Mr. Foy spoke for an hour and a quarter, in the course of which he argued that the rule was to call sessions later. He closed by moving an amendment expressing disapproval of the delay in holding the North Renfrew election. Mr. MacKay followed in a brief address of great strength. He quoted a declaration to show that the delay in holding the election trials was due to jangling among the Conservatives as to who was entitled to receive back the money put up as deposits in previous cases. Dr. Pyne, M.P.P., was shown to be a claimant for the deposit in North Grey. He also scored when he pointed out that the Conservative organizer in North Oxford was Robert Birmingham, who had schooled the men who committed the Manitoba election frauds. Mr. Lucas had barely begun his speech when the House rose at 6 o'clock. The debate on the address will likely last all week, and perhaps a portion of next week, as the whips will not want a division while so many members are absent in North Oxford.

The First Petition.

Mr. Whitney presented a petition to give counties power to commit lunatics to asylums upon the certificate of two medical men at the instance of the Sheriff, and without the intervention of the County Judge or a Justice of the Peace nominated by him.

On motion of Premier Ross the following were appointed to strike standing committees for the session: Hon. J. M. Gibson, Hon. E. J. Davis, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Messrs. J. F. Gross, A. M. Bowman, H. Dickenson, J. J. Foy, A. J. Matheson, J. P. Whitney, H. Carscallen and Dr. W. A. Willoughby.

The Assessment Bill.

Colonel Gibson, before the orders of the day were reached, referred to the select committee appointed at the last session on the assessment laws of the Province. The committee, he said, had been appointed especially to sit during the recess between the sessions with a view to completing or maturing the measure before the House last session. He presumed that the effect of the meeting of the House was that the committee had lapsed technically. He would like to have an informal meeting of the committee, notwithstanding that it had lapsed, so that he might be able to lay before them the result of their deliberations as formulated since the last meeting. His object was to introduce the bill afresh, as it came from the committee, and to have it again referred to the same committee when it received its second reading, to give it whatever further consideration might be desirable after the discussion in the House. He therefore proposed to call an informal meeting for Thursday of this week.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs must have Help.

Food taken into the stomach, which from the nature of the food, or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, as far as it goes, and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach, and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plan for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing hard work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bones of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

CIVILIZED OXFORD

Joint Public Meeting Held to Discuss Political Issues.

NORTH OXFORD NOMINATIONS

Col. Munro and Mr. Butler the Only Candidates—Messrs. Graham and Rowell Speak For the Liberals, and Messrs. St. John and Hanna For the Conservatives—Candidates Make Good Speeches.

Woodstock, Jan. 20.—The interest which the electors of North Oxford are taking in the bye-election rendered necessary by the lamented death of the late Andrew Pattullo was shown by the very large attendance at the official nomination yesterday afternoon. The proceedings were held in the Court House, and the spacious room was crowded with an orderly audience. The outside speakers were Messrs. G. P. Graham, M.P.P., and N. W. Rowell, K.C., for the Liberals, and Messrs. J. W. St. John, M.P.P., and W. J. Hanna, M. P.P., for the Opposition. Mr. Robert Birmingham who is conducting the campaign for the Opposition, was also on hand, and on Mr. Butler's behalf arranged with Mr. Malcolm Douglas, who represented Colonel Munro, the method of conducting the meeting. There were not wanting indications that the campaign, though short, will be vigorous and exciting. Sheriff Brady was the returning officer, and afterwards by unanimous request of those present presided at the public meeting, and made an impartial Chairman. There were only two nominations made seriously. Lieut.-Colonel James Munro was nominated by George Smith, Woodstock, and Mr. George Law, Blenheim; Mr. R. E. Butler, the Conservative candidate, was nominated by John Young, West Zorra, seconded by Dr. A. B. Welford, Woodstock; Messrs. George Smith, Peter Macdonald, John Soper Mackay and R. S. Moffatt were also nominated, but retired.

The Arguments.

The Conservative speakers devoted the greater part of the time at their disposal to a denunciation of corruption on the Government side. Allusions were made to the recent appointment of Mr. Jackson as commercial agent at Leeds, England, who it was charged was given the position as a reward for the part he played in connection with the South Oxford protest. The Conservative speakers addressed their appeal chiefly to the independent Liberals, whom they asked to turn the Government out of office for the corruption practised, which had been proven in the election court.

The Liberal speakers appealed for support for the Government on its record, for the progressive measures which it had enacted, and pointed out, not as justification for wrongdoing by Liberals, but as proof of the hollow insincerity of the cry of the Opposition, that they had not uttered one word of condemnation for the acts of corruption proven against Conservatives, thereby giving the impression that all the wrongdoing was on the Liberal side. Both the candidates were given an excellent hearing.

The Liberal Candidate.

Lieut.-Colonel Munro, in common with the other speakers, made touching reference to the unfortunate event which rendered an election necessary. With pride he acknowledged himself a supporter of Hon. Geo. W. Ross and his Government, and declared that he had no apology to offer nor any misgivings in accepting the nomination of the Liberal party. He briefly reviewed the record of the Government, and in reply to some allusions that had been made to the "machine," declared that if there was a machine he never saw it; and did not know what it was. He relied for election on the free-will offering of the electors, and felt satisfied he would receive it.

Mr. Butler (Conservative candidate) said he did not come before the electors denouncing the Liberals, as he had in Woodstock as many good Liberal friends as he had Conservatives. He announced as his platform Canada for the Canadians, build up Ontario, help North Oxford, political purity, a clean ballot, and the right of the people to rule. He added that he would only follow his leader when he believed him to be in the right.

Mr. Geo. P. Graham, M.P.P.

Mr. Geo. P. Graham, M.P.P., suggested that Mr. Moffatt, who denounced the Liberals for corruption, must have been reading the reports in the daily press of the investigation into wrongdoing in connection with the municipal election in Toronto, as a result of which the Secretary of the Fourth Ward Conservative Association had landed in jail. He protested against vituperative abuse of public men, and suggested that the party which resorted to such tactics had not much of a platform upon which to stand. Referring to Mr. Whitney's latest proposition in favor of free school books, Mr. Graham pointed out that two years ago he had brought the question to the attention of the House, and had since been studying it and collecting information upon the subject. He reminded the electors, however, that "free" school books had to be paid for by somebody, and it was really a question whether the individual should pay for them directly or by his taxes. He discussed the cost of school books, which he said were cheaper in Ontario than in any other Province or State. Mr. Graham also dealt with the agricultural college, the Temiskaming Railway and other features of the Government's policy.

Mr. J. W. St. John, M.P.P., and Mr. Hanna, M.P.P., spoke for Mr. Butler, and Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., was the last speaker for the Liberal nominee.

ROASTING AN OX.

Feature of Old-Time Fair—Inhabitants of Shakespeare's Village Have a Glorious Time at the Stratford-on-Avon Mop.

Scent and sound were intermingled on the happiest of terms in Shakespeare's town on the first day of the Stratford-on-Avon Mop. Of the sound little need be written. Who hasn't been to a fair and heard the blare of steam organs that drowns the screams of frightened girls on roundabouts, now composed of horses, ostriches, and even switchback cars—all bobbing up and down? Cornet players wailed "Lost Chords" at street corners; harp and violin duetted something sentimental through the open doors of the fourale bars; concertinas and jews' harps run amuck. In fact, it was the dear old fair we all know, with its stalls and sideshows galore.

The scent of it, though distinguished the Stratford-on-Avon Mop from any other bargain mart. There was a fine, rich smell of cooking abroad. Not one of those smells that occasionally tells of an accident in the kitchen, and which you can generally conquer by the closing of a door and the opening of a window.

An Abiding Aroma.

It was an abiding aroma. It followed you amongst the sweet stalls, it accompanied you on the roundabouts, it pervaded the cinematograph, and seasoned the show booth. It chased you to the station, and clung to you so assiduously that half the way back to town you were suspicious that somebody was carrying away a souvenir of it in his mackintosh pocket.

There was cause for the scent in the streets of Stratford-on-Avon. For revellers saw cooked in the open thoroughfare—Eight whole bullocks; 12 pigs; 100,000 sausages, estimated; 20,000 portions of fried fish, estimated; 20,000 penn'orths of fried potatoes, estimated; 20,000 penn'orths of mashed potatoes, estimated. Of the lot, judging from appearance, a hungry man would have hesitated between sausage and mashed potatoes and fried fish and potatoes, but the festive man went the whole ox with the stomach of an athlete in training on raw beefsteaks.

A Very Simple Process.

Roasting an ox whole is now such a rare performance in this country that it was quite interesting to see how it is done. The bullock is run through lengthways by a spit about as thick as a scaffold pole, and kept in its place by chains or iron bands.

The animal's legs are cut off at the knees, but his horns remain, and after he has shrivelled served to differentiate between a very large ox and a very small pig, the pole is laid horizontally in front of a wood fire, backed by a wall of bricks, which is built up in the street, and throws back a rare heat. There is a cart-wheel attached to the end of the spit. A man stands at this, like the helmsman on board ship, and keeps it slowly revolving, so as to turn the spit and its load in front of the fire.

Shovelfuls of Gravy.

As soon as the carcase gets well frizzling the greasy gravy drops on a sheet of zinc, with a few dents in it, which is spread over the roadway to do duty for a dripping pan. Cooks collect the gravy, literally in shovelfuls, and baste the revolving monster. One ox roasted yesterday weighed 36 score.

As the liquid hisses on the frizzling carcase and spits into the fire a full concentrated perfume of beef, wood smoke fumes, and burning grease is carried through the streets. It was a unique atmosphere that of Stratford-on-Avon Mop Fair. It gave quite an object lesson in the advantage of top of the house kitchens when cooking has to be done for large numbers.

Start Cooking Early.

To cook an ox whole, it may interest housewives to know, you should put the joint on at 6 o'clock a. m. By 10 o'clock a first layer is ready for carving. Yesterday the beasts were alternately pared and roasted until 7 o'clock in the evening. Necks and ribs had been carved to the bone long before this time, but there still seemed to be something on the illimitable haunches.

About 700 people, at a shilling a time, are supplied from one ox.

"It takes some carving to do this," said a chef as he sliced a strip of meat from his beast and laid it carefully carved, side up, on the plate, to make it look appetizing.

It was a long time before the roasting pigs could be found. They were kept just outside the confines of the fair. But pilgrims to Shakespeare's house discovered an unmistakable porker revolving on the spit in front of a public house exactly opposite the poet's birthplace. Smoke curled insidiously round the almost uncut carcase; in fact, it was hard to say whether the attempt was being made to cook or to cure it, and it certainly looked like becoming Bacon.

ANNUAL MEETING OF INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

Reports Presented Show that the First Year was a Success.

The President Reviews the Work of the Year—The Board of Directors.

The first annual meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Fair Association was held in the Council Chamber this afternoon, and, considering the condition of the roads, was well attended, showing that an interest is being taken in the fair, since the reorganisation, and the inauguration of the new era. The president of the society, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles was in the chair, and congratulated the society on the success which had attended the fair in the first year of its existence. Mr. Charles reviewed the difficulties under which the society worked last year, and expressed confidence in its future.

There were present: D. Hughes-Charles, president; and Messrs. K. Hardley-Wilmot, Ed. Elliott, Geo. Fitzgerald, A. Rountree, R. J. Munroe, R. Fair, and Secretary W. J. Green.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Humphries "Bush" which is to be sold in February, has been carefully examined and shows that there are in it about 4,000 cords of maple and beech, the maple representing about 90 per cent. of the total. There are also 1,045 basswood trees, 1,255 elm, 1,955 ash, 2,200 cedar and 965 hemlock, besides some pine, birch and oak. The timber will be sold apart from the land by public auction, and in blocks of from 20 to 30 acres. 1d

WILL TAKE TRIP TO GERMANY.

Rev. R. A. Langfeldt Has Been Granted Leave of Absence.

A meeting of the congregation of St. Luke's was held last night, the object of the meeting being to appoint representatives on the Nicholls Hospital Board and Central charity Board, Mr. Harry Adams being the appointee to the former and Rev. E.A. Langfeldt to the latter.

At the same meeting the congregation granted the Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt a three months' leave of absence. Mr. Langfeldt stated to the meeting that his physician had advised him that it would be necessary for him to take a complete rest for two or three months, in order to regain his health, which for some months has been poor.

The matter has been under the consideration of the Wardens and Advisory Board for some weeks, and the congregation was recommended to grant the Rector a leave of absence, which it did at the meeting last night.

A supply has been arranged in the person of Rev. J. H. Hallah, of Kingston, and late Curate of St. Thomas' church, Belleville. Rev. Mr. Hallah will be here to take charge of the parish next Sunday, and Rev. Mr. Langfeldt will go to Orillia for a few days, after which he will take a two months' trip to Germany, sailing for that country on Saturday, Jan. 30th.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Dr. Moher Becomes Medical Superintendent of Brockville Asylum for the Insane.

The many friends of Dr. Moher, in Peterborough, town and county, will be pleased to learn that he has been promoted to the responsible position of superintendent of the Provincial Asylum for the insane at Brockville in the stead of Dr. Murphy, another Peterborough boy, who was a credit to his native county, and whose sad death was learned with deep regret.

Dr. Moher is a gentleman well qualified by education, professional acquirements and experience, geniality of manner, pleasing address and kindly disposition to make as he is pretty certain to do, a first-rate incumbent of the responsible position to which he has been appointed. In him Brockville gains a good and public-spirited citizen.

"FUN AND FROLIC."

Were Married at St. John's Last Night —A Pleasant Affair.

In St. John's Sunday school last night, the Girls' Guild entertained the young men of the church, all spending a very pleasant time. The ladies took the advantage of leap year, by a "Marriage between Fun and Frolic," the ladies representing the "Fun" and the gentlemen the Frolic." By being unique the affair was highly successful and everybody entered into the spirit of the thing, especially tthe ladies, who played the part usually taken by the gentlemen.

A most enjoyable feature of the evening's programme was the selections given by Mr. Halley's quintette, the members of which very kindly consented to assist the Guild in their entertainment. This was their first public appearance, and the music rendered by them was warmly applauded by the audience. The playing of Mr. Halpany's little son, who takes 1st violin in the quintette, is worthy of special mention.

The young ladies wish to publicly thank the members for their much appreciated assistance.

The report was adopted.

The president Mr. D. W. Dumble, read his report, which was as follows:—

To the Members of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society, Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—We beg herewith to present the annual report of the society for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1903. With the hope of increasing the interest in horticulture the directors secured the services of Mr. T. H. Race, one of the government lecturers to lecture here on April 1st last. The afternoon meeting for school children was well attended but the evening lecture did not take place owing to the fact that there was no audience—not one member of the Society being present. However we are pleased to state that the interest has somewhat increased as was shown by the attendance at our fall exhibition. Although not large there were three times as many present as had been in attendance for three or four years. The show was held in the drill hall and as it was easy of access the number of entries was much larger than usual and the articles shown were much above the average.

As was suggested at your last annual meeting your directors gave to the children free of cost, on condition that they be exhibited, $30 worth of seeds and plants. Twenty-one children exhibited and secured $9.35 in prizes. We again renewed the practice of giving prizes for the best kept lawn or garden and are pleased to say that quite a number availed themselves of the opportunity to compete and secured prizes. In giving these prizes the Society took into consideration the taste and skill used in making the most of sometimes very limited and unfavourable grounds.

We would suggest that you appoint a committee to wait upon the principal horticulturalists and amateurs in the town with the object of securing exhibits for our next show.

As usual your directors under instructions from the town, undertook the supervision of the parks, and, as suggested by your society, we called for tenders for flowers for the beds, which we had planted at a cost of $170. We have also had 3,500 bulbs planted for early flowering.

Mr. B. Cooney presented the society with 120 hyacinthes and Mr. Adam Hall gave us twelve perennial phlox and one flowering shrub, all of which have been planted in the park. It will be necessary in the spring to purchase new seats and we would suggest that you secure an extra grant from the council for that purpose, or they be asked to purchase them.

We had the drinking fountain in the Central Park repaired and supplied with water, but it was not in use more than a month before some person or persons removed both the tap and the cup, necessitating our again shutting the water off.

In closing we beg to thank all persons who have in any way assisted us in furthering the objects of the society.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE,
President.

Mr. Dumble, continuing, said that the taste for growing plants had to be cultivated. Speaking of the giving of seeds to children to grow, Mr. Dumble said that many went out and sold them. He remarked that it was very hard to get the people of Peterborough to enter into competition against each other in horticulture. If people would all at the exhibition produce the best they had, then the flower show would be a success. Mr. Dumble also congratulated Caretaker Cooney for the beautiful manner in which the parks of the town had been kept.

The election of officers was next proceeded with and resulted as follows:

President—Mr. D. W. Dumble.
1st Vice-President—W. H. Hill.
2nd Vice-President—Col. R. C. Rogers.
Directors—Peter Campbell, H. Nesbitt, R. Gliddon, Hon. J. R. Stratton, H. C. Rogers, A. Saunders, T. A. S. Hay, F. Wise, W. H. Hill, Adam Hall, Dr. Geo. Burnham Percy Hamilton and Jas. Stevenson.
Secretary-Treasurer—H. L. Beal.
Auditors—T.A.S. Hay and A. Stevenson.
Prize List Committee—F. Wise, A. Saunders, T. A. S. Hay and H. Nesbitt.
Park Committee—W. H. Hill, H. Nesbitt, F. Wise and Adam Hall.

Messrs. Hill, Hall and the President were appointed a committee to wait on the Town and County Councils to secure the annual grants.

Mr. Dumble spoke on the parks and the way in which the beds had been planted out. He believed people went in solely for the prizes and the society did not get in many beds a good return for their money.

Mr. Hall remarked that the soil was now much better than ever before and consequently better results could be expected this summer.

Mr. Adam Hall suggested that the council be requested to trim the trees in the town.

Mr. Beal said that several persons had complained to him regarding the barbed wire in the parks.

Mr. Hall said that if plain wire were used people would not see it and break it. He admitted that barb wire was dangerous, but that plain wire was no use. The latter he said would be torn down every day.

Mr. Dumble preferred that than having barbed wire in the town.

Mr. Beal suggested that instead of giving prizes for the best kept lawns, to give them to those who had the best kept flower beds.

Mr. Dumble remarked that the Society was endeavouring to get persons to make the best of what they have rather than cultivate a single bed. He thought the appearance of the town at large was improved by having competition in the up keep of lawns.

Mr. Jordan suggested that this year's exhibition be held in the drill hall as last year.

Mr. Dumble concurred in this view, and said that the Society would get the hall if possible.

Mr. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Hay, that a vote of thanks be tendered Robt. Leary and Dr. Eastwood for their services.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. Thornton will return to Scotia after transacting the business which made his visit necessary.

DETROIT'S EXPERIENCE WITH TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Stockholders in Companies Lost Their Investment and Subscribers Get Poor Service.

Some months ago the Michigan Telephone Company was sold under foreclosure proceedings taken by the bondholders, the sale price being $4,100,000—considerably less than the amount of the Company's bonds. The stockholders who thus saw their investment completely wiped out, though they had received no dividends for years, undertook to save something from the wreck and applied to the courts to have the sale set aside, but in a decision handed out on December 24th ult., the sale is confirmed. There are quite a number of Canadians interested financially in this matter. Detroit has had three unsuccessful opposition telephone companies. The first of these was boomed through Canada and even in Great Britain as a perfect gold mine and a considerable amount of bonds and stock disposed of in this country on the glowing representations of professional promoters. The investors after looking long for their interest have lately seen their holdings wiped out. The Detroit Free Press of Dec. 26th ult., comments on the situation as follows:—

There are seven ages of men, but only five ages of the modern public service corporation. First, there is the corporation itself, performing its functions indifferently, and with no due regard for the public's rights. Then there is a competitive stage, in which two corporations undertake to share with greater or less hostility a natural monopoly. Then comes the consolidation, with the inevitable over-capitalisation and the destruction of a great amount of property. After this the Company passes into the hands of a receiver, and is sold for the benefit of the bondholders, the minority shareholders losing their investment. Then comes the stage of re-organization in which the corporation undertakes to perform its functions normally for the time being, the speculative elements having been eliminated.

The Michigan Telephone Company has now passed through four stages and is in the fifth. The minority stockholders are left in the lurch.

The people of Detroit and Michigan are tired of having their telephone service made a football for speculators. They are willing to pay a reasonable price for a reasonable service. They are desirous that the investors obtain fair returns on their money; but they have no further yearnings in the direction of being "financed." They have had enough of that. They would like to see the telephone business managed like any other legitimate business, and not on the ancient principle that the public is a new milch cow.

BARRIE'S FIRST ROBIN.

Barrie, Jan. 18. — The first robin of the season arrived in Barrie early on Thursday morning. Mr. Fred Warren caught sight of it in a tree just in front of his residence, and describes it as a fine lusty bird, wearing an air of joviality and bon camaraderie which, to say the least, appears a little ill-timed, considering the recent fit of bashfulness shown by the mercury. A robin was also observed later in the day amongst the vines of Dr. Wells' verandah.

Historical Calendar.

The Singer Sewing Machine Company's calendar for 1904, is very interesting and instructive, as well as useful and convenient. The feature of the design consists of there being four separate quarterly pads, each pad portraying scenes in the discovery of the "Great West" by the French in the seventeenth century. Copies of this unique calendar may be obtained from Mr. D. W. Little, the local agent, George street.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Peterborough Juniors Played Close Game Last Night—Lakefield Wins the District Curling Cup.

THE JUNIOR TEAM MADE GREAT FINISH.

Shut Fast Port Hope Team Out in Second Half.

But Lost in 4-3—Wonderful Improvement Evidenced by the Promising Juniors.

Had five minutes longer been allowed in the game last night between the Peterborough and Port Hope junior O.H.A. teams, the latter would, without a doubt, gone home a defeated team, and only the call of time prevented the local team from winning out by a garrison finish.

The youngsters put up a great game last night, and had they only started a little earlier in the game, there might be a different story to record to-day. As it was, however, the Port Hope team was the winner by 4—3.

The score at half time was 4—0, in favour of the visitors, with the home team playing a poor game, with little or no combination, and but indifferent individual work. In the second half, however, the locals awakened and played the visitors off their feet. They outskated, out-checked and out-generalled them and kept the puck almost entirely in the vicinity of the Port Hope goal. Occasional rushes were made by the visitors, and some pretty shots were made on goal, but VanEvery looked after everything that came his way, while Parker and Moore, on the defence played a splendid game. Parker made fine rushes, two of them resulting in scores.

It looks as if the boys have at last struck a winning gait, and certainly the quality of hockey played by them in the last half of the game should win games in any junior company. The team showed a decided improvement in form over that displayed in former games, and, if it is continued, need not be afraid of any junior team.

That the visitors are a fast bunch of players, no one who saw their work last night can deny, and that the home team put up such a good fight against them is to their credit.

The main cause for the poor showing made by the home team in the first half was the fact that they went to the fence too frequently. In the second half they played hockey pure and simple—and scored. During this period only one home man went to the fence, and he for a minor offence, while four of the visiting team decorated the side during the half.

Taking the game as a whole, the home team showed the better form, and when they got over their stage fright played rings around their opponents. The fact that three of the Port Hope team played with the seniors on Monday night rather awed the younsters here, but as soon as they forgot this, and went in to win, which object they nearly accomplished, and without doubt would have done so, had the time-keeper's whistle not stopped the play, they put up a splendid game.

In the second half the team played good combination, the forwards working well together, and but for the great work of Lockington and McLean, would have scored much oftner. The Port Hope defence is much heavier than that of the local team, and used their weight with good effect against the light forwards.

Macfarlane made some lightning rushes, one of which resulted in a score, and others were very dangerously near it. Hall played a good game last night, too. He was checking Alcott, one of the best men on the team, and had him guessing during the greater part of the time. Kennedy at centre was always in his place, and assisted in some good combination rushes. Long in his position as rover, followed the puck closely and played a good consistent game. To Parker, however, must be given the greatest credit. He played a magnificent game, scoring two of the three goals on rushes from cover. Moore, too, played good hockey, he blocked well, and used his body to good advantage. He made some good rushes. VanEvery, in goal, again proved himself a wonder. He saved his citadel time and again, and excited the admiration of the spectators.

Port Hope has a well balanced team, and played good hockey. The defence is particularly good, while on the forward line there are some good stickhandlers and strong skaters. The team gave the Cobourg juniors a close call on the latter's ice last week, and that the local team was able to make such a good showing against them last night, is a matter for congratulation and should encourage the youngsters.

There is no mistaking the fact that they have improved wonderfully recently, and from now to the end of the season should make a good showing.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Port Hope.	Peterborough.

Gawley	VanEvery

McLean	Moore

SOME BOUQUETS FOR PETERBOROUGH TEAM.

Port Hope Guide Says They Play a Gentlemanly Game and Deserve to Win.

The Port Hope Guide does some sermonizing on the Port Hope-Peterborough game played there on Monday night. It says:—

Things have changed, yes, terribly changed. In years past a defeat on our own ice was something out of the ordinary, but now the supporters of the "tan and white" look for nothing else.

For a long time there has been an agitation going on for a home brew team, and surely by this time the agitators will be satisfied that the home brew team is not up to much.

'Tis true there is good material in Port Hope, probably enough to make a seven which could hold its own in the Intermediate series, but what's the good of them if they don't turn out. The Executive have had troubles of their own this season and there has not been a game yet, but what they have had to run about for players at the last minute. However, it may put an end to this home brew agitation and we hope that it may.

The game last night was a repetition of the Picton one, simply a walk-over for the visitors. No person looked for the locals to win, nevertheless they worked hard and tried to give the spectators as good an exhibition as possible under the circumstances. The score was 10—1, which gives a fair indication of the play.

Peterborough have a well balanced team and should make a strong bid for the championship of this district. Their defence is very strong. Mercer in goal plays his usual game and last night made some clever stops and relieved nicely. Howell and Cavanagh on the defence are a strong pair and take care of everything that comes their way. The former is a very heady player and his rushes very often result in a score. The forward line is speedy and the three-man combination which they work is very effective. Harold Armstrong plays a double cover point and at the least opening rushes up the ice and generally increases the score. The team as a whole play a nice gentlemanly game and we wish them every success in their future matches.

It is not likely that there will be any more senior games this winter and for the first time in many years the career of the Intermediates of Port Hope has been short and inglorious.

THE PETERBOROUGH II.— T. A. S. GAME THURSDAY.

All the Signs Point to a Fast Exhibition of Hockey.

The game to-morrow night between the T.A.S. and Peterborough II in the Trent Valley League promises to be an interesting one. This will be the first time that these teams have come together this season, and as both have championship aspirations they will make a big effort to win the game to-morrow night. They have both been playing good hockey and the team that wins will have to do some fall hustling.

The indications are that there will be a bumper crowd to see these two teams come together, and that fast hockey will be seen goes without saying. Neither team will have any particular advantage over the other as both have practiced on the ice on which the game will be played, and the chances are that the score will be a small one, with some very fast work by both teams. The T.A.A. team will probably line up about the same as in the Keene game, although there may be a few changes; while the Peterborough team will be chosen from the following: Comstock, McPherson, McLean, Glover, Ford, Lee, Cameron, Wasson, Renton.

In this game the Peterborough team will be at home, and will get the gate receipts.

"PILL PUNCHERS" PUNCH THE "COUNTER HOPPERS."

Druggists won Close Game From Cressman's Team Last Night.

After the junior hockey game last night, a most interesting contest was seen between the "Pill Punchers" and Cressman's "Counter Hoppers." It was a game fast and furious, both teams displaying some remarkable "form." Two fifteen minute halves were played and at the end of that period the score stood a tie—3 all. At half time it was 2 all. The teams were very evenly matched, as was evidenced by the score. After playing five minutes over time the druggists won by 4—3. The teams lined up as follows:

BELLEVILLITES ARE VERY JUBILANT.

Over Victory Won from Picton Hockeyists on Monday.

The Belleville Intelligencer fairly hugs itself in congratulation over the game won from Picton by the Belleville team. It starts out:

"Did you hear the news last night? We'll bet you did. How the Red and White Boys struck their old Lou Dillon clip and put a crimp in the championship aspirations of the team belonging to little Picton, better known as the "Pea Canners," who for months have made their boasts that they were going to 'do up' Belleville. Did they do it? Well, not yet, not yet, my child. It was with a cheerful countenance, but direful forebodings that many people watched the boys depart yesterday morning. They were hoping for the best, but the fact that McGuire's ankle was practically an unknown quantity, and the additional fact that the boys had got trimmed pretty handsomely in Peterborough, didn't tend to make us feel that things could be 'banked on' to come our way a-flying. However, as we remarked before you can't sometimes always tell. The Bellevilles were going against a hard game but they were chuck full of determination and confidence, and if, with McGuire in his old place at centre they didn't tear off the long end of the score then, by some grandmother's nightcap, they would know the reason why. The lads went down in the morning, having to charter a special car to Trenton in order to do it, and reached Picton in time to have a good afternoon's rest."

PULLING UP STAKES IN PETERBOROUGH

No Matter When or Where You see a Bargain, There's a Better One for You at

GOUGH BROS' Good-Bye Sale

The second week adds to the intense interest of this sale. Its an occasion that warrants unbridled enthusiasm. Nothing can stop its progress.

Do you know how we're fixed? $68,000 worth of Suits, Overcoats, Furs, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishings, must be slashed to pieces to bring down the stock. Are you thinking? Can't you see what this means? Can't you see that we must sell at a heavy loss in order to pull up stakes in time to let in the new firm.

WILL ANYBODY KINDLY RISE IN THE MEETING and say that Gough Bros. ever was or ever will be undersold. The fears of competitors and the frantic efforts of their bosses, cut no figure with us. No cast-iron "transformation" sale bulletin of reduced prices can side-track GOUGH'S GOOD-BYE SALE. We stand by the town and will issue new lists of cut prices every week that must beat the best markings by fully 25 per cent. of any dealer in town.

If anybody offers to sell Men's Overcoats and Suits worth $10 for $6.98, down goes Gough's Prices to $5.98.
If anybody offers to sell Boys' Suits and Overcoats worth $6.00 for $4.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $3.48.
If anybody offers to sell $3.00 Trousers for $2.48, down goes Gough's Prices to $1.98. And so on all through the gamut.

Don't you see the logic in our slashing — were pulling up stakes in Peterborough—necessity knows no law—the stock can't be moved or kept for another season.

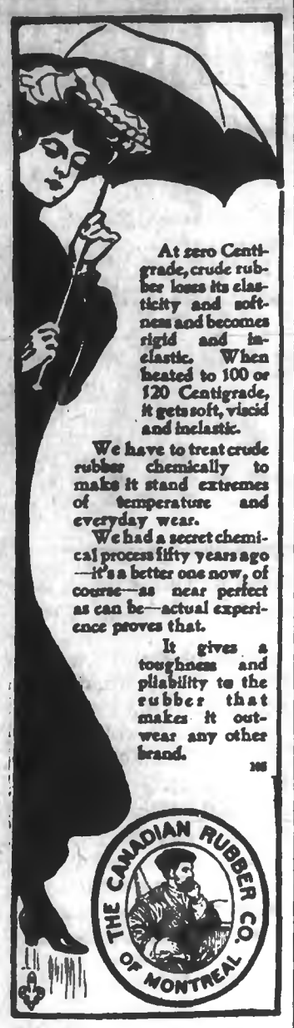
ALL UNDER ONE ROOF, AT GOUGH BROS. GOOD-BYE SALE



At zero Centigrade, crude rubber loses its elasticity and softness and becomes rigid and inelastic. When heated to 100 or 120 Centigrade, it gets soft, viscid and inelastic.

We have to treat crude rubber chemically to make it stand extremes of temperature and everyday wear.

We had a secret chemical process fifty years ago—it's a better one now, of course—as near perfect as can be—actual experience proves that.

It gives a toughness and pliability to the rubber that makes it outwear any other brand.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN

Present Status of the Negotiations Between Them.

TWO POINTS STILL AT ISSUE

Mr. Kurino the Japanese Minister at St. Petersburg, Talks of the War Probabilities—War Unwarranted By Questions Still in Dispute—Wings of Viceroy Alexieff Clipped in the Interests of Peace.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—The Associated Press correspondent on high authority is able to give the following as the status of the negotiations between Russia and Japan:

"Russia recognizes Japan's predominance in Corea, and Japan recognizes Russia's special position in Manchuria. There are two main questions still at issue—the Russian demand for a neutral zone on the Corean side of the Yalu River, which Japan met with a proposal for the similar neutral strip on the Manchurian side. Japan also asks for certain guarantees covering Manchuria which Russia thus far has declined to grant. It is pointed out, however, that the assurances given a few days ago by Russia regarding open ports in Manchuria and respect for treaty rights is a concession on this point."

That the two countries are not so far apart may be fairly inferred from the following statement made by Mr. Kurino, the Japanese Minister, to the Associated Press: "War now would only be disastrous to both countries. Owing to the geographical situation, an armed conflict would result in a great drain of the men and treasure of both Japan and Russia without being decisive. Besides, I believe it would not be worth while to go to war on the questions still in dispute."

There is a strong indication that through the Czar's personal acts, the peace party is completely in the ascendant. M. Bozobrazoff, the head of the war party, has gone abroad. Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, who from the beginning, has favored peace, is now completely rehabilitated and Viceroy Alexieff has been made subservient to the Foreign Office in the Russo-Japanese negotiations. His extensive powers are curtailed, and he can make no move without the Czar's personal approval.

Another strong influence on the side of peace has been the attitude of M. Witte, who has been bending his energies to avoid a conflict. It is predicted that if peace prevails M. Witte again will become a great power in the Government.

Rising of People Probable.

Seoul, Jan. 19.—The Government declares the reports of the disturbance on the northern frontiers to be unfounded, but it seems to think that a rising of the people is probable.

Off For the War.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—William Maxwell and C. L. Brownell of The London Standard, and R. J. McHugh of The Telegraph, war correspondents, passed through yesterday on their way to Japan.

COUNTRY OF THE MAPLE LEAF.

Governor-General, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. R. L. Borden the Speakers.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—The first annual banquet of the Canadian Club of Ottawa was held last night, and was a great success. Col. Sherwood, president, presided, and the club was honored by the presence of His Excellency the Governor-General, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition. The speeches were non-political, and eloquent tributes to the glory of Canada and the Motherland. His Excellency expressed hearty appreciation of the club and its objects, and noted with pleasure the spread of the movement for such clubs in the country. The Premier and Mr. Borden were felicitous in their utterances, and both pronounced graceful tributes to the greatness of Canada.

Must Use Waterways.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy spoke on the transportation question before the Canadian Club here yesterday. The attendance was the largest this season. Sir Thomas emphasized the necessity of using our waterways and their importance in considering all transportation problems in this country.

Fire Drill Worked.

London, Jan. 19.—Fire broke out in the Lorne avenue Public school in this city shortly before noon yesterday. The fire drill alarm was sounded, and the pupils responded, never dreaming that there was a real fire. The school was quickly dispersed, and in good order. The fire brigade quickly extinguished the fire.

Against Canadian Twine.

New York, Jan. 19.—The customs authorities have ordered that binder twine imported from Canada which does not contain 66 feet to the pound shall be seized and be subject to forfeiture or the penalties prescribed by statute.

Will Give a Memorial Hospital.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Directors of the City Hospital have decided to offer the site and building for the proposed memorial hospital to the Iroquois Theatre fire victims. They will make a gift of both.

Ex-Anglin's Fatest Deed.

Kingston, Jan. 19.—George Bell, Marlbank, at whose amputation Dr. Anglin contracted blood poison in his hand, died at the hospital yesterday. Dr. Anglin is now out of danger.

30 PEOPLE DROWNED.

The Bursting of a Reservoir at Bloemfontein—175 Houses Destroyed—Hundreds of People Made Homeless.

Bloemfontein, Orange River Colony, Jan. 19.—About thirty persons were drowned and three hotels and 176 houses destroyed as the result of the bursting of a reservoir here Sunday. Hundreds of persons have been rendered homeless and destitute by the disaster.

FATAL FIRE AT DUNNVILLE.

Husband Aided in Saving Wife, But Perished Himself.

Dunnville, Jan. 19.—The residence of Mr. William Spurbeck was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. Mr. Spurbeck perished in the flames, and his wife was badly burned. They were the only occupants of the house, which was on the outskirts of the town. The fire was discovered only when the bed on which they slept was partly burned. Mr. Spurbeck helped his wife out of the upstairs window, but was overcome himself by the smoke. Assistance was too late. The cause of the fire in unknown.

Workman's Serious Hurt.

Galt, Jan. 19.—William S. Echlin, a married man, aged about 40, employed by the Goldie and McCulloch Co. as belt repairer, met with an accident while on duty yesterday morning that may prove fatal. He was engaged fixing a belt, and in some way was caught by it and carried around the shaft. His left arm was broken in several places, and almost torn from the socket necessitating amputation at the shoulder.

Three Killed in Railway Wreck.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 19.—A cut of cars on the Iowa Central broke away from a switch engine, and, rushing down hill at a fearful rate of speed, collided with a work train at the bottom, just outside the city limits, and instantly killed Allan E. Hiro, car repairer; Peter Johnson, car inspector, and Albert O. Schwartz, car repairer, all of this city. Two section men are badly hurt.

Fatal Panic in School Fire.

Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 19.—The Allan School Building in North Dayton was gutted yesterday by flames, which originated in the basement. The 400 pupils were gotten out in safety with the exception of Edna Baum, a little girl in the first grade, who was thrown down, trampled on and fatally injured in the panic. A man at work in the basement is missing, and is believed to have been burned to death.

All Night in Snow Bank.

St. Thomas, Jan. 19.—Passengers on the L. E. & D. R. R. train which left here about 12 o'clock on Saturday night for London, had a very trying experience. Just north of Glanworth the engine was unable to plow through a deep snow bank, and the unfortunate passengers, of which there were seventy-five, were forced to remain in the coaches until morning, when two engines came down from London and assisted in freeing the train from its position. When the half-frozen and hungry passengers alighted at the London depot it was just 10.15 o'clock, the train having been about nine hours in the drift. The snow in some places was even with the top of the coach windows.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Messrs. Blair, Bernier and Mills to Be Appointed To-day—Act Goes Into Force February 1.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—The three members of the Railway Commission, Mr. Blair, Mr. Bernier and Dr. Mills, will be appointed at to-day's Cabinet meeting. An order in Council will also be passed declaring that the railway act comes into force on February 1st. The Railway Commission as now constituted is a strong and efficient body. The Chairman, Hon. A. G. Blair, is an extremely able lawyer and for several years has been closely identified with railway administration in all its phases. He in the main framed the present railway act and knows it from end to end. Mr. Bernier is a good business man, who looks at all questions from the practical and common-sense point of view. He is not only conversant with business, but he is well up in farming and has a fine farm of his own. Prof. Mills, Principal of the Guelph College, is one of the best men that could have been selected to sit on the board. A practical farmer, educationist and scientist, he is a man in whom the farmers of Ontario have every confidence.

SIGNS ARE OLD.

In Ancient Greece They Were Used on Business Houses.

The custom of marking a business house by means of a sign is of very ancient origin. In the great cities of the east and among the ancient Egyptians such a practice must have been unnecessary, as all trades were classified and confined to certain sections of the city, and then all wares were exposed to full view, as they were displayed in open booths.

The history of Grecian signboards is meager, yet the allusions of Aristophanes and Lucian to signboards warrant our belief in their use by the Greeks. Athenæus tells us, "He hung the well known sign in front of his house."

Advancing to Roman times, there is abundant evidence of signs, as the discoveries of Pompeii and Heraculaneum amply testify. In the Eternal City some of the streets derived their names from signs, just as hundreds of London streets have been so named. The Roman street Vicus Ursi Pileati was named from the sign, for, as the name indicates, it was the street of "The Bear With the Hat On." But it was not until late in the fifteenth century that the custom gained a footing in England, first of all among the taverns and alehouses. Later came the necessity of distinguishing between certain shops brought about by the fact that the houses were not numbered and the people could not read word signs.—Julian King Calford in St. Nicholas.

Skee Jumping.

The great event of the skeeing clubs of the western states is the jumping contest. Only a skee runner knows the sensation. Below, the endless hill seems to stretch on forever into the expanse of the valley, the steepness of the incline lost in its whiteness. A long breath and you start. Faster and faster you go, till suddenly a flash of green in front, and the jump off is coming. Crouching until your knees almost touch your skees, with muscles strained, out into the air you sail!

A strange lightness and feebleness take possession of your limbs, and your spirit shares the intoxication of soaring into space. After long seconds you are called back to earth, first for half a second softly, but then hard as iron that seems to give you an electric shock. You wabble helplessly from right to left; each foot seems glued to the ground and still in the air, but you have kept your balance and are shooting forward. At last you catch your first breath, like a hiccough; then a longer one. You are master of the field, with a jump of a hundred feet or more, and finish the victorious course in a neatly rounded curve.

The Seventeen Year Locust.

The open air career of the seventeen year locust is soon completed, though in its dormant and earlier form it is said to live underground for seventeen years, feeding on roots.

The larvæ drop from eggs laid in the twigs of trees and quickly burrow out of sight, each one forming for itself a subterranean chamber, where it remains buried and alone month after month for fully seventeen years, preparing in some mysterious manner for its brief enjoyment of freedom.

With perfect regularity at the end of the allotted period myriads of these insects attain maturity and emerge from their long imprisonment, when for a month or so the winged male sings his striking song of courtship, while the female busies herself with laying eggs.

There is a continuous record for about two centuries of the recurrence of the cicada at these seventeen year intervals. The first note on the subject was made in 1715.

WITH THE SAGES.

I take him to be the only rich man that lives upon what he has, owes nothing, and is contented; for there is no determinate sum of money, nor quantity of estate, that can denote a man rich, since no man is truly rich that has not so much as perfectly satiates his desire of having more; for the desire of more is want, and want is poverty.—Howe.

Repentance hath a purifying power, and every tear is of a cleansing virtue; but these penitential clouds must be still kept dropping; one shower will not suffice; for repentance is not one single action, but a course.—South.

People of gloomy, uncheerful imaginations, or of envious, malignant tempers, whatever kind of life they are engaged in, will discover their natural tincture of mind in all their thoughts, words and actions.—Addison.

The grand and, indeed, the only character of truth, is its capability of enduring the test of universal experience, and coming unchanged out of every possible form of fair discussion.—Sir John Herschel.

Now blessings light on him that first invented sleep; it covers a man all over, thoughts and all like a cloak; it is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold, cold for the hot.—Cervantes.

Sorrow is a kind of rust of the soul, which every new idea contributes in its passage to scour away. It is the putrefaction of stagnant life, and is remedied by exercise and motion.—Johnson.

Instability of temper ought to be checked when it disposes men to wander from one scheme to another; since such a fickleness cannot but be attended with fatal consequences.—Addison.

It is another's fault if he be ungrateful, but it is mine if I do not give. To find one thankful man I will oblige many that are not so.—Seneca.

Those who are surly and imperious to their inferiors, are generally humble, flattering, and cringing to their superiors.—Fuller.

When a man has not a good reason for doing a thing, he has one good reason for letting it alone—Sir Walter Scott.

Sorrow seems sent for our instruction, as we darken the cages of birds when we would teach them to sing.—Richter.

The most delicate, the most sensible of all pleasures, consists in promoting the pleasures of others.—La Bruyere.

Nothing is so hard for those who abound in riches, as to conceive how others can be in want.—Swift.

Sudden Changes of Temperature

Bring Hosts of Coughs and Colds—Serious Results are Prevented by the Use of

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Coughs and colds usually arise from sudden changes of temperature. It may be change of weather, passing from a warmer to a colder room or exposure to a draught.

It is not always possible to prevent exposure in these ways, but it is possible to prevent serious results by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This great medicine has saved thousands of lives by preventing pneumonia, consumption and other forms of lung trouble.

It is mother's favourite remedy for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, and the coughs and colds to which children are subject. Being pleasant to the taste, the little ones delight to take it.

It is prized by the old people because of the prompt and thorough relief it brings for asthma and other chronic ailments of the bronchial tubes.

The very fact that the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is more than three times that of any similar remedy, and was never so large as it is to-day, is sufficient proof of its merit. In the great majority of homes it is kept on hand for cases of emergency.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much) 60 cents, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on the bottle. 3

HOW MICHAU KEPT HIS VOW

By CLINTON DANGERFIELD

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

"What I said to you then I say now!" cried Michau fiercely, an almost canine curl of his upper lip showing his strong white teeth. "I will never, pardieu, set foot on your land—never!"

"Then," retorted Le Hardy coolly, "you are likely to remain where you are forever, monsieur. For how can you escape from your house without setting foot on my land, seeing that last night's avalanche has set your cottage in the very middle of my field?"

"I will die where I am!" snarled Michau. And he meant it.

Never in the history of the canton had Antoine Michau broken his word. When Le Hardy had besought Michau to give him the latter's golden haired Jeanne Marie the angry father had not only posted the girl off to her aunt in the village below the great mountain on which Michau and Le Hardy dwelt, but he had forbidden Le Hardy to be seen on his property.

All of this because of an ancient feud between the Michaus and the Le Hardys.

Therefore it may be fancied what Michau felt when fate, pleasantly ironic, sent an avalanche which deposited the Michau cottage in the center of Le Hardy's little farm.

It had happened just before daybreak that very morning. Luckily for Le Hardy himself, his own cottage was not damaged, it being on the edge at one side. His astonishment when he discovered the plight of the irate parent soon gave way to glee when he thought how neatly Michau would be forced to forswear himself. But Michau had no such intention. As he could not fly or lay a bridge across and as his provisions would not last two days, he grimly prepared to starve, an arrangement which Lempriere, Le Hardy's special friend, advised the lover to encourage.

"For when the old fox is dead of his own folly," chuckled Lempriere, "'tis thou who shall console the pretty Jeanne Marie."

But Le Hardy, eating his own ample meals, could not enjoy them for thinking of Michau's rapidly diminishing larder. On the noon of the second day he filled a tray with food and carried it himself to Michau's door.

"Voila, mon voisin," said the young fellow good temperedly. "Thou must not starve. I will share with thee while thou remainest in thy chicken coop. Thou art welcome to it."

"Au diable with thee and thy welcome!" yelled the enraged Michau, and there descended on Le Hardy's head a perfect shower of porridge, poached eggs and bits of bread. Lempriere from a safe distance doubled himself up in his efforts to suppress his convulsive joy.

"Now wilt believe me?" asked he as the lover hurriedly retreated.

To his surprise, the young man burst into a fit of laughter.

"What a tableau!" he said, holding his sides. "After all, though, one must admit the old rascal has spirit!"

That night Michau slept but ill. Hunger gnawed at his vitals till he rolled in agony, but he clung sullenly to his determination. Over and over he repeated himself that the neighbors should see of what stuff Michau was made. Common sense did whisper in his ear that such a course was to leave the field free to Le Hardy; but, though he ground his teeth and admitted it, yet he had no thought of yielding.

Dawn came, and the old man arose and tottered out on his tiny porch. There a surprising sight met his view.

Le Hardy was standing close beside the door, panting and resting on the handle of a broad shovel. From the steps to the outer edge of the field which marked the confines of Le Hardy's property ran a narrow trail of fresh soft earth richly dark and about an inch thick.

"What devil's folly hast thou done now?" snarled the gaunt old man, leaning on the nearest railing to hide his weakness.

"Vraiment," smiled Le Hardy good humoredly as ever, "I have turned thief, mon voisin, and have been thieving all night! This trail of earth which you behold"— He waved a hand toward it.

"Nom de Dieu—of course I see it. What of it?"

"It came from thy garden, mon voisin. I chose it there that you might see the difference in color distinctly. My land along here is lighter and not so rich."

"From my garden, scelerat!" gasped the old man. "How hast thou dared! 'Twas because you had me trapped here, coward!"

"Rather," said Le Hardy coolly, "'twas because I wished thee to leave thy trap. Tiens, mon voisin, you swore never to set foot on my land. Well, there is thine own land. Mayst walk away on it when thou dost please."

The hunger clouded senses of the prisoner went adush for joy. Here was a dignified method of exit. He was saved.

Reaching for his cane, he stepped coldly down and walked along the fresh trail, his feeble feet making irregular prints that stirred Le Hardy to fresh pity.

At the edge of the path he paused and turned to the man who followed him.

"Why didst thou do this for me? Thou wouldst have had a clear coast to win the girl had I died, and thou couldst have proved the offer of food to me."

"I hope I am a man," said Le Hardy proudly. "And as a man I wage fair fight, whom fight I must. I love thy girl. I shall strive to gain her. But I will never stoop to take a mean advantage of one thrown at my feet by a force of nature which not even a giant could have defeated."

He paused, then added, a little wistfully:

"Hast thou nothing kindly to say to me, vieux voisin?"

The old man, now safely off the Le Hardy land, turned and grinned bitingly:

"I have this to say to thee," he snapped—"that thou art a vile scoundrel for stealing my garden soil to fertilise thy barren fields."

He vanished in the distance, and Le Hardy, red and disgusted, went back to his work.

It was sunset when Le Hardy stopped for that day and went into the house to get his simple supper from his bachelor cupboard. He was setting out the viands, not a little sadly, when a rap on his door startled him.

"'Tis Lempriere," he muttered as he hastened to open it. But it was not Lempriere. It was a slender, girlish figure, with drooping head, that half whispered:

"Mon pere would speak with thee." The sweet tones were seconded by a peremptory command from his late prisoner, who once again stood on the fresh trail and called to him, "Come!"

Le Hardy came, doubting his senses.

"Tiens," said the old fellow brusquely, "I have arrived to give thee notice that there's but one escape for thee from prison. Thou hast stolen my nice garden. Thy infernal shovel hath uprooted my best onions in thy digging. Thou canst not deny the theft and shalt suffer unless"—

"Unless," repeated the bewildered Le Hardy.

"Unless thou dost instantly wed my girl," snapped the ex-captive. And Jeanne Marie hid her blushes in her lover's joyous arms.

Jeanne Marie's toddling children often wonder why Grandpere Michau always follows a certain path in coming to the second cottage on the Le Hardy farm. The other cottage he never appears in. This certain path is carefully marked off by lilies growing along it, and resolute Grandpere Michau will die happy because he has never yet set foot on the Le Hardy property.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery CURES Weak Lungs.

$3,000 FORFEIT

Will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse and regulate the bowels.

Quebec as a Mineral Province.

The Province of Quebec takes a high place as a producer of economic minerals. In some lines, notably asbestos, graphite and apatite, it takes first rank in Canada, and the output from the asbestos mines has in late years largely controlled the world's market. In other lines, such as gold, iron, copper and mica, the deposits are very extensive.

The following table gives, in summarized form, a statement of the mineral productions of Quebec for one year:

	Quantity.	Value.
Copper lbs.	1,662,560	$287,404
Gold, oz.	238	4,016
Iron Ore, tons	19,420	50,161
Silver, oz.	40,211	23,970
Asbestos, tons	26,295	468,330
Chromite, tons	2,010	21,842
Mica, tons	571	136,863
Ochres, tons	3,804	19,050
Pyrites, tons	27,687	110,748
Cement, barrels	16,546	32,871
Slate, tons	2,664	30,406
Granite, tons	9,896	62,062

The principal operations in iron smelting have been confined to the bog-iron ores of the St. Francis River, and those of the St. Maurice River. At the latter place smelting operations were commenced in 1733, and the industry has been carried on steadily to the present time. The supply of ore is largely obtained by dredging carried on in Lac a la Tortue.

Goldwin Smith a Truth Searcher.

How the last word in silver cadence falls,
The chords of age clear-ringing from far youth;
The sage still follows where the prophet calls,
In "careful, cautious, reverent search for truth."

—A. E. S. Smythe.

In his address on The Spirit of Religious Enquiry to the Unitarian Club in Toronto recently Dr. Goldwin Smith declared that there was no adequate ground for the extreme materialistic position. Prof. Tyndall called himself a materialist, but no more spiritually minded man ever lived. He would not dogmatize, but we were not justified in saying that we know. The doctrine of immortality was not Christian, but Socratic, and we had no reason to doubt that where law was so generally manifest in the universe, some more reasonable destiny for man than extinction was to be hoped for. The old sanctions were failing, and though he should not live to see it, he felt that new sanctions would arise in questions of religion. In the interregnum he foresaw a bad quarter of an hour for humanity. He would end as he began with the belief that our only salvation consisted in a careful, cautious, reverent pursuit of truth.

NO SECRET.

There is no secret about Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. The label tells the whole story. There is a knack in making it. The only secret about it is the secret of its success.

This year, when cod liver oil is very scarce and high, all kinds of cheap, inferior oils are used to take its place, and all sorts of things presented as substitutes. Think of petroleum being taken as a substitute for cod liver oil! —too absurd. Think of the so-called wines, extracts and cordials of cod liver oil! —they are simply the shadow without the substance; no food value in them.

Scott's Emulsion—"The Old Reliable" is the same yesterday, to-day and forever.

Its quality and purity can be absolutely depended upon at all times.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

Future Financier.

There is a six-year-old West Philadelphian who already gives evidence of possessing the necessary qualifications to place him at the head of some great trust. For some weeks past he has been troubled with toothache, and his mother has coaxed, threatened and hired him to go and have the tooth extracted, but the small boy could not get his courage to the necessary point.

Finally one morning when mamma had been making bids, like the crowd at an auction, "One dollar, one and one-half," and at last had reached "three," the small boy broke in with:

"Say, mamma, would you give me $5?"

The mother hesitated a moment and then said: "Yes. Anything to have it over."

"I'll do it, then," said the small boy.

So away they went in a hurry before he could repent of his bargain. Arrived at the dentist's, the operation was so painless and so soon over that the small boy didn't realise that the tooth was out until they told him.

On the way home his mother said, "Now, Harold, don't you think that was a very little thing for mamma to give you $5 for?"

"Yes, mamma, I do," said the young financier. "But I'll tell you what. We'll call it $4.75, and you give me the $5, and I'll give you back the 25 cents some time when I have another tooth pulled."—Philadelphia Press.

Sold Himself.

First Citizen (indignantly)—I am surprised that young Longhead would lend himself to any such scheme.

Second Citizen—Lend himself? Why, man, he was bought.—Judge.

THRASHING SERVANTS.

Domestic Life in England in the Time of Henry VIII.

In that remarkably minute chronicle of domestic life in England in the time of Henry VIII., Tusser's "Five Hundred Points of Good Husbandry," the learned and pious author seems to take it for granted that the only way of dealing with maidservants is to thrash them unmercifully. He tells us in his inimitable doggerel that "a maid must be forced to be cleanly" or she is to be "made to cry creak." Mistresses are advised "to go about with a holly wand in their hand, although they may not always have occasion to use it, and to pay home when they fight"—that is to say, thrash—"but not to be always chiding." As regards the laundry, the domestic serfs are "warned to take heed when they wash or run in the lash and to wash well, wring well and beat well, so that if any lack beating it will be themselves."

As for the unhappy Cicely, the dairymaid, she is to cry "creak"—that is to say, to be thrashed—if her cheese is "hoven" or puffed up, and if the cheese be tough Cicely is to have "a crash." If the cheese be spotted Cicely is to be amended by the bayes, and if it be too full of whey the wretched dairymaid is to have "a dressing." Finally, if any maggots are found in the cheese, "mistress is to be at Cicely by and by."

THE ANCESTRAL TREE.

Its Branches May Be Widespread For Some Future Americans.

"Speaking of heterogeneities and the homogeneousness of the same, if one may say it, the American, say 500 years from now, may have some trouble in tracing the lines of his family tree," said a thoughtful man. "At any rate, judging from the progress the United States is making, there is a chance for a few difficulties along this line. In the erstwhile, and even now, the job was comparatively simple. It was and is simply a question of going back to the days of the Revolution, colonial days, the days of the white haired grand dames. But the American of the future will have no such simple task. One's family tree must branch out and expand with the country. For instance, the men and women of the future will have to trace their lines through an ancestry thus geographically given: Indian, Mexican, American, Hawaiian, Porto Rican, Cuban, Philippinian, Panamaian and Alaskan. And yet these are only a few of the possibilities which might be mentioned in the same connection and for the same reason. Uncle Sam is an expansive sort of fellow, and just where he will quit one may not guess even in the wild recklessness of one's fancy. The American of the future may be put to the dire extremity of showing some sort of remote ancestry association with even the lynx eyed far easterners."

Disraeli's Meeting With Corry.

The first meeting between Disraeli and Montagu Corry is characteristic of the two men. It was at Raby, where they were fellow guests of the late Duke of Cleveland. "I had a great respect for your father," was Disraeli's comment on being made acquainted with the young man. On the second day there was rain, and the girls of the house party insisted on being amused by Montagu Corry, who was to organise charades and, as a beginning of merriment, had to dance a breakdown and to sing a comic song to the rattle of his heels upon the floor. Looking up through his long black locks—tumbled as they then were—he saw the sphinx standing in the doorway, his face grave as was its custom and his eyes with no concession of a gleam. The words of the night before came to his mind, "I had a great respect for your father," and now he added to these his own postscript, "And what a fool he must think me." That evening, after dinner, Disraeli waited for the young man, who felt acutely his position as a farceur. He expected a taunt. What he got was a hand upon his shoulder and the speech, "I think you must be my impresario."

—Among the latest arrivals from England are a lot of fine Soudan war pictures. See them at the "Framery," 428 George street.

—A committee of ladies and gentlemen have decided to give a concert in aid of the Lady Minto Hospital Fund. Watch for particulars.

—Among the permanent additions to the increased sales staff of Messrs. Robert Fair & Co., is that of Mr. Thos. W. Byam, who comes well recommended as a good general dry goods man.

—To correct a statement contained in yesterday's issue of the Examiner, it has been learned that the fire which destroyed so much property yesterday did not originate in the grocery store. The indications point to it having started in the hall-way or cellar under Mrs. Darnley's store.

The first intention of bringing on the Tankard finals early was to get them out of the way of rinks visiting Winnipeg. This reason, however, no longer exists. Peterborough Thistles made it possible for Flavelle of Lindsay, to leave for the west as soon as he pleases, and none of the Toronto rinks who intended going west are at all troubled with Tankard complications. — Toronto Telegram.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The extreme cold weather prevented many from hearing Rev. Mr. Irwin, Grafton, who occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church on the 17th.

The pastor of the Presbyterian church was in his pulpit at the usual time, but very few were present to hear the practical lessons taken from the text, "For we are made a spectacle unto the world, and to angels and to men."

Farmers are complaining of the want of water, and there is yet not much sign of a January thaw.

The prospects of $2 per bushel for wheat such as farmers received at the time of the Russian war, will induce many to hold back the delivery of their wheat at the present time.

During the past seven years the farmers have been storing up their overplus in the banks and paying off arrearages on mortgages, so that from reliable sources we learn that their indebtedness has been decreasing and that very few loans have been asked for during 1903. From this we learn that Ontario is prospering.

Miss Annie Gill of Pembina, was a visitor at Peterborough last week. She was delighted with the progress made by the town since her last visit, some twelve years ago. She is now staying at the home of her grand parents, Mr and Mrs James McLean of Mount Pleasant, during the winter so as to escape the blizzards experienced in North Dakota. The blizzards which we have experienced here lately seem to be following in the track of returning Northwest visitors.

No meetings will be held in the Sons of England Hall until Monday next, 25th inst. R. WARAM, Sec. Hall Trust.

A Benefit to the Public.

The stock taking of furs, which Clarke, the Furrier, started last week, was very successful. The reduction in prices which he had put on furs brought lots of buyers, and as a result he had a busy week. This sale will continue for a couple of weeks, and as his stock of furs is very large, the public are assured of some great bargains. He told our reporter he was determined not to carry over any furs this season and for that reason is offering these bargains. There is a beautiful No. 1 Persian Lamb Jacket, mink collar and facings, bust 34, was $165.00, now offered for $137.50.

Don't forget your pocket diary for 1904. We have a big assortment Prices begin at 10c, each, also The Canadian Almanac.

RETROSPECT AND LAMENT.

(A tale characteristic of earth.)

Inscribed to John F. Morse, M. D., of the Sanitarium Faculty, Battle Creek, Mich. whose only brother was a victim of Muskoka's November tragedy.

There were but two, brave brothers Will and I,
The childhood life went by Beneath a Western sky.

In thought threading once more those bygone ways,
These crowded earth days
Recall the tasks and plays.

In sunny nook, with birds and books and flowers,
With bees and cedar bowers
Sped by the pleasant hours.

Plucking the grapes until the school bells ring.
(Life was no aimless thing)—
Those purpling clusters swing,
In emerald set, and cheer me yet.

From crimson beet, pumpkins and carrots gold,
From onion—acre, roll'd
And mealy tuber's mold,
The goodly seeds from choking weeds defending.

The apple blossoms, the plum, the currant tree,
The hill-side views I see.
The fragrance of the lea
Floats from afar, like glint of star!

The frothy milk, the cream, the lowing kine,
Sealed jars of fruit and wine
Betimes come back, adown the track,
Like fabled fays of dreamy days.

The gorgeous sunset glow, the morning air,
The cottages below,
The daily voice of prayer
All vivid grow from long ago.

But oh, how changed! My mate in manhood's prime,
'Mid sleet and storm and grime,
Lays down the oar of Time.

No tongue can tell when, how, or where they fell.
Perfidious waves are dumb;
But evermore to homeland shore
Their requiem will come.

That fatal day they sailed away
To bring the winter's goods,
Before the lake with ice should make
A hermit of the woods.

At home they peer o'er billows drear,
As hopes and eyes grow dim,
Watching so long for him;

But nevermore, to friends and shore,
Across Muskoka's main,
Dear Will goes home again!

Muskoka, bright in gleaming light!
Muskoka, savage, grim!
Your lapping waves transform to graves
As they are hiding him.

End of Tom Scott.

A Weird Incident.

Some years ago the following strange incident took place in a west end club: There lay on the table in one of the rooms a list of members who had put down their names for an approaching house dinner. A workman on a ladder, who was putting the finishing touches to the decoration of the ceiling, let fall a single tiny splash of red paint, which dropped on the first name on the list and obliterated it as if with the stroke of a pen. Some of the members who noticed this occurrence thought it a very bad omen; others, like Hamlet, defied augury. But, curiously enough, the member whose name had thus been struck out was taken ill the next day and died in the club on the night before the dinner was to have taken place.—Golden Penny.

THE WHITE FEATHER

Russia Flying Signals of Distress, Asks Britain's Aid.

FRANCE IS AGAINST HER

Will Not Support Her Ally in a Far East War—Japan Ready For Emergencies—Japanese People Do Not Place Any Confidence in Hopeful Reports From Europe—Alexieff's Opinion.

London, Jan. 21.—A despatch to The Pall Mall Gazette from Berlin declares that the correspondent is in a position to announce positively that it has been decided at St. Petersburg that Japan's wishes shall be met in such a way as to secure the maintenance of peace. The despatch adds that the only question is whether Russia "shall declare her decision to Japan alone, or to all the powers interested in the solution of the Far Eastern question."

After Lord Lansdowne's reception at the Foreign Office yesterday the Associated Press was informed that the situation looked perhaps slightly more hopeful, but no definite statement could be safely made. The Foreign Office has reason to believe that Russia is willing to concede practically all Japan's demands, but she can not see her way to make a treaty with Japan recognizing in black and white China's sovereignty over Manchuria. Russia has approached Great Britain to urge Japan to forego this stipulation and to accept in lieu thereof the assurances to the same and already given to other powers.

It is pointed out at the Foreign Office that Great Britain, being such an interested party, is in a difficult position and can scarcely recommend such a course to her ally. For the moment the situation rests there.

FRANCE IS AGAINST HER.

Placed in Awkward Position By Two-year-old Franco-Russian Note.

Paris, Jan. 21.—There is strong belief that exchanges of communication are now going on between France and Russia concerning the position Russia will finally adopt in response to the last Japanese note. Long conferences between Foreign Minister Delcasse and M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador, are being held almost daily. Prior to these Russia had not consulted France.

Russia, appreciating the decisive nature of the issues presented in Japan's last note, desires to secure the advice of her nearest political friend and ally, and France wishes to exercise her influence to prevent a war in which she might become embroiled.

More particularly, France has begun to realize that she ought to be consulted concerning Russia's course in China, as Russia and France jointly promulgated the note of March 19, 1902, setting forth that they would act together concerning the integrity and free development of China.

This cause is construed here as restricted to the eighteen provinces of old China, and as not applying to Manchuria and other parts of the country.

France Would Not Fight.

Berlin, Jan. 21.—The German Government has become privy to the fact that France declines to give Russia any assurance of armed help, should war be the outcome of the Far Eastern differences, even should Great Britain aid Japan.

PEELING MORE PEACEFUL.

Even Russian Viceroy Alexieff Inclines to a Diplomatic Settlement.

London, Jan. 21.—All the special despatches from St. Petersburg this morning reflect the more peaceful feeling which prevails here. The despatches from Tokio represent the situation as unchanged.

Viceroy Alexieff's Present Inclinations.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says he learns that the Russian Viceroy Alexieff now inclines towards efforts for a diplomatic settlement on the ground that war would check the natural course of events which must promote Russian aspirations in the Far East. The correspondent argues that the key to the problem is the army and not the navy and that no artificial barriers can long prevent Russia from playing a prominent role in the Far East. Russia's main strength lies in her land forces, the correspondent concludes, which are not yet sufficiently in evidence.

Appeal to the Powers.

The correspondent at Tokio of the Reuter's Telegram Company cables that the Privy Council met yesterday and received a lengthy and detailed report from the Foreign Minister Komura on the negotiations with Russia. No statement of the proceedings will be given out at present.

Japan newspapers publish a report from continental sources, the correspondent continues, that Russia has decided to appeal to the powers to avert war. This is regarded here as proof of Russia's unreadiness to make satisfactory concessions.

Japanese Urgency Ordinances.

The Times correspondent at Tokio cables that the Privy Council had adopted drafts of urgency ordinances relating to defences, the transportation of troops by rail and the organization of a field postal service.

Preparations For War Continue.

Preparations are being made, the correspondent goes on, for the issue for a short period domestic loan.

Voluntary subscriptions are pouring into the treasury Little confidence is placed in the pacific reports received from Europe, and the symptoms of growing unrest in the Corean provinces create anxiety in Japan.

Peace Prospects Improving.

The correspondent of the Times at Vladivostock under date of January 19, cables as follows: "No military movements are being made here towards the south and the prospects for peace are improving. I am informed that work has been suspended on the new railroad through Mongolia to Kalgan."

Wants Old Suzerainty.

The Seoul correspondent of The Daily Mail reports the Emperor of Corea as now favoring a resumption of the Chinese suzerainty, fearing that either the Japanese or Russians will destroy the Coreans.

Britain and Japan v. U.S.

Other despatches published here this morning refer to the probable removal of Viceroy Alexieff to Harbin and to the sending of a Corean officer to Port Arthur to see Alexieff on behalf of the Corean Government. It is also reported that United States Minister Allen at Seoul desires the opening of Wiju instead of Yongampho while Great Britain and Japan insist that Yongampho be opened.

To Guard the Frontier.

There is no doubt in putting this (the first decently large range of extra full sized underwear) before the public that we will not only have a liberal response, but again share the laurels of anticipating and catering to the wants of the people.

ELECTORAL ROTTENESS IN TORONTO "THE GOOD."

The Conservative members in the House and the Opposition press make charges against Liberals of corruption in political affairs a chief feature of their speeches and articles. This in itself is quite within their rights, but when an attempt is hypocritically made to make Liberals the only offenders in this respect there is room for assuming that the purity of political methods is not their only object. They palpably strive to convey the impression that the Conservative party is pure and that all the wrong doing is on the other side. At the nomination meeting at North Oxford on Tuesday the political sinfulness of the Liberals was the theme of every Opposition orator. It seems to have been forgotten that at that very moment in Toronto, a very hot bed of Conservatism—a "Tory hive" if there is one in Canada, even in the petty struggle for municipal office, there was being disclosed an appalling degree of corruption implicating officials long prominently and actively identified with the "Tory" machine. So far as preliminary investigation has gone the evidence goes to show that plugging and personation have been exclusively practiced in the interests of Conservative candidates and as a result one polling official, the Secretary of the Fourth Ward Conservative Association is in jail charged with personation, and another in another ward, where considerable plugging has been substantiated, is under grave suspicion. He is also a prominent ward worker in Conservative interests. There is no doubt that extensive electoral frauds have been perpetrated, and that in the conduct of the municipal elections Toronto has in the corrupt means adopted and practised to secure the return of Conservative candidates, maintained her reputation as the centre of the corrupt political influence that has so long and so extensively prevailed in both Provincial and Federal election contests.

These circumstances are mentioned to show that while the Conservative party is preaching purity it is practising and politically profiting by gross corruption. It is also interesting to recall that it was in Toronto, under Conservative auspices, that corrupt manipulation of the ballots was, if not originated, at least reduced to a system; it was in Toronto, "the Good," — because Conservative — that the plot was hatched, or endorsed, to "do up" the Grits in Manitoba in the elections of 1896, by the system of ballot-stuffing. It was in Toronto that the Conservative headquarters sent out printed instructions explaining minutely how to "do the Grits" by "slipping," "switching," "stuffing," and "spoiling" ballots. The results of the late municipal elections in Toronto indicate that the secret has not been lost, but that the lessons in ballot stuffing, plugging and personation, have been well remembered. If the Conservatives will resort to such methods in contests among themselves, is it to be expected that they would hesitate to employ them against their political opponents?

We do not need to go outside the inner circle of the Conservative party in Toronto, for incriminating information. In 1902 the proprietor of the Toronto World was defeated in a contest for the Mayoralty, and in his own paper he charged that the defeat was due to the machinations of the Tory "machine." The World declared thus:

"The public are being aroused at last to the existence in Toronto of an organized machine of professional corruptionists. They have a nest (the Albany Club) in the centre of the city. They handle the money of corporations; their mission has been to corrupt representatives of the people, and to corrupt electors, most of all to invade the one thing that ought to be sacred in politics, the ballot box."

One may have thought that this outbreak was only the wail of a defeated candidate, but subsequent circumstances have verified it. The revelations in connection with the late municipal elections in Toronto, indicate that the Conservative "organized machine of professional corruptionists" is still in good running order, and that "most of all" the ballot box has been invaded—"the one thing that ought to be sacred."

At the same time we have the Conservative organs, little and big, and the Conservative orators, little and —otherwise—, charging Liberals with corruption, and claiming for themselves the championship of purity. "Satan reproving sin," is a salutary religious function, compared with Mr. Whitney and his satellites condemning political corruption, while his and their own skirts are reeking with political impurity.

THE TEMPERANCE SITUATION.

Advanced temperance legislation is one of the questions to be brought before the Legislature during the present session. No announcement has been made as to the character of the legislation proposed, or as to the extent to which the restrictive principle will be carried, says the Globe. The referendum vote on the question of prohibition, taken in December, 1902, is regarded by the Premier as a significant indication of the temper and trend of public opinion throughout the Province. Had it not been that so much time was spent on the Gamey case it is probable that a measure of advanced legislation, the outcome of the referendum campaign and vote, would have been introduced at the last session of the Legislature. This question touches the interests and absorbs the attention of the great body of the people more closely than does any other question raised by the sessional programme, and its solution will tax the wisdom of the wisest and the ability of the strongest.

The fact that this temperance question will not down is proof of its importance. Its steady continuance through generation after generation is because it touches the rights, the duties, and the self-interests of men. It is moral as well as social and commercial, and every step forward reveals the necessity for still another step. The persistent recurrance of the temperance question in every political campaign proves not only the irrepressible vitality of the question, but also the inadequacy of any solution thus far presented. The present license system, with its open barrooms and organized traffic, is not the last stage of the temperance movement in Canada. That system has served an excellent purpose and was necessary in the evolution of the temperance movement. Some day it will be seen to be outgrown, and the new ideas will work through new machinery.

What should be the next step? Some say an amended license law. Others would go at once and directly to the utmost limits of prohibition allowed by the constitution to Provincial Legislatures. The referendum vote gave that alternative a strong argument. Is there between these two extremes of temperance opinion 'any intermediate stage which would have a more substantial force of public opinion behind it? In answer there comes a voice which seems stronger and steadier than either of the others, calling for the closing of the barrooms and the sale of liquor only in shops under some form of public control. That proposal has gathered strength and impressiveness during the past year, and not a few ardent temperance advocates find in it the organizing idea of the legislation they regard as best suited to the conditions and needs of the present situation in Ontario. But that is a large question and claims full and serious consideration.

DO NOT WALK ON THIN ICE.

If You Have Catarrh You are in Danger—It Breeds Dyspepsia, Bronchitis and Consumption.

Aside from the extreme offensive and odious nature of the disease catarrh is also very dangerous if left to run its course unchecked. The constant droppings into the throat, which are mostly swallowed during sleep cause poisonous disorders of the throat, stomach and lungs which rapidly develop into dyspepsia, laryngitis, bronchitis and consumption. When these diseases become established, especially the latter, the result is too well known to need pointing out.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a certain and absolute cure for catarrh in all forms and all stages. Catarrhal conditions are always of the same nature, whether they exist in the head, throat, stomach, bowels or bladder, and these Tablets act on all alike. They cleanse, renovate and purify the entire system of all catarrhal poisons, and by thus going to the very root of the disease, effect thorough and permanent cures. This is the only way to treat catarrh as local applications, such as sprays, ointments, inhalations, etc., afford only temporary relief and the malady takes hold again with increased vigour.

An Indianapolis physician says:—"I prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets on all occasions, because I find they are most thorough and effective in their work. I have tried a great many prescriptions, my own and others, during thirty years of practice, but have never found anything quite so satisfactory in all respects as these Tablets. I have known the most stubborn and virulent cases of catarrh to yield time after time to Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend them."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. It will pay you to give them a trial and get away from the suffering, humiliation and danger caused by catarrh.

Result of Decoy Letter.

St. Catharines, Jan. 19.—Irregularities in the St. Catharines postoffice have been discovered recently. Letters have failed to reach those to whom they have been addressed, and some of them have been those which might be supposed to contain money. Suspicion points to a young clerk, Thomas Blake. A decoy letter was sent which was abstracted from the mail matter by the young clerk in question. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but the police were unable to find him on Saturday, and at noon yesterday Blake was still at large.

CHAS. M. HAYS, OF GRAND TRUNK, WRITES OF TRAIN SERVICE.

General Manager Presents an Explanation of Some Things Which He Admits to be Unsatisfactory and Promises an Improvement in Near Future.

Mr. C .M. Hays writes the following letter to the Toronto evening papers, in which he explains some of the causes for the admittedly poor service on the Grand Trunk Railway:—

"Without wishing to enter into a controversy over the situation, or prolong its discussion through the press, but because of the fear that silence on the part of the management may be taken as indifference to the welfare of our patrons, or an unwillingness on our part to recognize that there still remains room for improvement, I will ask the use of your columns for a short statement from the standpoint of the Grand Trunk Railway, relative to the complaints in regard to unsatisfactory service on lines in Ontario.

"Thanks to the great prosperity of the country, the Grand Trunk Railway Company has enjoyed with all the burdens of operation accompanying same, a period of constantly increasing traffic extending over the past six years, each succeeding year calling for increased facilities in the way of additional sidings and station tracks, heavier bridges and more cars and engines, all in a much greater ratio than it has been possible to immediately provide, even when using and spending money freely for the purpose named. It will be conceded that everything reasonable has been done in this direction by our company, when I state that within the period named we have spent on new steel bridges of a type designed to carry the largest of modern engines, $4,000,000. We have constructed 132 miles of additional second track in Canada, so that today the Grand Trunk System has five times as much double track as all other railways in Canada. We have built 335 miles of additional sidings; have added 11,723 new freight cars, 127 new passenger cars, and 208 engines to our equipment, at a cost of $10,399,565, and for this purpose have not only kept our own shops filled to the fullest capacity, but have ordered from outside shops, paying upon such importations the large duty required. The company has been very liberal for its expenditures for improved station buildings, both passenger and freight, with the result that 95 new passenger and 49 new freight buildings have been constructed, while 1,480 have been remodelled entirely or considerable expenditure made thereon.

"The criticism is made that these expenditures have all been made on the main lines, and that the side lines or branches have received but little, if any, benefit therefrom.

"When it is remembered that these main lines are the arteries or channels through which all of the traffic of the railway must be moved, each one of the branches contributing its proportion thereto, it will be at once conceded that it is but proper this portion of the line should first be put in condition to handle heavy traffic, or it will soon become clogged, and the situation on the branches be even worse than that complained of. Those of your readers who have been over those portions of the line on which the heavy work has been in progress will have noted that it has in many cases involved the disturbing of miles of existing track, thereby necessitating slow time by trains, with the accompanying result of delay in arrival at terminals. This has had the same effect on the branch line train service as the proverbial row of bricks, where, the first being knocked over, all the balance are affected in the same way. Delay to any one of our through trains necessarily adversely affects the connecting trains from the many junction points. When to this condition of affairs, is added the inexperience of the great number of

NEW EMPLOYEES

made necessary by increased traffic, intensified by a period of more than usually severe weather, the situation becomes more aggravated, and it is not unnatural that unsatisfactory service is the result. It may be that the situation is worse on the Grand Trunk Railway lines than on other railways in Canada, but if this should be the case it is readily answered by the very much greater tonnage handled on the Grand Trunk Railway and the greater number of trains run in Ontario than upon any other system. I feel quite sure that the public will recognize that the officials and employees of the company are devoting their entire time exclusively to the business of the company, and are actuated by no other desire than that of giving the best service possible under the prevailing conditions. Fortunately the heavy expenditures before referred to have put us in a position where we can now, while still continuing the

WORK OF IMPROVEMENT

on the main lines, turn our attention to doing more for the branch lines, in the matter of better equipment and improved train service, with, I trust, a greater degree of satisfaction to our patrons than they have experienced heretofore, and much more than they could ever hope to receive from any company not so well equipped as the Grand Trunk, with double tracks, extensive terminals, and large supply of rolling stock. This is not intended in any way to justify or excuse any omission on the part of either officials or employees to do those things which pertain to the proper transmission of railroad business, but merely as an explanation for some things which the management admit as unsatisfactory to themselves as well as to the travelling public, but which we hope may be bettered within the near future.

Respectfully,
Chas. M. Hayes,
2nd Vice-Pres. and Gen'l Manager.

SOME BIG FELLOWS.

A Kentucky man is suggesting a reunion of giants at the St. Louis Exposition, says the Ottawa Journal. There is, according to him, an Eastern Kentucky a family of seven sons whose height runs from six and a half to seven feet, and he proposes that the state arrange for them to form the nucleus of a re-union of giants, which would undoubtedly prove a popular attraction at the Exposition. There were eight in this family, but one of them died. They are middle-aged men, mainly farmers, finely built, and of good appearance. The committee to whom Mr. Gunn sent the suggestion has taken the matter up with the Kentucky Exhibit Association, disclosing the identity of the family, and an effort will be made to induce the men to go to the proposed re-union.

Canada would possibly not be desired to send delegates to the proposed re-union, but if the St. Louis people wished something choice from this side and were to offer proper inducements, they could get the right kind of men. One bunch, it may be remembered, exists not far up the Gatineau. The Journal some years ago published a portrait of ex-Reeve Muldoon of Onslow, Wright county, six feet, seven inches in height, weight 356, one of seven brothers, all of somewhat similar proportions. We don't believe the Kentucky family could beat the Gatineau men, and doubtless a good many other very hefty families could be discovered in Canada with slight effort.

SPICE FOR OXFORD

Conservatives Are to Import R. R. Gamey, M. P. P.

MANY MEETINGS ARRANGED

The Liberal Arrangements—Strenuous Nature of the Fight in North Oxford Everywhere Manifest—Liberals Now Working Energetically to Retain Old Time Majority—Many Meetings Being Held.

Woodstock, Jan. 21.—Spice was added to the campaign gossip yesterday morning when it was definitely announced by Mr. Robert Birmingham that Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., would gratify the desire of many Conservatives and come into the riding. Mr. Birmingham has arranged that Mr. Gamey shall make his first speech in the riding to-night at Embro, the home of Lieut.-Col. Munro, and a strong Reform centre in the solid Liberal township of West Zorra. At the last election Mr. Muma polled only two votes in Embro. The nature of the reception Mr. Gamey will meet with there is the subject of no little speculation in Woodstock, but the general opinion is that the stalwart Liberals of the district will see that fair play is given. Mr. Birmingham also stated that if the Liberals who have rented the Opera House for that day do not use it Mr. Gamey will speak here on Monday evening.

The Liberal Arrangements.

At the Liberal headquarters it was stated that a meeting in the interests of Lieut.-Col. Munro has been arranged for on Monday evening at the Opera House. On every hand evidences are manifest of the strenuous nature of the fight that is being waged by both sides. At first the Liberals were inclined to take for granted that the old-time majority would be forthcoming as a matter of course. The entrance into the riding of Messrs. Robert Birmingham and A. W. Wright, the Conservative organizers, and the information that simultaneously with the appearance of these gentlemen a score of their well-known lieutenants who were working in North Renfrew have disappeared from their usual haunts, have, however, combined to arouse them, and they are now working energetically. The organization has been left entirely in the hands of the local men in each municipality, who are working in co-operation with the Woodstock committee, of which Mr. James Hamilton is convener. The Liberal headquarters are in the comfortable rooms of the Young Men's Liberal Club in this city. In the registration last week 286 names were added to the list of voters. What effect this addition will have on the result is not known, as both sides claim a majority of this vote.

Many Meetings.

The Liberals opened their platform campaign last night by rousing meetings at Ferguson's schoolhouse and Bright, as well as at Drumbro, Lieut.-Col. Hegler of Ingersoll, and Messrs. John A. Mackenzie, H. P. Welford and J. S. McKay of Woodstock, were the speakers at the schoolhouse. The meeting at Bright was addressed by Messrs. E. A. Nesbitt and A. Bicknell of Woodstock.

The Conservatives held five well-attended meetings last night at widely scattered points in four different townships. They have a large array of outside speakers. Those who spoke last night were Messrs. W. Princeton, J. P. Downey, M.P.P., J. G. Wallace and R. E. Butler, the candidate. At Cassel, Hugh Clark, M.P.P., Nelson Monteith and Mr. Weidenhammer of Waterloo; at Thamesford, E. A. Dunlop, M.P.P., Joseph Gibson and J. L. Paterson of Ingersoll; at Kintore, J. S. Duff, M.P.P., and Peter Macdonald; at Hickson, A. A. Mahaffey, M.P.P., and J. Y. Ormsby.

The big guns on the Liberal side will be fired at the mass meeting in the Opera House on Saturday afternoon, when Hon. James Sutherland, Hon. John Dryden and Hon. E. J. Davis will speak.

The Conservatives hold their big meeting in the City Hall here on the previous evening (Friday), when Mr. J. P. Whitney and Mr. J. J. Foy, K.C., will speak.

NEARLY ASPHYXIATED.

Six Members of a Brougham Household Have Close Call.

Brougham, Jan. 21.—Early yesterday morning at the residence of John Patterson, he, his wife, son and daughter, and two Miss MacKays, from Oakville, narrowly escaped death from suffocation by coal gas. Mrs. Patterson had risen to get her husband a glass of water, and in passing the stove took off one of the lids to check the fire. The lid, not having been replaced, the gas escaped freely into the rooms. At 5.30 they all felt very sick, and Miss Patterson and one of the Miss MacKays fell to the floor when aroused. A doctor from Claremont was sent for, but did not arrive till ten o'clock. He found the patients in a serious condition, the young ladies having been unconscious for over an hour, and they are still under treatment, though out of danger.

Government Blamed.

London, Jan. 21.—The inquest into the death of Lance-Corporal Burnett, killed by the explosion at Wolseley Barracks, ended about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The jury found that the deceased came to his death by scalding, and that the Government was to blame for not having a competent engineer in charge, as a similar accident occurred here several years ago.

STARTLING STORY OF MRS. ADAMS.

Stricken With Bright's Disease, all Hope of Life was Abandoned.

Her Restoration to Health Causes a Sensation in the Medical World.

Doctors Gave Her up, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her Completely.

Collingwood, Ont., Jan. 20. — (Special.) — While Canada stands aghast at the terrible inroads Bright's Disease is making on the ranks of the brightest and best of our citizens; while the medical profession stands helpless before the dread destroyer of life, Collingwood has among her citizens one who knows all its terrors, who has been carried down by it till the portals of death were open to receive her, and who to-day is a strong, healthy, happy woman—a woman who knows Bright's Disease in all its hideousness, but who fears it not, because she knows its cure.

Mrs. Thos. Adams is this lady's name, and she has now been a resident of Collingwood for a year and a half. Before that she lived in Burk's Falls, where she is widely known and highly respected. Mrs. Adams feels it her duty to spread the good news all over Canada, all over the world, that she has found a cure for Bright's Disease, and that that cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MRS. ADAMS' STORY.

"Yes," she said, when interviewed regarding her case, "my friends can tell you how terribly ill I was. My doctor pronounced it Bright's Disease and Sciatica, but I got no relief from anything he gave me. It was Dodd's Kidney Pills that drove away the terrible disease, raised me from my bed of suffering and made me a well and happy woman.

"I was for years troubled with a pain in my back; at times I would have to keep my bed. In March, 1900, I got so bad with pains in my back and hip that I was more helpless than any infant, and at times gave up all hope of getting well. I had no power in my back or limbs.

"I was for eight months an invalid and my sufferings during that time were something too terrible for words to describe. My doctor said I had Bright's Disease, but he could do nothing to give me relief.

HOW THE CURE CAME.

"It was then a friend of my husband induced me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had no faith in them, for I never expected to get better, but I tried them and I thank God that I did. They brought me relief almost from the first, and after taking three boxes I was able to do my own work and look after the children.

"It is three years since I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I have not had a return of my trouble since. When I feel a little out of sorts I just get a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they drive all the pains away."

It is needless to say Mrs. Adams' friends all use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They find that a remedy that cures Bright's Disease, easily dispose of all the earlier stages of Kidney Complaint.

Liffeacy Soap—disinfectant—is strongly recommended by the medical profession as a safeguard against infectious diseases. 25

$3,500,000 SURPLUS

Splendid Financial Position of the Province of Ontario.

1903 SURPLUS IS $578,000

When the Public Accounts Are Brought Down, It Will Be Found That the Financial Transactions of Last Year Were Entirely Satisfactory—In the Legislature—Two More Speeches on Address.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—The year's financial transactions by the Ontario Government will be shown to have been most satisfactory, when the public accounts are presented in a few weeks. A preliminary statement, prepared yesterday, shows a surplus for the year of over half a million, with three million dollars in the bank at present, and a total surplus of a half million more.

The statement in detail shows that the total receipts by the Province of Ontario during 1903 were $5,469,298; total expenditures, $4,890,982, leaving a surplus for the year's transactions of $578,316. On December 31, 1902, there was in the bank to the credit of the Province $1,415,510. A year later, on December 31, 1903, this had increased to $1,993,827. Since then the revenues received brought the money in the bank on January 20, 1904, up to a total of $3,094,193.

A glance at the assets and liabilities showed a surplus on December 31, 1903, of $2,552,827. Counting the increase in the cash received since the close of last year, the total surplus of assets over liabilities at the present time is in the neighboorhood of $3,500,000.

In the Legislature.

Two more speeches in the Legislature's debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne were finished yesterday. Mr. Lucas, who commenced his speech on Tuesday, continued for about an hour and a half. He criticized the Government for not prevailing upon the railways of western Ontario to keep their tracks clear during snowstorms, and also complained of the irregularity of the service at all times. These were matters which should occupy the Government's attention rather than such trivialities as their supporters had been using in their speeches since the opening of the present session.

Mr. Preston, who followed in a remarkably logical address, twitted the Opposition on having to find campaign material in the railway service, a matter wholly within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government. He took it as an indication that there was nothing of which to complain in Provincial Administration. Mr. Preston also scored a strong point when he said that if Mr. Gamey was really bribed it would have been his first duty to inform his leader. In the great bribery case of 1884 the members who were approached handed the money to the Speaker at once. Mr. Hoyle moved the adjournment of the debate. Hon. Mr. Davis will probably follow, and after him will come Mr. Downey.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible bu tit was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by all druggists.

ON MILITARY STAFF.

Lindsay Colonel Appointed Chief of Railway Intelligence.

Lindsay, Jan. 21.—Col. Sam Hughes has been notified from Ottawa of his appointment as Chief of Railway Intelligence, giving him a position with the military headquarters staff. Some weeks ago Col. Hughes discussed with the G. O. C. the plans of the country's defence and pointed out the great value in utilizing the railroads of Canada in this work. The appointment follows.

Victoria and Haliburton.

Lindsay, Jan. 21.—The Conservatives of the biggest riding in Canada yesterday selected Colonel Sam Hughes, M.P., to be their candidate in the next general election. Colonel Hughes received the nomination on the first ballot from Dr. Vrooman, sitting member for Victoria South, which with Victoria North, Colonel Hughes' present riding, and with Haliburton, away up to the north, constitutes the new constituency of Victoria and Haliburton. The vote stood, Hughes, 277; Vrooman, 110.

May Not Be Opposed.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Globe special.)—Nominations in Rouville and Westmoreland, N. B., are fixed for the 30th inst. It is expected that Messrs. Brodeur and Emmerson will be returned unopposed. If an election is necessary it will take place. Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Inland Revenue, took charge of the department yesterday morning.

Notes From Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—A deputation is arranging to go to Toronto and ask for a grant of $10,000 from the Ontario Government in aid of the Fat Stock Show here in March.

The Federated Council of Churches are going to make a canvass of the city in order to ascertain those who do not attend church.

Mr. Wade Again.

TRENT WATERWAY ASSOCIATION MET.

In the Town Council Chamber This Morning.

A Large Attendance Present—Several Resolutions were Adopted—The Business Transacted.

A meeting of the Trent Valley Waterway Association was held in the Town Council Chamber at 10 o'clock this morning, when there were present,—President D. Gilmour, Trenton, in the chair and Messrs. Kilbourn, Lakefield; A. Payne, Warsaw; W. T. C. Boyd, Bobcaygeon; F. W. Fowlds, Hastings; Thos. Sadler, Lindsay, and J. Dran, H. O. Fiske, E. G. Petterson, R. B. Rogers, A. Macdonald, Mayor G. M. Roger, Ald. E. F. Mason, J. H. Larmouth, John Carnegie, R. R. Hall, R. M. Dennistoun, W. Henderson, Ald. R. F. McWilliams, D. H. Moore, D. Hughes-Charles.

Mr. Kilbourn, in the absence of Mr. Shook, and on behalf of the committee appointed to interview the Government, stated his regret that he had not much to report. They had laid their case fully before the Government, who on their part stated their willingness to do all in their power in the interests of the public good, but that they were not in a position to act as they would like, on account of the fact that the Dominion Government controlled a portion of the waters. He urged that the committee interview the Dominion Government at Ottawa, and he firmly believed by continual persistence the canal would be completed. He was pleased to see Mr. R. R. Hall present, who was nominated for election to the Dominion House. He hoped Mr. Hall would do all in his power to carry the canal through.

The President thought Mr. Kilbourn's report very satisfactory and called upon Mr. R. B. Rogers for some remarks regarding the northern waters.

Mr. Rogers stated that different lakes could be reserveired as he had reported at the last meeting of the Association. He remarked that on the Gull River alone there were over a hundred lakes which totaled up 100,000 acres. Some of those are large lakes two or three covering an area each of 3,000 acres. On the west branch of the Burnt River there are about 30 lakes, while on the middle branch there are about 12 lakes and on the east branch of the same river about 25 lakes. He enumerated a large number of other lakes in that district. Among those he said that on the Squaw River there were three lakes of fair size; on Deer Bay Creek there were about 13 lakes with an area of 25,000 acres. On Buckhorn, Chemong and iPgeon Lakes there were about 20,000 acres.

At the present time, Mr. Rogers thought, we did not appreciate, through, generally, lack of knowledge the value of the conservation of the water in our back lakes. He did not think there was any way by which you can distribute wealth so cheaply as by electricity.

Mr. Rogers' address will be published in full to-morrow.

Mr. Carnegie suggested that the estimated cost of conserving the waters in two or three of the back lakes be ascertained and put point blank before the Government.

In answer to Mayor Roger, Mr. R. B. Rogers stated that there were a number of small dams already constructed which were not now used in conserving the water, but which could be used.

Mayor Roger suggested that this fact was a good one for the Association to begin with.

Mr. Kilbourne said that in Ottawa he had heard that if a fight were put up by the people on these waters, then the Government would make an appropriation for the plans. He was firmly of the opinion that if a strong deputation visited the Dominion Government, and laid the facts before them great strides in the objects of the Association could be made.

On motion of Mr. Carnegie, seconded by Mayor Roger, the following resolution was adopted:

"That the Ontario and Dominion Governments be requested to make no further grants on the lakes or streams tributary to the Trent waterway pending the completion of a comprehensive scheme for the conservation of the waters; or in the event of the making of such land grants that they be made subject to the rights of either government to raise and maintain all adjoining waters as may be necessary for the purpose of such conservation." —Carried.

The secretary read the following list of firms more or less concerned in the conservation of the waters for the Trent Canal:

American Cereal Co., Peterborough, 600 hands.

Canadian Cordage Co., Peterborough, 175 hands.

Colonial Weaving Co., Peterborough, 50 hands.

White & Co., Lakefield, 7 to 10 hands.

Canadian General Electric Company, Peterborough, 500 hands.

Lakefield Portland Cement Company, 120 hands.

Twenty-five firms employing a total of 3,120 men.

The following report drawn up by the president was read:

The president of the Association then presented a lengthy report, the publication of which will be held over until to-morrow.

On motion of Mayor Roger, seconded by Mr. E. G. Patterson, it was resolved, that in view of the vast and growing navigation and manufacturing interests dependent upon a regulated flow of the waters tributary to the Trent River which have suffered during the past summer for want of a sufficient water supply and in view of the fact that there now exist a number of abandoned and neglected dams which if regulated might add materially to the existing water supply; that the Dominion Government be requested to take possession and control of all such dams as may be wanted for the purpose of conserving such waters and regulate the same for said purpose, and further, that the said Government be urged to secure control of all dams and strategic points essential to the establishment of a complete system of reservation and control of such waters.—Carried.

A second motion, moved by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, seconded by Mr. Hughes-Charles, was adopted,—That a committee consisting of the navigators, lumbermen and power owners interested, be appointed to wait on the Dominion Government, and to urge: First, that the Government take over the control and management of the dams at present controlled by the Ontario Government. Second, that the Government make an appropriation towards the repairs and maintenance of existing dams for the conservation of the head waters of the Trent Canal System for the purpose of navigation and for making preliminary surveys and obtaining the information as to the cost of the work and the value of the flooding rights if any. Thirdly, that the Government be urged to take such further action as the committee may think proper to suggest.—Carried.

Mr. R. B. Hall moved a third resolution which was seconded by Mr. John Carnegie,—That a committee be appointed consisting of Messrs. A. Stevenson, E. G. Patterson, R. M. Dennistoun, J. M. Kilbourn, R. R. Hall and representatives of other public bodies concerned, to make arrangements for carrying out the foregoing resolutions and to endeavour to see the Ministers of the Government regarding the resolution.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. Green, the bandmaster, has tested the instruments, and they surpass his expectations. The tone is full and even, and altogether the purchase was a most satisfactory one.

OPERATOR'S STAND IS TO BE MOVED.

C. P. R. Gates Will now be Operated from new Stand.

After considerable correspondence between the Mayor and the C. P. R. officials, the gates at the George street crossing will be operated from a stand at the crossing. This action on the part of the C.P.R., is one the agitation for which has been in progress for some time. A number of accidents, some of them serious, have been caused by the fact that the man detailed to operate the gates, could not see whether or not vehicles were approaching the tracks, and it has frequently happened that because of this inability to see the street on either side of the gates rigs have been shut in between the gates, with a train approaching upon them. This state of affairs was reported to the C. P. R. authorities, and the result is that to-day to operator's stand is being placed at the gates, where it will be possible to see the street on both sides of the track.

This will be a decided improvement and one which the public will appreciate. During the day there is a man whose especial duty it is to operate the gates, but during the during the night the baggagemen on duty attends to the gates in addition their other duties.

WILL PETERBOROUGH RANK AMONG CITIES?

"City Bird" Writes on the Question of City Incorporation.

Taxes Would not be Increased—Standing of Peterborough Would be Higher if it were a City.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I learned with some surprise through the newspaper reports of the meeting of the aldermen Monday night, that they had decided not to ask the Ontario Legislature to pass an act incorporating Peterborough into a city. I thought, as I believe the majority of the residents also thought, that when Ashburnham became a part of the town that this acquisition of territory and numbers would be followed by a request for incorporation. No other municipality in Canada having a population equal to that of Peterborough still remains in the list of towns. While I do not think it advisable to rush for city incorporation as soon as 10,000 of a population has been reached, as some towns have done. Still I think that with a population of 14,000, as we have now, the council would be quite justified, and would be but carrying out the wish of a majority of the electors if they apply for incorporation as a city. When our population was smaller and before the addition of Ashburnham, there was a good strong reason for remaining a town, but at the present time everyone must admit that there is not the slightest danger of the town having any serious set-back, and it seems almost ridiculous to think that with a population bordering on 15,000, Peterborough is still classed with the towns.

Those who are opposed to the plan to incorporate use as an argument their opinion that it is better to be a good town than a poor city. I cannot see that if we were a city Peterborough would be called a "poor city." Guelph is not known as a "poor city"; Kingston and Brantford are not called "poor cities," and yet Peterborough is almost the equal of any of these in point of population, and I venture to say that either of these places is much better known and much more favourably thought of than is Peterborough, for the simple reason that they are cities, and that, in itself, is an evidence of the progressiveness of the people. The question of increased taxes in case the town were made a city has no weight, because no one can point out any one item of expenditure which would be materially increased in the event of incorporation. The only objection that has been raised by the ratepayers to becoming a city is that there has been a general belief that this would necessarily mean an increase in taxes. When it is pointed out that this will not be the case, I venture to say that there are few electors who would not rather have Peterborough a city than a town, even though it may be "the best town in Canada." There is still time for the council to amend this, as I understand, the meeting Monday night was simply of the Committee of the Whole, and will recommend their decision to the Council.

I hope that the action taken by the committee will not be ratified by the Council.

Yours Truly,
CITY BIRD.

THE PRESENT FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

Should be Modernized to Meet Present Conditions.

Has Been in Use for 12 Years and Difficult to Repair—A Modern System Described.

At a council meeting held a short time back, His Worship Mayor Roger, referring to the system of fire alarms at present in use in Peterborough, stated that it was not modern, not even efficient, and should be replaced by an effective system if Peterborough is to maintain her lead among the towns of Canada.

The Examiner has instituted some enquiry on the present condition of the system, which, in a nutshell, showed the present method of reporting a fire to be antiquated. In this respect Peterborough is decidedly behind the other towns of its size in the Province, while there are towns, the census of which show them to be smaller in regard to population, that are equipped with a good and modern apparatus. Perhaps in all other things than this Peterborough can place itself in the front rank, and there amidst the larger cities of the Province. A bad fire alarm system undoubtedly harms a town. It is a serious thing to have ones factory, store or office completely destroyed by fire, yet perhaps this has on more than one occasion been so in Peterborough through the bad system of sending in the alarm. On several occasions, possibly, had the brigade been warned, perhaps two, or even one minute, before they were, the store or other building might have been saved from total destruction. The Examiner asked the opinion of several prominent business men who agreed that a more improved fire alarm system was badly needed in town.

The present system is all operated from the central office of the Bell Telephone Company. There are seven boxes, placed as follows:

No. 1—Corner of Dalhousie and Stewart streets.

No. 2—Corner of Park and Charlotte streets.

No. 3—Corner of Park and Elm streets.

No. 4—Corner of George and Antrim streets.

No. 5—Corner of George and Perry streets.

No. 6—Sherbrooke street.

No. 7—Corner of Park and Albert streets.

Each of these boxes have to be opened by a key before the alarm can be given. It would certainly not be an extravagant guess to remark that 90 per cent. of the people do not know that this key is kept in the nearest house, and has to be applied for there. Many a person has rushed to one of these boxes to send in an alarm in the early hours of the morning, and most of them not knowing the hiding place of the key have spent fifteen or twenty minutes trying to find a telephone. By the time the brigade is warned the fire has obtained a firm hold and it all means a very hard fight on the part of the firemen to save perhaps the entire block. Grant that the person wishing to give the alarm finds the key. He gives the lever a ring and the box number registers in the telephone office. The operator next has to leave her work and go to the fire alarm switchboard from which in turn she rings the fire station, and all the firemen's houses. After this the police are informed and a constable is sent to ring the fire bell. All these acts have taken at the least two minutes, in which time a fire can make great headway. However the percentage of people who know the whereabouts of the key to the box alarm is so small that it is only one case in twenty that the station is informed two minutes after the outbreak of the fire. Then again at night, when everybody is in bed, fire breaks out in a private residence. The owner jumps up, and finding it of a serious nature, and being unable to grapple with it, hastily dons his clothes and goes to look for the key. The thermometer shows a temperature of twenty degrees below zero, and after vainly trying to wake the inmates of the house in which is kept the key, he probably resolves to run to the fire station. This statement may be deemed by many incorrect, but when his house is burning over his head, even the one with the coolest nerves will probably do something which half an hour later he will admit as being absurd.

The next question is, "What is the remedy?" and of course the answer is, "A modern system of sending in fire alarms." In Lindsay, a town by the way, smaller than Peterborough, they have in use Gamewell's fire alarm telegraph. This consists of boxes in convenient places around the town, which communicate directly with the fire station, and do not have to pass through the telephone office at all. Moreover, a great advantage is the fact that the boxes, instead of having keys hidden, goodness knows where, there is a lever which can be turned by breaking a glass in front of it. The alarm from the box rings instantaneously in the station and firemen's houses, while it is so arranged that the fire-bell, immediately the glass is smashed, and the alarm sent in, tolls the number of that box. Thus directly a man sent in the alarm from box No. 212, the fire-bell would sound, Ding Ding—Ding—Ding Ding — the first two quick knocks of the hammer, meaning the figure 2, the next single clang standing for the figure 1, and the last two sharp clangs again for the figure 2. Thus the number 212 is immediately given out. Again the alarm is sent in by a modern system the doors of the fire-hall open instantaneously, as also do those of the horse stalls. For a town the size of Peterborough in order that the alarm might be speedily given, about sixteen of these boxes would be needed.

The advantage of the latter system over the present, which, by the way has been in use in Peterborough for the past twelve years, can be seen at a glance. The alarm rings instantaneously and direct to the station. There is no game of hide and seek over a key, and the firemen are the first to know of a fire. Then, also, by the fire-bell ringing the number of the box, "Central" is not assailed by a thousand and one (figuratively speaking) questions regarding the whereabouts of the fire, as most people would know where Box No. so and so was situated. Not only is the present system antiquated, but it is in bad condition, and past repair.

It is gratifying to know that the council recognise the condition of the system, and it is to be hoped that steps will be taken to instal a modern system.

SERIOUS RESULT OF RIDING ON SLEIGHS.

Little Girl Thrown off a Sleigh Before a Train.

A Practice Which Should be Stopped—Fatal Results may Teach the Lesson.

The danger and folly of allowing children to ride on sleighs and cutters was made painfully evident yesterday, and the price paid was almost a child's life. Agnes McKinley a little girl about eleven years of age, with a number of other children were riding on a delivery sleigh which was going along Dalhousie street, just at noon. The buildings on the north side of this street near the G.T.R. track, make it difficult to see a train approaching from the north. The driver warned the children that there was danger, and all but the one unfortunate little girl got off before the track was reached. As the sleigh reached the corner of Dalhousie and Bethune streets the driver noticed the 11.45 G.T.R. train approaching and whipped up his horse to get across the track, which he succeeded in doing, narrowly escaping being struck by the engine. The sudden start threw the little girl off, and she fell directly in front of the engine, the snow plow of which struck her, carrying her about 10 feet. The engineer, however, with presence of mind stopped the train within half an engine length, and fortunately the child was not seriously injured. She was carried into Mr. Dusty's house near by, and Dr. Pigeon was called. Beyond a severe shock and some bruises she was not injured, and was taken home, where she is now recovering.

The lesson seemed to have been lost on the other children, however, as a large number of them who had gathered around got on to the steps of the train as it started again and rode some distance before jumping off. The remarkable thing about it is that none of them were injured.

The practice among children, of "hitching" on to sleighs and cutters is becoming altogether too prevalent, and it is only the thoughtfulness of the drivers, in many cases that prevent serious if not fatal accidents.

A few days ago a boy was noticed attempting to jump on a sleigh on George street. His foot slipped and got under the runner of the rear "bob," where it dragged, giving the boy intense pain, until he could attract the attention of the driver to get him to stop the sleigh and help him get his foot out. The sleigh was full of children, who were laughing and talking, and the boy's predicament was not noticed.

Drivers would be conferring a favour upon the children and certainly upon the parents if they refuse to allow the former to jump on their sleighs.

There are other equally pleasant enjoyments which are immeasurably safer, in which the children may participate. But, it is quite likely that a fatal accident will have to be experienced before the much-needed lesson will be taught.

MAKING OF A NATION.

Hon. G. W. Ross' Summing Up of the Historical Events Which Made for Cleavage in North America.

Recently Hon. G. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, delivered an address at the Convocation of the University of Chicago. After stating the various historical incidents which contributed to the division of North America into two nations, he concluded as follows:

"Now, what is the significance of the various historical events which have entered into my narrative, assuming, of course, that I have stated them correctly? Do they not clearly indicate a tendency towards the segregation of British North America and the United States—a tendency not weaker, but stronger, in recent years? Are we warranted, then, on the facts submitted, in making any forecast of the future? I admit that the Divinity that shapes the destinies of a nation works on such a gigantic plan that no one standing at any point in a nation's history can speak with confidence of its relation to other nations in summers far to come. Looking back but a few centuries, the history of the world is full of surprises. One hundred and fifty years ago France owned at least one-half of this continent; now she owns only a few islands on its eastern coast. A little over a hundred years ago Spain owned one-quarter of North America and nearly all of South America; now she does not own an acre. What seer at the middle of the eighteenth century could have predicted the expulsion of either France or Spain from the western hemisphere. The most sanguine believer in the virtue of a democracy could see no sign in the heavens of this great republic, with its wealth of material possessions and its greater wealth of man and energy and national virtue, 130 years ago. Even within our own time, unlooked for and unexpected, the scattered fragments of the German Fatherland were welded in 'blood and iron' by the master hand of Bismarck, and Italy, the popular prey of internal factions, was consolidated by the statesmanship of Cavour. 'Fold up the map of Europe,' said the great Pitt, after he heard of Napoleon's victory at Austerlitz; but Napoleon passed away, and the forces which he attempted to stifle ranged themselves under other leaders, and the map of Europe resumed its former coloring.

"What shall be the coloring of the map of North America, even before this century closes, none of us can tell, nor need we vex the oracle for any Delphic forecast. Sufficient for us to know that Providence has imposed upon us, under different forms of Government, tremendous responsibilities, moral and national. We are possessed of an equipment for the uplifting of the people of which our fathers never dreamed. Are we using that equipment wisely? The printing press conveys a message from us daily to the firesides of millions of the people. Are we sure that that message has the potency of celestial wisdom and the renovating qualities of celestial fire? The college and the university lift us to the serener heights of reason and reflection. Are we sure that no prejudice follows in our ascent? The counsellors of the nation in Parliament assembled direct us along the highway of liberty and progress—are we sure that they are always trustworthy guides? To waste our energies in forecasting a future which we cannot determine would be a futile task: to realize the urgent demands of the present would be the only statesmanship worthy of our intelligence and our opportunities. Whether you are to be republican 'so long as time moves round in an eternal sphere,' or whether we are to be monarchical for a few brief years, is of small consequence compared with the duty imposed on each of us to make broader 'the foundations of freedom,' and show the world that the civilization of this continent, whether American or Canadian, endows its citizens with every privilege of civil and religious liberty which is necessary for their fullest happiness and their highest intellectual and moral development." (Loud cheers.)

are weeds. Unless they are kept down, they divert the nutrition which the soil provides from the growing crops and ruin their productiveness.

Diseases are to the body what weeds are to the soil. They divert the nutrition which is necessary to sound health, and the body, instead of being strong and hardy, drags out a sickly existence. When the stomach is diseased, and the other organs of digestion and nutrition are involved with it, there is a constant loss of nutrition by the body. The stomache and its allied organs are not able to convert the foods into nourishment, and hence the body and its several organs are deprived of the necessary elements of vitality. What is known as "weak" heart or "weak" lungs, "weak" nerves and other forms of so-called weakness, are generally caused by "weak" stomach. When the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition are cured, then the other diseases are cured with it. Diseases which are caused by a diseased condition of the stomach are cured through the stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases of heart, lungs, liver and other organs. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so that the whole body is nourished by an abundant supply of pure blood, rich in the bright red corpuscles of health.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it contains neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

Persons suffering from chronic forms of disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Suffered for Years.

"My gratitude to you and your 'Golden Medical Discovery' is so great," writes Mr. Ross Martin, of Arlee, Mason Co., West Virginia, "that I am at a loss to find words to express my true feeling. I had suffered for a number of years with lung and throat troubles, and doctored with specialists, but got no better. Then I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and after using it I was greatly relieved. I have all faith that it has saved my life.

"I have one of your medical books and think it a grand work."

Torpid Liver Cured.

"I was a sufferer from torpid liver for over a year," writes Mrs. Nora Willis, of Wheatfield, Jasper Co., Ind., "and could not sleep, nor eat but very little, and then it would cause me great distress. I tried several doctors but got no relief. Was advised by a friend to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and in a few days I received a letter advising me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also his 'Pleasant Pellets.' After I had taken only half a bottle I was greatly improved. I only took three bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of the 'Pellets,' and, thanks to Dr. Pierce and his wonderful medicine, I am as well as ever in my life, and feel that life is worth living after all.

"Last winter I took a severe cold which resulted in pleurisy. Tongue can not tell what I suffered. For two nights and two days I could not move without it nearly killed me. I told my husband I could not endure another night of suffering. The weather was so cold and stormy that it was almost too bad for any one to go six miles to town, but he went, and got a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Extract of Smart-Weed, which gave me instant relief. I can say that for all pains that I have tried it for it has worked like magic. We keep a bottle of the 'Smart-Weed' in the house all the time. I cannot thank Dr. Pierce enough for what he has done for me."

Constipation has almost countless consequences. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and cure its consequences. They should always be used with "Golden Medical Discovery," when the use of a laxative is indicated.

A Reporter Widely Mourned.

It used to be said that one never saw a reporter of over thirty-five years of age, but the late O. L. Ashenfelter of The Telegram was an exception, says The Toronto News. In fact, he was beyond that age when he first entered journalistic work, and his labors were almost entirely confined to the courts. During the twenty years of his experience there he rendered the newspapers and the public also a service that only those who knew the routine of reportorial work can appreciate. He was by nature the embodiment of benevolence, his face, his voice, his gentle and kindly manner suggested it, and it was his delight to take the young reporter under his wing, and as the phrase goes, "put him on to the ropes." The inexperienced lad found him ever a trusty friend and adviser. In covering the court assignments it is the easiest matter in the world for an inexperienced reporter with the very best intentions to get his paper into a libel suit, or cause some individual pain and annoyance. A man like Mr. Ashenfelter, to break in the newcomers and help them in his ever kindly and unobtrusive manner, was valuable to the whole city press. Of the score of reporters who, so to speak, passed through his hands at some stage of their careers, it is safe to say that there was not one but felt genuine sorrow at his death.

A Useless Phrase.

Bobby had returned from his first tea party, his round face wreathed in smiles. "I hope you were polite Bobby," said his mother, "and remembered your 'Yes, please,' and 'No, thank you,' when things were passed to you."

"I remembered 'Yes, please,'" said Bobby cheerfully, "but I didn't have to say 'No, thank you,' mother, because I took everything every time it was passed."

Excelsior as a Breakfast Food.

In Frankfort there is a man who believed a horse and carriage would help him in his business. He bought an apology for a steed and a box on wheels and set out to save car fare.

A druggist who knew him offered him a large bunch of excelsior, thinking that the horse would at least have a soft bed. About a week later the horse owner came back to the store and asked, "Say, doctor, have you any more of that curled wood?" "Why, no. But what did you do with the last lot?" "Oh, the horse ate it," said the unfortunate beast's owner.

Unfortunately, just about the time the animal became accustomed to the "curled wood" diet it died, and valuable statistics as to the operation of cheap foods were lost.—Philadelphia Press.

A Sleep Destroyer.

"Are you ever troubled with insomnia—sleeplessness?"

"I should say I am. Some nights I don't sleep three hours."

"That so! I've got it awfully bad. I've been afflicted now about two years. The doctor calls it neuris insomnis paralaxitis."

"I've had it about eighteen months, and we call it Ethel."—Schoolmaster.

Diplomatic Dick.

Bob—Are you fond of reading, Dick?

Dick—No, I hate it; that's the reason I pretend to like it. If my mother thought I didn't like to read she'd keep me at it all the time.

Matrimonial.

There is no doubt that the woman who loves you forgives you too much, while the woman whom you love forgives you too little.

A man in earnest finds means or, if he cannot find, creates them.—Channing.

Waves Faster Than Wind.

Waves travel faster than the wind which causes them, and in the bay of Biscay frequently during the autumn and winter in calm weather a heavy sea gets up and rolls in on the coast twenty-four hours before the gale which causes it arrives and of which it is the prelude.

Late Summons.

A fisherman who has been dead and in his grave for two years has been summoned for salmon poaching at Berwick-on-Tweed, England.

A Thin Spread.

BOTH CURED OF KIDNEY TROUBLE
BY
Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Benjamin Brooks, a well-known farmer of West Cape, P.E.I., tells of how his son was cured of Kidney Disease, and how he was cured of Backache.

The First Sign of Kidney Trouble.

He says: "Our little boy was troubled with kidney disease. We had tried many kinds of kidney pills but they only helped for a time. We got Doan's Kidney Pills and one box effected a perfect cure. About six weeks after this I caught a very bad cold that settled in my kidneys. My back was so sore I could hardly walk. I went to the drug store and got a box, took them according to directions and the result was that my back was completely cured. I believe they are the best kidney pill on the market to-day."

There is not a kidney trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Doan's Kidney Pills will not relieve or cure. The price is 50 cts. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 and may be procured at all dealers or from SWORD EVOLUTION.

The Transition From the Ancient to the Modern Blade.

A great many modern sword forms are really nothing more than descendants, or, rather, improvements, on the peculiar boomerang shaped sword of the ancient Egyptians, the parent of the scimiter, yataghan, falchion and saber. Africa, south of the Sahara, was perhaps the greatest museum for old swords in the world. In the Sudan and central Africa the old sickle and boomerang shaped swords, which the ancestors of the modern negroes received centuries ago from the Egyptians, were still made and in use. Moreover, the knights of Malta were at one time famous swordmakers, and their peculiar long, double edged blades, such as the crusaders carried, were exported to the Barbary states, where they were in large demand. From there they were taken across the Sahara to the Sudan and exchanged for ivory, and it was on this account that they were still found in central Africa.

In the sixteenth century a peasant living on the outskirts of Toledo, Spain, invented the famous Toledo rapier, which soon became the popular weapon all over Europe. Prior to that time the swords used in Europe were heavy affairs for hewing, slashing and cutting, but with the advent of the Toledo rapier men had to learn to thrust as well as to hack and slash. With the rapier came the art of fencing, the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries being the age of the sword par excellence.

Still Innocent.

"Senator, what was the nearest you ever came to being bribed?" asked the girl who always blurts everything right out.

"It was the time I voted for the postal box bill and received 7,000 shares of stock in the concern that was to make the boxes when the bill gave it a monopoly of the business."

"I should think that was a clear case against you."

"No. The measure didn't go through, and the stock never amounted to anything."

One Description of It.

"What," asked the teacher, "do you understand by 'the strenuous life' Does it convey any meaning to you?"

"Sure," replied the bad boy.

"What?"

"Why, what happens in the wood shed when pa gets home after you've been naughty," was the prompt reply.

Delays Are Dangerous.

Lover—And so your mother does not believe in long engagements? I am delighted.

Miss De Broker—Yes; mamma says ever so many girls' fathers have failed during long engagements, and the poor things never got married at all.

MORAL SUASION.

The Experience of a School Official Who Advocated It.

This story is told at the expense of a recently appointed supervisor of a public school in this city:

One day she happened to be visiting a school where a young incorrigible was undergoing punishment for a series of misdemeanors.

The teacher cited him as "the worst boy in the school—one I can't do anything with. I've tried everything in the way of punishment."

"Have you tried kindness?" was the gentle inquiry of the other lady.

"I did at first, but I've got beyond that now."

At the close of the session the lady asked the boy if he would call and see her on the following Saturday. A boy arrived promptly at the hour appointed. The lady shewed him her best pictures, played her liveliest music and set before him a luncheon on her daintiest china, when she thought it about time to begin her little sermon.

"My dear," she began, "were you not very unhappy to have to stand in the corner before all the class for punishment?"

"Please, ma'am," broke in the boy, with his mouth full of cake, "that wasn't me you saw. It was Pete, and he gave me 10 cents to come here and take your jawing."

A Living Book Marker.

The mystery of life has rarely furnished the thinker with so strange a problem as that which arises out of a fact instanced by Mr. W. H. Hudson, the naturalist. Mr. Hudson had a piece of snake skin, which for years he used as a book marker. It changed color periodically and shed its scales. It continued to shed its scales in this fashion for ten years, each succeeding set of scales being smaller than the last. Some fairly recent books would make even a hippopotamus hide book marker change color were it to find itself between their leaves. The sensitive book marker capable of blushing rose red or paling with emotion may no doubt be a feature in the literary life of the amazing future and perhaps in the literary world. "Some Emotions of a Moral Book Marker" is a thinkable title when we consider the strides of modern "thought."—London Outlook.

The Human Dread of Heart Failure.

ymptoms of Which Cause Constant Alarm Soon Disappear With the Use of
DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

The heart is looked upon as the very source and fountain of life, and the slightest defect in the workings of this organ is sufficient to keep one in constant dread of sudden and unexpected death.

Shortness of breath on slight exertion, irregular beating, palpitation and weak action of the heart are among the symptoms which cause uneasiness, and these indications of disease soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

With a liberal supply of rich, red, life-sustaining blood the heart plods on with ceaseless energy, forcing the blood through the body and patiently renewing its own waste, but just as soon as the blood gets thin, weak or watery, the symptoms of heart weakness appear and hold the victim in constant terror.

Because of its extraordinary blood-building qualities, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food thoroughly removes these symptoms and not only ensures regular and healthful heart action, but at the same time restores strength and vigor to the whole system.

Mr. J. Law, 247 Hunter street, Peterborough, Ont., and who is employed with the Peter Hamilton Co., states:

"For a long time I was troubled with severe splitting headaches and suffered a great deal with pains in the region of my heart, caused no doubt by indigestion. I procured a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and began this treatment. Since using this preparation for some time I can say that I feel quite different and my health is very much improved. My digestion is good, and the headaches and pains about the heart have not troubled me at all of late. I can sincerely recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a thorough cure for nervous dyspepsia and its accompanying symptoms."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 4

"THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND ME"

By JOHN BRIDGES

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

The two families had been close friends for many years. As schoolgirls the mothers had been at Mount Holyoke together, and the boys had been at Amherst and had graduated in the same class. Holyoke and Amherst are not far apart, geographically, and on walks about the Connecticut valley the four had fallen into company. Afterward there had been two weddings, and the two new homes were established in the same western city. The heads of the families went into law practice together, and the firm has lasted until this day, more than twenty-five years.

When the children were born it was quite natural that the boy should have been named Arthur Selden Hamilton, after his father's partner, and the girl Angela Hamilton Selden, after her mother's schoolgirl friend and companion. Arthur was almost a year older than Angela, and a year is a long time in the ages of youngsters.

When, after their high school days, it was decided that both should go to college, they left home on the same day in charge of Angela's mother and Arthur's father and journeyed eastward to the Connecticut valley.

Angela took her mother's old room at Mount Holyoke, and Arthur became established in his father's old quarters at Amherst. Somehow, though, after a few friendly and rather homesick calls Arthur fell into the athletic spirit. For the four years that he was in Amherst and Angela was at Mount Holyoke he saw her but little. She seemed to him to be the same little girl he had known when they played together on rainy days in the attic. To Arthur Angela had never grown up.

Afterward Arthur went abroad for a year's study, and Angela went to visit some friends at an army post farther west. When Arthur came home and found, instead of the schoolgirl he had known, a beautiful young woman he was scarcely prepared for the change. It was all foreordained. While he had seen pretty women abroad and at Amherst had almost proposed to a girl at commencement time he had been practically heart free. This vision of loveliness who kissed him frankly as a sister might took his breath away. When he left the Selden home that night it was with the intention of winning Angela Selden.

All that winter he saw much of her. At the parties they attended, at the theater or wherever he could make an excuse to meet her he was her devoted cavalier. In both the families it was regarded as a foregone conclusion that there would be another marriage to link the two families yet closer together.

One evening Arthur called at the Seldens' determined to ask Angela to be his wife.

"She must know," he thought, "how much I love her. If she will have me I'll take the governor's offer and go into the business with him right away. Then we can be married in the spring and spend June in the Connecticut valley."

Arthur climbed the steps which led up to the Seldens' veranda. On the veranda sat Angela and a man in uniform.

"Mr. Hamilton," said Angela, "let me present my friend, Lieutenant Allerton."

They shook hands. Arthur said something about being glad to see Lieutenant Allerton. Lieutenant Allerton said something about being charmed to meet Mr. Hamilton.

There was some music, and Allerton sang. He sang well, and Angela accompanied him as only a sympathetic musician can. Arthur felt a lover's jealousy. "Why couldn't he have stayed away till tomorrow?" he thought.

When Allerton rose to go he said, "Then mother and I may expect to meet you on Tuesday in Chicago?"

"Yes," replied Angela, "and tell your mother that I shall give her a great deal of trouble before we reach Leavenworth, for I am going to make her tell me everything about her boys at the fort. You know I fell desperately in love with every soldier there last summer."

Arthur stayed for a few minutes after Allerton had gone.

"Are you going away?" he asked in dismay.

"Yes," she replied. "Mrs. Allerton has asked me to visit her for a month at Leavenworth. The colonel is the dearest old man that ever lived, and—isn't Lieutenant Charlie just the handsomest boy you ever saw?"

Arthur said goodby hurriedly and walked miles into the country, smoking strong cigars.

"What a fool I am!" he cried. "Why didn't I know about these handsome soldier boys that she says she fell so desperately in love with? But what a fool I was not to tell her after Allerton went away. I'll go out again tomorrow and tell her all about it and make her choose between us. She must tell me which she cares the most for."

The next day he received a little goodby note from Angela, saying that her father wanted her to go on to Chicago for a day or two with him, and as he had been called away suddenly she had gone. The note continued:

"Write to me and tell me all the news, and when I get home in October we will finish that last round of golf. Remember, you are ahead of me now, but I promise to practice a lot at the fort, and I intend to beat you after all."

But before October came Arthur's father told him that he had good reason for thinking from something Mr. Selden had said at the office that Angela was engaged to Lieutenant Allerton.

Then Arthur had to go to New York on business for his father for several months. He heard from Angela once or twice, but she said nothing about her engagement. He had fought hard to quench his love for her, but the more he fought against it the harder the task seemed until finally he worried himself almost into nervous prostration. When he got home his mother was greatly alarmed at his appearance, but he told her he was quite well and that he proposed to go more into society than he had ever done before.

"What's going on tonight?" he asked.

"There isn't anything," said Mrs. Hamilton. "There's nothing going on this week, and at the theater there's nothing worth seeing except 'The Girl I Left Behind Me.'"

"Well, let's go to that," said Arthur.

When they took their seats in the theater the orchestra began playing the stirring old tune from which the play was named. Arthur turned in his seat and looked about the auditorium. Two rows behind him sat Angela and her father. Their eyes met. Angela smiled and almost beckoned him to come back and speak to her. Arthur bowed stiffly and turned to speak to his mother.

The next morning came a note from Angela.

"If you can possibly arrange it," ran the note, "I wish you'd come up and have tea with me at 5 o'clock today."

It was almost a command. Arthur went.

She came into the room with both hands outstretched.

"I am so glad to see you," she said. "What a bad boy you've been not to write to me!"

Then she looked at his face squarely in the light.

"Why, Arthur Hamilton," she cried, "what's the matter? You look as though you'd seen a ghost."

"No," he said. "I've only seen 'The Girl I Left Behind Me.'"

"What do you mean?"

"Nothing, only it seems that that is just what I am seeing now." And Arthur gazed into her eyes.

"Do you mean that you heard of my engagement and that"—

Angela stopped and blushed.

"Yes, I mean exactly that, and I hope you will be very happy and that Mrs. Allerton is pleased."

"Look here, boy," said Angela, unconsciously using the old childish name she used to call him, "do you think I got engaged to please Mrs. Allerton?"

"Well, I thought you were going to please the family that way—at least, not"—

He was getting into deep water. He turned and stared into the street. Then he looked back at Angela. There were tears in her eyes. He caught her in his arms.

"Will you please me this way?" he asked.

"I have always wanted to, boy, always and always," she said.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"There are thousands of sick women dragging out a weary, miserable existence, who would be well and happy did they but have my experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. Annie Lesman, of 105 Jackson St., Atlanta, Ga. "Four years ago I was nearly dead with inflammation and ulceration. I endured daily untold agony. And life was a burden to me. I had used medicines internally and externally until I had made up my mind that there was no relief in sight for me. A friend of mine endorsed your 'Favorite Prescription,' and I determined then to give it a trial. It took patience and perseverance for I was in a bad condition, and had to use your medicine for nearly four months before I was cured, but what a change it brought; from despair to happiness, from misery to the delightful, exhilarating feeling that only health brings. I would not change back for a thousand dollars. Your 'Prescription' is a grand medicine. I wish every sick woman would only try it and be convinced."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

But a good deal of blood is shed in the world that ought not to be shed, and a good deal of money is spent that ought to do and is the base of rational ethics; health of the body is also obtained through science, for medicine and medical skill depend on the knowledge of nature; finally, the commodities of life are furnished by science, which evolves the useful arts and makes man independent of, if not master over, nature. Thus the only way of making man happier and better is to work at the development of the sciences.—Harper's Weekly.

Jet and Coal.

The jet which jewelers use is nothing but coal of a very compact nature. In a Welsh country town there may be seen a footbridge made of coal, originally intended to be only a temporary structure, but found of sufficient strength and firmness to warrant its being used as a permanent footway. At Barcelona, Spain, there was constructed in 1888 a lighthouse of compressed coal blocks. On a portion of the southern English coast at a small point called Kimeridge circular shale disks with a square hole (very much like Chinese cash) have been turned up by the plow. Curious geologists who heard of the disks found that they were nothing but coal money, for it seems that in ancient England in pre-Roman days coins or tokens of coal shale were quite common and were perforated in order to be strung together (like Chinese cash) that they might be more conveniently carried. Not the least curious of the many applications of coal is coal porcelain. Coal flower vases, milk mugs, plates and saucers, book covers, clock frames, wash basins, inkstands, spools for lace work, candlesticks and scores of other articles are made out of coal at factories in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania.

The Windmill Point Fight.

B. Picton sends this very interesting sketch: From the obituary notice of the death of the veteran, J. C. Franklin, I see the same error occurs in the date upon which this fight took place that is in nearly all the late historical sketches of this fight or battle. Even Dr. Grant's story of it in Picturesque Canada falls into the same error. They give the date upon which it took place as in 1837, whereas it was in 1838. The first fight was on Tuesday, November 13, 1838, and the second on Friday, the 16th. I was a lad of twelve years of age, living at Prescott at the time. I was an eyewitness to the fight on the 13th November. I also saw the first shot fired by the little steamer Experiment at the large passenger steamboat called the United States, on the latter's return from landing sympathizers from Ogdensburg at Windmill Point. The Canadian force on Tuesday, the 13th November, 1838, consisted of one company of the 83rd regiment, regulars, under Lieutenant Johnson, who was killed; one company Royal Marines, under Lieutenant Harper, who was wounded in his left arm; the Prescott company of volunteers, under Capt. Dr. H. D. Jessup; a company of Glengarry volunteers, under Capt. George McDonald, and the yeoman militia from the neighboring counties, as well as those from Grenville County. Col. Fraser was, I believe, in command of the militia; Col. Plomer Young, regular army, was Commandant, stationed at Prescott at the time. The first attack was made in conjunction with the steamboats Cobourg, Traveler and Experiment, with a Durham boat as a gunboat. The attack failed to dislodge the rebels. A guard was kept up on the river, as well as on land, to prevent their escape till reinforcements should arrive from Kingston, with heavier artillery. The whole of the 83rd regiment, under Col. Dundas, arrived on Friday, the 16th, when a second attack was made. All the surrounding buildings near the mill were fired, and the last refuge of the rebels, the windmill, was the object of attack, the result being the final surrender of Von-shoutz and his men.—Toronto Globe.

English Palaces.

A Volcano.

"What is a volcano?" asked the teacher.

"A mountain with a fire inside," said one.

Boils were so painful could not sleep at night.

APPEARED ON NECK, LEGS AND ARMS.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURED THEM.

It is well-known to all that bad blood is the direct cause of all skin diseases and it is necessary for the blood to be cleansed before the eruptions will disappear. For this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters as the thousands of testimonials we have on hand will testify.

Mr. Willard Thompson, McNeill's Mills, P.E.I., writes us as follows: "I wish to state to you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Some time ago my blood got out of order and many boils appeared on my neck, legs and arms. They were so painful that I could not sleep at night. After having tried many different remedies without any success, I finally decided, on the advice of a friend, to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Before I had quite used two bottles the boils had completely disappeared, and I wish to emphasize the fact that I think Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier on the market to-day."

BEFORE THE BREAK.

When Patience Is Hard For the Strenuous, Energetic Mortal.

We are all familiar with the impatience which comes naturally with age and failing health, the intolerance of little hindrances, the inconsequence in argument, the petulance in comment, which are the first signs of senility. But there is another kind of impatience which has a wholly different meaning. It comes to the high spirited, strenuous man when he feels the hand of age on him or that premonition of death which the human body in some hidden way can give to its owner. A man whose soul is centered on a great ideal to which his life's work has been given chafes at the thought that he must be taken before seeing its realization. A man, again, of fiery energy whose days have been spent in conflicts may redouble his efforts at the prospect of their cessation and show an almost hysterical vitality in his closing years. It is a commonplace of literature. The men of the greatest power have the least toleration for petty triumphs, the most abiding sense of the smallness of their doings and the magnitude of their task. That line of "In Memoriam" which was one of the last utterances of Rhodes ("So little done, so much to do!") is a cry on the lips of all who fix their eyes on a far horizon. Haste to justify themselves, either to make practical some idea or to walk a little farther on the road, is the last infirmity of the strongest and best.—Spectator.

Catching a Tartar.

The trite phrase "catching a Tartar" is thus traced to its origin in an old cyclopedia:

"In some battle between the Russians and the Tartars, who are a wild sort of people in the north of Asia, a private soldier called out: 'Captain, halloo, there! I've caught a Tartar!' 'Fetch him along, then,' said the captain. 'Aye, but he won't let me!' replied the man. The fact was that the Tartar had caught him."

Grose gives practically the same story in his "Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue," 1785, but credits the misadventure to an Irish soldier of the imperial Austrian service in a battle against the Turks. The closing scene he varies thus:

"Bring him along," said his comrade. "He won't come," said Paddy. "Then come along yourself," replied the other. "Arrah," said he, "but he won't let me!"

Struggle and Strength.

Strength comes only through struggle—through struggle and earnest work—never through a frantic beating against the bars nor through self pity. Ill health is a prison of your own building, a prison wherein you are locked by your own thoughtlessness and lack of self control. Circumstances have something to do with it, and you may have inherited a tendency toward disease. In that case circumstances must be altered and inherited weakness outgrown. Both can be done. Earnest thinking and thoughtful work will move mountains.—Maxwell's Talisman.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, thickness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old form" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, stock stock brokers, ('Phone 416) have received the following:

Market opened firm with remarkable developments of activity in S. P. as the principal feature. Some of the more bullish commission houses claimed there was little more public interest. Floor traders thought activity in S.P. bore all the earmarks of one of Mr. Keene's movements. Bull argument is claim that net assets are worth more than present price of the preferred stock. Western houses were talking bullishly on grangers and Pacifics.—F. C. & Co.

A Number of Junior Teams Play Fast Games---Return of Belleville Game To-morrow Night at the Rink.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE GAME TO-NIGHT.

T. A. S.—Peterborough II Teams Will Play Fast Game.

The T. A. S. — Peterborough II. Trent Valley League Game to-night will see these two teams together for the first time this season, and there is bound to be a good hard game. Both teams have been practising consistently and both have been playing good hockey. Jack Hynes of the St. George's, Toronto, will referee the game, which will be a guarantee of its quality.

The puck will be faced at 8.15 sharp, and sixty minutes of the fastest kind of hockey is promised.

The Peterborough's line up will be:
Goal, Wasson.
Point, Glover.
Cover point, McPherson.
Forwards, Lee, Cameron, Ford and Renton.

RETURNS OF THE GAME TO-MORROW NIGHT

The Intermediate Game at Belleville Will be Reported at the Junior Game To-morrow Night.

To-morrow night the local junior O.H.A. team will play the Belleville juniors here, and a good game is promised. The home team showed by their work in the second half of the game on Tuesday night that they can play good hockey, and those who go to the rink to-morrow night expecting a good fast game will not be disappointed. The local team is determined to retrieve themselves from the defeat which they sustained in Belleville last week, and will put up a stiff argument.

The progress of the game in Belleville with the intermediates will be bulletined at the rink here, which will be the only place in town where returns will be received. A special wire has been run into both rinks, with an operator at each end, and returns will be received promptly.

The junior team will be the same as that which played Tuesday, with one exception, Macfarlane will not be able to play on account of sickness.

PUCKERINGS.

The Druggists, in answer to the challenge of the Ontario Bank team, contained in last night's issue, will accept the same when the challenging team has proved themselves worthy of its acceptance by winning at least two games.

* * * *

The Junior Colts hereby challenge the Senior Y. M. C. A. team to a game of hockey to be played either on the Y. M. C. A. rink or Brock street rink at as early a date as possible. This challenge may be answered in to-morrow's issue of the Examiner.—B. Laing, captain.

* * * *

The Night Owls of the Brass Department and the Chickens of the Wattmeter Department will come together in their first home and home game on Friday evening, January 22nd, at the Brock street rink.

The two teams half from the southern part of the city and some fast hockey is expected. The Owls have some fast men signed, including a man from the west who figured in the Stanley Cup games and also a member of the Suicide Club and others. Dazzler Patterson, the famous goal keeper, has been practising with marbles. He is a very promising youth at the position and will greatly strengthen the team. Si Wash Hopkins will shine at point for the first time this season, as he has been practising on the lawn and will be in good form. Dutchie Dormer will play cover point and will be seen Friday night for the first game this season. He has been practising very steadily and will strengthen the team considerably. Gunpowder Pedlar will be seen playing centre in his old position. He is very fast and will make things hustle. Capt. Pprout Grouse will rover the ice and he has had his team practising in his back yard for the last three months. Connection Board Curtis, a member of the Suicide Club, will play right wing for the Owls. No doubt he will make it interesting for the spectators in his brilliant rushes. Hinkie Dinkie Adamson, who has been playing many fast games this season will have a chance to show up for the Owls on Friday night. Game called at 10 o'clock p. m. Nuff sed. Referee Craig says this will be a good game as he is acquainted with both teams.—Com.

Yesterday the Young Nationals defeated the Y.M.C.A.'s by a score of 9 to 0 on the Y.M.C.A. rink. The Nationals have a good combination and are good stick handlers. Murray Nicholl scored the first goal by a pass from C. Coughlin. Lynch secured the rubber and rushed down the ice and passed to O Giroux, who scored. Giroux shot from centre and scored again. After a scuffle near the Y. M. C. A.'s goal Lynch scored. Coughlin scored for the Nationals again, making the score 5 to 0 at half time. The Y.M.C.A.'s came in to score but were unsuccessful. Conroy at cover point played a good game and Hefferhan at point put up a good game also. The Nationals scored three more making the score 8 to 0. L. Giroux in goal for the Nationals took good care of everything that came in his way. He lifted the puck from their goal and landed it between the Y.M.C.A.'s flags, making the score 9 to 0. Moore and Crane played the best game for the Y.M.C.A. The line-up was as follows: Nationals, —Goal, F. L. Giroux; point, F. Hefferman; cover point, C. Conroy; forwards, R. Lynch, E. Coughlin, M. Nichols and O. Giroux. Y.M.C.A.,—Goal, H. Meldrum, point, A. Dawe, C. point, C. Moore; forwards, McGuire, Crane, Mann and Laing. The Young Nationals will journey to Norwood a week from Saturday to play a team of that place.

IN TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE.

Trenton, Jan'y 19.—In the T. V. L. game here to-night between Colborne and Trenton, the home team won by a score of 5 to 0. It was a good, clean game of hockey, and free from rough play, not a man being sent to the fence.

DESERONTO BEAT BELLEVILLE

Deseronto, Jan. 19.—In a very fast and interesting game of hockey played here to-night between Belleville and Deseronto, in the Trent Valley League, Deseronto won by a score of 7 to 2. For Deseronto, McDonald and Prickett played well, while Adams was the star of the Belleville team. Owing to the train being late the game dragged out until after eleven o'clock.

COBOURG TRIMMED BRIGHTON

Brighton, Jan. 19.—In a Trent Valley League game here to-night, Cobourg defeated the home team by 4 to 3. The score at half time stood 3 to 1 in favour of Brighton. The game was fast and clean at all times, and well controlled by the referee, the winning goal being scored two minutes before full time. This is the first defeat the Brightons have suffered on their own ice for two years.

TUG-OF-WAR.

The Wm. Hamilton Company's tug-of-war team hereby challenge the Cordage Company's team, holders of the Sykes Trophy, for a contest for the cup, under the usual conditions. The challengers prefer to have the contest take place at the Drill Shed, and are ready any time. J. E. Sharpe, Captain.

Ice No. 2,—Frost vs. Ray.

A FREE TRADE VICTORY.

Result of Bye-Election at Gateshead—An Increase in Liberal Majority of Over Two Hundred.

London, Jan. 21.—(C.A.P.)—The Bishop of Hereford has written a letter denouncing the Bishop of Birmingham's gospel of protection as all in the interests of the rich and without mercy to the poor and needy, and a debasement of public life. It was the bounden duty of every Christian minister to oppose it.

A Free Trade Victory.

The bye-election at Gales Head, to fill the seat in the House of Commons made vacant by the recent death of Sir William Allan, advanced Radical, has resulted in victory for John Johnson, Liberal Free Trader, by a majority of 1,203 votes over Lord Morpeth, Unionist and Tariff Reformer.

The Chronicle says Mr. Chamberlain should find much interest in Mrs. Coates' new novel, "The Imperialist," which presents Canada's dream of preferential tariff with the motherland as an idea schemed out weeks before Mr. Chamberlain's fiscal speech.

An Insecure Foundation.

The Midlands Liberal Unionists Association says colonial cupboard love is an insecure foundation for the Empire.

A new organization called the "Imperial Labor Federation," formed at Manchester yesterday, has issued a manifesto to fight food taxation until we are in a position to produce in Greater Britain all we need ourselves.

The Standard's Comment.

The Standard says that the electoral calculations of the Tariff Reform Leaguers are ludicrously at fault. There is no sign whatever that the constituencies endorse the demand for fiscal revolution. The imperative duty of the hour is to rally to the support of Balfour's policy and repudiate the wedge of cleverage. If we construe his meaning to be a preferential policy it is not to be treated as an item on the official program, still less a Unionist test.

Will Have to Wait.

The Standard's Berlin correspondent wires that negotiations between Germany and Canada will unlikely be concluded until the fiscal question in England has been settled, although the German Government would be glad to dispose of the matter as soon as possible. The export of sugar of 13,000,000 marks in 1902 has completely disappeared.

All Asked to Help.

Greater Britain will be asked to contribute towards the Navyman Memorial Church at Birmingham; $75,000 has been promised. J. Nettlefold will be ousted from the position of treasurer.

The Modern Belshazzar.

The Chronicle has a picture of Chamberlain, with the heading, "The Modern Belshazzar," and the writing on the wall of the recent Liberal victories.

A Small Beginning.

Long before the Revolution a young printer in Philadelphia, when he had taken off his working apron at night, used to sit poring over his dozen of old volumes by firelight. He soon knew them by heart and hungered for more. But books were costly, and he had but little money.

He had eight or ten cronies, young men who, like himself, were eager for knowledge. Ranging his books on a shelf, he invited his friends to do the same, that each of them might have the benefit of them all.

Ben Franklin thus laid the foundation of the first circulating library in this country.

Why Kitty Is "Puss."

A great many years ago the people of Egypt, who had many idols, worshiped the cat among others. They thought she was like the moon, because she was more active at night and because her eyes changed like the moon. So they made an idol with a cat's head and named it Pasht. The same name they gave to the moon, for the word means "the face of the moon." The word has been changed to "Pas" and "Pus" and has come at last to be "Puss," the name the most of us give to the cat.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Bursting Steam Pipe Brought Down Large Section of Cambria Steel Works Roof—Men Killed and Injured.

Johnstown, Pa., Jan. 21.—An immense steam pipe directly over the engine in the boiler room of No. 3 mill of the Cambria Steel Company exploded about 1.30 this morning bringing down the whole section of the roof running from the puddling mill to the finishing shed of the mill. The woodwork at once took fire from the furnaces and at this time (2.30) is burning fiercely. It is known that at least two or three men are under the debris and it is not believed they can be rescued in time to save their lives.

Fifteen Men Taken Out.

About fifteen men have been taken out and have been either sent to the hospital or are lying on improvised cots in offices near by. It is impossible at present to learn the extent of their injuries but it is known that several are in a critical condition. Added to the fire and explosion disaster, a large water pipe burst and is flooding the ground about the scene of the accident.

One man, caught in the debris is in plain sight but can not be rescued, owing to the intensity of the heat. It is probable that none of the men penned in can escape. The accident occurred between turns and a great many men were seated in the mill.

$3,000,000 Loss By Fire.

Shelby, Ohio, Jan. 21.—The United States Steel Corporation sustained a heavy loss by fire late last night at the plant of the Shelby Steel Tube Company. The fire started in one of the smaller stock rooms from a defective electric wire and spread to the larger stock rooms, completely destroying all of them. The product of the entire plant for the past six months was destroyed within an hour, consisting of 80,000 tons making in all 25,000,000 feet of finished product and valued at $3,000,000.

Four Men Killed By Cave-in.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 21.—By a cave-in, in the East Gray Rock Mine, one of the Amalgamated properties, four men were killed and two injured.

Died From Shock.

Galt, Jan. 21.—William S. Echlin, for 12 years belt-fixer in the Goldie, McCulloch Company's foundry, died Tuesday night, from injuries he received. His arm was caught in a belt, and he was lifted to the ceiling. His arm was amputated.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

R. R. GAMEY FAILED IN NORTH OXFORD.

Man from Manitoulin Did Not Impress the Electors of Zorra.

Suspicious Outsiders Around Conservative Headquarters in Woodstock Interview Employes of Large Factories as They Left Work—Excitement is Growing in North Oxford—Many Meetings.

Woodstock, Jan. 22.—The riding of North Oxford is seething with political excitement, such as it has not witnessed for many years. The arrival of Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., intensified the excitement which has existed since the beginning of the week. Another addition to the ranks of the Conservative speakers who are denouncing the Government was Dr. Snider of South Norfolk, who was unseated by the courts, five charges of corrupt practices having been proven in the record time of five minutes. The Liberals are not holding as many meetings as their opponents, but are working faithfully and energetically. Having determined to conduct the campaign without the assistance of outside organizers, they are upon their mettle. There were exciting times in Woodstock Wednesday night, and again yesterday morning. Suspecting that the many outsiders who are to be seen in and around the Conservative headquarters all the time were worth watching, the local Liberal committee organized a vigilance committee, who report that many strangers were noticed interviewing the employes of some of the large factories when leaving work Wednesday night and on going to work yesterday morning.

Mr. Gamey Failed to Score.

Embro, Jan. 22.—The electors of Zorra fully sustained their reputation for orderliness by giving Mr. Gamey and other Conservative speakers a fair though by no means sympathetic hearing in the Town Hall last night. The great majority of the audience by their questions, their interjections and their expressions of disapproval of Mr. Gamey's statements and energetic assurances that they intended to vote for Lieut.-Col. Munro made it manifest that they were not at all in accord with Mr. Gamey or his position. The expressions of dissent were especially vigorous when Mr. Gamey attacked the Judges who tried the case.

The Speakers

Mr. Andrew Ingram, M.P., and Mr. E. A. Dunlop, M.P.P., opened the meeting by brief addresses. Mr. Ingram's assertion that Hon. Geo. W. Ross had betrayed the temperance people was met with the question. "What temperance legislation will Mr. Whitney give us?"

Mr. Dunlop criticized the Government's timber and mining policies.

Mr. Gamey's Speech.

Mr. Gamey, who spoke at considerable length, at the commencement of his remarks suggested that the audience were glad to see him, a remark which produced such vigorous dissent that he made an earnest appeal for a fair hearing. Had he been fairly treated last spring he would, he said, have gladly stepped down and out of politics, but the unfair treatment he had received from the Government and the commission compelled him to state his case to the people. He related the story he has so frequently told upon the public platform, being subjected to frequent interruptions. The only new statement Mr. Gamey made was that he would next week in the Legislature again make charges against Mr. Startton and challenge a vote upon the question that the Legislature regretted the Government had not taken steps to ascertain where the money came from.

The meeting closed with cheers for the Liberal and Conservative candidates, the Premier and Mr. Whitney.

Other Meetings Last Night.

The Liberals last night held meetings at Innerkip, Tavistock and Hickson. At Innerkip, Lieut.-Col. Munro, Messrs. Geo. Smith, T. C. Robinette, K.C., and Dr. Hotson were the speakers. The meeting at Tavistock was addressed by Messrs. H. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P., Valentine Stock, M.P.P., J. W. Mahon, H. Krug and J. S. MacKay. In addition to the meeting at Embro, the Conservatives held meetings at Plattsville, Lakeside and Bond's School House. The speakers assigned to Plattsville were Messrs. P. H. Bartlett, London; Weldenheimer, Berlin; T. G. Macdairmid, M.P.P., and J. Y. Ormsby. At Lakeside, Messrs. Donald Sutherland, M.P.P., J. S. Duff, M. P. P., and W. S. West spoke. The speakers at Bond's School House were Messrs. I. B. Lucas, M.P.P., Dr. Snider, Waterford; Dr. Welfred, and J. G. Wallace, Woodstock.

Mr. Rosamond Retires.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—At a convention of the Conservatives of North Lanark, held at Clayton yesterday, Dr. H. F. Preston of Carleton Place was nominated for the Commons, Bennett Rosamond, M.P., retiring. Dr. Preston asked for time to consider. He sat for a term in the Ontario Legislature for South Lanark and ran against Hon. John Haggart in 1800 as an independent. The Liberal candidate is T. Boyd Caldwell of Lanark Village, who was defeated by only six votes in 1900.

Retire After 38 Years.

Sunderland, Jan. 22.—At the North Ontario Conservative convention, yesterday, a cabinet of silverware was presented to Dr. Gillespie and a gold-headed cane to Philip Macrae of Breckin, who have been for thirty-two years president and vice-president, respectively, of the North Ontario Conservative Association, and are retiring, much to the regret of the party. A letter declining the nomination was read from George McCormick, M.P.

Cochrane Again.

Warkworth, Jan. 22.—At the East Northumberland Conservative convention held here, Edward Cochrane, the present member, was again unanimously chosen candidate for the Dominion House.

EXPLOSIVES CAUSE DEATH.

Three Killed, Two Fatally Hurt and Ten Seriously Injured—The Cambria Steel Works Accident.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 22.—In an explosion, which wrecked the Seitz Hotel building yesterday, three people were killed, two fatally hurt and ten seriously injured. The explosion is credited to natural gas, which escaped into the basement from a pipe line running near the hotel. The outer walls were blown out, and the second floor and roof fell in. The guests were under the wreckage, which at once ignited.

The Cambria Steel Explosion.

Johnstown, Pa., Jan. 22.—Three men are dead, three will die, and several others were seriously injured at No. 2 mill of the Cambria Steel Company yesterday.

The accident occurred just as the turns were being changed, and was the result of the engine in the mill raising as the result of the governor belt breaking. The wheel about 30 feet in diameter, and weighing 50 tons, exploded with terrific force, breaking the large steam main that ran along the roof of the building, and causing it to burst. The entire roof caved in, and the whole mill is a complete wreck. A big water main also burst, flooding the wreck.

There were fifty men at work in the mill. The victims are foreigners.

SHOT BY OLD BLUNDERBUSS.

Archibald Munro is in a Critical Condition From Shot Wounds.

London, Jan. 22.—Archibald Munro, a well known farmer of Westminster Township, met with a most thrilling experience on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Munro was loading an old blunderbuss to thaw out a pump. He had the weapon at a white heat when the powder and shot which had been in it for the past two decades exploded. Mr. Munro received the full force of the explosion in the chest. Doctors Nicholls and Munro were summoned and extracted over thirty grains of shot from his breast. He is in a critical condition.

ALBERT JOHNSTON KILLED.

Head-on Collision of Two Freights Result in One Death.

Sarnia, Jan. 22.—A freight leaving the Tunnel yard for the Bridge and a freight arriving from Stratford, both double-headers, collided Wednesday night about 10 o'clock. Albert Johnston, fireman on the second engine outbound, was killed outright. The other trainmen escaped serious injuries. Six cars were derailed.

Johnston was 25 years of age and was married four months.

A GUN CLEANER KILLED.

Fatal Accident at Fort Norman, Mackenzie River.

Winnipeg, Jan. 22.—The Hudson Bay packet brought word to Edmonton yesterday from Fort Resolution of the death of Wm. Patton, in charge of the trading post at Fort Norman, Mackenzie River. Mr. Patton was cleaning a gun, when it discharged and instantly killed him.

Cattle Drivers' Narrow Escape.

Mount Forest, Jan. 22.—While Dan Dineen of Arthur Township, was bringing in a drove of cattle Wednesday to Mount Forest the cattle bolted when crossing the C.P.R. track at Bright's Crossing and six of them was killed. A boy driving them with a horse and cutter was saved by jumping, but the horse was killed and the cutter smashed.

Killed By Carbolic Acid.

St. Catharines, Jan. 22.—Charles Young, a married man, aged about 50 years, residing on Welland avenue, committed suicide Wednesday night by taking carbolic acid. He had been in the employ of Carlisle Bros. & Co. for twenty five years.

POOGEE IN COLLISION.

Fortunate Figaro Swept Her Decks and Killed Captain and Helmsman.

Victoria, Jan. 22.—Advices from Sydney by the steamer Aorangi, which arrived yesterday, tell of a marine disaster in which Capt. Garrington of the steamer Foogee and Frank Colley were killed. On Christmas morning the Italian ship Fortunato Figaro, from Melbourne for Newcastle, collided with the steamer Foogee from Launceston for Melbourne. The Italian ship crushed into the steamer at the forward bow and the jib-boom of the Italian ship swept the steamer's deck, splintering the bridge, all deck works, sailing masts and funnel, and Capt. Garrington was buried in a mass of splintered wreckage. Second Mate Durrant was dragged out alive with a pulverized hip and broken rib. Seaman Colley, helmsman, who had the wheel on the bridge, was extricated from wreckage that covered him, 12 hours afterwards. His leg was torn to the bone, and he had bled to death before the eyes of his shipmates. The captain's body was shattered beyond recognition.

Great excitement prevailed amongst the Foogee's passengers, all of whom had donned life-belts and rushed to the berth. The passengers were all transferred to the Italian ship, but, it being found that the steamer was not likely to fill, they went back and the steamer towed the ship to Sydney. There were a number of narrow escapes. The mate's room was swept away as if it had been paper, and he, being asleep at the time, was thrown out unconscious, but unhurt.

HILLIS HEARD ESCAPING JAIL.

Inspector Chamberlain Holds an Investigation, But Does Not Solve Riddle.

Hamilton, Jan. 22.—Yesterday afternoon Dr. Chamberlain, inspector of prisons, held an official investigation into the escape of William Hillis from the jail a week ago last Sunday morning. About the only new light on the subject was furnished by Frank Hamilton, a young fellow who occupied the cell next to Hillis.

Hamilton said he heard Hillis sawing and breaking the bars of his cell about midnight. He wanted to know what was going on, and Hillis told him to keep quiet. When Hillis got out of his cell he told Hamilton that he had forgotten to take his own coat from his cell and asked Hamilton to lend him one. Hamilton shoved it out between the bars. When asked why he did not give an alarm, Hamilton said he would hate to see a dog in such a place.

The inquiry failed to throw any light on how Hillis got his saw.

The investigation lasted all afternoon. Those who were examined were: Governor Ogilvie, Turnkeys Awty, Sutherland and Hunter; Frank Hamilton, Frank Johnson, the colored barber; John Power and Alex. Murray, fellow prisoners, who were in the same corridor as Hillis. Hamilton was the only one who would admit that he heard anything unusual. Mayor Morden, Inspector McMahon and Sheriff Middleton heard the evidence.

Toronto Municipal Corruption.

Toronto, Jan. 22.—Subpoenas to the number of two dozen were issued by Crown Attorney Curry late yesterday afternoon. This is the first formal step in the way of establishing the charge of ballot box frauds as charged against Returning Officer Thompson. The list includes all persons recorded as voting in sub-division 9 of Ward Four, who declare they did not vote. Other startling developments in the case during the day were summonsing of George Maguire, the discovery of many ballots in sub-division 2 of Ward One that appeared to have been marked by the same hand, and the report of the detectives engaged in sub-division two of Ward Five, showing some fifteen persons to have been personated.

CREDITABLE FINANCING.

In business affairs, the reliability of an employee is gauged by the efficiency of the management of financial affairs entrusted to him. Judged by this standard the Ontario Government is entitled to generous public confidence, for in no country of the world have the financial affairs of a State or Province been managed with the carefulness and economy that have marked the administration of the monetary affairs of the Province of Ontario. As a result we have not a dollar of debt presently payable, not a cent of direct taxes is levied for provincial purposes and we have a surplus of assets over liabilities of $3,500,000. A statement prepared in anticipation of the public accounts, shows that on the transactions of last year there is a surplus of $578,000. The total receipts of the Province in 1903 was $5,496,298, and the total expenditure was $4,890,982, leaving the surplus mentioned. On December 31st, 1902, there was in the banks to the credit of the Province, $1,415,510; on December 31st, 1903, this had reached $1,993,827. Since that time the revenues received, have brought the total amount in the bank on January 20th, 1904, up to $3,094,193. On December 31st, 1903, the statement of assets and liabilities showed a surplus of assets over liabilities of $2,552,827. Adding the increase of cash received since the close of the year 1903, the total surplus of assets over liabilities at the present moment is $3,500,00. A Government that can produce such a record cannot be administering the affairs of the Province badly.

It may be and is charged by the Opposition, that sales of our timber is destroying the assets of the province. Everybody who knows anything about the subject, knows that when timber reaches maturity, it rapidly deteriorates, and decreases in value, of course; that timber is liable to be destroyed utterly over great areas by forest fires. It is therefore wise to dispose of the timber periodically, not to destroy, but to preserve British capital.

Mr. Lucas, of Centre Grey, in his speech in the House on Wednesday, in the debate on the address, was so hard pressed for faults of the Government to criticize, that he blamed Mr. Ross for the unsatisfactory railway train service in Western Ontario. He need not have stopped there. He might as well have held Mr. Ross responsible for the hard winter, the extreme cold weather, and the Chicago theatre fire.

In the House a day or two ago Mr. Whitney is reported as saying that the high prices obtained at the last sale of Crown timber, was a condemnation of the Government for the smaller prices previously obtained. Can't Mr. Whitney be fair for once? Can't he bear in mind that the prices of timber have enormously advanced, and that, therefore, the price of timber berths have advanced in sympathy? A school boy would be ashamed to make such a criticism.

A CONTINUAL DRAG.

The Exact Term.

Only those who have experienced the pain and suffering incident to Piles or Hemorrhoids, can know what a drag and handicap this complaint is; how even the mildest form hinders the patient from putting forth his or her best efforts, while those afflicted with protruding or bleeding piles realize all the tortures of the inquisition.

It may surprise the reader to know that there is a sure, permanent cure for this disease, as the following testimony from Mr. E. A. Leonard, an American resident in the City of Mexico will show.

"For twenty years I suffered with piles, sometimes being confined to my bed for days at a time. The relief received from doctors both in the United States and Mexico, was temporary and more frequently I received no relief; other medicines had no effect. It was a continual drag. I was fit for nothing. I finally tried Pyramid Pile Cure; first application was magical; I could not believe I was awake the next morning—I experienced a relief that I had not known for twenty years. One box cured me; but not believing myself cured I bought two more, but they are still in my trunk. I first used the remedy in July, 1902; and have had no occasion to use it since. The world should know of Pyramid Pile Cure. I have no words to express its merits."

Pyramid Pile Cure is in the form of a suppository, which is admitted by all physicians to be the best preparation for treating piles; it comes in direct contact with the painful tumours and does its work quickly and painlessly. It is sold by druggists generally at 50 cents a package, and there is no other remedy "just as good."

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

Society Women

The Grand-Niece of
U. S. PRESIDENT JAMES K. POLK
MRS. IDA ROSER,

Induced to Relate Her Experience for Benefit of Other Women.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been married for nearly two years, and so far have not been blessed with a child. I have, however, suffered with a complication of female troubles and painful menstruation, until very recently.

"The value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was called to my attention by an intimate friend, whose life had simply been a torture with inflammation and ulceration, and a few bottles of your Compound cured her; she can hardly believe it herself to-day, she enjoys such blessed health. I took four bottles of your Compound and consider myself cured. I am once more in fine health and spirits; my domestic and official duties all seem easy now, for I feel so strong I can do three times what I used to do. You have a host of friends in Denver, and among the best count,

Yours truly, MRS. IDA L. ROSER, 826 E. 18th Ave., Denver, Col."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

seems to be the universal woman's medicine for the high and low, rich and poor; and why not? The organism of all women is alike, and the society woman is just as susceptible to the ills of womankind as are her less favored sisters, but owing to their inherent distaste for advertised articles will resort to all other methods for a cure first. Yet it is a fact worth recording that Mrs. Pinkham is constantly receiving letters from women of high social position, saying as a last resort and without any faith, they tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and were completely cured by it. She actually has thousands of such letters.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to these women. No woman should suffer with such a remedy at hand.

SPECIAL ADVICE TO YOUNG WOMEN FREE.

From a vast experience in treating female ills, extending over 20 years, Mrs. Pinkham has gained a knowledge which is of untold value to every ailing young woman. Her advice is very sure to help. If you need such help, write her. She will be glad to answer you confidentially and free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

WATERWAYS ARE THE KEY OF OUR TRANSPORTATION.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Discusses the Question of Freight Traffic From the West to the Atlantic.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the president of the C. P. R., delivered an address in Toronto recently on Transportation, which should have special interest for those who are agitating for the completion of the Trent Valley Canal. Sir Thomas said that transportation was the greatest question of every community. In this country, many portions of which are unpopulated, transportation becomes of paramount importance. Here we build railways to make business and open up communities, whereas the opposite is the case in old settled countries. Confederation without intercommunication, was an impossibility, and the statesmen as well as the people realized this.

BUILDING THE C.P.R.

After ineffectual efforts an arrangement was made in 1881 to build the C. P. R. from the east end of Lake Nepigon to the Pacific. Sir Thomas recalled the more important provisions of the contract and the predictions that the road would never pay, and in reply to those criticisms pointed to the fact that, while the C. P. R. contemplated only 1,000 miles of railway from Winnipeg to the Rockies, it and the Canadian Northern now have 3,500 miles there, and the mileage is increasing.

The territory west of Lake Superior was provided with transportation facilities to an extent beyond those possessed by any corresponding country in the world.

In the west it is necessary to use American coal, which costs 30 per cent, more than in like districts south of the line. Railways in the Canadian west ought to get higher rates, but do not. The rate of Canadian grain is from 30 to 15 per cent. less than on American grain to Duluth.

RATES FOLLOW THE TRADE.

Without Government control there had been since 1888 a reduction from 25 to 12 cents upon wheat from Brandon to Fort William as a result of the increased tonnage carried. As an illustration Sir Thomas stated that in 1888 the C.P.R. carried 784,972,000 tons of freight one mile, on which the earnings were $8,017,000, at a rate of 1.02 cents per ton mile, and for the fiscal year ending June 30th last it carried 3,862,000,000 tons of freight one mile, nearly six times the quantity, on which the earnings were $27,671,000, or at the rate of .74 of a cent per ton mile. That enabled them to do their business on a cheaper basis. No company, he urged, was well conducted, which does not follow the policy of reducing rates when the conditions enabled it to do so, because every company's future is bound up in the success of the country.

WATERWAYS MOST IMPORTANT.

Having discussed the development of the west to its present state, Sir Thomas proceeded to consider the methods of transportation east of Port Arthur. It was his firm conviction that we cannot and must not discuss the question of transportation east of Fort William without giving every consideration to our waterways, which through the St. Lawrence canals, upon which we have spent millions, furnish a direct waterway from Fort William to the ship's side at Montreal, and there is no cheaper means of transportation than water transportation. It is of course slower and more cumbersome and by reason of climatic conditions the canal season is shorter than the lake season.

But the Canadian canal system should be utilized to a greater extent than it is at the present time. The distance from Fort William to Montreal is in round figures, 1,000 miles. The distance from the east end of Lake Nipissing—that is, North Bay—to Montreal, is 365 miles; the distance from Midland to Montreal can be made 300 miles. Wheat or flour or anything else in the nature of coarse products can be carried by water at one-quarter the rate from Fort William to Midland or to North Bay that it will cost to carry the same traffic nearly 650 miles over the railway. Now what sane man, said Sir Thomas, will assert that with that enormous difference in cost against rail transportation we should neglect our waterways?

ALL RAIL ROUTE EXPENSIVE.

"I know," said Sir Thomas, "that a great many gentlemen who have given the subject a considerable amount of attention are of the opinion that all-rail transportation from Winnipeg to the seaboard is quite feasible; that over a line properly built traffic can be handled so as to make it a feasible railway proposal. Some of them argue from wrong premises. I can say know a railway company that will be glad to pay half a million dollars a year for the service of some individual if the figures they quote can be realized."

Continuing, he said that while he would not be understood as saying one word in criticism of a project will result in opening up a vast new territory and will be a factor in colonization, he was convinced that in connection with such project, or in addition to it or apart from it, as may be thought best, if we are to get the best and most economical results in transportation, we must utilize these great stretches of water which Providence has provided. One reason that the year before last 13,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat went to Buffalo was that a great many United States bottoms trading to Fort William with coal were able to take cargoes back to Buffalo on a very low basis of rates. The New York Central between Buffalo and New York, 440 miles, with its heavy local traffic and with the possibility of taking from 70 to 80 cars in a train, can handle traffic cheaper than the G.T.R. or the C.P.R. through a less favourable country, where eighteen of twenty cars constitute a maximum train load.

AN ALL-CANADIAN ROUTE.

We must improve that condition of things, said Sir Thomas. We must get a line from the lakes to tide-water over which we can carry just as many carloads of grain as the New York Central can; we can get that line 80 miles shorter than the New York Central to New York; we can save terminal charges, and it will be a route that will permit none of our grain that originates on and is controlled by Canadian railways to go out of Canadian channels.

With reference to the transportation across the Atlantic, he thought that year by year the requisite steps are being taken to insure the carriage of Canadian traffic on at least as favourable a basis as that prevailing from any point south of us on the United States frontier.

A U.S. PREDICTION.

As indicative of the manner in which our neighbours to the south view the matter, Sir Thomas quoted an extract from the report made to the United States Senate by the Committee on the Pacific Railways on February 19, 1860, as follows:—

"The line of the North Pacific road runs for 1,500 miles near the British possessions, and when built will draw the agricultural products of the rich Saskatchewan and Red River districts east of the mountains, and the gold country on the Fraser, Thompson, and Kootenay Rivers west of the mountains. From China (Canton) to Liverpool it is 1,500 miles nearer by the 49th parallel of latitude than by the way of San Francisco and New York. This advantage in securing the overland trade from Asia will not be thrown away by the English, unless it is taken away by our own first building the Northern Pacific road, establishing merchantile agencies at Puget Sound, fixing merchantile capital there, and getting possession, of land and on the ocean, of all the machinery of the new commerce between Asia and Europe. The opening by us first of a northern Pacific railroad seals the destiny of the British possessions west of the 91st meridian. They will become so Americanized in interests and feelings that they will be in effect severed from the new Dominion, and the question of time."

U. S. PREDICTION BELIED.

"Yet to-day," he said, "we find that people west of the 21st meridian are, if possible, more thoroughly British than they were in 1869. (Applause.) We find that, so far from taking our Canadian people into the United States, stealing them away from the British Empire, as they proposed in 1869, we are bringing citizens of the United States by thousands into our Northwest, and making them prosperous farmers and good British subjects. We find that on the Atlantic and on the Pacific we are quite holding our own; that on the Pacific Ocean the cream of the trade to-day is in the hands, not of ships connected with the Northern Pacific or Great Northern, but of ships connected with the Canadian Pacific Railway."

In conclusion Sir Thomas predicted that many who were sitting at the table would see not only that portion of Canada west of the great lakes, but by reason of the progress of that section, the portion from the great lakes to the Atlantic Ocean, quite as prosperous, in proportion to its population, and with a population quite as large in proportion to the lapse of time, to the years that have passed, as our great and most enterprising neighbours to the south."

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Reference has been made to the experience of the town of Port Arthur in municipal ownership, as described by a representative of the Ottawa Free Press, who visited Port Arthur and Fort William to examine the conditions in both places. Fort William owns its waterworks, electric light, and telephone system. The waterworks plant cost $70,000 and electric light plants $40,000. In the four years ending 1901, the receipts of the lighting plant were $5,192.15 less than the operating expenses. The waterworks receipts in the three years ending 1901 were $1,199.58 less than the operating expenses. The town accounts have not been published since 1901, and the records of the municipality were destroyed in the spring of last year. If interest, sinking fund and operating expenses be lumped together, the two plants have lacked about $6,700 per annum of being self-supporting; and it may be added that they are given credit for $9,679 paid by the town for street lighting and hydrants. No allowance is made in the accounts for depreciation, and this year the town is spending $55,000 for improvements to the electric light plant. The present supply of water is tainted, and the chairman of the board of water commissioners admitted to the reporter that a large expenditure, estimated at $100,000, is necessary to get pure water. In 1902 Fort William installed a telephone service at a cost of $12,000. The central office and the town hall were destroyed by fire a few months later, the cause being a cross between a telephone and an electric light wire. The insurance did not cover the cost of rebuilding the telephone plant, but the reporter could not get a definite statement of this expenditure, or of the receipts and operating expenses of the telephone system. The telephone service he pronounces distinctly bad. A fight is on between the Bell Telephone Co., and the municipal exchanges in both Port Arthur and Fort William and it promises to be long and expensive. Most of the business men have both the municipal and the Bell services.

The debenture indebtedness of Fort William is given by the town clerk as $437,223. The town is also indebted to the bank for about $125,000. The annual burden of interest and sinking fund is about $35,000. The services for which this debt was incurred are being operated at a loss and the ratepayers have to make up the deficiency between receipts and operating expenses, as well as pay the interest and sinking fund. The reporter found many ratepayers who viewed with a good deal of anxiety the debenture indebtedness of the town, and more especially the borrowing of large sums from the banks without the authority from the ratepayers, which the law prescribes. It seems to him that conditions in both towns warrant an authorative investigation, which he suggests might be undertaken by the commission appointed by the Ontario Government last year to collect data on municipal ownership.

NEUTRAL ZONE DISAPPEARS

Only One Question, That of Manchuria, Divides Russia and Japan From Peace —Courteous But Firm Reply From Russia to Japan's Latest Note— Approved Unanimously By the Russian Council.

London, Jan. 22.—A statement is published here this morning with an air of authority to the effect that the question of a neutral zone has disappeared from the Russo-Japanese negotiations. This agrees with other inspired statements that Russia has acquiesced to Japan's views regarding the integrity of Corea, and that the only trouble now remaining relates to Manchuria.

With reference to the ordinances adopted by the Japanese Privy Council at the meeting of Jan. 20, this statement explains that Russian men-of-war have had free access all along, even to the Japanese port of Nagasaki.

It is stated that Japan's domestic loan will amount to $50,000,000, and that her ordinary disbursements already amount to $15,000,000.

The Tokio correspondent of The Times cables it will probably be necessary to remove the entire Japanese population from Vladivostock, as they are suffering greatly at the hands of the Russians.

The Czar is Wavering.

Cabling from Moscow a correspondent of The Times says that Grand Duke Vladimir, commander-in-chief of the St. Petersburg military division, and Grand Duke Sergo, the military commander at Moscow, are strongly supporting Viceroy Alexieff, and that the Czar, although anxious to avoid war, is now wavering.

The volunteer cruiser Lamboff is under orders to Sebastopol shortly with a full complement of men and a cargo of military stores.

Despatches from St. Petersburg assert that Russia's reply to the latest Japanese note was drawn up at a Ministerial Council yesterday, at which the Czar presided. The tenor of this reply is courteous but firm, and it was approved without a dissenting voice. It is understood that Russia maintains that Manchuria must remain amenable politically and strategically, to Russian influence, the concessions made being only of a commercial character.

WARNED OF AWFUL FLOOD.

Western Pennsylvania Expects to Be Swamped—Preparing to Avert Danger.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 22.—One of the worst floods in the history of Western Pennsylvania is expected here Friday night. Experienced river men said a stage of 36 feet would be reached, which is 1.7 feet higher than the flood of 1884.

Heeding the warnings given out by the weather bureau business men and persons whose property line the banks of the Monogahela and Allegheny Rivers began yesterday to prepare for the danger. The river railroads and river interests last night removed such property as would be damaged by water and ice.

At 11 o'clock last night Forecaster Ridgeway gave out a statement saying: "To-night the rivers are rising at a rate of 2 feet an hour. Until the ice has moved out of the river no one can tell what stage will be reached. The snow is still on the ground, all over the valleys and this is holding back the rain. A flood stage is probable by to-morrow night."

Forecaster Ridgeway has warned inquirers to prepare for the worst, as there was no limit to the possibilities of the flood.

Storm "Awful" and "Fearful."

Toronto, Jan. 22.—From Western Ontario the telegraphic reports tell of "the fearful snowstorm" which covered the section during Wednesday night. From Petrolea it is announced that the storm was "something terrific, and considered by local residents as one of the most awful known here in years." The political campaigners in North Oxford had lots of difficulty in making the rounds along the side-roads yesterday and last night.

HELD FOR HALF A MILLION.

Heavy Judgment Against A. E. Wallace, Atlas Loan Manager.

Toronto, Jan. 22.—A. E. Wallace, former manager of the Atlas Loan, was yesterday declared liable for unpaid balances on stock held by him, amounting to over $480,000. The National Trust Company, liquidators of the Atlas, sought the judgment. Mr. Wallace entered no defence. He said the stock had been bought for Ames and Company but certain details were not complete when the failure occurred. J. S. Squance, formerly of St. Thomas, was placed as a contributor to the extent of $1,800, and others were held over.

Husband Jailed at Kingston.

Kingston, Jan. 22.—Robert Campbell has been sent to jail for six months for non-support. He left his sick wife in the house without fire, fuel or food during dreadfully inclement weather, and when found she was lying on a bed almost destitute of clothing.

Routed Mad Mullah's Troops.

OUR STANDING TIMBER.

Millions of Feet Left—Hon. E. J. Davis Refutes Opposition Arguments—Forest Values Increased By Government.

Toronto, Jan. 22.—Mr. W. H. Hoyle (North Ontario) occupied the floor of the Legislature yesterday afternoon until 5 o'clock, and during most of that time he kept the members in a jovial frame of mind by the humorous illustrations of his points. He referred in complimentary terms to the work of the special Assessment Committee, commending it for the impartiality of its labors, and for the manner in which it succeeded in hearing many deputations without permitting their partisan views to bias its finding. He asserted that the Government had not expelled the member for Manitoulin from the House, because they were afraid of public opinion. Hon. E. J. Davis, following Mr. Hoyle, spoke until the House rose at 6 o'clock. He opened with a statement of the Government's timber policy, pointing out that the efficient fire ranging service had done much to enhance the value of the timber in the Province, and that, contrary to the frequent assertions of the Opposition, there were still billions of feet of standing timber. Referring to the Temiskaming Railway as a factor in increasing the value of the pine, he pointed out that the railway was now also needed to afford communication with many townships on Lake Temiskaming already settled, and that even if the Grand Trunk Pacific project were delayed, the Temiskaming Railway extension should not be postponed. The balance of his speech was a justification of his action in connection with the election petition, and showed that if he were debarred from sitting in the House because of the petition, the hon. member for Centre Bruce (Mr. Hugh Clark) was in a similar position. Mr. Davis will resume his speech when the House meets this afternoon.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs must have Help.

Food taken into the stomach, which from the nature of the food, or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, as far as it goes, and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach, and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plan for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing hard work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bones of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

THE "BLACKWATCH"

Band of Scotland's Premier Highland Regiment Coming.

WILL TOUR CANADA THIS FALL

Arrangements Made For Big Attraction By Dr. Orr of the Toronto Exhibition —Ex-Colonial Secretary Chamberlain May Also Be a Visitor— Times' Correspondent's View of Cape Colony Elections.

London, Jan. 22.—(C. A. P.)—Speaking to the Canadian Press Association representative last night, Dr. J. O. Orr, manager of the Toronto Exhibition, stated that he had made a contract for the appearance this year at the Fair of the full band and pipers of Scotland's premier regiment—the 42nd Royal Highlanders, better known and famous as the "Black Watch." The band is fifty strong and with twelve pipers, all under command of Major Rose, will sail for Canada on Aug. 18, and will be away for six weeks.

This, Dr. Orr thought, would create great enthusiasm throughout Canada. It was likely Col. Duff, commanding the 1st Battalion, would accompany the men, and the band would give three concerts daily.

Chamberlain May Come.

The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain has informed a prominent London Canadian and a close personal friend of his own, that he will visit the United States this summer should a general election not be held in Britain. In that case he will probably attend Toronto Exhibition.

An Imperial Exhibition.

The proposal, suggested by Mr. Walton, M.P., that an Imperial Exhibition be held in Canada, is being boomed in London just now. A number of members of Parliament and Government officials favor Toronto and 1907—the fiftieth anniversary of the Confederation—is talked of as a very suitable date. The Agent-General for New Zealand is enthusiastic in support of the idea, which is considered a very happy one.

The Black Watch.

The "Black Watch," Scotland's premier Highland regiment, is the direct descendant of a semi-military organization established in Edinburgh in the early part of the eighteenth century. From this a regiment of the British army was afterwards formed, and became the 42nd regiment of the line, or the Royal Highlanders. No regiment of the British army has had a longer or more honorable record of service, and few, indeed, are the notable campaigns in which British forces participated which are not blazoned in its colors. The Peninsula, Waterloo, Egypt, India, the Crimean, and South Africa, have all heard the pipes of the "Black Watch," and drenched with the blood of many a wearer of the dark tartan, whence the regiment derives its famous nad popular sobriquet. The "Black Watch" is the only Highland regiment carrying the red heckle in the feather bonnet—that most picturesque of head dresses. It is one of the honorable distinctions which are so rife in the British army, commemorating as it does their heroic gallantry in Egypt. The regiment was commanded by the ill-fated Brigadier-General Wauchope, and suffered heavily in the disastrous attack which cost the life of that gallant soldier and so many of his brave comrades-at-arms.

When the British army was re-organized under the new system of territorial and linked battalions, the 42nd and 73rd regiments were united and now form the first and second battalions of the "Black Watch," or Royal Highlanders. From Dr. Orr's statement it would appear that the arrangement he intimates has been made with the officers of the first battalion, which is the proper representative to-day of the "Black Watch" of history. No regiment in the British army stands higher in its roll of fame and none is prouder of its record or more zealous for its honor.

Brother Succeeds Him.

London, Jan. 22.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Nettleford has resigned the treasurership of the Midlands Liberal Unionist Association, and his kinsman, E. Nettleford, a Protectionist, has been elected in his stead.

Has Its Share.

London, Jan. 22.—(C. A. P.)—The Financial News, referring to the Nova Scotia budget, says one does not hear so often of this old-fashioned province as of the younger parts of the Dominion, but it shares in Canadian prosperity.

On the Same Issue.

London, Jan. 22.—(C. A. P.)—The Times' Cape Town correspondent, wiring concerning the elections, says the Boers have succeeded in forcing the Progressives to fight the battle at the polls upon the race issue, and if the Bond wins it means the temporary exclusion of Cape Colony from the South African federation. The Kaffir vote holds the balance of power. A Kaffir editor is standing for the Assembly in the Bond interest.

After Canadian Business.

London, Jan. 22.—(C. A. P.)—The Houston Line is arranging to run the steamers formerly sailing to Africa to Canada from Liverpool. The Cunard Line is also fitting up steamers to ply between Liverpool and Boston. The object of both lines is to secure Canadian emigrants.

There were no prime cattle offered to-day, and 4c per pound was about the highest price paid for fair, medium cattle, while common and lean stock were difficult to sell at any price, as the canners were not buying. Annual Meeting of Charlotte Street Church was Held.

Net Increase in Membership for the Year 1903 was 55—Sunday School Prosperous.

The annual meeting of Charlotte street Methodist church was held last night, when the reports of the different departments for the year 1904 were presented. Each of these showed the past year to have been a most successful one, in fact the reports presented were the best in the history of the church. During the year 77 members have been received into the church, and, deducting the number of removals and deaths the net increase in membership is 55.

Interspersed with the reading of the different reports last night were musical selections given by the choir. Solos were also given by Miss Clara Bellegham and Mr. Bereanenger.

The pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, acted as chairman of the meeting, and congratulated the members on the success which had attended the work of the church during the year.

Last year our church debt stood at $3,576.00; this year's report will show the debt at $1272.22. This has been further reduced since January 1st by $100. This leaves the debt at present $1272.22, a reduction since January 1, 1903, of over $2,300.00.

A highly satisfactory report of the Sunday School was presented by Mr. Percy Hamilton, Secretary-Treasurer.

W. M. S. AUXILIARY

It is a matter for gratitude as well as for congratulation that at the close of our twelfth year of work as an auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society, to find ourselves stronger financially and numerically than ever before. We have a membership of forty-two, with a fair average attendance. Last year our treasurer remitted to the branch treasurer the sum of $33.00. We also sent a box of clothing valued at $50.00 to the All-people's Mission, Winnipeg, a box of clothing valued at $25 to Rat Portage, and a bale valued at $10, to the Hiawatha Indians at Christmas.

In April as Easter thank offering "at home" was given by Mrs. Jolliffe, at the parsonage and a profitable and pleasant hour was spent, the thank offering amounting to $19.00.

In May our Auxiliary and church entertained the district convention, each session of which was helpful and encouraging. In July our meeting took the form of a "quilting," followed by a social hour when tea was served by the ladies of the Auxiliary. Our meetings are characterized by a growing spiritually and a strong desire to do better work for the Master.

Our esteemed president, Mrs. Kilgour, is indefatigable in her efforts to further the interests of the Society.

We should like every woman in our church to feel that she has a place in working out God's plan for the redemption and salvation of the world.

The blessings of the past call for renewed efforts and fuller consecration; for a more prayerful interest and practical sympathy for those upon whose lives dark shadows rest.

ISABELLA ADAM,
Recording Secretary.

Peterborough II Won from T. A. S. Last Night in Trent Valley League Game—To-Night Game at Belleville.

A CLOSE GAME IN T. V. H. LEAGUE.

Peterborough II and T. A. S. Met Last Night for First Time.

Game Won by Peterborough by Score of 3-1—Hockey was Fast and Clean —Some Features of the Game.

For the first time this season, the T. A. S. and Peterborough II teams met last night in a championship Trent Valley League game, and the 500 spectators saw a game well worth the price of admission. Considerable interest had attached itself to this game as it was the first meeting of the teams, and upon it practically the winners of this district depended. The T.A.S. team were champions of the League last season, and had championship aspirations again for this season. The Peterborough team placed on the ice last night was one which had never played together before, and was an unknown quantity. The game was played on fast ice, and was a good exhibition of hockey, both teams going in to win, but their anxiety to win did not tend to induce them to play with other than sportsmanlike conduct. The best of feeling was manifested by the teams and the rivalry between them did not evidence itself in any rough play.

After 60 minutes of fast hockey, the Peterborough team won by a score of 3—1, although it must be said that the score is not indicative of the relative playing qualities of the teams. The T.A.S. had possession of the puck apparently as often as the winning team, but they seemed unable to score. The excellent defence of the Peterborough's probably prevented the T.A.S. from scoring.

That the teams were very evenly matched is evidenced by the fact that in the second half 25 minutes elapsed without either team scoring, although there were times when each goal was in great danger. The play at all stages of the game was fast individually, but neither team displayed as efficient combination as should have been played, which fact probably partly accounts for the smallness of the score. Some really brilliant individual work was done, however, and when the teams learn to work combination, both should improve considerably. There is a fast bunch of forwards on each team, they check closely and are good stick-handlers, and with some practice in combination should give any defence plenty to do.

The T.A.S. team was constituted the same as in the game with Keene last week. George Lynch played rover, and played the position well, he is a fast, strong skater and shoots well. He scored the goal for the team last night. The other forwards, George, Parnell and McGrath, make a good trio, and did some splendid work. The defence is a very strong one, with Crowley at cover point and Meagher at point, and may be trusted to look after almost everything that comes their way. McCoy in goal stopped a number of good shots last night.

The Peterborough team was different to that of any previous game, and the line-up as presented last night makes a pretty strong team. "Ernie" Wasson, for the first time this season was on the ice, playing his old position in goal. He was seen to have lost none of his efficiency in that position, and last night, although he was given plenty to do, he guarded the nets well, allowing only one shot to get past him. Glover was in his position at point, also for the first time this season, and played a good game, his lifts being always a source of danger to the T.A.S. goal. Capt. Jack McPherson moved out to cover point and showed the same ability to play that position as at point. He made some good rushes and altogether played a good consistent game. Lee, at rover, made a most favourable impression by his work last night. He proved himself fast, and an excellent stick-handler. Perhaps the most surprising feature of the game, however, was the work of Renton, who last night played his first game of hockey. He is very speedy, and checks closely, and with practice in stick handling will be one of the most valuable men on the team. Cameron and Ford also proved their efficiency; both are good stick-handlers, and follow up well. Cameron scored the last goal for the winners, five minutes before full time.

The teams were:

T.A.S.	Peterborough II.
Goal.
McCoy	Wasson
Point.
Meagher	Glover
Cover Point.
Crowley	McPherson
Forwards.
George	Cameron
McGrath	Ford
Parnell	Renton
Lynch	Lee
Goal Umpire.
W. Grady	W. Bradburn
Time-keepers.
T. Turcott	J. T. McCabe

(Referee, J. Hynes, Toronto.

Both teams stepped out at a fast pace, each goal being stormed in succession, neither side scoring, however, for eight minutes, when Renton put in one for the Peterboroughs on a shot from the side. He repeated the trick in sixteen minutes, making the score 2—0. Lynch, however, succeeded in locating the net in six minutes, putting the figures 2—1, at which it stood at half time.

In the second half the play was very even as evidenced by the fact that neither team scored for 25 minutes, at which time Cameron shot and scored for the Peterboroughs, making the final score 3—1.

Capt. Jack Hynes refereed the game, giving good satisfaction. He ruled off a number of players, the offences being however minor ones, tripping and off-side loafing principally. Neither team showed any particular desire to break the rules.

A summary of the games follows:

1—Peterborough, II., in 6 minutes, by Renton.

2—Peterborough II., in 18 minutes, by Renton.

3—T.A.S. in six minutes, by Lynch.

Second half.

4—Peterborough II., in 25 minutes by Cameron.

BELLEVILLE BUNCH ARE VERY CONFIDENT.

Intense Excitement Prevails over that Town To-Day.

(Staff Special.)

Belleville, Ont., Jan. 22. — Intense excitement prevails here to-day over the pending Peterborough—Belleville Intermediate O.H.A. game to-night. On the street the only subject of gossip is the match and the Bellevillites are very confindent of a win, especially after the way in which their seven trimmed up Picton the other day. The Belleville team is in good shape and have been practising assiduously. Maguire is in condition and the people here think he will do wonders. One thing is apparent and that is that Peterborough will have to hustle hard to win. Mr. "Chaucer" Elliott, of Kingston, will referee.

GUILD TEAM'S FIRST DEFEAT.

Intermediate Team Went Down Before Aberdeens.

Last night two interesting hockey matches were layed on the Y.M.C.A. rink. From 7 to 8 the junior team of St. Andrew's Junior Guild defeated the Maple Leaves by a score of 5 to 0. From 8 to 9 the intermediate team of the Guild was defeated by the Aberdeens which is a very fast team. Good combination was worked in by the Guild team. This is the first and last defeat for the Guild boys. The score was 3 to 2. The teams of both games were:—

Junior Guild,—N. Laing, M. Dobbin, E. Thornton, R. Heslip, H. Darke, A. Hall, B. Miller.

Maple Leaves,—McGill, Bord, Webb, Hayes, McMahon, and Killinbeck.

Intermediate Guild,—M. Dobbin, C. Warham, R. Heslip, F. Hall, V. Tully, A. Hall and G. Long.

Aberdeens, — Hickey, Faux, Wade, Borrodaile, Ray, E. Harrison and H. Harrison.

Referee, Mr. Robert Reid.

PUCKERINGS.

The Peterborough Intermediate team left for Belleville this morning to play the fast team of that city in what will probably be the deciding game for the championshipship of this district. The Peterborough team will be: Goal, Mercer; point, Howell; cover point, Cavanah; rover, Harold Armstrong; centre, Whitcroft; left wing, Graham, right wing, Roy Armstrong; Chaucer Elliott will referee the game. About one hundred supporters went to Belleville to-day to yell for the white and blue.

* * * *

The local juniors will make a big attempt to take a fall out of the Belleville juniors here to-night, and expect to succeed. The Belleville team defeated them on the former's ice last week, but the tables may be turned to-night. The returns of the Belleville-Peterborough Intermediate game will be received in the rink. A number of despatches will be received on the progress of the game.

The Junior line-up will be: Goal, Van Every; point, Moore; cover point, Parker; forwards, Hall, Kennedy, Smith and Long.

George Lynch goes to Norwood to-night to referee a game between Campbellford and Norwood.

TRENTON WON.

Colborne, Jan. 21.—In the second match of the Trent Valley League played here to-night Trenton defeated Colborne by a score of 9 to 3. The line-up: Colborne—goal, Keefe; point, Spence; cover point, Beck; left wing, Coxall; centre, Fletcher; right wing, Robertson; rover, Watson. Trenton,—Goal, Markham; point, Bell; cover-point, Fellon; left wing, Armstrong; centre, Kidd; right wing, Jones; rover, Fellon. Referee, Geo. Brown, Port Hope.

MUST WAIT FOR HOCKEY.

Winnipeg Free Press: In his recent circular anent the promptness of running trains, Mr. Wm. Whyte did not take into consideration the big winter game of hockey. If what happened at Carlyle the other day is an indication of the hold the game has, Mr. Whyte is going to have trouble in getting his trains past a hockey match. When the regular express pulled into Carlyle on Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock the passengers were quietly informed that there was going to be a hockey game at Arcola and that the train would wait until 7 to take the crowd up.

RINK FOR SHEPHERD NEIL CHALLENGE CUP.

Will be Competed for on Tuesday Next.

The Shepherd-Neill challenge cup to be competed for by eight rinks from both Peterborough and Orillia will be played off on Tuesday afternoon next when four Peterborough rinks will visit Orillia and four rinks from that town play in Peterborough, the game beginning at 3 o'clock.

The match is creating considerable interest among the curling fraternity of both towns and it will be a hard fight for the cup. The trophy is at present at the curling rink and will be taken to Orillia on Tuesday in order that they may see it up there. The Peterborough rinks will probably be as follows:

To play at Orillia.

THIS MACHINE FLIES

WHAT THE WRIGHT BROTHERS INVENTION HAS ACCOMPLISHED.

They Seem to Have Solved the Problem of Aerial Flight—Air Navigated Without Aid of Balloon—Built on Aeroplane Plan—Remained in the Air for Nearly a Minute—Sketch of the Machine.

Santos-Dumont and the Lebaudys, with their dirigible balloons, are in eclipse as air navigators since the advent of Wilbur and Orville Wright, who have apparently solved the problem of aerial flight without the aid of gas bags.

In a recent trial of their flying machine at Kitty Hawk, N. C., the Wright brothers made four successful flights against a twenty-one mile wind, reaching a high rate of speed, the longest time in the air being fifty-seven seconds. The Wright flier has no balloon attachments of any kind, but is supported in the air by a pair of aerocurves, or wings, having an area of 510 square feet. It measures a little more than forty feet from tip to tip, and the extreme fore and aft dimension is about twenty feet. Its frame is of wood, covered with tough, but light canvas. Protruding from the centre of the car is a huge fan shaped rudder of canvas, stretched on a frame of wood. This rudder is controlled by the navigator and may be moved to either side, raised and lowered.

The weight of the machine, including the body of the aviator, is a little more than 700 pounds. In the centre is the navigator's car, below which is the engine. The machine is driven by a pair of screw propellers placed just behind the wings. The power is supplied by a gasoline motor designed by the Wrights.

Several years ago the Wright brothers established a workshop at Kitty Hawk. One day in the fall of 1901 they brought out a frail looking thing, carried it to the top of a hill, and one of them got inside. The other gave the machine a push, and it shot out into space. For 300 feet it glided like a bird and settled slowly to the ground. It was not a flying machine they were experimenting with then; it was simply an aeroplane or what was to be the body of the airship. The next fall another aeroplane sailed along with the operator a distance of an eighth of a mile.

When the recent trial was made the machine was provided with propellers and an engine. Wilbur Wright took the operator's place. No launching apparatus was provided. When everything was ready Orville Wright gave the machine a push, the engine was started, and the flier moved down the incline. As the propeller underneath increased its revolutions the machine rose steadily until it reached a height of sixty feet. Then, pushed by the rear propeller, the machine went ahead in the teeth of the wind, the operator being able to direct its flight at will and finally landing without difficulty or injury to the machine.

Wilbur and Orville Wright are expert mechanics of Dayton, O., and have been experimenting with flying machines for the past four years. They are the sons of Bishop Wright of the United Brethren Church. In building their flier the Wright brothers have followed to some extent the work of Lillienthal, Pilcher and Octave Chanut, but they have gone much further than these experts in using greater surfaces and especially in changing the position of the operator. By so arranging their machine that the operator lies in a horizontal position instead of standing upright the wind resistance is reduced from five square feet to one, and a full half horse-power is saved.

Speaking of his invention, Mr. Orville Wright said that he and his brother, after twenty-four years of hard work, have succeeded in perfecting a flying machine. He stated that the most successful test was made recently at Kitty Hawk.

Mr. Wright declined to discuss the details of the construction of his machine, as he has not as yet completed his tests, but stated that his flier was kept afloat in the air by its peculiar method of construction and also by the continuous operation of a gasoline motor which turns a huge propeller. Without the use of the motor he stated the machine would descend as soon as its momentum was exhausted.

The Age of Wealth.

An altogether false ideal of success has grown up. We respect and esteem the rich man, while we abhor the means by which he has grown rich. The poor prostrate themselves in abject idoltary of the rich, and the constant and lavish display of wealth make them discontented with the honest obscurity and steady toil which, if they but knew it, are the pillars of whatever virtue remain to this money-getting, money-spending, money-loving England.

Dresden China.

Dresden china is generally recognised by the neat, tiny flower bunched designs that are sprinkled over the pieces, the older forms being of medallion effects, and, though several English wares imitate the Dresden designs and even the marks, a little scrutiny will detect the difference.

A Tiny Hole.

A hole one one-thousandth of an inch in diameter can be bored with a jeweler's auger.

SIX GUNS CARRIED OFF.

Thieves Bring Wagon to Museum and Carry Away Valuable Antiquities—Some of the Treasures.

One of the most impudent thefts of modern times has, thanks to the War Office, just been perpetrated at Woolwich, where many of the nation's treasures are refused not only a home, but even bare shelter, says The London Daily News. Visitors to the Royal Artillery Barracks on the heights above the town cannot have failed to notice a small bell-shaped structure down in the hollow at the left. This is the rotunda, within which are many priceless relics of by-gone days, trophies of the fight, suits of armour which for age and condition are not to be equalled in any museum in the world. Old guns, new guns, and guns which are neither old nor new may here be found hobnobbing with matchless curios ranging from a stone which had been hurled at the walls of Jerusalem long years before Christ entered its gates to the muzzle of a Japanese gun for which the authorities refused £60,000, this being the value of the platinum it contains.

Like a Scrap Heap.

The museum is opened at eight in the morning and closed at four p.m., after which it is at the mercy of the public until officially opened again next morning. Out side is a space enclosed by low walls and wire fencing, and dignified by the title of "parade." In appearance it resembles a "scrap" heap, some of the guns being almost hidden by the grass. In this enclosure are valuable arms lying about, most of them dismounted. Amongst others in good condition is a gun, about the size of an English four-pounder, already limbered up. This was taken on the field of Waterloo. But the authorities refused to give it a shelter. Near by is Napoleon's traveling oven, which already shows signs of being weather worn. All around the enclosure, supported on ordinary pieces of railway sleepers, lie the trophies of bygone conflicts, grass-grown and dirty.

Was Deliberate Theft.

Recently the curator discovered that two guns had been taken away from the enclosure in the night, four more following the next day. Search revealed the fact that it was a case of deliberate theft, wheel marks of a cart or wagon having been found on the spot. The neighborhood of the rotunda is patrolled nightly by the military police, who are, however, taken off at one in the morning, and not renewed until six hours later. During this period no difficulty at all need be experienced in gaining admittance, for notwithstanding the fact that the iron gates are unlocked and locked with much ceremony for official traffic, the railings on either side of the gate are broken down to the ground, and, indeed, this is the favorite method of ingress and egress by those who use the place to any extent.

Authorities Careless.

It cannot be said that the authorities have been unwarned, for some time ago a man was discovered making off with some piping, and on conviction he was awarded three months' hard labor. No special guard was put on, however, and since then 14 sheets of lead roofing have mysteriously disappeared. Later still a valuable dagger, one of the collection from the inside of the rotunda, followed the piping and the sheet lead, and now six valuable guns of historic interest have disappeared.

The description of the missing arms is as follows: A brass faucon, dated 1661. On the basq ring is the inscription "Gerard Koster me fecit A.D., 1661," (Gerard Koster made me in the year 1661). The length of the gun is three feet, and has a calibre of 2.75. The second gun is a bronze 1-pounder, dated 1727. The third a brass three-pounder of the date 1776, three feet in length, calibre 2.92, weighing 1 cwt. 94 lb. The fourth is a brass one-pounder of the time of George III., whose cipher is on the gun. The base ring bears the inscription of being made at Woolwich. The fifth gun was made in 1769, whilst the sixth was brought from Borneo. There is a ball in the bore, a support being fastened under the trunnions, upon which the gun could be elevated or depressed.

An Eloquent Love Letter.

English is put to strange and eloquent uses in India. Here, for instance, is a letter addressed to a native gentleman by a youth seeking the hand of his daughter:

"To Baboo ——, Paternal father of Miss ——. Dear Sir,—It is with a faltering penmanship that I write to have communication with you about the prospective condition of your damsel offspring. For some remote time to past a secret passion has firing my bosom internally with loving for your daughter. I have navigated every channel in the magnitude of my extensive jurisdiction to cruelly smother the growing love-knot that is being constructed in my within-inside, but the humid lamp of affection trimmed by Cupid's productive hand still nourishes my love-sickened heart. Needless would it be for me to numerically extemporise the great conflagration that has been generated in my head and heart. Hoping that having debated this proposition to your pregnant mind you will concordantly corroborate in espousing your female progeny to my tender bosom and thereby acquire me into your family circle. Your dutiful Son-in-Law."

Guarding Against Tangles.

To keep the 30,000 odd miles of telegraph line in order in Great Britain and provide for the proper despatch and delivery of the millions of messages that pass over them every month, entails an expenditure of about £2,250,000 a year, and of this total more than £1,500,000 goes in paying the salaries and wages of the immense staff of engineers, skilled operators and messengers, and of those who direct their operations and keep the accounts straight.

The Lemon as Medicine.

The value of lemons in the treatment of both rheumatism and consumption is now known to be very great. The treatment is to begin with one or two a day and gradually increase the number. In one case of rheumatism twenty-five lemons a day were the dose for a time. As a preventive of illness, however, a half a lemon a day is all that should be taken—that is, if taken every day year in and year out. A half a lemon in a cup of hot water taken an hour before breakfast (without any sugar) will annihilate the darkest of dark brown tastes in one's mouth. If you make a practice of eating more butter and sugar than is good for you take lemon and hot water every morning.

Life and the Sun.

All the energy of life is derived ultimately from the sun. A little of this comes indirectly through lightning which in passing through the air forms ammonia and oxides of nitrogen. These being carried by rain into the ground, are the constant source of nitrogen for vegetable and indirectly for animal life. A much larger quantity of energy is well known to be taken direct from the sunshine by plants and used in their anabolic processes. This energy is appropriated by animals in their food, and whether in the vegetable or in the animal it assists in any alternations of the system before it is completely dispersed.

Food and Nervous Troubles.

I have the privilege of knowing many eminent men in the medical profession, and their advice in nine cases out of ten is to eat and take as much nourishment as possible. Numbers of cases of nervous breakdown are entirely cured by what your correspondents would call "overeating." In all nervous disorders, from which so many suffer in this age of keen competition, the chief remedy is eating more than is seemingly required.—London Telegraph.

Excursionists For Revenue.

Some years ago a British warship visited St. Kilda in exceptionally calm weather. As the natives of the place had never seen a steamer, the captain good naturedly offered to take them for an hour's cruise, which was readily accepted by a great many. On their return the captain, seeing them all standing in rows on the quarter deck, asked the cause. He was at once informed that they were waiting to be paid.

How Definition of Principle.

"I fought the case not because I cannot pay, but on principle," explained a defendant in the Southwark county court recently. "Yes, I know," said Judge Addison wearily. "In these courts principle is another word for temper."

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER.

DISRAELI AND DUFFERIN.

Amusing Story of Their First Meeting as Told by Latter.

The late Lord Dufferin used to tell an amusing story of his first meeting with Disraeli. The occasion was a wedding in one of the old Jewish families in London. Sitting on the opposite side of the table to Lord Dufferin—who was then a very young man—was Mr. Disraeli, while next to that distinguished man was a lady who seemed to prefer the conversation of her other neighbor, a gentleman, who was rather a loud talker. This gentleman told the lady that his duty was to respond for the bridesmaids, and he confided to her the jokes, the lines of poetry, and even the bon mots he meant to introduce into his speech. As the proceedings went on Mr. Disraeli rose, and in a hesitating manner, which conveyed the impression to those who listened that he was repeating a speech carefully prepared beforehand, he, in proposing the toast of the bridesmaids, managed to introduce into his remarks every tit-bit the lady's friend had announced he was to give, with the result that in attempting to reply he was a distinct failure. As the guests were leaving, Lord Dufferin said to Mr. Disraeli how he had enjoyed his speech, and in reply the great statesman said with a Sphinx-face life," How important it is to be always prepared."

One of Sala's Jokes.

Shortly after Mr. Burnand succeeded to the editorial chair of Punch, Sala wrote a parody of the "Notes" which he was himself contributing to The Illustrated London News. It was attributed to the editor, and friends who knew Sala's short temper were anxious, not, as it soon seemed, without reason. At the Beefsteak Club Sala politely asked for the author's name.

"I cannot give it," replied the editor, "without his permission."

"It is a personal attack on me," said Sala, apparently waxing wroth.

Peacemaking friends suggested that any popular author's style was fair game.

"I join issue," replied Sala. "Burnand ought to have rejected it."

So the debate went on, growing hotter and hotter. When Sala declared that when he was younger he would have pulled the nose of anyone who attacked him, and the editor replied that if Sala wished to carry out his threat he had the matter in his own hands, it seemed that a crisis had arrived.

"I can!" exclaimed George, rising up excitedly, "and will." Everyone jumped to his feet. It seemed as though he were going to assault me there and then! What was their surprise at seeing George, first with one hand, then with the other, wring his own nose, and, murmuring humbly, "I apologize," drop down abashed into his seat.—Records and Reminiscences of Sir F. C. Burnand.

Kidneys and Liver Affected by Colds.

Backache and Pains in the Legs the Common Symptoms—Cure Comes With the use of.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Exposure to damp, cold weather is a frequent cause of kidney disease. Sitting in a draught so as to chill the feet and legs is frequently enough to bring on congestion of the liver.

Colds settle on the liver and kidneys as well as the lungs. The results are diseases of the most dreadfully painful and fatal sort.

As yet there has never been discovered a preparation equal to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a prompt and thorough cure for derangements of those great filtering organs.

Pains in the back, headache, urinary disorders, biliousness, liver complaint, dyspepsia, and constipation soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ar used.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years, section foreman, and now flagman for the G. T. R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foremen on G.T.R., and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work. During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them, and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 6

EZRA BRIGGS' REVENGE

By D. H. TALMADGE

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

My friend the postmaster and general storekeeper of Harleyville was sitting on the front porch of his establishment lazily puffing small clouds of blue smoke into the air and blinking comfortably at his slippered feet, which were resting against a post on a level with his face. I spoke to him, and the feet slipped down with a thud.

"Howdy," he said. "Some warmish, ain't it?"

I nodded, wiping from my face the perspiration engendered by an ill advised walk of two miles over a road unshaded from a merciless July sun. The family at the farmhouse where, from motives of economy, I was spending my vacation had gone to a funeral, and I had wearied of my own company. Wherefore, the afternoon being too hot for fishing, I had come to Harleyville to seek companionship.

"I'd have went to Ike's funeral myself," said the storekeeper when I had explained thus to his understanding, "only the rest of the folks wanted to go, and I didn't like to close up the place on account of the postoffice. I was down to Ike's when the great damp breath blew his lamp out. I set up with him two or three nights along at the last."

"He was a close friend of yourn?" I asked.

"Well," sighing explosively, "there ain't much doubt he was considerable close, and we was always friends, him and me. I had a feeling of sympathy for him during the last years of his life, too—sort of an admiration for him, because he took his medicine like a man. 'Tain't every male human that does."

"Then he had long been an invalid?"

"No; that ain't the idea. He wasn't sick a great while. The story dates back nigh on to twenty years, when him and Ezra Briggs was rivals for the hand of Martha Telford. 'Twas nip and tuck between 'em, but Ezra finally won the match. Ike was fool enough to get mad about it, and when his pa died, leaving among his other effects a mortgage on the old Briggs place where Ezra was living, his parents both being defunct, he foreclosed the thing and made a regular dickens of a bad mess. Ezra could have paid if he'd had another six months, but Ike wouldn't wait. That was the beginning of a mighty hard time for Ezra. Nothing he touched after that seemed to prosper. Him and Martha—there wasn't no children—come at last to live in a house not much better than a shanty down by the mill yonder, and the woman's love, so my wife and daughter say, sort of took sick and died. I've heard tell there ain't much female love that's proof against poverty long drawn out, and heaps of what passes for real honest affection leaks away through the worn-out places in woman's clothes.

"It's my opinion that Martha wasn't a real comfortable person to live with during the last two or three years of Ezra's life. I've got a suspicion, more or less founded on fact, that she was sourer than the dregs of vinegar and that her patience sort of shot off like a Gatling gun once it had bu'sted. Ezra took sick finally with somebody or other's disease of something or other that the doctors said was incurable, and he didn't keep up after that, just poked around and groaned till the trouble knocked him down into bed.

"He kept his own counsel pretty much, but I've got a notion he was nursing a feeling of bitterness against Ike most of the time then. I said to myself 'twould be a blessing if the old death angel would only flop down and carry him off before he done anything that would shock the community.

"But I was worrying unduly. However much he may have been figuring on revenge, there wasn't no bloody violence mixed into his figuring. He did give the community sort of a shock, though, such as 'twas. Most of us couldn't understand then why he done as he did, but it is as clear as molasses to me now.

"The river yonder five years ago last March got on a ripping tear owing to a sudden thaw, and among other things it done it swooped down across Ike's barnyard and carried off a lot of live stock and things, including Ike himself, who was trying to rescue a valuable ram he'd paid a big price for at the state fair.

"He went along with the flood and never stopped till he stuck in the branches of a small tree about seventy or eighty feet from shore near where Ezra's house stood. And as chance would have it Ezra heard him yelping for help and dragged himself out of the house, where he was staying alone with his disease while Martha washed dishes up to the hotel over at Bottom village.

"Now, 'twould have been no more than natural for a man in Ezra's position to have done nothing but gloat over the situation. But Ezra didn't do nothing of the kind. He hustled around as fast as his disease would let him to save Ike before the tree come unrooted.

"He got a long rope and tried to throw one end of it to Ike, but it fell about five feet short every time, so he waded out into the water, though the doctor had told him 'twould kill him to get his feet wet. When Ike had tied one end of the rope to himself Ezra tied the other end to a fence post, and the current done the rest.

"That wetting of his feet and legs was the beginning of Ezra's finish. That night he had a chill, and his disease simply got rampageous. The doctor said 'twas hopeless the minute he seen him and give him a week to live. If he didn't drop off in the meantime. And Ike—well, Ike come around penitent and humble as anything the Old Testament ever produced, saying Ezra saved his life, for he couldn't swim a stroke, and asking if there wasn't anything he could do to make amends to him. There wasn't, of course. The time had gone by for that. But Ike hung around the place clothed in figurative sackcloth and ashes most of the time till Ezra passed along to the next world eight days later."

It seemed to me rather a pretty story of the greater-love-hath-no-man-than-this sort and heap-coals-of-fire-upon-his-head sort, and I said as much to the storekeeper.

"Shucks! That wasn't Ezra's revenge at all, though I thought it was till I learned different. Ezra was simply saving Ike for the torture; that was all. Two days before he died he sent for me, and he says, with a shivery chuckle, when he'd sent the others out of the room: 'Old friend, I've got to tell somebody this, and I've chose on you. It'll be easier dying if I know that somebody alive knows how I got even with that cuss. I've forgive him and all that; but, say,' and he drew me down closer to him, 'I've made him and Martha promise solemnly, with their hands touching mine, that they'll get married as soon as decent, and, oh, glory, won't she just knock the plaster off of him!' He was chuckling hard when I left him, and I reckon he died chuckling. My wife said he looked real peaceful and contented and satisfied and sort of natural in his coffin."

"And Ike?" I asked after a short interval, during which the storekeeper's gaze rested upon a distant hilltop where white stones gleamed in the sunshine.

Once more he sighed, more softly this time. "Poor Ike!" he murmured. "I never see a man who seemed so glad to die as him."

WHAT AND WHY.

Why should substitutes for Scott's Emulsion be refused?

Because they do not begin to offer the equivalent of food-value contained in Scott's Emulsion.

Why should special care be taken to avoid so-called wines, cordials and extracts of cod liver oil?

Because they contain a large percentage of alcohol and afford only temporary stimulation.

Does not Scott's Emulsion also stimulate the body?

Yes, but it is stimulation through nourishment.

What vital food principle is involved in the action of Scott's Emulsion?

Direct and perfect nourishment without tax on the stomach.

Narrow Chests.

The old theory that consumption was inherited is utterly discredited by modern medical science. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are every where. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall a prey to consumption because they are too weak of lung to resist and throw off disease.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"In the spring of 1900 I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. E. L. Robinett, of Xerxes, Tenn. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. Thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption. Had almost given up in despair when my friends persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use. I weigh 160 pounds now, and when I commenced I only weighed 140 pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

Deer and Sleep.

Deer reverse the apparent order of nature, for they sleep in the daytime and feed at night. How much sleep they do take is a matter of contention even among experienced stalkers. Some say little, others much. On the whole, we are inclined to agree with the former, for it has to be remembered that they chew the cud when lying down. Two most experienced and observant foresters, the one in Argyllshire and the other in Aberdeenshire, thus gave their opinions: "Deer sleep or rest from about 10 or 11 a. m. to 4 p. m." "Deer sleep from noon to 5 p. m."

It is no uncommon occurrence to come on deer asleep. A stalker in the Blackmount had the rare experience of coming upon a parcel of seven stags, all sound asleep. A herd was seen to move in Glenfeahle, but one stag remained behind, lying motionless. On a careful approach he was found to be asleep. Perhaps, however, the oddest occurrence of this nature happened in Braemore, when a stalking party on going up to the stag which had just been shot found a three-year-old close to it fast asleep. In fact, it is by no means rare to get within a yard or two of a sleeping deer.—Scottish Field.

Enough Inside.

In England the Lord Chancellor, by virtue of his office, has a right to inspect all public asylums and hospitals. One day, while the late Lord Herschell was paying a visit at the house of a friend near Norwich, he went for an afternoon stroll, and, happening to pass by the great insane asylum at that place, the thought struck him that it was a good time to perform an official duty. Incidentally, it may be said that Herschell bore the reputation of being somewhat pompous at times. He knocked at the door, which, after a long delay, was opened by an attendant.

"You can't come in," he was informed. "It's not visiting hours."

"That makes no difference, I shall inspect this institution just the same."

"Indeed, but you'll not."

"Come, come, my good man, I'm the Lord Chancellor," Hershell expostulated.

"Oh, that's all right," answered the functionary, "we've four of you inside already."

The Compass Plant.

On the western prairie is found what is called the compass plant, which is of great value to travelers. The long leaves at the base of its stem are placed, not flat, as in plants generally, but in a vertical position, and present their edges north and south. The peculiar propensity of the plant is attributed to the fact that both surfaces of its leaves display an equal receptivity for light, whereas the upper surfaces of the leaves of most plants are more sensitive to light than the lower. The leaves thus assume a vertical position and point north and south. Travelers on dark nights are said to feel the edges of the leaves to ascertain the point of the compass.

Anticipated by Shakespeare.

"Is Bannerly as egotistic as he looks?"

"I think so. He wrote to a friend not long ago and in the course of the communication remarked that William Shakespeare seemed to have anticipated in a somewhat rude and unfinished form one of his (Bannerly's) pet theories."

How Wise We Are!

A wise newspaper says we should be thankful that we are moderns and heirs of all the wisdom of the ages. Perhaps we should be if we did not know that the average American imagines Plato to be a new kind of silver polish and Sappho an attachment to a piano.

THE FOUR-LEAVED SHAMROCK.

I'll seek a four-leaved shamrock
In all the fairy dells,
And if I find the charmed leaves,
Oh how I'll weave my spells!
I would not wake my magic might
On diamond, pearl or gold;
For treasures are the weary sight—
Such triumph is but cold.
But I would play the enchanter's part
In casting bliss around;
Oh! not a fear nor aching heart
Should in the world be found.
Should in the world be found.

To worth I would give honor,
I'd dry the mourner's tears;
And to the pallid lips recall
The smile of happier years;
And hearts that had been long estranged
And friends that had grown cold,
Should meet again like parted streams,
And mingle as of old.
Oh! thus I'd play the enchanter's part,
Thus scatter bliss around,
And not a tear nor aching heart
Should in the world be found.
Should in the world be found.

The heart that had been mourning
O'er vanished dreams of love,
Should see them all returning,
Like Noah's faithful dove,
And Hope should launch her blessed bark
On Sorrow's darkening sea,
And Mirth's children have an ark,
And saved from sinking be,
Oh! thus I played the enchanter's part,
Thus scatter bliss around;
And not a tear nor aching heart
Should in the world be found,
Should in the world be found.

Street Arabs Who Rise.

Newsboys and street arabs often make admirable clerks. The way they work into commercial houses is astonishing. A large percentage of public and prosperous business men of America began as newsboys, but probably no one realizes how many work their way up from the gutter to wealth and influence. They begin as hangers on and are recruited from the ranks of every class of street gamin. Their wits have been sharpened by contact with the sordid side of life and by observation in the school of the street. They know the value of friends. So they are to be found at the door of every big house, ready at any time to run an errand, always at hand to pick up an umbrella or open a door. And before the people who regularly pass in and out of the doors of the place realize it one of these little chaps they have been accustomed to see is on the payroll. Somebody has bought him a six dollar suit of clothes to put him more at ease with the people and weather, and he is on the road that in a surprising number of cases leads to success.

Eddystone Lighthouse.

The famous Eddystone lighthouse stands fourteen miles off the coast of Land's End and is perhaps the most celebrated in the world. It has often been used as an illustration by poets and preachers, for no other lighthouse is in such a lonesome or dangerous place, and none costs so much money and trouble. There are three keepers, who live there with their families, and two of them are always on duty, while the third is on the main coast enjoying a vacation. They relieve one another each month, so that none of the keepers remain on duty more than two months at a time. The change and rest are said to be absolutely necessary to preserve the nerves of the keepers. The lighthouse is 135 feet high, was erected in 1882 at a cost of $400,000 and rises from a submerged rock. The first lighthouse was erected on this rock as long ago as 1697, but was washed away six years after and was not replaced for a long time. The second was burned down in 1775; the third stood from 1767 to 1882 and was famous in history.

EASTERN MAN IN A WESTERN EXPERIENCE.

The Property of the Stony Pass Mine Described.

The Silverton (Colorado) Miner, has the following: "The Miner is in receipt of a handsome booklet "An Eastern Man in a Western Experience," being a description of the Golden San Juan and its famous gateway, the most picturesque region on earth and the peer in mineral wealth. The book is designed particularly to describe the properties of the Stony Pass Mining Company, but contains a large amount of information in relation to the entire district. It is handsomely illustrated and tastefully designed. The book will have a wide circulation and will attract much attention especially of Eastern people, to Silverton and the San Juan. Such advertisements bring in big rewards and do much good, not alone to the company getting out the pamphlet, but to all of our mining interests.

The property of the Stony Pass company will bear the fullest and most exacting scrutiny and the company is acting wisely in thus setting its merits before the public. Located as it is in different sections of the camp, and all the properties being in localities surrounded by the best mines of the camp, there can be no doubt but that the future will show it to be one of the greatest mining properties of the San Juan. The company is now patenting eight claims of the Lead Carbonate group, lying in the gold belt near the Gold King, and the Hercules Group in prospect basin, and the Stony Pass group having each been surveyed and will be patented during the coming season. The following paragraph, taken from the book indicates the extent of the company's holdings:

"We have the largest acreage of rich mineral ground of any company in the United States. We own our ground. We are not looking for the ore or veins, we already have the ore in vast quantities. We have spent thousands of dollars in opening it up, and determining its extent and value. We know our stock is as safe as government bonds and will bring you in a hundred times more profit. We have passed the experimental stage and know that big dividends are only a question of time, the length of which depends on how long it will take the company to run drifts on the ore, put in stopes and shoots, so as to enable the company to take out the ore in large 'quantities at the cheapest possible cost.'"

STRONG ARGUMENT FOR TRENT CANAL.

Mr. D. Gilmour's Address at Meeting of Trent Waterway Association.

Water Transportation Cheaper Than Rail---Canada Must Compete with United States.

Following is the text of Mr. D. Gilmour's address at the meeting of the Trent Waterway Association yesterday:—

Arguments in favour of the Conservation and Furnishing an ample Supply for the Summit Level of the Trent Canal, so thoroughly gone into lately by our neighbours to the south of us under the supervision and direction of the most representative executive committee that could be obtained:—

A few of these facts and points are now placed before you, which will explain themselves and ought to be of service in leading us in demonstrating a solution of our problem, viz., the advantages to be gained by the conservation of waters, as set forth.

1. Showing that the canal systems have not kept pace with the railways in the country.

"The railways have been spending hundreds of millions of dollars upon their road beds and rolling stock, the canals have stood still for over forty years. The time has again come for the improvement of the canal system of Canada if we would retain the commerce which has always been our possession since 1825.

"The proposed 1,000 ton Erie barge canal will make a freight rate across the State of New York, of less than one-sixth the present freight rate. It will save $25,000,000 to the people of the state in freight charges. It will build up manufacturing to an extent unprecedented in our history.

"The conclusion of the committee is, therefore, that natural or artificial channels of communication by water when favourably located, adequately improved and properly maintained, afford the cheapest methods of long distance transportation now known, and that they must continue to exercise in the future as they have invariably exercised in the past, an absolutely controlling and beneficially regulating influence upon the charges made upon any and all means of transit."

2. That the present canal system cannot compete with the railways. In 1870 each car capacity of the railroad was 20,000 lbs.; in the same year the canal boat had a capacity of 240 tons, while in 1892 the car capacity had increased to 80,000 lbs., and the canal boat capacity remained the same, 240 tons—the railway car capacity increasing in that period some 300 per cent., and the canal boat capacity remained the same. This therefore shows the necessity of enlarged canal capacity.

3. The remedy for same. We quote an article in connection with the proposed Erie Canal, which is applicable to our proposed Trent Canal and is as follows:—

"New York State has only to provide a waterway capable of taking one thousand ton barges through to meet successfully the threatened triumph of Pennsylvania over her in population. You know that New York State as a State, excluding Greater New York has been losing population steadily as compared with Pennsylvania. So it will continue to do, and it is only a question of a few decades when Pennsylvania will be again the Empire State, as she once was. The only means that I know of that will retard this, and perhaps prevent it, is to obtain for New York State what neither Pennsylvania nor any other state can by any possibility acquire, a deep and wide waterway from Lake to Ocean. The interest upon one hundred million dollars is a mere bagatelle to pay for this. The three million dollars will never be felt against the annual increase of wealth and population. Even if the waterway were operated at cost and yielded no profit, its incidental advantages would give the largest dividends on record."

4. Also the following extract:—

"There are only two such routes, one through Canada and the other through New York State to the Hudson River. That through Canada is natural except for certain relatively short links which have to be canalised and Canada has appreciated the importance of doing this work to get the benefit of the natural advantage."

5. Why the Americans will win out at Canada's loss unless action is taken on our part to protect the same:—

"All of this competition is keen, active and alert, and New York has seen the relative proportion of its trade in certain lines diminished to less than one-third of what it formerly was. In the matter of railroad rates New York has no advantage over other ports, and the same causes, which in the past have produced the differentials against New York will operate to produce them in the future. It is only by means of the canal and its enlargement that New York alone can have an adequate waterway across its length from the Lakes to the Ocean. The mountains and hills forbid this in other States.

"This cheap transportation can be furnished by the enlargement of the Erie Canal."

6. Canal vs. Railway as a freighter:—

"The estimates of engineers put the cost of carrying a ton of freight from Buffalo to New York in barges of 1,000 ton capacity at 26 cents. Compare that with the $100 a ton from Buffalo to Albany previous to 1825, and with the $10 a ton that was paid originally for canal transportation. This rate of 26 cents a ton is equal to .8 of a cent for a bushel of wheat or .52 of a mill per ton per mile. On the present Erie Canal the cost of transportation averages 87 cents a ton or 2.62 cents for a bushel of wheat or 1.9 mills per ton per mile. The cost of railroad transportation from Buffalo to New York for the last few years has averaged about 6 mills per ton per mile. The cost of carrying wheat, which is the principal article on competition between the railroads and the canal has been considerably lower, but it has still kept in the neighbourhood of 3 1-2 cents a bushel, or $1.17 per ton, or 2 1-2 mills per ton per mile. Arithmetic is dry reading, but no one who appreciates the importance of commerce in developing the prosperity of a commonwealth can fail to be interested in these figures. The contention is incontrovertible that, with such a reduction in freight rates between New York and Buffalo as this canal would cause, New York would again become master of the trade of the West as absolutely as when the cost of carriage from Buffalo to Albany was cut from $100 to $10 a ton. The difference between .52 of a mill and 2 1-2 mills per ton per mile is as great for this age as was the difference between $100 and $10 per ton for 1825."

7. Reservoir system of water supply. Quoting the arguments used in connection with the proposed new Erie Canal:—

"An abundant and liberal water supply is provided for and in this matter and in the location of the canal, private, corporate and municipal interests have been carefully considered and conserved."

"The problem of furnishing an ample supply for the summit level of the canal has been solved in a very ingenious and efficient manner."

The plan adopted for feeding the summit level of the Canal is briefly outlined as follows:—

"The present Erie Canal from Rome westerly to the Butternut Creek feeder, near Syracuse, is retained as a feeder to the barge canal, taking advantage of the existing reservoirs that furnish water to that portion of the canal.

"According to Mr. Kuichling's investigations we can rely on a minimum net delivery of 16,000,000 cubic feet per day from this source of supply, after deducting all probable drains upon it such as leakage and evaporation. The amount necessary for the successful handling of a 10,000,000 ton traffic on the summit level of the canal route is 39,000,000 cubic feet per day. We, therefore, have a shortage of 23,000,000 cubic feet per day for which we must look elsewhere. This amount can be obtained from the Nine Mile and West Canada Creek watershed, and thus the problem of attaining the desired 39,000,000 cubic feet per day is solved.

"This, however, leaves no reserve supply in case of accidents to feeders, or failures from other causes. The investigations show that several of the present sources of supply on the middle division are capable of much greater development than was attempted for the present Erie Canal, and by the full storage development of the Limestone Creek and the Upper Mohawk River, together with some slight changes at Canonovia Lake, we will be able to draw an additional 15,000,000 cubic feet per day for the summit level in case of accidents to or failure of the Nine Mile Creek and West Canada Creek supplies.

"The foregoing figures are based on the reconstruction of the Erie Canal with its present summit level. For the river route, however, a different proposition, will govern. Some of the drains upon the gross delivery are eliminated in this case, and Mr. Kuichling estimates that the required supply for the river route will only amount to 30,000,000 cubic feet per day during the season of navigation and 7,000,000 cubic feet per day for the remainder of the fiscal year, considering always that the leakage at dams in the alluvial soil of the Mohawk Valley is not very large. To secure this supply it will suffice to develop the storage capacity at the head of the Mohawk River at Delta, also that of the Limestone Creek, West Canada Creek, and Canonovia Lake, retaining however all other existing sources of supply between Syracuse and Utica. This will give about 44,000,000 cubic feet per day, an excess of 46 per cent over requirements.

"It may also be mentioned that in the plans for the various proposed storage reservoirs, liberal provision has been made for conserving the existing water powers on the streams affected."

8. Large ships vs. the canal barges. "It would never pay to run big ships from Buffalo to New York through any canal, not even a ship canal. It is much cheaper to transfer from a 10,000 ton lake vessel to a 1,000 ton barge and send it through the canal at slow speed, to be unloaded alongside and into ocean-going ships than to send ocean or lake vessels through the canal."

9. The shortening of the distance, if proposed improvements are carried out. Another advantage. When improvements are made will shorten the Erie Canal to 342 miles and the Oswego to 23 miles, making 25 miles shorter.

"The Erie Canal is only 352 miles long. The Oswego Canal is 38 miles long. This will shorten the Erie Canal to 342 miles, and the Oswego to 23 miles."

10. Benefits of Inland Water Canal as against a part Lake Ontario Route. Would quote an extract from T. C. Keefer, Ottawa, the Past President of the American Society of Civil Engineers, making the following statement:

"As regards the St. Lawrence River, I may state that we find it is better to keep the large vessels or propellors on the lakes, where they can move faster and make more trips in the season of navigation. Very few descend below Kingston, and from there to Montreal barges are used. The barges are loaded at Kingston from the vessel and taken down the river and business is done more economically in this way than it could be done by taking the vessels down.

The ship canal in view of all these objections, cannot for a moment be seriously considered in connection with the improvement of the waterways of the state of New York, and the argument for such a canal can only be used as an obstruction to any improvement."

The Ontario route for a 1,000 ton barge canal:

To navigate the waters of Lake Ontario and the canal, vessels must be stronger built and heavier than those vessels that are convined to canal navigation, and it can be stated on the authority of competent ship builders that the additional cost of a vessel capable of navigating Lake Ontario and the Canal would be approximately 100 per cent. more than that of an ordinary canal boat. This would involve a much higher interest charge on the combined lake and canal vessel. The heavier construction of a vessel capable of navigating Lake Ontario and the canal would cause a loss in carrying capacity amounting to not less than 10 per cent. A fleet of four boats of 1,000 tons capacity each would therefore suffer a loss in carrying capacity of at least 400 tons. The cost of maintenance and operation of such boats would necessarily be higher than ordinary canal boats, as not only more men would be required, but crews of higher training, and therefore better paid. The weather conditions during the early spring and fall on Lake Ontario are such as to render the towing of barges between the ports of Olcott and Oswego not only dangerous but at certain times impracticable; and only steel barges of great strength fitted with sealed hatches and well found with anchors and chains would be able to make the passage with impunity. In the opinion of those most competent to judge, canal boats could not be handled over this route during the entire season. Insurance companies in New York, with reference to the insurance of vessels on Lake Ontario state that as underwriters no amount of premium would tempt them to cover the present type of canal boat for traffic on Lake Ontario. They say that even if a new fleet of canal boats were constructed to navigate Lake Ontario and the canal, and therefore of a more seaworthy type than the present type of boat, the rate for the part of the trip on the waters of Lake Ontario would be considerably higher than on the inland voyage during the summer months. In the fall of the year the rate would be from five to eight times as much as it would be in midsummer and this is confirmed by the insurance companies in Buffalo. The substitution of the lake route for that portion of the inland canal route between Buffalo and Syracuse would deprive a considerable part of the state from the benefits that are expected to result from the improved waterway. The objections to the Ontario route are therefore a greatly enhanced cost of transportation, the impracticability of the route owing to the weather conditions during the spring and fall months, and the abandonment of a large part of the present canal."

All of which is submitted.

THE AGREEMENT IS TO BE CARRIED OUT.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson on Grand Trunk Pacific Contract.

The Eastern Section Will Not be Abandoned—Changes in the Agreement to be Asked For of a Very Moderate Character, and Alterations are Few and Reasonable, Says the Minister.

Moncton, N.B., Jan. 28.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson, in his first public speech here last night since being appointed Minister of Railways, made an important statement on behalf of the Government in relation to the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme. He said: "Moncton is not the city that it was three years ago, or even one year ago, and for this reason—it is now known to the people of the Maritime Provinces, and in a degree to the people of western Canada, by reason of events which are still fresh in your memories, as the terminus of a great transcontinental railway. (Cheers.) I take peculiar pride as the respresentative of this constituency in the fact that I was privileged, in some measure at least, to assist in the advancement of the idea that Moncton should be the eastern terminus of that great project. (Cheers.) And I think, sir, I should give you some assurance with respect to many of the statements which have appeared in the public press during the past few weeks in relation to that railway. You know it has been stated by many that Moncton is not to be that terminus, that by reason of certain modifications which have been asked for, and certain proposals which have been made, instead of a great transcontinental railway from Fort Simpson in the west to Moncton in the east, there would be a line coming down only to North Bay. Some have been kind enough to say it might come as far east as Quebec. Let me make the explanation, sir, with a sense of the responsibility resting upon me as the head of the Department of Railways and Canals. Such a question must be one of supreme importance, not merely to the citizens of Moncton, not merely to the people of the Maritime Provinces, but to the people of all Canada, and we, the people of all Canada, have felt that anything which would in any way prevent the completion of that great system from the Atlantic to the Pacific would be indeed a calamity. (Hear, hear.)

"It is unquestionably true that certain modifications have been asked for in connection with the contract which was for so many months discussed in Parliament. But they are on the whole of a very moderate character indeed. In fact the people of Canada will be both glad and surprised, in view of all they have heard, when they learn of the few and reasonable alterations which are being asked for. I am not, sir, in a position to say just what those modifications are. It would not be constitutional usage, it would not be in accord with the position which I hold, to make any attempt at this stage to enter into particulars. But there is one thing I can say, and I can say it on behalf of the Government of Canada, that there is no proposal to cut out the eastern section of the transcontinental railway. (Great cheering.) There is neither the suggestion nor the suspicion that this is even desired by those who are interested in the scheme, and upon whom the burden will in a very large degree fall. These modifications will be submitted to Parliament, and, as I have said to you, they will be very moderate and reasonable. You will realize this when the announcement in detail is made from the regular constitutional quarter. But before being submitted to Parliament they will have to be ratified by the Grand Trunk Railway Company, and when this has been done, and they are brought before Parliament, I am sure they will be found of such a character as in no sense to affect the object which the construction of the railway is intended to accomplish. (Cheers.) I want to be particular with respect to this, because it is an important matter, and, speaking officially, I do not wish to be misunderstood. All statements to the effect that this railway will not be as is proposed in the contract ratified by Parliament are entirely unfounded, and have not even the ghost of a suspicion upon which to rest." (Cheers.)

UNLESS THERE IS GREAT CHANGE.

Austen Chamberlain Sees No Reduction in Taxation For Britain.

London, Jan. 28.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Austen Chamberlain, replying to the toast "His Majesty's Ministers," at the Carpenters' Company banquet last night, said that unless there is a great change in the revenue returns in the next few months there will be little prospect of coming up to the budget estimates, and he is afraid he will not be able to propose a remission of taxation at this session of Parliament.

He explained that the Somaliland campaign has proved much more costly than expected, and said that the purchase of the two Chilian battleships was another unexpected financial drain.

He hopes it will not be necessary to increase the State indebtedness, but "there will be special need for economy in the national expenditure for some years to come."

THE LEGISLATURE.

Hon. Mr. Davis Defended Himself From Opposition Attacks.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—The end of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne is not yet in sight. It is not likely that there will be a vote until the new member for North Oxford is seated. Among the Opposition members who are to speak yet are J. W. St. John, W. J. Hanna, R. R. Gamey and A. A. Mahaffy. Joseph Downey of South Wellington, had the floor when the House adjourned at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He will resume on Monday afternoon, probably taking about an hour, and the Attorney-General will follow him. It has not yet been decided what other Government members will speak in this debate.

There were few spectators in the gallery yesterday, when Hon. E. J. Davis took up the debate. He dealt with the barnacle editorials and averred that the attitude of a newspaper must be judged from its general tone, not from a few isolated statements. The Globe had said something of the Opposition which were not complimentary. Mr. Davis dealt with the protest, defending himself from attacks of Opposition speakers. Apart from the speeches, which were able, the only matter discussed was the side-tracking of questions addressed to the Government. Col. Matheson charged that they were put over for fear of the effect they might have on the vote in North Oxford next Tuesday.

To Be Tried For Murder.

Campbellton, N.B., Jan. 28.—On July 23, Richard Mann was killed during a row, and since them three men, Richard and Mike Murray and Archie Gerrard, have been behind the bars, awaiting trial. The grand jury has brought in "no bill" against Gerrard and Mike Murray. Richard Murray will be tried alone for murder.

The Kintore Meeting.

Kintore, Jan. 28.—Mr. T. H. Preston, M. P. P., was the principal speaker at an enthusiastic meeting held here in the interest of Lieut.-Colonel Munro. He devoted some little time to Mr. Butler's platform, which is said to be "Canada for the Canadians, build up Ontario, help South Oxford, and clean politics." These were, he said, mere platitudes so far as the Conservative candidate was concerned. To accomplish any of them the electors should support the Ross Government. He urged particularly the necessity of each Reform vote being polled, so that the Conservatives may be unable to gain any advantage from any falling off in the Liberal vote.

McGill's World-Wide Fame.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—Principal Peterson of McGill University, speaking at the law faculty dinner Thursday night, stated that following the request of the Chinese Imperial Government for a skilled mining engineer, McGill had been honored very recently by the Government of Egypt for a skilled lawyer to become professor of French law in the University of Cairo.

MUNICIPAL PLANT NOT CONSIDERED.

New York Engineer Here Making Investigation.

Has Interviewed Mayor Roger and Made Some Proposals—Council has not Considered the Proposition.

During the last few weeks a young man from New York, representing a firm of contracting engineers, has been in Peterborough instituting investigations with a view of submitting a proposition to the town for the establishment of a municipal electric street lighting and street railway plant. The fact that the town was about to enter into a street lighting and street railway service had evidently reached the attention of the firm referred to above, and the manager was sent here to submit a proposal to the council for the construction of a municipal plant.

After spending some time in making the necessary investigation with regard to the flow of the river, the power available at the water works dam, the present cost of lighting, the Mayor was interviewed, and an informal proposition made. The engineer stated that for $60,000, he could build a plant which would give power for both electric lighting and street railway service, using 200 lamps of 1,000 candle power each, the cost of maintenance of the latter to be, according to his figures, $33 per lamp per year.

While these were the figures submitted to the Mayor informally, there was no proposition submitted to the council, and the general impression seems to be that the plan roughly outlined by the engineer, is not feasible.

The Mayor, while receiving him courteously, stated to him that the town had already entered into a contract with a reliable company for both street lighting and street railway service, and that a counter proposition could not be considered, in view of the fact that the ratepayers had expressed their approval of the contracts entered into by the town.

The plan submitted by the visit engineer calls for a large expenditure on the water works dam before sufficient power could be obtained to operate the two systems, and the cost of building the plant exceeds that as submitted by Mr. Phillips.

The statement has been made that the council held a private session this week to consider the proposition, but it is learned that this is not true, and the Mayor states that the council has held no private session, nor has it even considered the proposition, and the Mayor does not regard it seriously, as it is thought to be impracticable.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 23, 1904.

A PROVINCIAL PATRIOT.

The race of patriots is not extinct in Ontario, or, to speak more exactly, perhaps it died out with the late Colin Campbell, of Iroquois, Dundas county. His will was an unique document in that it bequeathed to the treasurer of the Province of Ontario, a sum sufficient to bring the succession duties on his estate up to $2,000. The succession duties on the estate will scarcely amount to $1,000, according to the schedule of fees, and we have the remarkable fact of a patriotic citizen, who sharply differentiates himself from the majority of wealthy men, who, instead of devising property to the province, devise clever schemes to evade the succession duties. Mr. Whitney, who is not in favour of succession duties, or thinks they are excessive, can hardly appreciate the action of one of his constituents in showing his anxiety that the province should have even more than its just dues.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Whitney, in his intense solicitude for the purification of politics, has sent up Mr. Robert Birmingham to operate in North Oxford bye-election. What Mr. Birmingham doesn't know about crooked election methods is a trifle.

While some of the Tory papers affect to regard the appointment of Prof. Mills to the Railway Commission as a mistake, the farmers, whose interests he is supposed specially to represent, do not complain. The Farmer's Sun, after expressing surprise at the choice, his name not having been put forward as a likely one, says: "The principal of the O. A.C. possesses however certain qualifications for the position. His sympathies are with the people; he has an intimate knowledge of the requirements of agriculture, and by far the greater part of his active life has been spent in direct association with the farm. He has too the sturdiness and independence of character so desirable in one in the position to which he has been appointed."—Hamilton Times.

One has not to sit long in the Chamber of the Ontario Legislature to see that the tone of parliamentary debate has deteriorated, especially if the Opposition holds the floor. There is an utter absence of the dignity that should mark parliamentary discussion, and a lack of respect for the responsible position the speakers occupy. One of the chief offenders in this regard is the member for Centre Gray, Mr. Lucas. His speech, or, preferably, his talk in the debate on the address on Wednesday was marked by offensive familiarity, was weakly sneering in its tone, and intended rather to arrouse irritation than contribute in a useful way to the seemly discussion of important public affairs. The member for Centre Bruce and others, who adopt his style of speech should remember that colloquial appeals to ministers, superficial smartness, and flippant manner are not what is expected of a representative who seeks to instruct the House by his oratory, and furnish reasons for taking a certain course in the public interests. While an occasional lapse into a lighter vein may well be employed to brighten the dullness of argumentative style, an entire speech composed of cheap wit, nasty little sneers and offensive familiarities, little removed from the style of a debating club is quite inconsistent with the seemliness and dignity that should characterize public discussion in a body composed of representatives of the foremost Province of the Dominion.

RECOGNITION FOR THE FARMERS.

The appointment of Dr. James Mills, principal of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, to the Railway Commission, is another recognition of the importance of the representation of the agricultural interests in public bodies, says the St. Thomas Journal. It was the Liberal party that first placed a farmer at the head of the Department of Agriculture at Toronto, and later at Ottawa. In the days of Conservative supremacy at Ottawa, the portfolio of Agriculture, was left in the hands of a doctor, like Hon. Dr. Montague, and a brewer like Sir John Carling of Londom. But as soon as the Liberals got hold of the reins of power in 1896, a practical farmer, Hon. Sydney Fisher, was placed in charge of the Department, and as a result the agricultural interests have been better guarded and more advanced than at any time in Canada's history. Just as sample of the difference in methods. Prior to 1896, our butter and fruit trade with Great Britain, was suffering because of the poor cold storage facilities supplied by a Conservative Government; in fact the butter and fruit reached England in such a deplorably bad state that producer merchants virtually refused to accept anything marked "Canadian." Hon. Sydney Fisher had hardly been in charge of his department for two months, before he had the most modern methods of cold storage installed, and quickly the butter and fruit trade developed until to-day Canada holds a position of the first rank in the English markets.

Agriculture is the predominant industry in Canada. It is the life of the country. Upon its success depends the prosperity of all our other industries. In the past the farming community has not been properly treated in the affairs of Government. The Liberal party we feel warranted, in declaring has removed this grievance and never fail to consider the interests of agriculture.

The appointment of Dr. Mills is an instance. Dr. Mills is directly identified with the agricultural interests of this country through his connection with the Agricultural College. He was brought up on the farm and has identified himself with the advancement of farming as a science the greater part of his life and probably no man in Canada is in closer touch with the needs of the men on the farms than Dr. Mills. As a talented man, progressive in spirit and careful in judgment, Dr. Mills will give the farming community and the country generally, faithful service in the treatment of our railways by the new commission. No class has more reason for complaint against the big corporations, than the farmers, and more especially in the West, where the freight rates are a load upon the people. Dr. Mills' duty will be to familiarize himself with railroad questions as they affect the farmers and propose what remedies he considers best in their interests. He will be paid a salary of $8,000 a year, and will reside at Ottawa.

Seidl's Silent Tongue.

One of the most striking anecdotes told in Hermann Klein's "Thirty Years of Musical Life In London" relates to Anton Seidl's first interview with Wagner in the library at Wahnfried. Seidl found the room dark, and, imagining nobody was there, he pulled out his letter of introduction and began silently rehearsing the speech he had prepared. Suddenly from out of the gloomy corner Wagner appeared, and Seidl was so nervous that he could not bring out a sentence of his speech. This proved to be his salvation, for Wagner, declaring, "If you can work as well as you can hold your tongue, you will do," engaged him on the spot.

THE APPOINTMENT OF DR. BRYCE.

Medical Director of Interior and Indian Departments.

Career of Secretary of Provincial Board of Health in Ontario—His Greatest Field of Usefulness.

Dr P. H. Bryce, of Toronto, has been appointed medical director for the Interior and Indian departments.

Dr. Bryce is one of the best known and most painstaking officers in the Ontario civil service. He was born in the county of Brant in 1853, and graduated at the University of Toronto in 1876 with honours. After taking his medical degree in 1880, he pursued his studies at the Royal College at Edinburgh. In 1878-9 he was professor of chemistry at the Agricultural College, Guelph, and after graduation began his medical practice in Guelph. Since 1882 he has been Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and since 1892 Deputy Registrar-General for the Province, having charge of the vital statistics. A man of literary taste, Dr. Bryce has written many papers on medical and scientific subjects. His greatest field of usefulness, however, has been as Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, where his impartiality, firmness and decisive action have been the means of preventing the development into epidemics of many hotbeds of disease, which threatened the health of small communities. Dr. Bryce has for many years lived at Bracondale, just north of Toronto, preferring the high, fresh atmosphere of the suburbs to the filth and smoke of the city.—Ottawa Free Press.

THE GRIP AGAIN.

This Dangerous Epidemic has Made Another Appearance.

A Suggestion as to how to Guard Against the Trouble and its Pernicious After Effects.

Every winter, influenza, or as it is more generally known, the grip, makes its appearance in Canada. Every few years it spreads and assumes alarming proportions. From all appearances this is one of the years in which it will seize upon a great number of victims, for every day new cases are reported. As in scarlet and typhoid fever, the after effects of grip are often worse than the disease itself. The sufferer is left with a debilitated system, short of breath upon the slightest exertion, subject to headache and heart palpitation, affected by every change in the weather, and in a physical condition to invite the attack of more serious diseases, such as pneumonia and consumption.

A timely suggestion as to how to enable the system to resist the inroads of the grip and its after effects, is given by Mrs. Emma Doucett, St. Eulalie, Que., who says:—"I had an attack of the grip which left me a sufferer from headache, pains in the stomach and general weakness. I used several medicines but found nothing to help me until I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I began to take these pills I was very much run down and very weak, but they soon began to help me, and after using them a few weeks I was not only as well as ever, but had gained in flesh as well. I can hardly tell you how pleased I am with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I was feeling very hopeless when I began their use."

These pills cure by making new, rich red blood, thus strengthening every part of the body and enabling it to throw off disease. You can always avoid imitations by seeing that the full name "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six for $2.50 by writing to The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

BROKE WINDOWS OF PHOTO CO.

Frank Zwick of Stirling, Ont., Arrested in Rochester, N.Y.

Rochester, Jan. 23.—Demented because his wife was suing him for divorce, a well-dressed stranger who gave his name as Dr. Frank Zwick of Stirling, Ont., Canada, was brought into Police Court yesterday morning. Zwick was taken violently insane while on a New York Central train and did damage to the company's property, for which he settled by paying $50. Because he thought the factory of the Defender Photo Company was a hotel and was refused admission, he broke windows and was arrested. Zwick claims he had intended to go to Lowville, N. Y., after a witness.

MUNICIPAL CORRUPTION.

Hundreds of Ballots Tampered With in in Ward Six, Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—Interest in the civic election scandal suddenly shifted to the Board of Education ballots yesterday when five summons were issued for as many returning officers and clerks. Wholesale frauds have been discovered, and Judge Winchester asserts that more than half of the ballots in the sub-divisions investigated show gross irregularities. He declared that a most atrocious condition is revealed by the examination of the votes cast in sub-divisions 3, 4 and 9, Ward Six. The accused officials will appear in court to-day.

Importation Considered Justified.

London, Jan. 23.—The Transvaal Government, replying to Australia and New Zealand Premiers, said that in view of the inadequacy of the local labor supply and the difference in conditions of the respective colonies and the restrictions imposed on the importation of labor, they consider the importation of colored labor fully justified.

Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

BLOWN OUT OF BED

Terrible Cyclonic Disaster in the State of Alabama.

MONDVILLE'S STORES RAZED

Twenty-Eight Persons Were Killed, One Hundred Injured, and Many Buildings Destroyed—Terrific Force of the Wind Exemplified in Many and Terrible Ways—Iron Safes Carried Away.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 23.—The most disastrous cyclone that ever swept over this section visited Mondville, Ala., a town of 300 inhabitants, 15 miles south of Tuscaloosa, yesterday morning, at one o'clock, and as a result twenty-eight (mostly negroes) were killed, and more than 100 injured and every business store in town, with the exception of a small drug store, was completely destroyed. The cyclone struck the town from the southwest. Its path was a quarter of a mile wide right through the town.

By the force of the storm, persons were blown hundreds of feet from their beds in the blackness of the night. Through terror, a father, mother and three children fled from their home to seek refuge, and in their excitement left a five-year-old boy in bed. Yesterday morning he was pulled from beneath some timber, and thus far it is impossible to find the other members of the family. Beds, carpets and wearing apparel are scattered for a distance of ten miles through what was forest, but is now as clear as if it had been cut by the woodman's axe.

Freight cars were torn into strips, the trucks under them being buried hundreds of feet from the track. The depot, the hotel, warehouses, gins, thirty homes and several store-houses were completely destroyed. Where they stood it is impossible to find even the pillars on which these structures rested. Bales of cotton stored in warehouses were blown to atoms, the fragments of lint, together with the debris, lodging in trees, making it appear as if that section had been visited by a snowstorm. Heavy iron safes were carried away by the storm and the doors torn from their hinges.

Crushed By Snow Plow.

Barrie, Jan. 23.—James McPherson died Thursday night from the injuries received near Phelpstone on Wednesday morning. He was foreman of a G.T.R. snow plow, which had been lifted from the rails by the hard packed snow, and was under it, helping to replace it on the track. It is said that the air leaked out of the brake, and let the engine move a couple of feet. McPherson was caught under the plow wheels, both thighs being crushed. He was brought to the hospital, and one leg amputated, but it was impossible to save his life. A widow and two children survive him.

Fell Seven Stories and Lives.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—Bert Clark, aged 19, 29 Morse street, while working in the new J. F. Brown & Co. building, on Yonge street, fell seven stories, being precipitated from the top to the bottom. He stepped on a plank which had been placed over an opening. There were no bones broken, but he was injured internally.

While three men were at work on a scaffold at the Toronto Railway Company power house yesterday afternoon the plank upon which they stood gave way and William Keller was precipitated to the ground, 25 feet below. When picked up he was found to have fractured his left thigh and his left arm above the elbow.

Martin Ryan Dead.

Belleville, Jan. 23.—Martin Ryan, who was badly crushed at the G.T.R. workshops here on Jan. 8, died in the hospital yesterday morning.

SOCIETY WOMEN

As Well as the Housewife and Professional Women Endorse Pe-ru-na as a Specific for Winter Diseases.

MISS BLANCHE MYERS.

A SOCIETY LADY'S LETTER.

Miss Blanche Myers, 3120 Penn street, Kansas City, Mo., a prominent young society woman of that place, has the following to say of Peruna:

"During each of the past four seasons I have caught a severe cold, when suddenly chilled after an evening party, and catarrh for several weeks would be the result. One bottle of Peruna cured me, and I shall not dread colds any more as I did."—BLANCHE MYERS.

HOME TREATMENT FREE.

Catarrh Cures by Thousands Under Dr. Hartman's Free Treatment.

Catarrh of the nose and head produces discharge from the nose, sneezing, and pain in the eyes and forehead, weak, and sometimes watery eyes, and occasional loss of memory.

Unless something is done to prevent the catarrh will follow the mucous membrane into the lungs where it will be followed by cough, night sweats, rapid loss of flesh, and the other dread symptoms of consumption.

To all such people Dr. Hartman's treatment comes as a great boon. It is only necessary to send name and address to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., and complete directions for the first month's treatment will be sent free.

Not only is it more successful in curing catarrh than the treatment of catarrh specialists, but it is in the reach of every person in this land.

A medicine which is the principal part of Dr. Hartman's treatment, known as Peruna, can be bought at any drug store, and is a remedy without equal for catarrh in all forms, coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption, and all climatic diseases of winter. Each bottle is accompanied with complete directions for use.

Address The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, for a copy of their latest catarrh book, instructively illustrated, and contains 64 pages of the latest information on catarrhal diseases. Sent free to any address.

A Housewife Who Suffered 25 Years.

Mrs. Alla Schwandt, Sanborn, Minn., writes:

"I have been troubled with catarrh for twenty-five years. Could not sleep day or night. After having used Peruna I can sleep and nothing bothers me now."—Mrs. Alla Schwandt.

Mrs. Jennie Cable, Spokane, Wash., writes:

"After suffering for twenty-one years with neuralgia, caused by catarrh of head, I tried all doctors and all kinds of medicine, receiving no benefit. I became discouraged and worn out at last. My mother wrote me to take Dr. Hartman's medicine, so I did, but my case was a chronic one, and I was also in the change of life. Through the use of Peruna and Manalin I am now entirely well.

"When I began taking your medicine I only weighed 91 pounds; now I weigh 110. I have not taken a drop of medicine for seven months, and would advise all sufferers to consult Dr. Hartman. The neuralgia affected my head and eyes, and for the last year seemed to be in my breast and between my shoulder blades."—Mrs. Jennie Cable.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

CANADA'S POSITION.

Contributors to Special Edition of London Financial News Sound Praise—Must Give Us Favors.

London, Jan. 23.—(C. A. P.)—The Financial News' twentieth anniversary number contains articles by prominent Canadians. H. S. Scott attributes Canadian trade expansion largely to the natural resources of the Dominion and the prominent position she has taken since the Diamond Jubilee. He finds Canada a trifle unsettled touching the trade policy, but is hopeful that her political destiny lies along lines advantageous to the Empire and the colony.

The Hon. Mr. Blair writes of the great part that will be played by the new transcontinental line. Populating the districts about the Great Lakes would require five or six through railways.

D. R. Wilkie, dwelling on the banking system, says that the magnificent Canadian prosperity has only been possible through the assistance of Canadian chartered banks. It is a remarkable fact that the deposits for the past eight years have more than doubled.

Must Give Us Favors.

Professor Ashley, speaking in a London institution yesterday, said unless Canadian farmers are given British favors, Canada would listen to American overtures. The lecturer had not unbounded faith in the preferential plan, but it was the only chance left. He recognized the risk of friction over preferential negotiations among small British statesmen.

Mrs. Elizabeth King Gets Rid of Her Rheumatism After Years of Suffering.

Mrs. Elizabeth King, of Cedar Hill, Victoria, B.C., writes thus:—"I have been troubled with rheumatism all my life, and about eight years ago I had a very severe attack, almost losing the use of my right arm. A friend recommended Paine's Celery Compound, and gave me a bottle. I was so much benefitted by that one bottle that I took three more, and was quite cured. Since then it has been almost my only medicine for all the ailments from which I have suffered, and all my family have found benefit from it. I am sixty-five years of age; I live on a farm, get up early in the morning, and am quite equal to a good day's work."

PAINE'S Celery Compound Cured Her.

Will you Help a Sick Friend

Get My Book for Him Now.

Which Shall I Send?

Book 1 on Dyspepsia.
Book 2 on the Heart.
Book 3 on the Kidneys.
Book 4 for Women.
Book 5 for Men (sealed.)
Book 6 on Rheumatism.

Send me no money.

Only tell me which book to send.

You certainly know of someone who is sick—some sufferer who will be grateful for the help that my book offers.

And that book tells of a way to help. Tells of a way so certain that I, as a physician, offer that help on trial. The book tells how for 30 years in hospitals and at bedsides I searched for a way to cure deep-seated and difficult diseases. It tells how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. How by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness, the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality, the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves. The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves.

That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were 1 in each 40 treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the real truth of my discovery, the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know that I am sincere—that my prescription is unusual."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to co-operate with me. Now to any sick one

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

Can be taken at my risk. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk. Send no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial. Use the Restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist, "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost to me. This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubt as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do.

No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick. If you have a weakness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do them tell me about it. Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help.

Get my book now—to-day. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At druggists.

THE NORTH OXFORD BATTLE

Dr. Neimeier, a Leading Conservative, Supporting Lieut.-Col. Munro—Mr. Preston at Kintore.

Woodstock, Jan. 23.—Not in a quarter of a century has there been a political contest in North Oxford in which there has been such keen excitement as at present prevails, especially in this city. Seldom has Woodstock failed to give a Liberal majority, but the Conservative organizers think they have a chance, now that the Liberal candidate is not a resident of the city, to wipe out the majority of 279 which the late Andrew Pattullo polled nearly two years ago over Mr. Muma. To that end they have to a great extent concentrated the efforts of their organization in the city, and the Liberal Vigilance Committee are kept busy. From the country, on the other hand, come the encouraging reports that Lieut.-Colonel Munro will poll the full Liberal vote, and his personal popularity is, it is reported, also obtaining for him many votes which have not usually been cast for the Liberal candidate. One of his warmest supporters and energetic speakers is Dr. Neimeier, a leading Conservative of Tavistock.

Attempt to Enter Liberal Rooms.

For several days past a suspicion has been entertained by the Liberal committee that some one was obtaining access to the committee-rooms surreptitiously. Thursday night watchers were stationed in the building, and at an early hour yesterday morning an attempt was made to enter it from the rear. The lights were turned on prematurely, and alarmed the intruder, who succeeded in eluding the pursuit that was instituted.

The Conservative Meeting.

The Conservatives opened their campaign in Woodstock by a grand rally in the City Hall, which was crowded. The speakers were Messrs. J. Y. Ormsby, K. E. Butler, the candidate, the Conservative leader, Mr. J. P. Whitney, Mr. J. J. Foy and Dr. Welford.

Liberal Meetings.

Liberal meetings were arranged for last night as follows: Plattsville, Lieut.-Col. Munro, H. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P., and Milton Carr, M. P. P.; Princeton, Geo. Smith and J. S. MacKay; Cassel, Valentine Stock, M.P.P., John W. Mahon, John F. Krugg and Dr. Neimeier.

Conservative meetings arranged were: Bright, R. R. Gamey, E. A. Dunlop and N. A. Weidenheimer; Braemar, Dr. Snider, W. S. West and J. S. Duff, M.P.P.; Harrington, A. Ingram, M. P., P. H. Bartlett and John Young; Rayside, Donald Sutherland and F. G. Macdairmid.

A CONTINUAL DRAG.

The Exact Term.

Only those who have experienced the pain and suffering incident to Piles or Hemorrhoids, can know what a drag and handicap this complaint is; how even the mildest form hinders the patient from putting forth his or her best efforts, while those afflicted with protruding or bleeding piles realize all the tortures of the Inquisition.

It may surprise the reader to know that there is a safe, permanent cure for this disease, as the following testimony from Mr. E. A Leonard, an American resident in the City of Mexico will show.

"For twenty years I suffered with piles, sometimes being confined to my bed for days at a time. The relief received from doctors both in the United States and Mexico, was temporary and more frequently I received no relief; other medicines had no effect. It was a continual drag. I was fit for nothing. I finally tried Pyramid Pile Cure; first application was magical; I could not believe I was awake the next morning—I experienced a relief that I had not known for twenty years. One box cured me; but not believing myself cured I bought two more, but they are still in my trunk. I first used the remedy in July, 1902; and have had no occasion to use it since. The world should know of Pyramid Pile Cure. I have no words to express its merits."

Pyramid Pile Cure is in the form of a suppository, which is admitted by all physicians to be the best preparation for treating piles; it comes in direct contact with the painful tumours and does its work quickly and painlessly. It is sold by druggists generally at 50 cents a package, and there is no other remedy "just as good."

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the cause and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

MAY BE MURDER.

Young Man in London Strikes Woman With Iron Bolt.

London, Jan. 23.—A murderous assault was made on Mrs. Parker, an aged lady who keeps a small grocery at the corner of Colborne and Simcoe streets, this city, yesterday. A young man whose name is thought to be Brooks, stepped into the store and asked for a plug of tobacco, and when Mrs. Parker turned to get it he dealt her a heavy blow on the back of the head with a large iron bolt.

When she turned around and faced him he struck her another blow on the forehead. At this he seemed to become frightened and ran out of the store. His motive for committing the deed was evidently theft, as Mrs. Parker lives alone and is thought to have a little money stored away.

Mrs. Parker's condition is serious. She showed wonderful courage, having dragged herself to the door and called for help. The police were notified and have a good description of the young man, and hope to locate him soon.

PASSING OF "OOM PAUL."

Aged Ex-President of Transvaal Passing Away at the Hague.

The Hague, Jan. 23.—"Oom Paul" is dying. His memory gone, his 80 years pressing heavily on his whitened head, his steps feeble, his passion for outdoor life gone, the man who almost brought Great Britain to her knees and staggered mankind in South Africa cannot live much longer.

His friends are fearing and prepared for the worst, and would not be surprised at any moment to hear that the man who was four times President of the South Africa Republic, had gone to join his fallen companions and his dead wife. The change in his condition began about a week ago. Oom Paul now has somebody with him every hour of the day and night. He is tired of life.

DIED OF STARVATION.

Hubbard of "Outing" Lost Life in Wilds of Labrador.

Quebec, Jan. 23.—Word was received here yesterday from Chateau Bay, on the Labrador coast that a courier had arrived there the day before from Northwest River with the information that Mr. Hubbard of the exploring party sent out by the "Outing" of New York had died from starvation in the Wilds of Labrador on the 18th October last, and that the remains were on their way to Quebec by dog train with the other members of the expedition, which expected to reach Chateau Bay some time in March. Northwest River is some several hundred miles below Chateau Bay.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible bu tit was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by all druggists.

Army Reform For Britain.

London, Jan. 23.—Speaking at Liverpool last night, War Secretary Arnold-Forster outlined what he proposes for army reforms as follows:

A professional class in the army to study scientific problems.

A force ready to take the field at a moment's notice, which will relieve the reserves of pressure and alarm.

A large increase in the number of trained subaltern officers and captains.

Reorganization of the militia.

Sympathetic treatment of volunteers.

Only one Dr. Chase.

It frequently happens that people suffer for years from kidney derangements without knowing the cause of their backaches, aching limbs and other bodily sufferings, suddenly the truth is revealed to them that they are the victims of serious kidney disease and in imminent danger. There is no medicine which gives such prompt and lasting relief for every form of Kidney disease as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are positively effective even in the most chronic cases.

Colds are quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs and opens the secretions, effecting a permanent cure. THE JUNIORS WON FROM BELLEVILLE.

Defeated Visiting Team by a Great Finish.

Score was 7-6 the Winning Goal Scored just Before Time was Called—The Juniors Play Good Hockey.

The Examiner's prediction that the Peterborough Junior O.H.A. team had struck a winning gait, was verified last night, when by a garrison finish they defeated the fast Belleville septette by 7—6, after the latter had, to all appearances, got the game clinched. The youngsters surprised the spectators and even themselves, by administering a defeat to a team that had previously shut them out by 7—0 in Belleville. The game was witness by a small crowd of spectators, but this fact did not dampen the ardour of the players, who, particularly during the second half, played a fast game. The local team, as in the game with Port Hope, did not play up to their capabilities in the first half, and the visitors had rolled up a score of 5—3 when the bell rang for half time.

That they played championship hockey in the second half, though, no one can deny. Every man played his position, and the forwards did, what they had failed to do in the first half, played combination, with the inevitable result that they found the net.

The Belleville team is a fast aggregation, heavier than the locals, and play with a good system, the effect of which was seen in the first half, but in the latter period the home team outplayed them, and won on their merits. It was a close call, however, and the winning goal was not scored until the last minute of the game.

This win from a team which has been thought of as one of the strongest in the junior O.H.A., has demonstrated the fact that the Peterborough Juniors must be reckoned with and should greatly encourage the members of the team. It was really brilliant playing that won them the game, and had they shown the form in the first half that was displayed in the second, the defeat of the visitors would have been all the more complete. But the great fact remains that they played well enough to win, and can do it again, should occasion offer. The greatest credit should be given Captain Parker for his persistent work with the team, in the face of discouragements which many would have considered sufficient cause to give up in despair. That he has brought his team up to its present status is a record which is worthy of note. The fact must also be borne in mind that he played a most important part in winning the game, not only by his individual work, but by holding the team together, and inspiring the forward line, which in the second half played a magnificent game. The Belleville team evidently thought that the team was going to be theirs without much effort, but their expectations were somewhat discounted. They started out strong scoring three goals in quick succession, before the home team got their measure. From this time to the end of the game, however, they had to work hard for all they got. The Peterborough defence played a superb game, not only in defending the goal, but in scoring. Moore, the point player, was directly responsible for two goals scored by his team. He made a number of splendid rushes, two of which resulted as recorded above. VanEvery, as he usually does, played a splendid game. He saved the goal a number of times, stopping some very difficult shots. Rob Parker, at cover, played, if possible a better game than ever, and deserves great prise for pulling his team from what at one time looked like a defeat. He frequently made some effective rushes to the Belleville goal, and Dolan was given plenty to do to stop his shots.

The forward line has improved wonderfully in the last few games, and last night played the best game they have ever played. Every man on the forward line played his position and played it well. Long scored the winning goal on a long shot from the side.

The Belleville team is a well balanced aggregation, and plays a good combination game, with no particularly brilliant individual work. They depend entirely upon combination work, which they have down to a science. The game put up by them last night should give them victories over any ordinary team, but last night they were up against a superior team, which won on the merits of the game.

The boys played a clean game; during the first half not a man on either side was ruled off, and the very best of feeling prevailed between the teams.

The line-up was:—

Belleville.	Peterborough.
Goal.
Dolan	VanEvery
Point.
W. Hamilton	Moore
Cover point.
Conley	Parker
Forwards.
Brennan	Long
Spangenberg	Hall
R. Hamilton	Kennedy
Weller	Smith
Time-keeper.
F. Woodruff	E. McWilliams
Goal Umpire
F. Spangenberg	W. Bradburn

Referee—F. A. Clarke.

THE GAME

Belleville started strong, scoring 3 goals in 3 minutes, 20 seconds and 9 minutes respectively, Weller scoring all three goals.

Kennedy started the scoring for the home team locating the net in two minutes.

Weller got two more for Belleville in one and nine minutes, when Kennedy again scored for the home team in two minutes. He repeated the trick in one minute, making the half time score 5—3 in favour of Belleville.

Seventeen minutes of the second half elapsed without either team scoring, when Spangenberg notched the first for Belleville, putting them in the lead by three goals.

Moore now took a hand in the game, making two brilliant rushes, on the first of which he scored by a nicely placed shot, and in the second, after a great rush in which he passed through the entire Belleville line-up, he passed to Kennedy who shot it in. Parker got the next on a nice lift from centre, in three minutes, and just before the time-keeper's bell rang, Long scored the winning goal on a long shot from the side. The summary of goals scored is as follows:—

First Half.

THE MINTO COTTAGE HOSPITAL SCHEME.

Its Object to Supply Hospital Centres in Remote Places—Why it is a Success.

The Lady Minto Cottage System was introduced, as its name implies, by Lady Minto. Its chief object is the providing of hospital centres in out-of-the-way places, where the surrounding population may have careful nursing at reasonable rates. It is manifest that the poorer people of such places at Dauphin, Shoal Lake, and Swan River, in Manitoba, Fort William and Thessalon, in Western Ontario, Regina and Yorkton, in the North-West Territories, and of the districts surrounding them, must in case of sickness do without the greatest of all human needs to convalescence, outside the medical profession, if no local scheme of nursing is established for their convenience and benefit. In case of severe illness it is frequently absolutely necessary, if the patient is to be restored to health, that a competent nurse be within reach. Nursing centres in this way make life bearable even in the remotest districts and greatly aid in the settlement and well being of the more distant parts of habitable Canada. They are also of the greatest possible assistance to the missionaries who are enabled to provide the poor with the loving help of kind and competent nurses. The map of the west is as yet but sparsely dotted with the sign of the Red Cross, but Canadians are rapidly waking to the necessity of providing our outlying districts without further delay with cottage hospitals and training schools for nurses. Who will refuse to aid in the noble work? The concert to be given under local patronage in aid of it in the market building on February 2nd, should be most liberally patronized.

DEPLORED DEATH OF MR. JAMES PILLING.

He Died Very Suddenly—Funeral was Held This Afternoon.

The funeral of the late James Pilling took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery from his late residence, 150 Park street. The service at the grave side was conducted by Rev. A. H. Brace, the deceased formerly being a member of the Park street Baptist church. He was aged 52 years and died very suddenly on Thursday afternoon from a paralytic stroke, leaving besides a bereaved widow eight children, seven of whom are sons, all residing in this neighbourhood. The late Mr. Pilling was born in England, but was brought to Canada by his parents when but seven years old. He first lived at Port Hope, but two years ago came to Peterborough and has lived here since. Comparatively young, the deceased was a very popular man and his death will be very greatly felt.

RESTLESS AND CROSS.

When infants or young children are restless and cross or peevish it is a very certain sign that they are not well. The mother may not know just what the trouble is, but she can depend upon it the struggle exists. Give the little one Baby's Own Tablets, see how promptly it will be changed into a happy, smiling and good natured child. The little one will sleep sound and naturally and the mother will also obtain her much needed rest. Here is the proof given by Mrs. John E. Ramsay, Port Hill, P.E.I., who says: "My baby was cross, restless, and did not sleep well, but after giving him Baby's Own Tablets he became better natured, sleeps well and is growing finely. The Tablets have been a great blessing to both baby and myself." Baby's Own Tablets are a prompt and certain cure for such troubles as indigestion, sour stomach, colic, constipation, diarrhoea, simple fevers and other minor ailments. They always do good and cannot possibly harm the most delicate child. You can get the Tablets from any medicine dealer or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, at 25 cents a box, by writing to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, of Brockville, Ont.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The reports presented yesterday at the nineteenth annual meeting of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, show the year 1903 to have been a gratifyingly successful one, and one with which the shareholders should feel highly pleased.

The directors statement gives the information that the gross earnings for the year have amounted to $152,439.56, from which dividends amounting to six per cent. per annum have been paid; in addition to increasing the Reserve Fund by $30,000.00, the total Reserve now having reached the extremely satisfactory figure of $480,000.00, or nearly half a million dollars.

The statement further shows that the net value of the company's investments is $2,192,548.44.

A pleasing indication of the prosperity of the country in general and the company in particular, is the fact that all payments maturing during the year on the Company's investment have been satisfactorily met, and rentals on property have been promptly paid.

It is a matter for self congratulation on the part of Peterborough citizens that such a successful financial institution has its head office here and its success will be gratifying to all who are interested in the upbuilding of the country's finances.

Belleville Juniors Taken Into Camp by Local Team—Peterborough Intermediates Lose Game at Belleville.

PETERBOROUGH AT BELLEVILLE.

The Intermediate O. H. A. Team Was Defeated.

Last Night by a Score of 2-1—A Very Fast Game Witnessed by a Large and Enthusiastic Crowd.

Belleville is wearing "the smile that won't come off," and otherwise gloating over a fluky victory over the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team, who visited the eastern town yesterday and went down to defeat by a score of 2 goals to 1. The win was not through superior playing, it was a case of home ice, an enthusiastic crowd and mere chance. There is no doubt that impartial Bellevillites will agree that the visitors played the better hockey and would defeat the victors on neutral ice. The Belleville rink is about as broad as the one in Peterborough but is not so long. It is badly lighted, in the fact that the light is not evenly distributed over the ice. The teams were the same as played in Peterborough a short time back, save that Maguire played centre. It was he that made Belleville so sure of the game before it was begun, but it was not Maguire that won the match. In fact his play was comparatively insignificant and the team was certainly not stronger with him on than before. The game was won not by the Belleville team, but by Winchester their goal keeper, who was as safe as Gibraltar. His playing was truly great and had it not been for him Peterborough would have astonished Belleville with their goals. But the game has been played and won and there's no use crying over spilt milk. The game was fast from the word "go" and the Peterborough bunch showed the Bellevillites how to skate from start to finish. Taking all for all, and weighing the individual playing of each man on both teams it must be said that the better team lost. The Peterborough lads thoroughly outclassed their opponents and had they not been under disadvantages there would have been a very different kind of a story to tell.

THE GAME.

The game began at 8.15 o'clock sharp and the rink was crowded in every corner; the crowd having begun to take their seats an hour previous. The spectators were of course all for the one side, only about 40 hockey enthusiasts accompanying the Peterborough seven. When the puck was faced off the teams were arranged as follows:—

Peterborough.	Belleville.
Goal.
Mercer	Winchester
Point.
Howell	McMillan
Cover Point.
Cavanah	Brown
Rover.
H. Armstrong	Burrows
Centre.
Whitcroft	Maguire
Right Wing.
R. Armstrong	Kennedy
Left Wing.
Graham	Marks

The game began by Belleville rushing the puck to the Peterborough goal, but Mercer, as ever, was on the alert all right and saved a good shot. H. Armstrong cleared and the Peterborough forwards rattled the puck into foreign ground. Whitcroft shot, but Winchester saved with his hand, and successfully cleared. Again the home team took the puck down, but Mercer saved what would have been a good shot. The Peterborough forward line slung into shape, and succeeded in getting the puck between the posts, but the referee said it was off-side, which was a great relief to Belleville, whose hearts were beginning to beat fiercely. Howell was the first to be ruled off, but it was only for one minute. With Howell decorating the fence, the Bellevilles got away and sent in a good attempt, but Mercer stopped it in first-class shape and was cheered by the crowd for his play. Howell was on, and the visitors did some excellent work right in the mouth of Belleville's goal, literally boarding the lion in his den. But McMillan and Winchester kept up too firm a defence, and the play did not result in any score. McMillan cleared to Kennedy, but Cavanah tackled and took a fast run up the ice, and tried a good shot, which however was stopped by Winchester. Roy next got the puck and raced down the ice with the Belleville forwards after him in hot chase. The rubber next got into the middle, and after some strong playing was taken into Peterborough territory, but again Mercer stopped. Roy was ruled off for one minute. A big muddle in front of the Peterborough net was cleared by Howell, and Frod Whitcroft took the puck down in express style. After some desultory playing in the middle ice Mercer was given some warm work, but was equal to occasion. The Peterboroughs next went up to their opponents' net and Winchester stopped a fast one from Chris. For some cross-checking Brown was sent to the fence for two minutes. In his absence Winchester was assailed with shots from every quarter, but he and McMillan kept up their end and the Peterborough seven did not score. The play now began to get very exciting, but Brown spoilt it all by indulging in some decidedly questionable work, for which he was repeatedly sent to the boards, on two occasions for five minutes. Roy Armstrong intercepted a pass from one of the Bellevilles forwards, who were repeatedly too wide apart to work effectively, and took a slick run down the ice, but Winchester again saved a likely shot. The last part of the first half resulted in a hard invasion of the Belleville ice, but nothing resulted, and at half time the score was nil for both sides.

Just as the half-time whistle blew Whitcroft hurt his knee and had to be carried off, but he was all right again when the ice had been cleared for the second period.

HALF TIME, 0—0.

The visitors started off the second half well by nearly scoring, and kept it up by hard pressing the home team right in front of their own goal. After about ten minutes play Graham scored, to the dismay of the crowd, who began to think that the game would end in Peterborough's favour. However, the shouting was intense when McMillan fed McGuire, and the latter went down the ice with only Howell and Mercer in front of him. He shot, but Mercer very dexterously saved a nasty low one in the right hand corner of the net. After some fierce skirmishing in front of the Peterborough goal, the visitors got right away unawares, and the forwards rushed down, not, however, scoring from it. In the fierce struggle of the Belleville defence, Bill Cavanah got winded by McMillan, and had to be carried off; however play was temporarily postponed. The play had begun to get a little rough and consequently less scientific than before, but it was decidedly in Peterborough's favour.

From this on it was anybody's game and the referee was not as strict on some of the roughness as he should have been. H. Armstrong got away but a rattling smart shot was stopped by Winchester and the score was still 1—0 in favour of Peterborough. Reddy McMillan got the puck and started down the ice, but slipped and fell and a foul, by his handling the disc was ignored by the referee. Mercer saved another dangerous high shot. Howell sent in another shot which as usual Winchester stopped and Kennedy gave Mercer some hot work. A brilliant save was followed by a hard shot from Kennedy and the puck went through, leaving the score a tie, amidst deafening applause. A long shot from Cavanah was taken by McMillan who passed to Kennedy and that forward succeeded in planting another goal between the flags. Score 2—1 in favour of Belleville. There were only a few minutes to play and nothing extraordinary transpired. Both sides played hard but the score was unchanged when time was called and the crowd with one accord rose and cheered wildly, carrying off their men shoulder high. It might be mentioned that shortly after the second period of the game had been commenced upon Maguire got used up and left off playing, Chris Graham accompanying him. The time keepers were McFee, Belleville; McCabe, Peterborough. Goal umpires, Gilmour, Belleville; McPherson, Peterborough. Referee "Chaucer" Elliott, of Kingston.

TEAM PLAY.

As for the team play, Belleville lacked the combination displayed by Peterborough. Over and over again their forward line was scattered, with no show of formation in position, and it was continually the case that the visitors intercepted the passes of the home team. McMillan is a forward, and frequently tries to run through the whole of the opposing team, leaving Winchester practically alone. During the first half, the play was six of one and half a dozen of the other, but after McGuire and Chris had gone off, Belleville's right wing had a clear advantage. Then it was that Kennedy tallied twice for Belleville. As for hockey Peterborough used their heads more than Belleville. The defence sections of the teams were about evenly matched, but Peterborough had the greater advantage on the forward line.

INDIVIDUAL PLAY.

Mercer at goal put up a splendid game, and was tested with some first rate shots sent in by the home forwards. Many of these were sent from nearly half way, and the many shadows caused by the badly-placed lights made the puck at times almost indiscernable.

Howell, at point, played like a Trojan, and opened the eyes of the Belleville crowd. "Howell is the best point player I have ever seen," said Referee Elliott to the Examiner after the game. When Chaucer Elliott drops a remark of that kind, boys, you all know what it means. Certainly Eddie played a remarkably good game, and he completely ran around the Belleville forward line. Between the two points, there can be no comparison — McMillan plays forward, while Howell plays point.

Cavanah's beautiful checking, and successful runs were distinctly a feature of the game. Bill was right in the middle of it all from the very beginning and did good work. The Belleville forwards were not in it when he was around, and it was not long before he began to be the centre of admiration of that portion of the crowd who gave credit where it was due. Winchester was visibly disturbed by some of Cavanah's long shots, which however he luckily succeeded in stopping.

Harold Armstrong, at rover, once again demonstrated his ability with the stick, with which he completely outclassed Burrows. His game was uniformly excellent.

Fred Whitcroft at centre played his characteristically good game. His prowess with the stick had evidently been well noted by the Bellevilles when they were in Peterborough last for he was decidedly a marked man. But the wholesale attempts at checking him were almost fruitless, for he skipped in and out among them as if it was a game of tossh. During the second half, with Chris. off, Whitty had to bear the brunt of the work, but he kept the pace right up to the finish.

Roy Armstrong, on the right wing, played his usually good game especially in the first half

DAWSON'S FIRE DANGER.

Thermometer at 35 Degrees Below Zero Hampered Firemen's Work.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 22.—A special from Dawson yesterday says: A fire in Dawson this morning caused great consternation. The thermometer was at 35 degrees below zero and water was thrown on the fire with difficulty, and the firemen's clothes were covered with ice. After one hour's work the fire was controlled. The loss was $105,000. The Laduc Company, in whose headquarters the fire started, lost $75,000, half covered by insurance, and the Ames Company lost $30,000, fully covered.

IS WELL KNOWN IN BURK'S FALLS

There are Numerous Witnesses of Mrs. Adams' Sickness and Cure.

She Surely Had Bright's Disease in its Very Worst Stages.

And Just as Surely was Completely Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Burk's Falls, Ont., Jan. 23. — (Special.) — Mrs. Thos. Adams of Collingwood, whose almost miraculous recovery from Bright's Disease in its worst stages, has caused a sensation in the medical world, is well known in Burk's Falls. She resided here for years before removing to Collingwood, and it was while living here that she was stricken with the terrible disease that sweeps so many into the grave.

Mrs. Adams has many friends still living in Burk's Falls, and they will well remember the helpless, suffering invalid, who in March, 1900, looked as if her only relief lay in death itself. They can recall how when the dread words, "Bright's disease" fell from the doctor's lips, the report went round that Mrs. Adams' doom was sealed, that she would never rise from her bed of suffering on which she lay. They can recall how their sympathy went out to the little children, who would soon be motherless.

WHAT CAUSED THE CURE.

Then while they waited and watched for the end, a gradual improvement came over the sufferer. It was hardly noticeable at first, but as she grew stronger and was at last able to leave her bed, and give to her children a mother's care, they wonderingly asked the cause. And then the truth came out. Mrs. Adams had on the advice of a friend placed her trust in the old reliable Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Slowly but surely Mrs. Adams' strength came back, till she was going about as if Bright's Disease had never held her in its clutches. Still the skeptics refused to believe. "It is only one of the vagaries," they said. "It will come back with the winter." But winter came and went. Another summer and winter passed, and to-day Mrs. Adams is able to say "I have had no return of the trouble since Dodd's Kidney Pills brought me back from the brink of the grave."

And now all Burk's Falls and all those who knew Mrs. Adams in sickness and health are forced to admit Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her Bright's Disease and cured it to stay cured.

Neither has the lesson taught by Mrs. Adams case been lost. People recognise the fact that if she had cured her pain in the back with Dodd's Kidney Pills, she would never have had Bright's Disease.

Elections For Commons.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—The writs for East Bruce, East Lambton, Ontario; St. John, N.B., and West Queen's, P.E.I., were issued yesterday. Nominations will be held on the 9th of February and polling one week later.

Casualties of 500.

Washington, Jan. 22.—According to a cable report to the American State Department from United States Minister Finch at Montevideo, there have been three battles, all won by the Government, the last one being on the 18th. The total number of killed and wounded was about 500. The Government forces were estimated at 28,000, and the rebels at 7,000 to 9,000. The opinion here is that the insurrection will be suppressed in a month unless aided by near neighbors.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger in giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

A NEW COMBINATION

Devonshire, Rosebery and Harcourt May Soon Be United.

LIBERAL BREACH IS HEALING

New Ideas Advanced Upon the Subject of An Imperial Council—Sir Edward Grey on the Colonies and the Foreign Policy of the Empire—Free Trade and Protection.

Birmingham, Jan. 23.—(C. A. P.)—The Post yesterday said the movement for placing the Duke of Devonshire, president of the Liberal-Unionists, at the head of the Free Trade party has incidentally effected a complete healing of the breach between Lord Rosebery, former Premier, and Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the well-known Liberal, and that the latter will shortly make clear his position and will warmly support the Devonshire-Rosebery combination, which is opposed to the protective tariff policy advocated by Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, former Colonial Secretary.

Many influential Conservatives are urging the Premier, Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, to refer Mr. Chamberlain's proposals to a grand Parliamentary commission for investigation and report. It might be stated in this connection that should the proposals be referred to the commission as suggested it will mean their complete burial.

SOME NEW IDEAS.

Discussion on Question of an Imperial Council Evolves Them.

London, Jan. 23.—(C.A.P.)—The Post publishes an article on an Imperial Council, where the writer suggests that such a body would force two Houses of Parliament to combine and elect 125 members for the Council, each member to be elected for five years, one-fifth resigning each year. The leader of the strongest party in the Council could organize a Cabinet with the assent of the Crown as an essential to the validity of every measure of the Cabinet. The legislative power and taxation will be retained by the Parliament. Ultimately representatives of colonies and India would be admitted to the Council.

Empire's Foreign Policy.

Sir Edward Grey, speaking at Morpeth yesterday, said he long wished to see the development of an Imperial Council which would make the colonies feel that questions of foreign policy did not affect them in England alone, but affected the whole Empire. The colonies either misunderstood Chamberlain or Chamberlain was misunderstanding them. If Chamberlain meant to propose free trade within the Empire, he ought to state so immediately, and the colonies would say it is impossible to have a fiscal policy that would work with free trade within the Empire and ensure protection at home.

Chamberlain Scores Them.

The Joseph Foster Founderies at Preston have received orders from an American firm which they say fears that Chamberlain's success will result in the manufacture of printing machines hitherto made exclusively in America. Another large American firm, for similar reasons, had made overtures for amalgamation with the Foster firm.

Bannerman Prophesies.

Campbell-Bannerman, addressing the Eighty Club last night, dwelt on the temptations offered to manufacturers by Chamberlain. He had a 10 per cent. advantage, but he believed the common sense of the country would reject the scheme.

James Smart in London.

London, Jan. 23.—(C. A. P.)—The Canadian Deputy Minister of the Interior has arrived in London.

Ebenezer Howard is going to Canada to look around with the object of establishing a garden city as a branch of one about to be established in England.

SUMMONS ANY DAY.

Czar of Russia to Call Council to Discuss Japanese Reply.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The Czar has not called the council to consider the Japanese reply, but it is said at the Foreign Office that the summons may be issued any day.

The delay, coupled with despatches from Tokio, saying that Japan is armed and grimly waiting, has caused a slight renewal of public nervousness which was reflected by the weakness of the Bourse yesterday.

Forbidding English.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 23.—A letter from Valdez tells of Russian priests dominating a large portion of the population of Western Alaska, forbidding the teaching of the English language to those under their control, and generally endeavoring to Russianise the natives of that section of Alaska.

Proctor For North Ontario.

Sunderland, Jan. 23.—The North Riding Conservative Association met here yesterday. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed, and there were delegates from all parts of the Riding. At 2 o'clock the chairman called the meeting to order, and explained that owing to George McCormick's large interests in British Columbia he was unable to accept the nomination of the Conservative party of North Ontario.

The following were then placed in nomination: George A. Proctor of Beaverton, Hugh Wilson of Cannington, W. J. Gibbs of Brock, Charles Kelly of Uxbridge, and Dr. Gillespie of Cannington. All the gentlemen nominated retired in favor of Mr. Proctor, who was tendered the unanimous nomination.

The Mud Are Still Idle.

Pittsburg, Jan. 22.—The expected settlement of the Pittsburg building lockout and the return to work of 2,000 idle men failed to take place yesterday. The plumbers walked out Oct. 1, the builders exchange retaliating with a lockout of all working men affiliated with the Building Trades Council. The conference could not agree.

A CANADIAN EPIGRAMMATIST.

Interesting Extracts From Mr. Peter McArthur's Recently Published Volume.

Mr. Peter McArthur, who was at one time a Toronto newspaper man and has since distinguished himself in New York, is trying to take the conceit out of the Mother Country. He has published a work entitled "To be Taken With Salt; an Essay on Teaching One's Grandmother to Suck Eggs." The reasons why London is highly enjoying it may be found in the following selections:

Sea-sickness has kept more enemies out of England than her prowess in war.

London takes more for granted than the rest of the world knows.

The great trouble with the English is that they are trying to repeal the American invaders with business methods that came over with William the Conqueror.

Good form appears to be the accumulated weariness of centuries expressed in a general air of boredom.

One of the blessings of being a humorist is that all your mistakes pass off as jokes.

Conservatism and laziness are hard to distinguish.

In order to carry on an argument you must descend to the other man's level.

One should never spoil a good theory by explaining it.

Let me make the jokes of the Empire, I care not who makes its blunders.

London is full of clever people who expect to get salvation in a moment and spread the luxury of being damned over a lifetime.

The cuckoo of philosophy has successfully laid her egg in the nest of theory.

London is overcrowded with serious-minded people who stand in awe of their own ignorance.

An Englishman's social standing seems to depend on the number of people he can afford to despise.

The average Englishman has so deep a reverence for antiquity that he would rather be wrong than be recent.

This country is full of people who are starving up to their positions.

YOUR STOMACH IS ON STRIKE.

It is Overworked and Wants Rest—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do its Work and Give the Rest Required.

These are the days of dieting. Nearly everyone you meet is following his or her fad—it may be drinking hot water or subsisting on some particular brand of patent food. And all these are simply signs that the world is awakening to the fact that fatigue is becoming epidemic; that the stomach, over-taxed by hurried, half-chewed meals, is on strike.

The stomach wants rest. It must have it. You can't quit eating so you must provide something to do the digesting while the stomach rests. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are especially prepared to do this work. Do they do it? Listen to the testimony of those who have tried. Maurice Best, of Southern Harbour, Nfld., is one of them. He says:—

"I suffered for eight years with Dyspepsia and was in continual misery. Sometimes I would go off in a faint and for ten or fifteen minutes would be more dead than alive. The first two boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets gave me new life. I am using them now and feel like a new man."

An Insulted Scotchman.

The following story heard at Killarney shows how differently an Irishman and a Scotchman will take a joke. An Englishman who had been fishing in the lower lakes said to his boatman: "An extraordinary thing happened to me some time ago. I lost a pair of scissors out of my fishing book at the end of the lake. The next year I was fishing here again and hooked and killed a very large pike. I felt something very hard inside him, so I opened him, and what do you think it was?" "Begorra, your honor, I'd think it might be your scissors only for one thing." "What is that?" asked the other. "It's only just this, your honor, that there never was a pike in any of the Killarney lakes since the world began."

Afterward the same Englishman tried the same story on a gillie in Scotland. When he asked him, "What do you think was inside the pike?" the gillie replied: "Your scissors and nae guts, and the Duke of Argyll—and he's a far greater man than the king—would not have insulted me sae. I'll fish nae mare wi' ye." And off he walked.—"Seventy Years of Irish Life."

Electricity Among the Japanese.

The Japanese understood electricity as an attractive force, of which they were very secret. The Greeks and Romans also knew something of the magnet as an attractive force known to modern science as an electrical attraction, something like the loadstone of the Chinese. They are supposed to be ignorant of its popularity, though in their secret records there are mentions of sacred forces which none but God knew and must not be tampered with by man.

"77" FOR GRIP
Induce Perspiration.

To stop the Grip or Influenza, to break up a Cold, to prevent Pneumonia, you must induce perspiration. The first miserable feeling "of catching Cold" is caused by checked circulation of the blood. This is the time to take Dr. Humphreys' "Seventy-seven"—it immediately starts the blood coursing through the veins, induces perspiration and breaks up the Cold.

The tonicity of "77" sustains the system during and restores the vigor after the attack. At Druggists, 25 cents.

MARY F. K. HUTCHISON

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Penelope, having instructed the maid to say she was not at home, stood behind the lace curtains to watch the departure of Jack Hale.

"Now, Penelope," began her brother Clarence, who caught her in the act, "I want to know what this means."

"What what means?" asked Penelope, flushing and striving to gain time.

"What what means!" grunted he in scorn. "Pen, will you never learn it's useless to hedge with a newspaper man? I want to know why you are treating Hale in this fashion. He's been in the dumps since he took you to the Commercial club musicale. He's doing poor work, and the managing editor called him down today before the whole gang. If he's discharged he'll spoil his chances for a position on that New York paper. You've had an attack of the indigoes yourself and refuse to see him when he calls. Naturally I want to know what's the matter, for I don't mind telling you I'd rather have Jack Hale for a brother than any man I know."

"Why don't you adopt him, then?" asked Penelope unconcernedly.

"Well, we'll try cross examination," remarked he. "Pen, do you hate Jack Hale?"

"No," decidedly.

"Do you really dislike him?"

"No-o," more slowly.

"Didn't you really and truly care a great deal for him up to the date of that musicale?"

"I won't answer any more of your questions," snapped Penelope as she started to leave the room.

"Highty tighty! Not so fast," said he. "Remember, Pen, I'm not only your brother, but your guardian, and, while I take the place of parents and brother, too, I must use my own way of striving for your happiness. I can't let my dearest chum and my little housekeeper both eat their hearts out without trying to remedy the matter. Now, little girl, let's have the whole story."

"And you won't tell a word?" came the smothered question from his shoulder.

"Never a word."

"Well, then, if you must know the whole story, nothing happened at that musicale. But the next day Aunt Maria came to spend the day.

"And a day in her company is as a thousand," supplemented Bradford.

"And she said she felt it her duty to her dead brother's child to tell me how people were talking about me behind my back. She said I had encouraged Jack long enough and that if he hadn't proposed by this time he never would. He would pay me attention till he got that position in New York, and then he'd find another girl there and forget me. I told her he was nothing but one of your friends; that I never intended to marry, but should always keep house for you."

"Then you proceeded to shut Jack out because he hadn't lived down to Aunt Maria's level of marrying in haste. Jack Hale is the soul of honor. If he hasn't asked you to marry him it's because he wants to wait till he has a better salary than he gets on the Times. I'll see if I can show him the error of his ways."

"Clarence," cried Penelope, pushing him from her, "you promised you'd never mention a word!"

"So I did," groaned he. "Well, Pen, I'll keep my word, but I want you to forget Aunt Maria and her views. I'm going to ask Jack to dinner tomorrow night, and I want you to wear your prettiest gown, smile your sweetest and take him back into favor again. That won't be a hard thing to do for my sake, will it, dear?" in his most wheedling tone.

"You old torment!" cried Penelope as she gave him a parting hug. Reaching the door, she called back, "I might possibly do it for his sake," after which piece of daring she hurried out to see why dinner wasn't announced.

"I surmised as much," Bradford told himself, "and, though I'd scorn to break a promise, Jack Hale will get a pretty broad hint of what I consider his duty."

Hale pleaded an evening assignment the next afternoon, but Bradford wouldn't take "No" for an answer. "I know well enough what that assignment is," he responded, "and you can get the story just as well in the morning. You're looking fagged out, Hale, and need a rest. Break away from your work early this afternoon and go up and take Penelope for a drive. The horse has been stabled for more than a week because Pen has had a bad cold. I'll be home in time for dinner, but shall put the whole evening in at the board of aldermen's meeting, so I'm glad you can amuse the child. She's in need of amusement after being cooped up for a whole week."

"Why didn't you tell me"— began Hale. But Bradford was gone. Though he could lie beautifully, he could not stand cross examination.

As Jack and Penelope returned from their drive, both in the best of spirits after their spin through the frosty air, Bradford preceded them up the steps. While all three removed their wraps in the hall he pulled a notebook from his pocket and tossed it across to Hale, remarking, "Say, old man, I found your notebook after you left the office."

"Much obliged," answered Hale as he attempted to catch the book, which missed his hand and fell at Penelope's feet. Picking it up quickly, she exclaimed: "Now, I wonder what the very latest sensation is? I do so like to keep up with the times." And she proceeded to flutter the leaves of the book past the canceled items toward the last written pages.

"Penelope, that's a pun, and if I wasn't in a hurry to dress I'd see that you were properly punished for it," called her brother, disappearing upstairs with suspicious haste.

Jack looked over Penelope's shoulder as he answered, "Don't believe there's a thing that hasn't been printed. I"—

"Oh, yes, there is," said Penelope. "Here's your very last item." And she paused to read, while Hale exclaimed: "That isn't my writing! Oh, Lord!" in a tragic groan.

For this is the item both read:

"Engagement announced this week—Miss Penelope Bradford, dau. of late Hon. Harrison B—late pres. Nat. Bank, this city. Mr. John Winthrop Hale—rising young jour.—pop. member Commercial Club—grad. of Harv.—ctr. rush on football team—congrat. of hosts of friends, etc."

"Wh-what does it mean?" gasped Penelope, turning red and white by turns.

"Mean?" ejaculated Hale in desperation. "It means that one of those confounded idiots at the office has been trying to get funny. It means—oh, Penelope, darling," with a complete change of tone, "can't you make it mean something? Don't run away, dear," as he caught both her hands. "Let me finish now I've started. I've loved you so long that you must surely have guessed that much, and I've only waited to have something worth offering before asking you to become my wife. A man ought not to tie a girl down to any such bread and butter existence as I can offer while I'm on the Times. I wouldn't have spoken if this hadn't happened till I had more. But I'll promise to wait patiently, dearest, if you'll only make this item true."

The item appeared on the society page of the Sanbrook Times the following Saturday, and Bradford chuckled as he read it:

"Now, that's what I call a made to order item."

Hale, being blessed with his share of newspaper instinct, never tried to find out which of the "confounded idiots at the office" dared to tamper with his notebook.

Honesty in Others.

"'Honesty is the best policy,'" quoted the hypocritical deacon, "and I wish I could make everybody realize it."

"I reckon yo do," replied the hard headed farmer. "Ye'd git the best of everybody in a horse trade then, wouldn't ye?"

The Floorwalker.

One of the greatest surprises for a countryman on his first visit to a big city is to learn that the floorwalker does not own the store.—Danville (Ill.) Commercial News.

How to Winter the Baby

A very important problem to which the answer is simple and obvious, viz: Clothe it warmly and feed it properly. Sounds easy, does it not? And yet it is safe to say that not one mother in a thousand understands the Baby's needs and how to feed it PROPERLY. In Baby the foundations of the future man or woman are being laid and everything depends on their being strong and secure. Every part must be developed; therefore, it is essential that the food given shall contain the elements necessary to produce good firm flesh, tough muscles, good hard bones, rich red blood and strong nerves. Then Baby's stomach must be considered. The food should be concentrated, palatable and easily digested. This is the ideal food and FERROL (The Iron-Oil Food) fills the bill to a nicety. If your Baby is not thriving as it should, if it lacks vim, energy and color, if it takes cold easily, in short if it is not real well, try FERROL and you will be both surprised and delighted.

FERROL is the ideal infant food, and, by the way, it is an infallible specific for Croup and Bronchitis.

MY METHODIST GIRL.

My Methodist girl is trim and sweet
And as light as an eagle's plume,
As gold as the grain, as red as a rose,
And as white as a thorn in bloom,
Demure and grave you'd think she is,
But ever she's glad and gay;
Ah; she is the blessedest, dear little Methodist
Ever knelt down to pray!

Of lovers my darling had ninety and nine;
They weren't enough—how odd!
She drew me from a down-town slum
And handed me over to God,
She pointed out a higher life,
She taught me a better way;
Ah! she is the blessedest, dear little Methodist
Ever knelt down to pray!

She goes to church both morn and night;
Lone her?—they couldn't stir;
She leads the choir with voice of fire,
And I walk home with her.
She is my altar and my shrine,
She is my Sabbath day;
Ah! she is the blessedest, dear little Methodist
Ever knelt down to pray!

The ladder of life is far and high,
Its top the heavens among;
And every day, in her winsome way,
She helps me up a rung.
I kiss the hand that steadies me—
I'll hold it soon for aye—
For she is the blessedest, dear little Methodist
Ever knelt down to pray.

Writing a "Book."

"I would like," said the youth, "to write a great book. How shall I go about it?"

"Don't, I beg of you!" said the novelist. "Write one that pays, as I do, or else—study law."

"I do not care to write a book for the sake of the pay," said the youth. He was very young and must be forgiven for this. "Perhaps, after all, I had better be a lawyer."

So he became a lawyer, but the old ambition to write a great book came over him again.

"Anything but that," said a friend to whom he told his wish. "If you don't like the law, be a doctor."

So he studied medicine.

In time, however, this palled upon him. He still thought of that book. He felt that he had a mission.

"You could do so much more in the pulpit," said another.

So he preached until the hollowness of it came over him.

One day he woke up and found that the great book was written. And he laughed at the thought.

"It was not I—it was the lawyer, the doctor, the clergyman and the other man who did it."—Smart Set.

Webster and Jenny Lind.

The following quaint story of Daniel Webster and Jenny Lind is told in "Washington, the Capital City:"

It chanced that on the day of Jenny Lind's appearance several members of the cabinet and senate were the guests at dinner of the Russian minister, and the concert was half over when Webster and the other members of the party entered the hall. When the applause with which they were received had subsided the second part of the concert was opened by the gifted Swede with "Hail, Columbia!"

Deeply moved by the patriotic air, Webster at the close of the first verse rose and added his rich, sonorous voice to the chorus. His wife, who sat behind him, pulled at his coat tail to make him stop singing, but at the close of each verse the volunteer basso joined in, and none could tell whether Lind, Webster or the audience was most delighted.

As the last notes of the song died away Webster, hat in hand, made a profound bow to the singer. Jenny Lind, blushing at the honor, courtesied, while the audience applauded to the echo. Webster, not to be outdone in politeness, bowed again. Again Lind courtesied, the house applauded, and this was repeated nine times.

The Meaning of Mess.

The use of the word mess for dining room is a remnant of a custom quite common in Anglo-Norman times. Mess, from the French mets (meat or a dish of food) and the Latin mensa (a table), was the meat prepared in common (compare the collegiate word "commons") for four persons sitting at a separate table. Guests at dinners and other ceremonial occasions were divided for general convenience into such groups.

From this the word came to be used as equivalent to four in other matters. Shakespeare speaks of Henry's four sons as a mess, "Where are your mess of sons?" and in "Love's Labor's Lost" we find, "I confess that you three fools lacked me to make up the mess."

From the fact that soldiers and sailors are always catered for in companies, according to rank, the survival of the word among them is quite natural. The same practice is still maintained in the London inns of court.

Messrs. McMillan & Magvire, stock brokers, 'phone 416, have the following:

New York, Jan. 23rd.—The stock market to-day was irregular, as was expected. Some war talk was made the occasion for hammering prices. The bank statement was favourable as expected and there was some short covering. Trading was not in large volume as yesterday and the market appeared to be taking a welcome rest. We expect next week to be one of gradual improvement. We hope there will be no runaway market for it would feel the effect of checking. A moderate reaction would be beneficial but so many investors are waiting a chance to buy at concessions that we do not believe it will be wise to wait too long to purchase. We commend the Wabash's especially, which we believe will do better soon. Penna, B. & O., and Norfolk are in a group that will be put much higher. The coal trade is fair, and Reading should see an advance along with other hard coalers.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

when he shot at them Belleville met as though he was playing skittles.

Chris Graham at left wing played a brilliant game and scored the only goal for the visitors. Last night he was right with the puck. Chris has exceptional strength in his arms and his hard checking was not only very effective but a source of dismay to the Bellevilleites.

For the Belleville team of course Winchester was the great "I am." His skill in the net is almost unsurpassable, and it is only due praise to mention it. For every one that Mercer had to stop Winchester was given twenty. Without Winchester the Belleville seven could not class themselves together with Peterborough, and the home team supporters admitted that he won the game for them. McMillan played a hard game but as it has been said he left Winchester alone far too often.

Marks and Kennedy, respectively left and right wing, put up a fast exposition of the game, but they could not do anything with the visiting defence, and it was only in the second half when Chris was off that Kennedy could practically effectively move. Brown did not put up as clean a game as he probably has done in his life, and his numerous trips to the boards indicated the style of hockey that he was playing. Maguire, who for the past few days has been suffering from an attack of la grippe and was consequently not in fit condition, played but poorly, while Burrows at rover had to support him continually, the latter putting up a very decent game.

THE REFEREE.

Mr. Chaucer Elliott officiated as referee to the satisfaction of both teams. He was very strict, but at the same time displayed neither partiality to one side or the other. His findings were minutely correct and his judgments just about filled the bill on all occasions. He remarked after the game that it was the fastest O.H.A. hockey which he had seen for many a day and thought the Peterborough seven a good all round team. He especially praised the defence and deemed Mercer a good acquisition. He was of the opinion that Peterborough was the better team and thought there was no doubt that they could trim Belleville on neutral ice, even with Maguire at his best.

The Peterborough team returned per the 8 o'clock G.T.R. train this morning, somewhat down in the mouth, but taking their defeat like sportsmen and only hoping for an opportunity of meeting Belleville on neutral ice.

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

THE NINETEENTH ANNUAL MEETING.

The Nineteenth Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company was held at the Head Office of the Company, No. 427 George street, Peterborough, on Friday, the 22nd day of January, 1904, at two o'clock, p.m.

The President, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, having taken the chair, the Manager, Mr. W. G. Morrow, was requested to act as Secretary to the Meeting.

After reading the Notice convening the Meeting, the Secretary read the Nineteenth Annual Report and the accompanying Financial Statement.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The Directors submit herewith their Nineteenth Annual Report, showing the result of the business for the past year, accompanied by the balance sheet to the 31st of December, 1903. The gross earnings for the year amounted to $152,439.56, and after the payment of interest on deposits and debentures, expenses in connection with money borrowed or loaned, and all expenses of management, there remained a net profit of $92,989.82. To this amount has been added $18,150.98, the amount carried forward from last year, which makes a total sum for distribution of $111,140.80. This amount has been disposed of in the following manner:

(1) By payment of four quarterly dividends of 1 1-2 per cent each, equal to 6 per cent for the year, and amounting to $60,000 00

(2) By addition to the Reserve Fund 30,000 00

(3) By amount carried forward to profit and loss account 21,140 80

The above addition to the Reserve Fund increases that account to $450,000.00.

All payments maturing during the year on the Company's investments have been most satisfactorily met, and the rentals from the property owned by the Company have also been promptly paid.

The books, accounts and securities of the Company have been carefully examined by the auditors and their report is appended to the Financial Statement.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. A. COX,
President.

THE DOCTOR'S DREAM.

The following piece of poetry taken from the Alkaloidal Clinic, may be helpful to some people:

Last evening I was talking
With a doctor aged and gray,
Who told me of a dream he had
I think 'twas Christmas day.
While snoozing in his office,
The vision came to view,
Foo he saw an angel enter,
Dressed in garments white and new.

Said the angel: "I'm from Heaven,
The Lord just sent me down
To bring yo up to glory
And put on your golden crown.
You've been a friend to everyone,
And worked hard night and day,
You've doctored many thousands,
And from few received your pay.

"So we want you up in glory
For you have laboured hard,
And the good Lord is preparing
Your eternal, just reward."
Then the angel and the doctor
Started up towards Glory's gate,
But when passing close to hades
The angel murmured, "wait!

"I have got a place to show you,
It's the hottest place in hell
Where the ones who never paid yo
In torment always dwell."
And behold, the doctor saw there
His old patients by the score,
And grabbing up a chair and fan
He wished for nothing more.

But was bound to sit and watch them,
As they'd sizzle and burn;
And his eyes would rest on debtors
Whichever way they'd turn.
Said the angel, "Come on, doctor
There's the pearly gates I see:"
But the doctor only muttered:
"This is Heaven enough for me.

He refused to go on further,
But preferred to sit and gaze
At the crowd of rank old deadbeats
As they lay there in a blaze.
But just then the doctor's office clock
Clattered the hour for seven,
And he awoke to find himself
In neither hell nor Heaven.

There is a good opportunity for reflection on the part of the doctor as to his patron. If you have any [illegible] mind, any time will do, but if you are all right, John, pay the doctor; if you owe him you are guilty. A [illegible] business position for you to take it would be hard to find. Brace up! Do business and collect business fees. You will live longer, have more money and friends and die happier.

A SUGGESTION TO THE DIRECTORS.

Prize Money Owing Exhibitors Should be Paid.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice by the report in your paper of the meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition that after they had paid all the liabilities, they had some $200 left. I think, Mr. Editor, that if the president and directors want to get the goodwill of the people who did not get their prize money or paid for work done for the exhibition of 1901, now would be their chance to boom the exhibition for 1904 and pay these people and then these people will do their best to help make the exhibition of 1904 a success. There are a great many people who feel very sore at not getting paid for work done and for prizes that were won and never paid. The president and directors of this exhibition may not be the same as those that conducted the exhibition of 1903, but that would not make any difference. The president and directors of 1903 and every other year that this exhibition has been in existence did their best to make it a success and if they were not successful, the fault was not theirs, as they all did the work without money and without price.

Hoping the president and directors will take this honourable course at once, so that they can then go to the people and ask them for their support, as the people will have confidence in the new president and board that they are trying to do what is fair and honest and thanking you, Mr. Editor, for kindly inserting this, I remain

Yours Truly,

A TOWN WIPED OUT BY CONFLAGRATION.

Aalesund in Norway, Destroyed by Fire on Saturday.

Only the Hospital Left Standing—The People Had to Camp out in the Open in Bitter Cold Wind and Driving Rainstorm —The Children Were Housed in Church of Borgund.

Trondhjem, Norway, Jan. 25.—The small town of Aalesund was practically destroyed by fire Saturday. Two persons perished, one steamer was burned, and it is feared that others will be destroyed. Supplies of money, clothing and provisions are being sent from all parts of Norway.

Only Hospital Left Standing.

Aalesund, Norway, Jan. 25.—The fire which swept over this town yesterday destroyed every building in it, with the exception of the hospital. The 11,000 inhabitants of Aalesund were compelled to camp in the open. The children were housed temporarily in the church of Borgund. The panic among the people was so great after the outbreak of the flames that all attempts at leadership or discipline became out of the question; no excesses, however, were committed. The people first endeavored to save some of their property, but they soon found they had quite enough to do to save their own lives.

The destruction of the town was complete within a couple of hours from the time the fire started. Over 20 steam fishing boats and many sailing smacks were sunk in the harbor to save them from the flames, but three steamers and many other boats were burned. It is now believed that only three persons lost their lives. Succor has arrived from Molle, Bergon and others places, and provisions are being distributed. Relief committees have been formed and have invited public subscriptions. The King and Queen of Sweden and Norway have contributed $1,500 to a relief fund, and all the other members of the royal family have also subscribed. A majority of the inhabitants of the town lost everything they possessed. Thousands of persons had to spend 24 hours in the open fields, where they were without food and exposed to a bitterly cold wind and a driving rainstorm.

Over 250 Buildings Burned.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 25.—The S.S. Victoria arrived yesterday from the Orient, bringing news of a fire at Fujiyoda, Japan, in which the Chicago horror was nearly repeated. Fire starting in a store spread to the theatre, which held a thousand spectators, and a panic resulted. The crowd surged against each other and several persons were injured, but no lives lost. Over 250 buildings were destroyed, including the police station, some temples, five storehouses and a bank. Two persons were burned to death and a number of accidents reported.

Big Fire at Bay Mills.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 25.—Fire started in one of the big factories of the Hall and Munson Co. at Bay Mills, twelve miles from here, at 6 o'clock Friday night and spread rapidly to the box factory and saw-mill. The loss is about three hundred thousand dollars, as nearly as can be estimated. The mills will probably not be rebuilt as timber is getting scarce. Three thousand men will be thrown out of employment.

Fire at Dauphin.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 25.—Dauphin was visited by two fires yesterday. The first destroyed the Wallace block, with Buckwell's and Hamford's general stores. Lee's laundry and Sutherland & Stalik's implement and the second the town's firehall. The fire engine and hose was saved. Total loss about $30,000.

Big Fire in Masonic Temple.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Fire in the Masonic Temple Saturday caused a panic among the 4,000 occupants of the building, and did $20,000 damage. All the occupants of the building escaped through the bravery of the elevator men, who remained at their posts.

The Blame Fixed.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Upon the management and builders of the Iroquois Theatre has been placed responsibility for the recent horror in a report by Fire Chief Musham Saturday. The report is that prepared by Fire Department Attorney Monroe Fullerson after examination of nearly 100 witnesses.

SAVED WIFE AT EXPENSE OF LIFE.

Old Toronto Resident Killed By a Trolley Car Saturday Night.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—With just sufficient time to throw his aged wife out of harm's way. Appolas Churchill stumbled and fell and met almost instant death under the wheels of a street car on Saturday evening. The fatality occurred on McCaul street near Baldwin, about 10 o'clock. Mr. Churchill was on his way home accompanied by his wife. They proceeded to cross the street, not noticing a car coming in an opposite direction. He shoved Mrs. Churchill back to safety, but was unable to retrace his own steps in time and was knocked down, his skull fractured, jaw broken and face badly cut and bruised.

Deceased came to Toronto 30 years ago from Pouch Cove, Nfld. He was 71 years of age, and leaves a widow, the same age, three sons, and three daughters, all of whom reside in the city. Coroner Powell will hold an inquest.

Italian Killed in G.T.R. Yards.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—Nicolai Kanappa, an Italian laborer, employed in the G.T.R. yards, was killed at the foot of Brock street Saturday morning. Kanappa was cleaning snow from a switch. He stepped out of the way of one engine in front of another and was instantly killed. The body was taken to the morgue. He had $102 in a leather bag strapped to his leg. An inquest may be held.

Eight Lives Lost in Wreck.

New York, Jan. 25.—Eight lives were lost in the wreck early Saturday off Quogue, L.I., of the four-masted coal schooner August Hunt, bound for Boston from Norfolk, Va. Of the crew of ten only two men were saved. During a dense fog the schooner stranded soon after midnight a few hundred feet from the beach and about a mile west of the Quogue Life-Saving Station. For hours the live-savers were helpless on the beach listening to the appeals from the ship which, though near at hand, was buried in the fog. The life-savers were unable to put off to the rescue because of the surf, that tossed their boat on the shore as fast as it was launched.

Buried Under Avalanche.

Slocan City, B.C., Jan. 25.—Joe Docron, a miner, started on Tuesday on skis to visit his brother at a neighboring mine. He did not arrive, and a searching party has discovered traces leaving no doubt he perished under a huge snow slide, a quarter of a mile wide, at a point between the two mines.

Tornado's Victims Number 42.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 25.—The total number of dead as a result of the tornado Friday is 38, six of whom are white. The number of injured is estimated at 65, of whom about a dozen are expected to die. The storm also struck a settlement near Sumter mines in the southern part of this county, killing four negroes, injuring several others and damaging much mining property.

Women Forced Into Boats.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 25.—John Davis, a passenger of the Clallam, gave evidence at the coroner's inquest on Saturday that many women wished to remain by the Clallam and protested against being put in the boats, but were forced to go. The captain had told passengers who went to him when the tug Holyoke came and requested to be put on board, that he would put them on the tug as soon as there was danger. He told them the steamer would live for three hours, but she only lived twenty minutes.

C.P.R. Liable to Chinese Government.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 25.—A decision has been given in favor of the Chinese Government against the C.P.R. steamer Empress of India on account of the collision with the Chinese man-of-war Huang Tai in August last, when the Chinese commander and a number of his crew were drowned. The Empress being the overtaking steamer, was held blameable, and the assessors will assess the damage due the Chinese Government.

Col. Lynch Released.

London, Jan. 25.—The Daily Telegraph this morning says it understands that Col. Arthur Lynch, who commanded the Irish brigade against the British forces during the war in South Africa, and who was afterwards convicted of treason and sentenced to imprisonment for life, was liberated yesterday morning "on license." Lynch has not received the royal pardon.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR CANADA

In 1890 the British Iron and Steel Institute visited the United States and Canada. Three hundred of its members came at the invitation of the American Iron and Steel Institute; and it was only by a narrow chance that their tour was extended to the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, says the Ottawa Journal. It was from the newspaper reports only that the Dominion Government learned that the British Iron-masters and Engineers were in the United States; and at the last moment successful efforts were made to induce the party to visit Canada. The invitation did not reach the party until it was nearing the end of its tour in the United States; and as most of the members before leaving England had arranged only for a four weeks' stay, but a small delegation visited Canada.

The arrangements for the Canadian tour were in the hands of Dr. Selwyn. He made the best of the conditions which confronted him, and from the time he took charge at Niagara Falls he was an admirable guide and a genial and excellent host. All the same, it cannot be said that the visit of 1890 was a success, and a great opportunity was lost, owing to the lack of a little foresight on the part of the late Sir John Macdonald's Government.

In October next the British Iron and Steel Institute is again coming to make a tour of the steel plants and of the coal and iron mining regions of the United States, and this time it is to be hoped that the Laurier Government will not miss a practicable opportunity of advertising Canada and making known to the representatives of the British iron and steel trade what has been done and is being done in Canada in the line of the Institute's work.

Fourteen years ago, Canada had comparatively little to show the British iron-masters and engineers. From Niagara, Dr. Selwyn piloted his visitors to Hamilton; next to Toronto; and thence to the nickle mines on Lake Nipissing. From the nickle mines, the party came east to Ottawa, where Sir John Macdonald gave a reception; and the next day the party went to Montreal, where it visited the locomotive shops of the C.P.R. and the great bridge over the St. Lawrence. All this was comparatively small game, after what had been shown to the British visitor in New Jersey and Pennsylvania; in Alabama and Tennessee; in Illinois, and in the American iron mining country at the head of the Lakes. Still, it was all Canada than had to show.

Industrial Canada in 1890 and industrial Canada in 1904 are totally different propositions. To-day Canada admittedly has not as much to show as the United States. It cannot, it is true, compare as regards quantity with America. But nowhere on this western continent is there a more splendidly-equipped steel-making plant than that down at Cape Briton. The pig-iron furnaces and the open-hearth furnaces of the Dominion Steel Company, in fact every detail of the Sydney plant, will compare well with the Steel Trust's newest and best equipment in this line, either on the Monongahela River or on the lake front at Lorraine, Ohio. The Sidney plant has one feature in particular of the utmost importance to the British steel manufacturers. The works there, perhaps more fully at most of the American plants, show how successfully and completely modern machinery has done away with the hardest and most brutalizing form of manual labour in pig-iron and steel production. This of all lessons may be one which the British iron and steel makers still require to learn; for by report many plants in England are old-fashioned; they are said to be ill-equipped with labour-saving machinery; and more dependent on hand labour than are the steel plants of the Dominion or of the United States.

Hamilton, again, is infinitely more worth a visit than it was in 1890. There was an iron making plant there at that time. Since then, however, the old plant has gone to the scrap heap, and Hamilton to-day has a steel-making plant of which any city on either side of the boundary line might justly be proud. It is not a large plant, but it is a model one in its location, its arrangement and its equipment.

Toronto in 1890 had nothing to show the Institute visitors. They broke the journey there merely to enjoy the pleasure of a good dinner, and a few hours' freedom from the long confinement of the railway cars. To-day Toronto has two efficient plants for steel ship-building, which have put vessels into service on the Lakes comparable with anything Glasgow or Newcastle can send out for lake transportation service.

Half a day's journey from Toronto, at Midland, there is an admirable pig-iron plant, and notwithstanding recent troubles, Sault Ste. Marie is still worth a visit.

But it is needless to go into further details. To do so would be to rewrite the industrial history of Canada for the last fourteen years. The essential fact is that Canada to-day has much that is of real and increasing interest for the British iron and steel men, and what the Journal desires to impress on the Government here in Ottawa, on the Provincial Governments, and on the municipalities, is that the opportunity now presenting itself is one of great value and should not be allowed to slip, as the corresponding opportunity of 1890 nearly did.

The American railroads and the American municipalities, especially those in the South, in 1890, vied in doing honour to the British visitors. In Canada the visitors received nothing but the official hospitality bestowed on them through Dr. Selwyn; and most of the handful of members who made the extended tour, landed in Boston, the tour ended, with the impression that Canada was of no account in the production of iron and steel. Canada has a vastly different showing to make in 1904; and the opportunity of bringing this home to the wealthy representatives of the Old Country's greatest industry, should not be lost. The Governments, Dominion and Provincial, and the municipalities, should act quickly, and when it comes to courtesies shown to an organization of the comprehensiveness and the standing of the Iron and Steel Institute, they should make it clear that they do not intend to be outdone by our friends south of the line, as they admittedly were when the Institute was on this side of the Atlantic fourteen years ago.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines written on the death of Isabella Armour.

Ah, dear friend, you're sad and lonely!
And your heart is sad and sore,
Pining for darling Isabella,
Who has crossed to yonder shore.

Fold up all her little dresses;
Lay them carefully away.
Put aside her toys and playthings
Which remind you of her play.

Hide away her little aprons.
Lay her sleigh and dolly by.
They will make you weep so often;
Make you think of days gone by.

Oh, I know you miss your darling—
Grieve for her when you're alone.
God was kind to lend her to you;
Kinder still to take her home.

Do not grieve that God so loved her
That He chose your precious gem;
But rejoice that 'Bella shineth
In the Saviour's diadem.

Sometimes you, perhaps, will wonder
Why God took your child away.
You'll know why he took Isabella
When the mists have cleared away.

You may picture her as noble,
Had she lived to womanhood's day;
But remember, vice and trouble
Might have led her feet astray.

Now she's safe from earthly evils,
Safe within the Shepherd's care.
God will guard your Isabella
Till you meet her over there.

Think not of your child as lying
In the cold and silent tomb;
Think her "Angel Isabella,"
Worshipping before the throne.

She may be your "guardian angel,"
Waiting for her friends to come,
First to give you all a welcome
To your peaceful, Heavenly home.

LATE DR. MURPHY HIGHLY RESPECTED.

Superintendent of Brockville Asylum. who Died Suddenly.

Sketch of His Career—Was a Native of Peterborough County.

The Brockville Times of Monday, Jan. 18th, contains the following account of the death of Dr. Murphy, late Superintendent of the Brockville Asylum. The late Dr. Murphy was well known in Peterborough county, and was a brother-in-law of Mr. Dennis Maloney, of Douro, County Councillor:

Brockville was profoundly shocked yesterday about noon to hear that Dr. J. B. Murphy, Superintendent of the Hospital for the Insane, had suddenly dropped dead after coming home from church.

Dr. Murphy drove in church in the morning with his wife and children, and after church chatted with several friends at the church door. He appeared to be in excellent health and to O. K. Fraser said that he felt especially well. As his sleigh was a little late in coming around to the church he walked home, and in fact reached Senator Fulford's house before the sleigh overtook him. When he entered the house he remarked to his son, Sterndale, that he felt tired, and taking off his overcoat he lay down on a sofa in the hall. Shortly after that his son noticed that his father was breathing with difficulty, but did not realize the gravity of his father's condition. Just after this Mrs. Murphy, who had been walking home behind her husband, came into the house. She saw in a moment that Dr. Murphy was in a critical condition and immediately telephoned for Dr. Clare, of the asylum staff, and Dr. Macauley, asking the latter to bring Father Murray with him. Dr. Clare was soon at Dr. Murphy's side, but found to his horror and sorrow, that Dr. Murphy was past all human aid.

The cause of Dr. Murphy's untimely death was fatty degeneration of the heart. He was a man of a heavy build, and for some years past had been troubled more or less with weak heart action, but of late had seemed improved in health. Yesterday he had apparently felt very active and cheerful until a few minutes before his death.

John Bernard Murphy, M.D., was the son of Timothy Murphy, a native of Cork, Ireland, by his wife Catharine McCarthy, and was born in Asphodel, Peterborough, March 31st, 1850. After a primary education at Norwood Grammar School, and St. Michael's College, Toronto, he took a medical course at Queen's College, Kingston, taking his degree of M.D., in 1876. He began to practice in Belleville and in 1881 was appointed physician to the Belleville Deaf and Dumb Institute. In 1890 he became Medical Superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane, Mimico. When the new asylum was opened in Brockville in 1894 he was asked to take control, and accordingly came here in November of that year. He was married in July, 1885, to Anna, the third daughter of the late Launcelot G. Bolster, of Toronto, a gentleman who was at one time a literary confrere of the late T. D'Arcy McGee, and at the time of his death the manager of the Toronto Water Works, of which he was originally an organizer. Dr. Murphy leaves behind him a widow and six children — Sterndale, Leo, Gerald, Marguerite, Winifrid and Katherine. Nearly four years ago they lost a little daughter, Audrey. Dr. Murphy was a member of the Liberal party, and belonged to the Roman Catholic faith. He was a member of the executive of St. Francis Xavier church, Brockville, and of the C.M.B.A. He was a brother-in-law of Thomas E. Mulvey, Assistant Provincial Secretary.

Brockville is genuinely grieved over the terribly sudden death of Dr. Murphy, and upon all sides and from all classes sincere regret is freely expressed. The deceased gentleman was a general favourite. His even, genial temper, his kindly words, his consideration for others, and his broadness of view upon all matters, made friends for him in all quarters, and, coupled with his scientific attainments, rendered him especially well qualified for the management of a big public institution such as the asylum. There will be grief throughout the institution for the loss sustained. Dr. Murphy was an enthusiastic curler in winter, while in summer his favourite diversion was bowling on the green, and his pleasure was indeed keen, when he could gather together a number of friends from town and enjoy the game with him. During his superintendance of the institution he carried out great improvements to the grounds and had others in contemplation. What used to be a wilderness of scrub and rough ground, he has transformed into a beautiful park of fine old trees, carpeted with green turf and traversed with well-kept roads and paths, commanding a grand view of the St. Lawrence river. Around this he had built a low stone wall with an iron fence surmounting it, making the asylum grounds one of the show places in Brockville.

Sincere as is the sorrow of his friends; it is painful to think of the grief of his own family circle. Dr. Murphy's home life was particularly happy. Blessed with a devoted wife and a family of fine children he was the centre of an ideal domestic life. The loss of their little girl a few years ago served only to bind them closer together, and the surviving children will surely prove a great consolation to the wife and mother in her melancholy bereavement.

The funeral will leave the house on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock and proceed to St. Francis Xavier Church where service will be held at 10.30. After the service the funeral will proceed to the cemetery.

CAPTURE OF CASHEL

Surrendered When the M. P. Threatened to Burn Him Out.

REMAINED AROUND CALGARY

Took the Chances, He Said, to Help His Brother John—Was Well Informed of the Movements of the Police and All That Went on—His Execution on Tuesday.

Calgary, Alberta, Jan. 25.—Ernest Cashel, the condemned murderer, who made such a daring escape from police barracks guard room here, was captured yesterday afternoon by the Mounted Police about six miles northeast of Calgary. He is now in the guardroom and will be hanged on Tuesday. Cashel gave the police a chase for forty-five days, and during that time has not been more than six miles away from the city at any one time and during a portion of the time he was in the city. The police learned of his supposed whereabouts two weeks ago, and have been quietly keeping watch until yesterday when his capture was effected without great trouble.

Cashel was game to the last, and did not give up without a struggle. Constable Biggs found his man concealed in one corner of the cellar of Pitman's house. He held a light to the corner, whereupon Cashel fired a revolver, the bullet grazing the constable's head. Another shot also failed, and Biggs retired from the cellar, as he was unarmed. Procuring a revolver, Biggs returned to the cellar, but was met on the dark stairs by Cashel, and further shots exchanged, only one taking effect, as it lodged in Cashel's heel.

Decide to Burn Him Out.

The murderer retreated to the cellar corner and the police retired outside, when it was decided to burn the building. Cashel called out he would kill himself and merely wanted to leave a letter for his mother. He fired several shots, but the police would stand no bluffing and warned him out of the building. Cashel finally emerged with his hands in the air, and was soon placed under arrest, and is now ledged in his old cell at the police barracks. He said he had complete knowledge of everything that was happening, and did not want to leave the country until his brother was released.

Cashel murdered Rufus Holt. His escape from the jail at Calgary, Dec. 10, the day before he was to have been executed, was a most daring escapade. With two revolvers smuggled in to him by his brother, or by the girl with whom he was in love, he held up the three officers while still handcuffed. The men were driven into the cell in which the prisoner had been confined, and forced to throw to him the key to the manacles. He had been permitted to leave his cell for exercise.

A reprieve had just been refused, but before the date of the execution the hanging had been postponed until Jan. 26. Without this postponement, Cashel would have been dead in law, after the date of his proposed execution, and could not have been further molested if captured.

Mrs. Bechtel Found Not Guilty.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 25.—J. G. Hutchinson and George Howell of the British Columbia Supply Company, a grocery concern, which recently assigned, were arrested last night by the creditors on charges of fraud.

Floods Cost a Million.

Pittsburg, Jan. 25.—The flood danger at this point has passed. All Saturday both rivers continued to rise until 5 o'clock, when 30 feet and one-tenth was reached at the Monongahela wharf. From that hour on the waters receded slowly. The damage done in the Pittsburg district will not reach the high figures at first given out, and will probably not exceed half a million dollars. Adding the loss to the manufactories and mills through forced shutdowns and to workmen through suspended wages, will run the total close to the million mark. As yet no loss of life has been reported.

Pope Blesses the Pen.

Rome, Jan. 25.—A few days ago the Pope took a stylographic pen from a Protestant journalist's hand and pronounced a benediction. He returned the pen saying:

"No one has a nobler mission than a journalist in the world of to-day. I bless your symbol of office. My predecessors consecrated the swords and shields of Christian warriors; I choose rather to beg blessings upon the Christian journalist's pen."

45,100 Signed Petition.

Johannesburg, Jan. 25.—A petition, signed by 45,100 male white adults, resident in the Transvaal, requesting the passage of a law providing for the importation of Asiatic labor into the colony, will be presented to the Legislative Council to-day.

Will Favor Dreyfus.

Paris, Jan. 25.—There is good reason to believe that the report of Attorney-General Baudern, besides favoring Dreyfus, will recommend a further investigation by the criminal section of the Court of Cassation before the united sections of the court pass upon the case.

Woodstock Party Feeling Now Runs Very High As Election Day Approaches—A Campaign Lie Exposed.

Woodstock, Jan. 25.—Saturday was the most exciting day of the campaign in Woodstock. In accordance with his threat, Mr. Birmingham placed Mr. R. R. Gamey in the City Hall that afternoon and evening, as a rival attraction to the Liberal meetings in the Opera House. This move, however, failed entirely in its purpose, as splendid meetings were held in the Opera House in the interests of Lieut.-Col. Munro. The seating capacity of the house is about 1,100 and neither in the afternoon nor evening was the accommodation in excess of the needs. The gallery was well filled with ladies, who displayed a keen interest in and appreciation of the speeches. The City Hall will probably seat 600, and it was filled, and the narrow aisles blocked by people standing.

Will Spread the Light.

The Liberals have determined to give the people of Woodstock every opportunity to inform themselves on the Government's record and policy, and will hold another meeting, which will be addressed by Hon. Richard Harcourt and Hon. F. E. A. Evanturel, and probably by Hon. Geo. W. Ross, this evening. Liberal meetings will also be held at Braemar, Richwood, Embro and Thamesford. As the day of the election approaches, the political cauldron boils furiously, and party feeling runs high.

On Friday night Mr. E. W. Nesbitt of Woodstock, attended Mr. Butler's meeting at Harrington, where Mr. A. B. Ingram, M.P., P. H. Bartlett and John Young were the speakers, and spoke on behalf of Lieut.-Col. Munro, so successfully that when the meeting closed hearty cheers for the Liberal candidate were joined in by a majority of the audience. Mr. Geo. W. Hunt, late editor of The Woodstock Times (Conservative), in an interview published to-day, says that Mr. Butler's candidature and the circumstances under which it is carried on are an insult to the intelligence of North Oxford.

A Campaign Lie Exposed.

Rev. Dr. MacKay is out with an interview, denying that he was on the platform at Mr. Whitney's meeting. He declined the special invitation extended to him, and left the hall while Mr. Whitney was speaking. There was no political significance attached to the presence of any ministers upon the platform. The Chairman extended a general invitation to all ministers, irrespective of party leanings, to take seats there, as it was a more comfortable position than on the floor.

The Liberal meeting Saturday afternoon was attended chiefly by farmers from the surrounding districts. Major White presided. Lieut.-Col. Munro, the candidate, was greeted with an enthusiasm that demonstrated his popularity with all classes. He spoke briefly, and impressed upon his supporters the lesson taught the Reformers of South Oxford of the danger of over-confidence. Hon. John Dryden and Hon. E. J. Davis gave excellent addresses on the leading questions before the people. Hon. James Sutherland, in an impressive address, which was frequently cheered, said he was going to vote for Lieut.-Col. Munro for many reasons. First, upon principle, because it was in the best interests of the Province that a supporter of the Government be sent to Toronto; secondly, upon personal grounds, because Lieut.-Col. Munro was a native of the county, a successful farmer, and an experienced municipal representative.

The Evening Meeting.

The evening meeting was addressed by Lieut.-Col. Munro, Hon. Jas. Sutherland, E. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P., and M. K. Cowan, M.P., who, in the course of a spirited address, which was repeatedly cheered, protested against the "polecat" politics introduced into the riding by the Conservatives, and dealt with the Gamey charges, quoting from the evidence to show the untruthfulness of many of Mr. Gamey's statements. He stated that Charley Chamberlain, the personater, had been brought into Woodstock to assist Mr. Birmingham.

LOOKS LIKE PEACE

Russia Said to Be Prepared to Concede Japanese Claims.

STRONG GROUNDS FOR HOPE

Japan Has Best Reasons For Believing That Russia Will Yield—Reply From Russia Not Yet Received at Tokio—Indications That Japan Is Ready and Means War Unless She Is Properly Treated.

London, Jan. 25.—At last it is possible to affirm with strong confidence that the situation in the Far East is distinctly hopeful. The basis for this welcome announcement is a fact which should be decisive, namely, that Japan has the best reasons for believing that Russia is prepared in the interests of peace to concede practically all the claims in the last Japanese note, and is delaying her reply only in order to find the best means of giving a proper diplomatic expression of her decision.

It is impossible to be more definite about the sources of information. The issue of peace or war has rested solely with Russia, for Japan was not indulging in diplomatic bargaining but asked her irreducible minimum of demands at the first.

Still Japan Seems to Mean War.

London, Jan. 25.—A despatch to The Central News from Tokio, says: "An extraordinary issue of The Gazette has been published, containing an Imperial ordinance, approving the various coast defence regulations and forbidding, under penalties, the navigation of private vessels; fighting within specified areas, or the carrying out of marine's work which might be inimical to Japanese naval interest.

"The decree is regarded as being highly significant.

"The Kokumin Shimbun, in a warlike editorial, declares that the arrival or non-arrival of Russia's reply does not effect the situation, and says: 'Every hope of securing the legitimate demands of Japan diplomatically has been abandoned, and the Government, therefore, is compelled to take such freedom of action as will ensure perpetual peace in the Far East.'"

No Reply Yet Received.

Tokio, Jan. 25.—No reply has yet been received from St. Petersburg.

Rioting at Seoul.

Seoul, Jan. 25.—An accident yesterday on the electric street railway here, which resulted in the killing of a Corean led to rioting on the part of the populace. The marine guard at the American legation, however, without having recourse to their fire arms, succeeded in preventing the trouble from assuming serious proportions.

Alexieff Has Angina Pectoris

London, Jan. 25.—The Chee Foo correspondent of The Daily Mail cables that an engagement has occurred on the Manchurian Railroad between Russian troops and Chinese marauders, in which three Russians were killed. Troops are puring into Port Arthur from the north and the entire garrison has been employed in manoeuvres.

Viceroy Alexieff is suffering from angina pectoris and was unable to attend the military conference yesterday.

A FRIENDLY INTERVIEW.

Col. Younghusband Offered Favorable Terms By Thibetan General to Retire.

Chumbi, British India, Jan. 25.—Col. Younghusband, the Commander of the British expedition to Thibet, had a friendly interview with a general from Lhassa and a number of Lamas, who came out to meet the British mission. The general offered favorable terms for Col. Younghusband to retire, and on his refusal, indicated that the British advance would be opposed.

Several Whites Murdered.

London, Jan. 25.—The Foreign Office has received news of the massacre of a British expedition under the auspices of the East Africa syndicate by Tukkhana tribesmen in the neighborhood of Rudolf Lake, East Africa. Several white men were murdered, but no details of the occurrence has been received.

Toronto Corruption Scandal.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—The first formal trial in the municipal election scandal will commence before Magistrate Denison this morning. Crown Attorney Curry thinks five minutes will suffice to dispose of the technical objection to the jurisdiction of the court raised by Mr. DuVernet, counsel for Samuel Thompson. Mr. Curry said he had some 28 witnesses subpoenaed to appear in this case.

Portrait to Adorn Varsity Wall.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—The literati of Toronto assembled at the University Library on Saturday afternoon to witness the unveiling of a handsome portrait in oils of Prof. Goldwin Smith. Prof. Clark of Trinity eulogized Prof. Goldwin Smith and also the donor of the portrait, John Ross Robertson. Prof. Smith made a modestly characteristic reply.

Canadian Railway Man Dies.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—A. H. Kiever, a prominent railroad man of New Brunswick, died Saturday night in an omnibus, while being transferred across the city to catch a train for Montreal. He had been suffering from consumption and was hurrying home to see his children before he died.

Against Peter's Power.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs must have Help.

Food taken into the stomach, which from the nature of the food, or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, as far as it goes, and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach, and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plan for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing hard work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bones of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of, that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

North Bruce Is Storm-bound.

Tara, Jan. 25.—On account of the storm, no trains passed since Thursday to Sunday, and no mails or daily papers received since Wednesday. A few daily papers were brought in by stage Sunday night from Owen Sound and brought Klondike prices. The Conservative convention advertised to be held on Tuesday, the 26th inst., has been cancelled. It has been the worst blockade experienced for years in North Bruce, and teaming lumber business in general is at a standstill.

Only one Dr. Chase.

It frequently happens that people suffer for years from kidney derangements without knowing the cause of their backaches, aching limbs and other bodily sufferings, suddenly the truth is revealed to them that they are the victims of serious kidney disease and in imminent danger. There is no medicine which gives such prompt and lasting relief for every form of Kidney disease as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are positively effective even in the most chronic cases.

CIVIC INSURANCE.

Difficulties in Realizing It Found by London Committee.

The corporation of London has recently been considering an influential petition from citizens, especially those connected with Cripplegate Wards, asking them to take such action as they might deem expedient to relieve them from the excessive charges now demanded by fire insurance companies, and in effect to start a system of municipal insurance of all buildings within the city area, says an English exchange.

An exhaustive report has been presented by the City Lands Committee on the subject. The committee, in the course of their investigation, considered several points as of primary importance. Parliamentary powers would need to be obtained before a compulsory insurance premium rate could be legally levied in the city. Such a bill, even if expedient, would meet with considerable opposition from the insurance world generally, and might be anything but acceptable to owners of property situated in those parts where block insurance did not obtain.

The security for the insured under such a scheme seemed hardly tangible enough, for even with comparative immunity from fire loss it would take some time to build up a substantial reserve fund.

On the other hand, should extensive losses sweep away the reserve and cause a deficit, a special rate would have to fixed and forthwith levied on all the policy-holders. Thus the settlement of large claims might be retarded, and dissatisfaction engendered. Most insurers, including trustees of public and private estates, would prefer the security represented by the accumulated reserve funds of the various insurance companies, which amount to about 40 millions.

Among the premises to be insured would necessarily be the Guildhall, the Mansion House, and other city property belonging to the corporation. These formed a considerable portion of the security for the bondholders of the corporation, and it did not appear to the committee that it would be right to subject them to a risk so inadequately secured.

The scheme of the memorialists provided only for the insurance of all buildings within the city. The citizens would therefore be compelled to insure elsewhere the valuable goods deposited therein. If the scheme were adopted it would enhance the cost of insuring goods, as the companies, being offered this only, might demand terms more onerous than those which they now obtained.

The proposed municipal insurance scheme was to be applicable only to buildings within the city. It could not therefore participate in really remunerative fire insurance business such as was represented by residential and suburban property, and for that reason alone it was doubtful if the ordinary insurer would not get better value—not to mention more satisfactory security—by placing his insurance with an existing insurance company whose business was unrestricted in its operations. The provision of new and properly equipped fire stations in the city might lead to a reduction in the near future of the heavy insurance rates which had given rise to the petition of the traders of Cripplegate.

The committee could not see their way to support the scheme or recommend its adoption.

Two Awkward Situations.

Dean Stanley was a man not easily upset by any turn of events. The man who dared suggest and get erected a memorial to Wesley in Westminster Abbey had never enough for anything. But a little thing that came his way nearly killed him. At a great fashionable house a wag was giving an excruciatingly funny burlesque of a sermon they had had that morning from an eccentric at the Abbey. Stanley's face was a picture, until the burlesquer was brought to see that quietly sitting in a corner behind him was the very man whom he was burlesquing.

But that was not the Dean's funniest experience. Bishop Thirlwall invited most of the members of one of the sections of the British Association to dine with him.

The most glaring omission was the name of perhaps the most brilliant member of the lot. He mentioned his being omitted to Stanley, who raced off to Thirlwall, and said, "Surely you are going to invite Professor Forchhammer?"

"By no means," was the reply, "nothing would induce me to ask to my house a man who has defended the execution of Socrates!"—St. James Gazette.

Salmon Killed by Flies.

The late Earl of Stair was a keen angler, and on angling subjects he "had views." The tidal part of the fine salmon river, the Stinchar, in Ayrshire, was his Lordship's, and he made it a condition in all the "permits" he granted, that only fly should be used. The Earl argued that no good fish ate worms, so worms must not be used for the enticement of salmon. The fact that salmon do dive at worms did not weigh with the venerable peer.—London Pall Mall Gazette.

Modern Girl's Lamentation.

Knowledge of man is hardly what the girl of the period lacks. Indeed, the lamentation of the modern girl is usually of quite a contrary nature. It is that she has too frequent an opportunity of acquaintance with the modern man—that she has lost ever that brief rapture of illusion which "the girl of yesterday" were able to enjoy.—London Daily Mirror.

Population of the World.

The estimated population of the world in 1903, is 1,547,423,000, which is an increase of 39,505,000 over the estimates for 1897, or an average increase of 6,584,166 a year.

Hard on Rabbit Slayers.

In the days of William the Conqueror it was more dangerous to kill a rabbit than a man. A murderer could escape with payment of a fine; a rabbit slayer was put to death.

Highland Children.

The healthiest children in the world live in the Scotch highlands. Few wear shoes before they are twelve years old.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

WHEN THEORIES FAILED.

A Mother's Experience in the Training of Children.

"Have you given up your theories on the training of children?" he asked as he settled back in his easy chair after dinner.

"I have," she replied decidedly.

"I've noticed that you haven't been reading so many books on the subject recently," he went on. "What's the reason?"

"Why, you see, we had a series of lectures on the subject at the club, and I learned from them that it was real science, requiring careful study. So I got copies of several books on education and began to fit myself for the work of bringing up children properly. But the authorities don't agree."

"Don't they?"

"No, they don't. And they all go on the theory that one has a nursemaid or two and a governess."

"And you haven't any?"

"No, I haven't any. And so none of the books seemed to fit my case. Besides, while I was studying the children kept getting into trouble and hurting themselves and acquiring all sorts of bad tricks. So I've gone back to studying the children and have left the books to people who have some one to look after their children while they experiment with their books."

A Stickler For Rank.

It is not in this country alone that the notion of equality prevails. The London Figaro reports the following instance:

As a magnificent steamer, the property of the Peninsular and Oriental company, was steaming into Southampton harbor a grimy coal lighter floated immediately in front of it. An officer on board the steamer, seeing this, shouted:

"Clear out of the way with that barge!"

The lighter man, a native of the Emerald Isle, shouted in reply, "Are ye the captain of that vessel?"

"No," answered the officer.

"Then spake to yer equals," said the lighter man. "I'm the captain of this."

Legs and Oratory.

In the "Souvenirs de Mme. Recamier" there is a pleasant description of a scene which took place during her exile at Lyons in 1812. Almost every cultivated or fashionable individual who passed through that city was sure to be attracted to her house. Talma, the tragedian, happened to be giving some representations in the Grand theater and was dining with Mme. Recamier when the bishop of Troyes, better known as the abbe of Boulogne, was announced. This celebrated preacher, though devoted to literature and familiar with the works of the great playwrights, had never seen a play performed.

After dinner Talma was persuaded to recite, to the intense gratification of the abbe, parts from his principal roles. In return Talma begged the ecclesiastic to repeat some passages of his sermons. When he had done so, "It is splendid, monseigneur, as far as this," exclaimed Talma, touching the chest of the preacher, "but the lower part of your body is deplorable! Clearly you have never bestowed a thought upon your legs!"

Stanley as a Fighter.

A thoroughly good man was Henry M. Stanley, whom I first met in the Ashanti expedition. No noise, no danger ruffled his nerve, and he looked as cool and self possessed as if he had been at "target practice." Time after time as I turned in his direction I saw him go down to a kneeling position to steady his rifle as he plied the most daring of the enemy with a never failing aim. It is nearly thirty years ago, and I can still see before me the close shut lips and determined expression of his manly face, which, when he looked in my direction, told plainly I had near me an Englishman in plain clothes whom no danger could appall. Had I felt inclined to run away the cool, firm, unflinching manliness of that face would have given me fresh courage. I had been previously somewhat prejudiced by others against him, but all such feelings were slain and buried at Amoaful.—"Lord Wolseley's Recollections."

REV. DR. WILSON BORN IN PETERBOROUGH.

Eloquent Speaker Now at Bethany Tabernacle.

Rev. Henry Wilson, of New York City, spoke to three appreciative audiences at Bethany Tabernacle yesterday. Not a few were surprised to learn that he was born in this town, then a mere village, sixty-two years ago. The doctor combines a strong magnetic temperament with a happy disposition, and an apt way of clearly presenting and illustrating his subjects that makes his work both attractive and helpful. He will speak again to-night and leave to-morrow for New York City. Pastor Salmon and a returned missionary from India will have some part in the service to-night, and hold two services to-morrow, at 8 and 8 p.m. The public generally is cordially invited.

"THE INTERMEDIATE LIFE AFTER DEATH"

Rev. Mr. Holah at St. Luke's Last Night.

At St. Luke's church yesterday Rev. Mr. Holah, acting rector, conducted both services. In the morning Dr. Harley Smith, of Toronto, preached on Diocesan Missions, speaking from a layman's point of view. Rev. Mr. Holah preached in the evening from 1st Corinthians XII, verse 13: "For by one spirit are we all baptised into one body whether we be Jews or Gentiles; whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink unto one spirit." He spoke of the intermediate life after death: The continuation of our existence after this life and before the day of Judgment. Fairly large congregations were present, it being Mr. Holah's first Sunday at St. Luke's.

FOR PRESERVATION OF THE LORD'S DAY.

Addresses were Delivered Yesterday by Rev. J. G. Shearer.

The Field Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance Tells of Canada's Industrial Awakening—The Peril to the Lord's Day.

Two meetings were held in town yesterday under the auspices of the local branch of the Lord's Day Alliance, at both of which addresses were delivered by the field secretary of the Alliance, Rev. J. G. Shearer. That in the afternoon was held in the Opera House, and was for men, the subject of Rev. Mr. Shearer's address being, "Canadian Industrial Activity and the Christian Sabbath," while at the evening meeting which was held in George street Methodist church at the close of the regular service the subject was, "What we Have We'll Hold." Both meetings were well attended, and considerable public interest was manifested in the work of the Lord's Day Alliance, as outlined by the speaker.

Rev. J. A. Wilson, was chairman of his afternoon meeting, and Rev. Dr. Torrance was on the platform in addition to the speaker and chairman.

The Rev. Mr. Shearer in the prosecution of his duties as Field Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, has travelled many times from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and has had ample opportunities of seeing the wonderful growth of Canadian industrial institutions.

The speaker said that Canada was experiencing a great industrial awakening, due partially to the general prosperity in which all countries have participated, but chiefly to the great natural wealth which Canada possesses, and which is but now beginning to be realized by even Canadians. It is doubtful, said the speaker, if for a great many years to come, Canada will see a return of the hard times through which the country passed a few years ago, and even should other countries experience hard times, the natural resources of Canada and their development, will be sufficient to ensure a continuance of the prosperity at present prevailing.

The world is but beginning to know that Canada has a great wheat field, of sufficient proportions to supply the whole world with bread for a long period. The facts are really staggering even to Canadians. A recent article in the Manitoba Free Press stated that there are in Manitoba and the North-west 250,000,000 acres of good arable land, not including the many millions of acres of rough land. The significance of this statement may be partially understood when it is stated that at the present time only 20,000,000 acres are even possessed, not to speak of being cultivated.

The agricultural industry is not the only one in which great development is being experienced. The mineral, timber and fishing industries are also being rapidly expended, and are adding to the growing wealth and prosperity of the country.

In consequence of the world's recognition of the great wealth of Canada's resources, there is a great amount of foreign capital coming into the country, and a great variety of industries are being inaugurated bring with them a large influx of population from other countries to man the new industries. This industrial awakening has also led to a great commercial awakening. The increased population has necessaitated the establishment of an increased number of business houses to supply the needs of the people, and the result has been that commercially and industrially Canada is on the top wave of prosperity.

This great prosperity has brought with it its perils, chief of which is the peril to the Christian Sabbath. This great development of Canada's resources has produced a condition in which there have been temptations to break the Lord's Day. Manufacturers have found their establishments crowded with orders, and have pressed into service the Lord's Day, in order that they may reap a greater profit. This condition is intensified by two things, the first of which is the tendency towards corporations in industrial affairs. This is caused by the peculiarities of our present industrial systems. Perhaps, said the speaker, in a few years, our system may undergo radical changes, but at the present time this condition prevails. The corporation naturally tends to the trust, and the control of vast industries passes into the hands of a few persons. This fact has helped materially on the desecration of the Lord's Day, because, while men who are in control of industries would not ask their employees to work on Sunday for personal gain, but because of the fact that it was for a corporation would do what for personal profit they would not do. The second fact is, that a great portion of the new capital being invested in industries, is imported, and in every case it comes from countries in which the Lord's Day is not respected as here. He was but speaking the truth when he said that in no country under the sun was the Lord's Day observed as well as it was in Canada; even Scotland, which had always been considered as the country in which the Sabbath was well observed, must now take second place to Canada. The speaker said that while there were parts of other countries in which the Lord's Day was observed as well as it was in Canada, there was no other country in which as a whole, it was as well observed and preserved as it was in our own country. (Applause.)

The speaker in explaining how imported capital had helped in the desecration of the day of rest, said that with the capital had come managers, superintendents and foremen from other countries. This importation of men had been made necessary by the fact that this was a new country and could not produce managers, superintendents, foremen and skilled labourers fast enough to supply the demand. These men, many of them, had not been accustomed to a Canadian Sunday, and did not respect it as it should be respected.

As to the grounds upon which work was done upon Sunday there were a number of reasons given. Sometimes they come out boldly and say that it is for money making, but more frequently the plea of commercial necessity is raised. The speaker cited a number of instances of this. Then again Sunday labour was defended on the ground of saving of capital. The claim most frequently raised under this head was that of carrying on the work of repairs and construction on Sunday. This is done because the manufacturers desire to turn out a larger amount of the product and thus reap greater profits.

One of the planks of the Lord's Day Alliance is the shortening of hours of labour and the establishment, wherever possible, of a half-holiday through the week.

Another of the pleas advanced as a reason for working on Sunday, is that certain chemical or manufacturing processes demand continuous operation of the plants. The speaker was willing to admit that there were cases where this plea was a reasonable one, but in these cases, the work should be done with the minimum amount of labour. The decision as to what is necessary labour should be decided by the Court of the land, and not by those interested. The cement and sugar industries, it had been claimed, must be operated continuously and test cases were being made of them. The working men, said the speaker, were more deeply interested in the preservation of the Sabbath than any other class.

In conclusion, the speaker assured the men that when they had a battle to fight for the preservation of the Sabbath, they could depend upon the Lord's Day Alliance to help them.

After the address a question drawer was conducted by the speaker, in the course of which some interesting questions relating to the work of the Alliance were answered.

In the evening, at George street church, Rev. Mr. Shearer, again spoke, his subject being "What We Have We'll Hold." He said that Canada, in the history of the world was the last nation, and, in the light of the centuries of experience, should be the best morally, of all the nations. He urged the audience to do all in their power to preserve the Lord's Day.

The local branch of the Alliance, as a result of the meetings yesterday received a considerable addition to its membership.

AN ILLUSTRATED CHILDREN'S SERVICE

Held Yesterday Afternoon in the Bethany Tabernacle.

At the Bethany Tabernacle yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Wilson, D.D., of New York City, conducted a very interesting children's service. In order that his little hearers might thoroughly grasp his meaning Mr. Wilson had before them a glass of clear water. This was supposed to represent a good child. Asking the children to shut their eyes, the speaker changed the water, filling the glass with a dirty liquid. This represented the bad child, such as the urchins of the slums of any large city. He illustrated the almost useless though philanthropic plan of collecting the children, cleaning them up and placing them in homes, by rubbing the glass on the outside. It of course remained dirty. The child had to be made better by conversion. This was illustrated by converting tumbler and the contents thrown into a bowl. The converted child then had to be filled with purity which was illustrated by filling the tumbler with clean water. The service closed with hymns and prayers. Rev. Dr. Wilson leaves for New York early to-morrow morning.

ANNIVERSARY OF BURNS' BIRTHDAY.

His Poem Regarding the Event — Born Jan. 25th, 1759.

On the 25th of January, 1759, in a clay cottage near the bridge of Doon, Ayrshire, was born Robert Burns, the great poet of Scotland. There is a tradition that his father riding in haste to fetch the doctor, met on the river bank a wandering mendicant, who entreated his aid across the swollen torrent. The good natured Scotchman complied; and the same woman, it is said, seeking hospitality in his own cottage, uttered a prophecy over the newly born babe, which was afterwards well fulfilled. There is some confirmation in the apocryphal legend in Burn's song of "Robin," in which he dates the circumstance of the Gipsy's prophecy from the days of his own birth:

ROBIN.

There was a lad born in Kyle,
But what'n a day o' what'n a style
I doubt it's hardly worth the while
To be sae nice wi' Robin.

Robin was a rovin' boy,
Rantin', rovin, rantin' rovin';
Robin was a rovin' boy,
Rantin', rovin' Robin!

Our monarch's hindmost year but ane
Was five-and-twenty days begun,
'Twas then a blast o' Janwar win'
Blew hansel in on Robin.

The gossip keekit in his loof;
Quo' she, Wha lives will see the proof,
This waly boy will be nae coof,—
I think we'll ca' him Robin.

He'll hae misfortunes great and sma,'
But aye a heart aboon them a';
He'll be a credit 'till us a,'
We'll a' be proud o' Robin.

But, sure as three times three mak' nine
I see, by ilka score and line,
This chap will dearly like our kin',—
So leeze me on thee, Robin.

Guid faith, quo' she, I doubt ye gar,
The bonnie lasses lie aspar;
But twenty faute ye may ha'e waur,—
So blessin's on thee, Robin!

Robin was a rovin' boy,
Rantin' rovin', rantin' rovin';
Robin was a rovin' boy,
Rantin', rovin' Robin!

AN URGENT APPEAL TO CONGREGATION.

To Keep up the Cause of Missions—At St. John's Church.

Dr. Harley Smith, of Toronto, preached at the evening service at St. John's church last night. He began by speaking of the importance of men taking an interest in their fellows. The presence or lack of this was largely differentiated in the useless man. Surely no one would desire to be a mere working machine. It was well for men in this busy age to consider the real meaning of life and the ways in which it could be profitably spent. He dwelt at considerable length on the good work being done in the foreign and home mission fields, and made an urgent appeal to the congregation to support those who did such work.

During the offertory Miss Daisy Sawers sang, "The Plains of Peace."

REVOLVERS DRAWN ON MAIN STREET.

Italian Riot Caused Considerable Alarm.

The Strike at Copper Cliff Witnessed by a Peterborough Man—Its Cause and Result.

Mr. Kenneth Chowen, who for the past six years has been conducting a jewelry store in Copper Cliff, is visiting his parents on Water street, and was seen this morning by the Examiner regarding the recent Italian disturbances which occurred in that town.

The Canadian Copper Company, of Copper Cliff, employs about 200 Italian labourers at a daily rate of pay of $1.60. About two weeks ago the company took a contract by which they could only pay their men $1.40 per diem, and this caused the riot. Incensed at the reduction of pay the men held a consultation, and finally resolved to go out on strike the following morning. The news of the impending strike was soon whispered about town, but not for a moment was it thought that it would result in a serious affair. On the following morning the men did not go to work, hanging around the saloons and marching the streets in bodies instead. The sullen manner in which the men moved, and their rough ways, began to be a source of alarm to the inhabitants of the town.

The forenoon was more or less uneventful beyond the disturbances created by the foreigners, many of whom were intoxicated with drink. The afternoon came, and the men again paraded the streets in large numbers, singing coarse songs and talking volubly, the company meanwhile having refused their demand for the former rate of pay. The disturbance reached a climax about 3.30 o'clock, and a genuine riot occurred. The occasion of this was the action of the police, who thought that by clapping a ring-leader into irons, it would intimidate the mob and later cause them to disperse. However, when an officer attempted to arrest an Italian, the others tried to rescue him, and a free fight ensued. Suddenly, nobody knew how, some one from amidst the crowd pulled a gun. The police immediately retaliated and the shooting in the main street was kept up for a few minutes, both sides retiring, but one Italian wounded. Defiance had openly been declared and Chief of Police Storey enrolled about a dozen special constables and issued arms to his force. The Italians nothing daunted by the street scene of an hour previous, paraded the streets creating as much noise as possible. They too, had weapons, although not visible, concealed about their persons, and occasionally, one, more intoxicated than his fellow-companions, staggered down the street, shouting intelligibly and waving a loaded revolver in the air. The police on their part acted with extreme caution and did nothing which might incite to fury the almost freinzed mobs. Ten of the leaders, without show of force on the part of the officers of the law, were quietly arrested and tried before the Police Magistrate. One was fined $50, another $25 and others also heavy penalized. This action on the part of the police had a telling effect and thence forward the disturbances were not rowdy, the strikers merely walking the streets in noisy bodies. The President of the Company, Mr. A. P. Turner, stubbornly refused to grant the men's request and the Italian Consul from Montreal came to the spot, but his opinion is that the men brought the trouble on their own heads and that they alone are to blame. In view of this it is generally believed that the matter will be dropped.

Copper Cliff is a town of about 3,000 inhabitants, three-quarters of whom are foreigners. The foreigners come mostly from the northern districts of Italy, and, according to Mr. Chowen, are of the rough mountaineering class. The men, when he left on Friday, were still on strike, but the worst had been passed. He was unable to say which side would give in.

Belleville Papers Pay Tribute to Peterborough Team—The Great Game To-Morrow Night.

PETERBOROUGH HAS AN EXCELLENT TEAM

Is the Opinion of the Belleville Intelligencer.

Says the Home Team Had Tight Squeeze to Win—Tribute to Ability of Visiting Team.

The Belleville Intelligencer devotes a couple of columns to the hockey game played there Friday, in which the Belleville team won by a narrow margin. In summarizing the play it says:

"Hats off to the Red and White Boys, for they nobly redeemed themselves last night for that defeat in Peterborough, and beat the fast and sturdy lads from the banks of the Otonabee in just about the closest, swiftest and most exciting match it has ever been the good fortune of the writer to witness. And our own lads, it must be confessed, had absolutely nothing 'up their sleeves.' They had to strain every nerve and let out every link to win—and they got there. To be sure it must be pointed out that the local team was not in its best shape. McGuire had been ill with the grip for two or three days, and only got out of a sick bed yesterday morning. He was not by any means in a condition to do himself justice. But we would say nothing to detract from the splendid showing made by the visitors, who played gilt-edged hockey, with never a weak spot in it. That the locals could beat a team like that, even by ever so small a margin shows what a really fine team they are. The match, particularly in its early stages, was marked by the closest checking ever seen, probably, on local ice. The Belleville men stuck to Whitcroft and Harold Armstrong closer than brothers, but even at that they got away occasionally and made things decidedly interesting for Winchester, who was always there with the goods. Doff your chapeaux to Winnie, boys. To him, more than anybody else, will belong the credit if Belleville should win the championship. But the boys were all in it last night. McMillan, well as the boys would say, 'he's a peach,' that's what he is. There are surely Stanley Cup possibilities under his hat. Brown never played better. He robbed the visitors of two sure scores by deft body checks. To be sure he took a minute for each one, but a dangerous situation was relieved. And he made one particularly brilliant run and then didn't pass the puck—but we'll come to that later on. Burrows hardly showed at his best till the second half. Then he handed out the real goods, just like he did against the Marlboros here last year, following up and checking back in gilt-edged style. Marks was on, a man who had a little "on him" in the way of speed, but in aggressiveness and stick-handling the local lad quite held his own, and, mind you, a man who can do that with either of those Peterboro Armstrongs has no shadow of a pic-nic. Kennedy was in great form, and never played better. His skating, shooting and stick-handling were superb. On the visiting team there was not one weak spot. Whitcroft and Harold Armstrong were quite as fast and skilful as they were last Wednesday week; Roy Armstrong and Chris Graham on the wings played a strong game, the latter in particular putting all rough tactics aside and playing hockey as it should be played. Cavanah and Howell, defence, particularly in the early part of the game, were a tower of strength to the visitors, Mercer in goal only let two by him, and his stopping and clearing was fully up to the mark. Taken all in all, it was a grand game of hockey, in which the winners have precious little to crow over and the losers nothing to be ashamed of. And will our newspaper friends in Peterboro kindly acknowledge that The Intelligencer knew what it was talking about when it said, "Wait till we shake hands with those tents down on Pinnacle street. If there isn't a different result you can have our Sunday hat for a football." They waxed hilarious then, but the "smile that would come off" is being worn in this beautiful city just now.

A FAST GAME TO-MORROW NIGHT.

Picton's "Pea Canners" Will Give Locals a Hard Game.

To-morrow will see probably the fastest game of hockey ever played in the local rink. The team from Picton which administered the first defeat to the local team this season, will be here to play a championship game. Men are not lacking who claim that the Picton team is a faster bunch than Belleville, and there is a very general opinion that Belleville will pretty nearly meet their Waterloo on Friday night, when the teams play in Belleville. The game here to-morrow night will be one of more than usual significance, and both teams are out determined to win if possible. The local team will make a big attempt to prove that they have a claim on the district championship, and the visitors are going to try and repeat the dose given to our boys in Picton on the 6th. The indications are that there will be good fast ice, which should help our team to some extent.

It is expected that Percy Brown will referee the game. Holders of the limited sale 50 cent tickets will be admitted through the west side door, and will not be subjected to the possible crush at the front entrance.

NORWOOD WON FROM CAMPBELLFORD TEAM.

Defeated Visitors by Score of 11-4 on Friday Night.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Norwood, Jan. 23rd.—The second game in the Trent Valley League series was played in the Norwood palace skating rink on Friday, Jan. 21. The contesting parties were Campbellford vs. Norwood, the game resulting in a victory for Norwood of 11 to 4. At half time the score was 4 to 2 in favour of Norwood. In the first half the play was mostly around the visitors' goal, giving the goal tender some sharp work. During this half there was very pretty work done. One play worthy of special mention was when Petigrew, one of the Norwood forwards, although hampered with a broken stick, took the puck the full length of the ice and scored. The second half had hardly got into full swing when Pearce scored. Then hard work began. The Campbellford boys made some good plays but found it hard to score.

The Norwood forwards shared very agreeably in scoring the goals, and, in fact, the whole team had a share in that part of the play. The line-up was as follows:

Campbellford,—goal, Shaw; point, Donald; cover point, Shannon; forwards, J. Bluett, Tait, T. Bluett, Lourie.

Norwood,—goal, Powers; point, C. Pearce; cover point, Nichol, forwards, Petigrew, R. Pearce, Foster, McNichol.

Referee,—Mr. Geo. Lynch, Peterborough.

Umpires, Mr .Gent and Mr. Coal.

NORTHERN LIGHTS IN CLOSE GAME.

Defeated Beavers by 1-0 on Saturday on the Canal.

A good game of hockey was played Saturday morning between the Northern Lights and the Beavers. The Lights beat by a score of 1-0. Leo Hogan, G. Evans and Bob Brotherson played a star game. The Lights have a new point man, D. Smith, and they are going to Lakefield Saturday morning next to give the Groves a game. The Lights have a good team and the Groves may expect some very interesting play.

The Lineup was as follows:

Northern Lights.—Goal, G. Stevens; point, D. Smith; cover point, J. Revoy; forwards, L. Hogan, B. Brotherson, G. Evans, L. Miller.

Beavers,— goal, A. Henthorn, point, D. Rightmire; cover point, C. Clitheroe; forwards, H. Monro, H. Rightmire, T. Record, T. White.

PUCKERINGS.

THE JUNIORS AT COBOURG

The Junior O. H. A. team went to Cobourg to-day to play a game with the fast septette in that town to-night. The line-up will be the same as in the game here with Belleville on Friday night, viz: Goal, Van Every; point, Moore, cover point, Parker; forwards, Hall, Long, Kennedy, Smith.

IN THE TRENT VALLEY.

The standing of the clubs in the Cobourg, Colborne, Brighton, Trenton district of the Trent Valley League is as follows:

	Won	Lost	To Play
Cobourg	5	0	1
Trenton	3	1	2
Brighton	1	3	2
Colborne	0	5	1

Trenton has yet to play at Brighton and Brighton at Colborne. In order even to the Cobourg, Trenton must defeat Brighton in Brighton and Cobourg in Trenton.

C. D. A. CONFIDENT

In reply to the article which appeared in a local paper a few days ago concerning the C.D.A.-Eko Camp hockey match, the C.D.A. management claim that it is their opponents who have so far shown the "white feather," and that the C.D.A. are perfectly ready to meet the Eko Camk aggregation. Moreover the C.D.A. unhesitatingly supplied to the Examiner for publication their team which will be as follows:

Goal, James Hamilton; point, George Revell; cover point, Ernest Simpson Clarey; rover, Dickson Davidson; centre, Oscar Dumble; right wing, Llew. ellyn Hall; left wing, Harry Rush.

Spare men, E. J. Jarvis and J. Gracey.

Goal umpire, James Lawrence.

Timekeeper, W. T. Hall.

A CHALLENGE.

The firemen hereby challenge the old heads of the 57th Band to a game of hockey to be played at a time and place agreeable to both teams.

* * * *

The Review hockey team, after a month's delay, during which time it is reported, strenuous efforts were made to induce outside hockeyists to come to Peterborough on promises of high salaries, with little or nothing to do, has accepted the Examiner's challenge to a game of hockey.

In accepting the challenge issued the Review suggested that the Examiner would not mention hockey again until next summer. Needless to say, however, this journal has never been accused of flunking, and does not intend to meet the wishes of the erstwhile hockey team of the Review, by doing so now. Manager Jack Ross states that he has a number of good men in his mind, whose presence on the Examiner team will greatly strengthen it, and the champions of last year will, it is confidently believed, be put to an ignominious defeat in spite of their professional additions.

The Iroquois II defeated the Young Maple Leafs by a score of 16-1; at half time 6-1. The Iroquois played the better combination in the latter half. V. Runnils distinguished himself at left wing and did some close checking. Only one man decorated the fence, and that was for a minor offence. Each man played his part well. The team is open for a challenge to any team, average 13 years of age. Capt. V. Runnils; referee, F. Buller; time keeper, F. Haskill; goal umpires, L. Giroux and A. Giroux.

The Iroquois I challenge any team to a game of hockey; average age 15 years. Captain, F. Buller.

The Colborne Club, who entered the Trent Valley League with such enthusiasm, after an unfortunate season, have asked permission to default the remaining games this season.

The return game of the Beavers and Northern Lights resulted in a win for the Beavers by a score of 1 to 0. Referee A. Coughlin; time keeper, N. Fowler.

An exciting game of hockey was played on Saturday morning on Rubidge st., between the Little Petes and the Little Shamrocks, resulting, after a hard struggle, in a victory for the former, by a score of 4 to 3. The goals scored for the winners were sent in by Elrick White and Nagle Phelan, who secured two each. Harry White refereed the game.

THE KING AND QUEEN

RULES FOLLOWED BY HOSTS AND HOSTESSES IN ENTERTAINING.

Selection of Guests Usually Proves Source of Anxiety—His Majesty Designates or Approves of Them—Story of the Marconi's Breeches—The Menu of a Perfect Royal Entertainer—During the Visit.

People who are privileged to play host and hostess to the King, have a good deal more to go through than is imagined by those who merely glance at the descriptive reports in the papers, and admire the successful and satisfactory way in which everything has gone off. In truth, a royal visit, if it reflects a certain share of honor and glory on those to whom it is paid, entails also on them a very real amount of worry and trouble.

The first anxiety of the host and hostess is naturally the selection of those who are to be invited to meet the illustrious visitors. Not only has the name of every guest to be submitted for approval, but it is the usual custom for the King to signify his wishes as to who should be asked to meet him. It is not even deemed necessary for the host to be already acquainted with them. It is true that certain of the great ones of the land, with, perhaps, an old-fashioned idea of what is due to themselves as hosts, have from time to time objected to invite perfect strangers to meet royalty under their roof.

The Honored Mouse.

The personnel of the party being at length fixed, elaborate preparations have to be made for the actual housing of the royal guests. Painters, paperhangers and so on are busily at work all over the house for some weeks beforehand, and most special and particular attention is paid to baths, water supply and sanitation generally—a precaution which has been strictly and invariably observed ever since the disaster of 1871, when the Prince of Wales was brought to death's door through a sojourn in a badly drained house in Yorkshire.

Preliminary anxieties are not, of course, ended when the house from attic to cellar, is ready for its august guests; but all is at length ready, let us hope, and the royal party arrives at the honored house.

When Queen Victoria honored any of her subjects with a visit, it was by no means a matter of course that people staying in the house should have the privilege of sitting down at table with their august fellow-visitor. It was Her Majesty's custom not only to take with her to the houses where she designed to "lie" (as the old phrase was) for a night or two her own bed and bedding, carriages, horses and servants (including occasionally her cook), but also to confine herself at meals to the company of her own suite, sometimes inviting her host and hostess to join her at luncheon or dinner.

Such ultra-royal exclusiveness as this was never the habit of the Prince and Princess of Wales, nor is it now in their changed and more exalted position. The first meal of the day is invariably served in the royal apartments; of course, on shooting and racing days, or on the occasion of any public function, luncheon is usually taken abroad. But at "the great event of the Englishman's day," as some one calls dinner, they are always present at the table of their host, together with the whole one else at table.

The allotted days of the long-anticipated, anxiously prepared-for visit pass quickly away. "The last saraband has been danced in the hall" (as poor Whyte-Melville sang long ago); the last dinner has been eaten, and (let us hope) duly appreciated by royal palates. The morning of departure arrives; a cheer from the little group of bystanders, a final salutation as the train moves slowly out of the station, and host and hostess return to the quiet routine of their daily life with a sigh of satisfaction, and an echo in their hearts of the sentiment which Mrs. Augustus Craven has so well expressed: "After all, one of the great—perhaps the greatest—pleasures in life is to get things over."

A Marconi's Breeches.

Certain points of etiquette there are which differentiate such dinners from the usual evening meal of the English country house. As to dress, for example, it is understood that even at private entertainments at which the Queen is present, the ceremonious knee breeches and silk stockings are worn instead of the ordinary nether garments of the English gentleman.

A story is told of how a certain baronet, who was privileged to entertain for the first time the Prince of Wales at his board, sedulously provided himself with the necessary articles of raiment (as he conceived them), and so arrayed, met his royal guest in the hall of his house. The Prince, emerging from his brougham, advanced with his own gracious smile and grasping his host's hand addressed him thus: "Go upstairs, my good fellow, and put on your trousers; those things are not worn, you know, unless the Princess is with me." Up flew Sir H—— to his dressing room; off went the offending knee breeches; on went the orthodox continuations, and the host was downstairs again before his august guest had reached the door of the drawing-room.

The party being duly mustered in whatever apartment it is customary to meet before the evening meal—it is unnecessary to say that every one must be in the room before the royalties enter it—and the banquet being announced, the procession is marshalled, but not in the usual order. The King and Queen go in first to the dining-room, escorted by their host or hostess, or if the King alone is present, he leads in the lady of the house. At their own table Their Majesties sit not at either end, but in the centre of one side, and the same order is observed, as a rule, at dinners where they are guests. The menu is choice and (above all) short; for the King hates long dinners, and the gargantuan bills of fare provided by too many hosts he cannot endure.

The Menu.

Here is a menu served to His Majesty at the table of one of the most perfect of London hostesses:

Consomme Prince de Galles.
Sole d'Aumale.
Selle d'Agneau de Lait.
Caneton a la Presse.
Asperges Anglaises.
Souffle au Curacoa.

Every dish is a masterpiece; the golden consomme, specially created in honor of the royal guest; the sole, with its rich garnish of oysters and truffles; the young and tender lamb; the wild duck, with its subtly blended and toothsome sauce; English asparagus (the best in the world); and, last of all, the souffle, melting in the mouth; in all respects a dinner "fit to set before the King."

One curious detail of the arrangement of a royal dinner party must not be forgotten. Finger glasses at dessert must be conspicuous by their absence; and in cases where royalty is entertained for the first time, the host is generally notified beforehand of this point of etiquette. Most people know its origin—the old Jacobite custom of holding the wine glass over the bowl when the King's health is proposed, and contriving in this way to toast, not the actual and reigning monarch, but the Stuart King "over the water." The present Prince of Wales is said to have expressed himself opposed to the perpetuation of this quaint tradition; but it was invariably observed in the case of dinner parties given to the older generation of English royalties. The writer of this article remembers a dinner at which Princess Mary of Cambridge (the late Duchess of Teck) was present, and at the end of which a finger bowl was set before Her Royal Highness, but before no

HOME LIFE.

The happiness of home life depends largely on the health of the wife and mother. When her strength is unequal to the daily cares and duties of home, the evening hour finds her utterly worn out, too tired to talk, too weary to read. At first even she is glad to have her husband go out for the evening. She wants rest and quiet at any price. And so the foundation for marital misery is often laid in ill-health.

But when the housewife is healthy and strong she finds in her day's duties only a sufficient outlet for her energy. She looks forward all day to the evening hour spent with her husband over a book, or passed in quiet conversation. And every evening so spent draws the wife nearer to the husband and knits together the twain who are "one flesh" in the higher unity of one mind.

Every woman should know that the general health depends on the local womanly health. Irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness are disorders which sap the woman's strength and destroy her happiness with her health.

In ninety-eight cases in every hundred the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will effect a complete cure of womanly diseases. It is a reliable regulator. It dries the drains which enfeeble women. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential and womanly confidences are guarded by strict professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., has treated and cured more than half a million women.

There is no similar offer of free consultation by letter which has behind it a physician of Dr. Pierce's eminence and success, or an institution of world-wide fame such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

WAS NEARLY CRAZY.

"I was pleased that Dr. Pierce answered my letter," writes Mrs. C. W. Young, of South Regent Street (Lee Park), Wilkesbarre, Penna. "I am perfectly willing for you to use my name and address, as I think it my duty to let the people know what a wonderful medicine you have. When I had those mishaps I began to think I would never have children, and my husband always said that if I would take your medicine I would soon be all right. My back used to almost break and I would get sick at my stomach and have such headaches I did not know what to do; they used to set me nearly crazy, and I used to dread to get up, I felt so bad; then I began taking your medicine. When baby was expected I took it all the time I was that way. I felt fine all the time and I never get those dizzy spells now. I hardly ever have a nervous headache any more. I have a perfect romp of a boy; he is the light of our home. I am now twenty years old and my baby is almost eight months old. I now feel well, and weigh 160 pounds, and the baby 23½ pounds. We feel very grateful for the good your medicine did for us. We are both healthy, thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicine."

ALMOST A SKELETON.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' has done so much for me," says Mrs. Susan Wenst, of Lawndale, Cleveland Co., N. C., "that I feel it my duty to write to you and tell you I think it saved my life. I had been under the treatment of two doctors—had two miscarriages. I was almost a skeleton, weighed only seventy pounds. A friend of mine recommended Dicktor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and when I commenced to take it my health began to improve greatly. In ten months I was a happy mother. I had only taken six bottles and have never taken any medicine since, of any kind, and now weigh 130 pounds. I am now awaiting the coming of another child in the best of health. I cannot say too much in praise of your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

OLD CRIES DIE HARD.

Many Things That Were Hawked About in Old London Town.

The protest against street noises in the metropolis is becoming so general and urgent that probably to the next generation of Londoners street cries will be matter of history.

To those of our forefathers afflicted with sensitive nerves London must have been a city of perpetual torture. "There is nothing which more astonishes a foreigner or frightens a country squire than the cries of London," wrote Addison in the Spectator. Those old London street vendors had musical ears and voices, however, unlike the modern street hawkers. But their number was appalling. Among the long list of cries were to be found the following:

New laid eggs, six a groat. Crack 'em and try 'em.

Any tripe, or neat's foot, or calf's foot, or trotters, ho! Heart, liver or lights.

Buy any wax or wafers, or fine writing ink.

Lily white vinegar.

Four pairs for a shilling, good Holland socks.

Any corns to pick.

Any work for the cooper.

Any wood to cleave.

Any hats or caps to dress.

New River Water.

Every household article seems to have been hawked about. There were venders of wheat, starch, toasting irons, candlesticks, shoes, garters, figs, tape, buttons, hat cases, cockles, herrings, mackerel, coal, etc. And then there was the watchman, who cried the time every half hour, from light to six o'clock in March, and for longer or shorter periods according to the season:

Maids in your smocks,
Look well to your locks,
Your fire, and your light;
And God give you good-night
At
One o'clock.

Mr. A. T. Dickens Defends His Father.

The London Chronicle has received a letter written by Mr. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, who has lived in Melbourne for many years. As the eldest surviving son of Charles Dickens, he strongly protests against a paragraph copied into the Commonwealth papers, from some London source, alleging that "Dickens, who never liked Thackeray, told a friend he could see nothing to admire in one of Thackeray's novels that was being serially published at the time." Mr. A. T. Dickens, "with every possible confidence," gives this statement a most emphatic contradiction. He recalls the fact that his father was the chief mourner at Thackeray's funeral in Kensal Green, and also wrote a biographical sketch of Thackeray in The Cornhill, of January, 1864, which "did full justice to the genius and merits of the author of 'Vanity Fair' and 'Pendennis.'" Mr. Dickens adds that many a time he has heard his father speak in glowing terms of Thackeray's wonderful versatility. "More than this, I can truthfully say that I never heard him make use of any unkind or indiscreet expression in regard to any author or authoress of his time."

Our Beautiful Language.

If we forget, then we've forgotten, but things we wet are never wotten, and houses let cannot be lotten.

The goods one sells are always sold, but fears dispelled are not dispold, nor what you smell is never smoled.

THE MOON AND THE MICE.

Curious Indian Legend Explaining the Waning of Luna.

A curious Indian legend was told to some people in Omaha by a full blooded Sioux who lives at Pine Ridge agency.

He said the belief was that every time a new moon appeared it was a signal for all the mice in the country to gather themselves together in one spot. When they assembled they then separated into four great armies. One army went to the north, another to the south, a third to the east and a fourth to the west. These armies of mice traveled until they reached the point where from the place of starting the heavens seemed to touch the earth. Then they climbed up the sky until they came to the moon, which by this time was what we call full.

All of the four armies then commenced nibbling at Luna, and when they had eaten her all up the mice would scamper back down the heavens to the earth and wait for her to show herself again, when the journey and the nibbling would be repeated by the mice, and this is what the Indians of early days believed was the cause of the moon growing old and finally disappearing.

Dropped the Subject.

"Five thousand dollars for a dog!" he exclaimed as he looked up from his newspaper. Do you believe any one ever paid any such price, Maria?"

"I'm sure I don't know, James," she returned without stopping her needlework even for a moment. "Does the paper say that much was paid?"

"Yes. There's an article on valuable dogs, and it speaks of one that was sold for $5,000. I don't believe it."

"It may be true, James," she said quietly. "Some of these well bred animals bring fancy prices, and there's no particular reason why the paper should lie about it."

"I know that, Maria. But just think of it! Just try to grasp the magnitude of that sum in your weak, feminine mind. You don't seem to realise it. Five thousand dollars for a dog! Why, hang it, Maria, that's more than I'm worth!"

"I know it, James, but some are worth more than others."

She went calmly on with her sewing, while he fumed and spluttered for a moment and then dropped the subject, especially the weak, feminine mind part of it.—Exchange.

Cafes in the Hungarian Capital.

The trees and the cafes in Pest are Parisian, only there are more trees and more cafes, and in Pest the cafes do not have a crowded existence. There is never the impression of a few tables and a few chairs forced into a narrow space. It seems as if, when the city was laid out and when the buildings were erected, special providence had been made for tables and shrubbery in front of them in the same way that space is calculated for gardens and fountains and lakes in laying out an exposition ground. If old Paris was all on a hill on one side of the Seine and new Paris had been built since 1800 and the Parisian had the free life of the gypsy in his heart and the Russian's fondness for room whether outdoors or in and art and architecture had flourished in Hungary for centuries, there might be some reason for that comparison which frequently occurs to the hurrying tourist.—Frederick Palmer in Scribner's.

WHEN DAVID CAME

By HARRIET G. CANFIELD

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Elm Dale was the scene of joyful preparation, for Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Hammond were soon to celebrate their golden wedding. From far and near their children and grandchildren were coming to the old country home under the great elms.

All of the neighbors were interested in the coming event, and a number of them were pledged "to help out on chairs and china." Patience Saybin, familiarly known as "Patty," and her brother lived only a mile from Elm Dale, but they had not been asked to contribute, and Patty felt slighted.

"I've offered to lend them everything on the place, even you, John," she said to her brother, "but Mrs. Hammond says they have all the arrangements made. I did want a finger in the pie."

John laughed. "Never mind, little girl," he said consolingly. "Mr. Hammond says they may ask us to 'sleep' one or two if the old house won't hold them all."

The day before the celebration Mrs. Hammond drove over in the morning to see Patty. "I thought we could stow 'em all away," she said, with a smile, "but I was thinking Mary had four children 'stead of five. I don't see how I came to forget little David when I counted noses. I've been wondering, dear, if you'd let him sleep here—either him or one of the others?"

"Oh, yes!" Patty cried delightedly. "I should love to, Mrs. Hammond."

The old lady smiled. "I brought his picture along," she said, "so you could see what a dear little fellow he was."

Patty bent eagerly over the photograph. A pleasant little face smiled at her from the cardboard—the round, dimpled face of a five-year-old. "He's a perfect cherub!" she cried.

"I'm expecting most of my children this evening, and if his folks come I'll send him over before bedtime."

The dear old lady forgot to tell Patty that the picture of David was taken twenty-three years before.

All that day Patty was very busy preparing "little David's room." An old high chair and trundle bed were brought down from the attic and dusted. Lizzie, the good natured girl in the kitchen, made some little round cakes, and Patty frosted them and put a pink "D" on the top of two or three. When evening came everything was in readiness for the expected guest. The tin waiter and tiny knife, fork and plate were on the dining room table, and the little rocker held out its welcoming arms in the sitting room. An old rocking horse that had been John's long ago, waited patiently for its gallant rider, and a little woolly dog stood on three legs with an air of expectation.

The day had been a long one to Patty. At 7 o'clock she was rearranging the furniture in little David's room when the doorbell rang. She went to the head of the stairs and called to Lizzie.

"Hurry, Lizzie!" she cried. "They've brought little David over. Take him into the sitting room and amuse him. I'll be down in a few minutes." She flitted back to her work and did not hear Lizzie's exclamation of astonishment when she opened the door and saw a big, broad shouldered man standing there. Probably he had overheard Patty's instructions to the girl, for his eyes were full of laughter, though he said soberly enough: "Good evening. I am David Terrell. Miss Saybin was expecting me, I believe?"

"Y-y-yes, sir," Lizzie stammered, "but she wasn't expectin' quite"— She paused in embarrassment.

"Quite as much of me?" he asked laughingly.

Lizzie giggled and led the way to the sitting room. The little chair held out its welcoming arms in vain to this guest. David Terrell's eyes rested at once upon the rocking horse and woolly dog, and his expression momentarily grew more cheerful.

"Were these—ahem—these preparations made in my honor?" he asked Lizzie. But before the girl could answer a sweet voice came from the upper landing, "Are you amusing him, Lizzie?" Lizzie giggled hysterically.

"Tell her you are," the young man whispered.

"Yes'm," she called in muffled tones from behind her apron.

"Show him the picture books," the voice went on, "and if the little fellow is tired take him up in your lap."

Lizzie stepped into the lower hall and turned her laughing face up to her mistress. "Please, ma'am, I can't," she said. "I'd hate to try."

"I'm ashamed of you!" the indignant reply came. "I'll come right down and take him myself."

Lizzie fled to the kitchen, and there was the quick click of heels on the stairs. Then David Terrell saw a pretty picture framed in the wide doorway. Miss Patty stood there, with surprise and disappointment plainly written on her expressive face.

"Where—where is"— she began in a bewildered way.

David came forward. "I don't know where he is," he said. "If I did I'd get him for you, Miss Saybin."

"You?" she asked.

"Yes. I'm little David's successor. Will you forgive me for growing older and larger, Miss Saybin?"

For a moment the sensitive mouth quivered. She had anticipated so much. Then she held out her hand and said, with a smile, "I suppose you can't help it, but you don't look much like your picture."

"Oh, that's it! Grandmother showed you that small boy photo, did she?"

Patty nodded and smiled again. After all, this David had pleasant eyes, quite like the little fellow's. "I am glad that you came," she said hospitably. "My brother and I are often lonely, and John will be delighted to entertain some one of his own age. I hear him coming now." And she rose and went to the door to meet him. "John," David heard her say, "Mr. Terrell is here."

"Mr. Terrell?" the answer came. "And who is he, Patty?"

"Hush! He'll hear us. It is little David. Don't laugh so loud, John!" She slapped her hand into his and led him to the sitting room, and in a few minutes the three young people were on the short road to friendship.

Late in the evening they adjourned to the dining room for a little lunch. Patty had forgotten the high chair and its accompaniments, and it was with a feeling of dismay that she saw their visitor's eyes traveling in that direction.

"Are these things for my use?" he asked laughingly.

"What things?" Patty said innocently.

"This high chair, tin tray and so on."

"Oh," she said, with a guilty glance at John, "those belong to my brother."

John stared at her in amazement. His face grew crimson with suppressed mirth when Mr. Terrell said, "How old is your little brother?"

"Twenty-seven," Patty answered demurely, and John exploded with laughter. "No good pretending, Patty," he cried. "Better show him all of my old possessions, including the trundle bed, but we'll not ask him to occupy it."

The morning of the golden wedding dawned clear and bright. It was a day filled with happiness for all who gathered at the old home. At 10 that night David Terrell gave John and Patty full account of "the gathering of the clans," as he called it. In conclusion he said, "I shall have to ask you to keep me another night, but after that there will be room for me at Elm Dale."

"I thought you said you must go tomorrow," John exclaimed.

"Yes; that's so, but since then"—and he glanced quickly at Patty—"I've made other arrangements. My brother and I are partners, and Jim is willing that I should have my summer vacation now."

"Oh," Patty cried, "I'm so glad! Aren't you, John?"

"Yes," he said heartily, but this sudden change of plans made him suspicious.

David made good use of those four weeks. His grandmother laughingly accused him of spending half of his vacation with the Saybins.

The last day came, and David walked over for a farewell visit. He found Patty alone on the vine shaded porch. John was away on business, she explained. "Never mind," David said cheerfully. "It is you I wish to see." Her clear eyes were raised to his inquiringly.

"Will you keep your word," he said gently, "and take me?"

"My word!" she murmured wonderingly.

"Yes. Before I saw you I heard you tell Lizzie that you were coming downstairs and you would take me yourself." There was a mischievous light in his eyes now.

Patty's face flushed. "You know I didn't mean"— she began.

He interrupted her anxiously. "But you will take me, dear, on trial for the sake of little David?"

She smiled into the honest eyes, so like those of the child in the picture. "Yes," she said, "for the sake of little David's successor."

A CANADIAN CHRISTMAS POEM.

Across the outland Christmas night,
The echoing darkness and the cold,
I see the City crowned with light
And every window touched with gold.

Their new gods come, their old depart,
Their strange creeds into dust have died—
Yet He must live, O troubled heart,
Who gave to men this Christmas tide!

He dies not, for still clear His star
On such a night stands forth since we Remember now the Christ we are,
And watch, the man that He would be!

And through the dubious outland night,
Across the gloom, alone, forlorn,
I see glad homes re-crowned with light,
And each light swings His star re-born!

—Arthur Stringer.

Pulse Beats.

The rate of the pulse in males at different ages is as follows: At birth, 136 beats per minute; at 5 years, 83 beats per minute; between 10-15 years, 78 beats per minute; between 15-20 years, 60.5 beats per minute; between 20-25 years, 60.7 beats per minute; between 25-30 years, 71 beats per minute; between 30-50 years, 70 beats per minute.

In females the rate is from 1 to 4.5 beats faster per minute.

Slow walking raises the pulse from 10 to 20 beats, while rapid running may raise it to 140. This rise may last from half an hour to an hour.

Eating raises the pulse from 8 to 20 beats; without wine, 13.1; with wine, 17.5. In the morning the pulse is 10 beats higher than at night. When the barometer rises 5 inches the pulse increases 1.3 per minute. If the pulse be 66.6 while lying down it will be 79 when sitting and 78.9 when standing.

Ancient Tribe in Panama.

In Panama reside the Talamancans, a tribe of Indians ruled by a king who have not changed their habits since the days of Columbus. The Talamancan's hut, which is a masterpiece in the art of thatching, is a huge affair and shelters his entire family and all his worldly possessions, including the domestic animals. As he is a past master in the art of domesticating the wild deer, the peccary, the tapir and even the tiger cat, numbers of these animals are present in every village. His bed consists of the trunk of a certain species of palm cut into strips and supported three or four feet from the ground on a frame. A few earthen pots complete the furnishings of his house.

Balzac's Impecuniosity.

Of Balzac it is stated that whenever he was hard at work he went to roost "like the fowls," as he himself put it, at 7 in the evening. He was called at 1 in the morning and wrote till 8; then took another hour and a half of sleep; then after a light meal went to work again until 4 in the afternoon; then he took a bath, saw a few friends, took perhaps a short walk and immediately after dinner went off to bed.

"I shall be compelled," he wrote, "to lead this nigger's life for a few months without stopping in order not to be swamped by those terrible bills that are due." And yet he was always hard up for money.

The Composition of a Rocket.

The ordinary skyrocket is made of various compositions packed in tubes rolled tightly round a cylindrical core. The match by which the rocket is exploded is placed in a cavity at the bottom. The movement of the rocket would be irregular if it were not for the guide stick, which is made very light, so that it does not retard the flight of the rocket when the gases come out and hit the ground with all their might and send the rocket up into the air for all that it is worth.

Oddities About Alphabets.

When the Portuguese first explored Brazil they made great fun of the natives of that country because they had in their alphabet no f, r or l, a people, the invaders declared, without fe, ley or rey—without faith, law or king. The Mohawks, again, have no labials and vowed it was absurd when the missionaries tried to teach them to pronounce p and b, "for who," said they, "can speak with his mouth shut?"—Blackwood's Magazine.

Too Considerate.

Mistress (returning from holiday)—Why, Bridget, whatever has become of the parrot?

Bridget—Well, you see, mum, after you left it looked a bit pining like and didn't talk much, so the cook and I put it out of its misery, poor thing, and I had it stuffed for my new 'at.—Judy.

Cynical.

"I think it's absurd to say kissing is dangerous," gushed Miss Rosebud. "What possible disease could be spread by kissing?"

"Marriage, madam," grunted Grumpy.

THE GOOSE TOWER.

Wherein King Valdemar Clapped the Disrespectful Delegates.

In the early years of the fourteenth century the "free cities"—Hamburg, Lubeck and Bremen—sent a delegation of seventy-seven members to King Valdemar to demand increased rights and privileges in their trade with Denmark. The delegates were not very respectful in their language and demeanor, and the king, who was at Vordingborg, told them they acted like a drove of geese and clapped them into prison in the tower, telling them they would stay there until they learned better manners. Over the heavy tower door the king put up a stone with the inscription:

Sieben und siebenteg Hause:
Sieben und siebenteg Ganse;
Ware nicht so viele Hause
Hat ich auch nicht so viele Ganse.

Translated this reads: "Seventy-seven houses and seventy-seven geese. If there were not so many houses I would not have so many geese."

On top of the tower, which still stands solid and strong, was placed a big gilt goose, with neck outstretched as if it were hissing.

Willing to Be Honest.

Phil May, the great English artist, earned his first fame in Australia. One day a broken down minister applied to him for charity, and May engaged him as a model. As a joke he also demanded that his eighty-year-old pensioner agree to leave him his skeleton when he died. When May left Australia he called his model in. "You've played me a dirty trick," said May, "by swindling me out of that skeleton. I could have bought one in sound order and condition for half the money you've cost me." The old fellow, conscious of his base ingratitude to his best and most patient friend, answered: "Don't be angry with me, Mr. May. It's not my fault. I meant to keep my word. Stay in Sydney a few months longer and give me another chance to show you that I am a man of honor."

Book Themes.

Since the introduction of printing the subject matter of the aggregate of books shows approximately the following averages: Law and sociology, one-quarter of all; literature, one-fifth; applied science, one-eighth; history and geography, one-tenth; theology, religion and speculation, one-tenth; miscellaneous and bibliography, one-tenth; philology and languages, one-twentieth; natural sciences, art and philosophy shading off into small fractions and poetry not appearing in the classification.

Not Like a Watch.

"Do you know," he went on glibly after the parlor clock had struck 11, "do you know that a man is like a watch because he is known by his works?"

"I know he is not like a watch," she remarked, with a yawn, "for when he is wound up he doesn't seem to go."

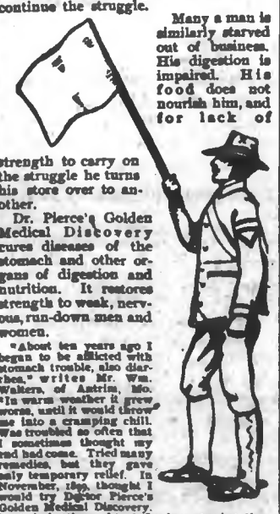
STARVED OUT.

Many a garrison has been forced to give up the fight and hang out the white flag of surrender, when lack of food has weakened the men past all power to continue the struggle.



Many a man is similarly starved out of business. His digestion is impaired. His food does not nourish him, and for lack of strength to carry on the struggle he turns his store over to another.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores strength to weak, nervous, run-down men and women.

"About ten years ago I began to be afflicted with stomach trouble, also diarrhea," writes Mr. Wm. Walters, of Astrim, Mo. "In warm weather it grew worse, until it would throw me into a cramping chill. Was troubled so often that I sometimes thought my end had come. Tried many remedies, but they gave only temporary relief. In November, 1895, thought I would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I got six bottles and took five in succession, then thought I would wait for a time and take the one left. Soon found I had symptoms of the trouble coming back, so took the sixth bottle and it cured me. I have enjoyed the best of health this summer, and the credit all belongs to your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I can't express my many thanks to Dr. Pierce for his remedy, for it did so much for me. Words cannot express how severely I suffered.

"If any doubt the above statement let them address me, and I will take great pleasure in answering."

There is no specific for consumption. The nearest approach to a cure is right living and Scott's Emulsion. No matter what the treatment may be Scott's Emulsion will prove a valuable addition. It has often turned the scale of health the right way. Because Scott's Emulsion contains the pure cod liver oil it furnishes heat and fat. The hypophosphites provide tissue-food, blood-food and marrow-food. The combination of the two represents a wonderful form of nourishment and one that can be readily taken and retained at any stage of the disease. Scott's Emulsion gives best results when used most regularly. Made a part of the consumptive's regular diet it will invariably afford relief. Occasional use of Scott's Emulsion is a test unfair to the Emulsion and the patient.

Henry Clewes' Weekly Market Letter, dated January 23rd, says:

A strong undertone prevails on the stock market and under clique manipulation further advances have been scored. The conditions most favourable to an upward movement have been better peace prospects between Russia and Japan, and easier tendency of money.

Fortunately Russia has moderated her aggressive attitude, owing to the bold attitude of Japan and the growing sympathy among all the great powers for the Japanese cause. It is still premature, however, to assume confidently that war will be averted. Diplomacy can accomplish much; but it will be a very difficult matter for Russia to yield gracefully after having gone to such extremes. No real settlement can be effected which does not wipe out all Russia's claims of authority in Manchuria, where she is nothing but a trespasser. Should Russia yield that much without a struggle it will be for the good and advancement of the whole world, and humanity will be under obligations to the Czar, whose humane purposes are unquestionably genuine whatever may be the ambitions of his advisers. No doubt Russia's inability to find friends is her chief cause of hesitancy, and not fear of Japan. Russia is in no position financially or industrially to undertake an expensive war; and the difficulty that she would incur in raising funds is another serious obstacle to her designs. France, Russia's only friend, has shown that she cannot be depended upon for assistance; and the fact that war would probably cause a sharp decline in Russian bonds in Paris, where they are largely held, makes the successful placing of a new issue somewhat problematical. War, however, is still a possibility, later, if not now, for Russia possesses strange persistency of purpose, and is exceedingly unlikely to give up what her statesmen believe in as her destiny.

OUR ONWARD MARCH OF PROSPERITY.

Another Manufacturing Concern Who Wishes to Locate in Peterborough.

On Saturday morning Mayor G. M. Roger received a letter from the inventor of a medical specialty of great merit, according to the communication, in which it was asked what Peterborough would offer for its location here. To give an idea of the magnitude of the business done the following is taken from the communication: "Commencing business in March, 1892, with a borrowed capital of $1,000, and one person, (that person being myself), its cash receipts from sales for the year of 1901, that being the last year that I had access to the books was $38,453.04. It had at that time, 56,781 agents throughout the country selling the specialty. Its net assets December 31st, 1900, was $41,150.58. At the present time it employs 100 people, and report says it is clearing profits of $60,000 annually.....For room we require at present a space of about 1200 square feet divided up into one large and two smaller rooms, and connected with or adjoining a plant using steam that would furnish us with three horse power of steam." Continuing the letter volunteers to supply references of the writer's moral and financial standing in the business world, and in concluding asks His Worship what inducements Peterborough would offer?

THE CHURCHES.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The pastor preached at both services yesterday, his subject in the evening being "The Bible." The choir gave an excellent musical service, the morning anthem being, "Christian, the Morn Breaks Softly O'er Thee," Miss Bessie Sperry taking a soprano solo. In the evening the anthem was "Rock of Ages," and after the lesson "Hosanna" was rendered, Mr. A. L. Davis taking the tenor solo.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

The services continue full of interest and profit. Large congregations gathered yesterday at the morning and evening service. Nine believers followed their Lord in baptism. At the afternoon session in the Sunday school the services were unique. The teachers in various parts of the church prayed aloud in the midst of their classes. The children who have professed conversion rose all over the school one after another and gave their testimony. It was a most enjoyable day from start to finish at night, and many took their standing on the Lord's side.—Com.

HOW MANITOBANS SUPPORT THE GOSPEL.

An Experience of a Peterborough Man in the West.

A representative of a local wholesale firm was recently travelling through Manitoba, and, happening to be in Stonewall over Sunday, went to church, as was his usual custom. He discovered that the Manitoba people are anxious to give to the support of the Gospel, moreover, that they have a very clear idea of just how much they want to give. The man sitting next to the above-mentioned Peterborough man, when the collection plate was being passed, placed a quarter on it and took off four five cent pieces.

THE OLD-FASHIONED WINTER.

(Belleville Intelligencer)

Oh! Dear to my heart is the old-fashioned winter,
(I don't think.)
With the mercury plunging to twenty below
(more or less.)
With the frost on the pane and the coal bin near empty
(see the bottom.)
And your poor back near broken with shovelling snow.
(And some people don't shovel a bit.)

Oh! What should we do to these false weather prophets
(Soak 'em!)
Who said a mild winter we would have, you know?
(Pull their whiskers!)
We'll lay them away in that place on Dundas street
(the burying ground)
And cover them over with ten feet of snow.

CHORUS: (with chattering teeth)
The old-fashioned winter,
The mild, open winter (!)
With the landscape all buried 'neath three feet of snow.

FRONT TOWNS MAY GET THE RAILWAY.

Applications for Two Charters to Give Towns Along G.T.R. Another Railway.

A Proposed Short Line from Toronto to Ottawa—Would Pass Through Peterborough County.

Saturday's issue of the Canada Gazette gives evidence of the renewal of the activity of the railway promoters in view of the approach of the sitting of Parliament. Two of the applications for railway charters seem to foreshadow plans for a short cut between Toronto and Ottawa, of which there has been much talk for years. Chrysler & Bethune of Ottawa, solicitors for the Canada Atlantic, give notice of application for a charter for the Central Ontario Counties Railway, with power to construct from Ivanhoe, in the County of Hastings on the Canadian Pacific, through the Township of Rawdon, Hastings County; the Townships of Seymour, Percy, Cramahe, Haldimand and Hamilton, in the County of Northumberland; the Townships of Hope, Clark and Darlington, in the County of Durham; the Townships of Whitby and Pickering, in the County of Ontario, and the Township of Scarboro' in the County of York, to Agincourt on the Canadian Pacific.

An application for a charter for a railway apparently over a similar route is made in the name of A. B. Colville, Campbellford. This calls for power to construct a road from a point on the Canadian Pacific between Blairton and Ivanhoe, thence southwesterly through the Counties of Hastings, Peterborough and Northumberland to Cobourg, and thence easterly and northwesterly through the Counties of Northumberland, Durham, Ontario and York to a point on the Canadian Pacific between Locust Hill and Leaside Junction. The name of the line is to be the Campbellford, Ontario and Western.

It is to be observed that this route would run practically in a bee line from Ottawa to Cobourg, and Cobourg has been frequently mentioned as the point whence the Grand Trunk should strike in for Ottawa. The construction of either of these lines and the running of through trains, if that were possible, would decrease the distance between the Dominion and Provincial capitals by several hours.

OLD RESIDENT OF CAVAN IS DEAD.

Mr. Thomas H. Richardson, a Life Resident, Deceased.

One of the pioneers of Cavan Township, died at Bethany on Tuesday January 19th, after a five weeks' illness from la grippe. Mr. Thomas H. NARROWLY ESCAPED THE CHICAGO FIRE.

Peterborough Lady Was Going but Postponed the Engagement

Until the Following Day—Miss Maggie Hennessey Graphically Tells of What She Saw and What Occurred.

The awful particulars of the appalling Chicago Theatre fire are only too fresh in the minds of the public from the vivid reports published in the newspapers at the time of the catastrophe. A few days ago the Examiner published a letter from a former reporter on this sheet, and today Miss Maggie Hennessey, of Ashburnham, who was visiting her aunt, Mrs .Crowley, at Chicago, at the time of the fire, but who has now returned, was seen and a graphic description given. The fire broke out at 3.30 o'clock at a matinee performance of Mr. Bluebeard at the Iroquois theatre on Wednesday, December 29th. The actors and actresses were singing "In the Pale Moonlight," for which song the body of the theatre had been plunged into darkness and the stage illuminated so as to represent a moonlight scene. Suddenly the flimsy curtains became ignited and immediately burst out into a sheet of flame, which, licking the scenery, became in the course of a few seconds, only a perilous mass of fire. The crowd immediately jumped to their feet and the cries of one of the actors for them to remain seated were not heard amidst the thudding of feet and exclamations of terror which rung from wall to wall. Suddenly the asbestos curtain was lowered, but it had not only half way down when it stuck and could not be moved either upwards or downwards. This caused a strong draught and in a few minutes the fire had got complete mastery of the building. The noise was intense. People all over the theatre rushed to the exits but found all except the main entrance to be barred. It was then, when a roaring sheet of flame behind and locked doors in front, that the audience got terrified and completely lost their heads. There was a headlong rush of a maddened audience for the exits and all fought to escape. The remaining details of how 600 persons were burned to death are only too clearly remembered. Miss Hennessey visited the scene about 6 o'clock at which hour the flames had been practically extinguished. She saw them bringing out the dead mutilated bodies of the victims as well as those of the victims whose agonizing screams continually cleft the air, and were heard ever above the hoarse murmurings of a heart stricken crowd which had immediately assembled and many of whose relatives had perished in the doomed theatre. Miss Hennessey had intended to be present at the performance but the visit to the theatre was fortunately postponed until the next day, and thus her life was saved. All Wednesday evening was filled up by taking bodies to the nearest places for the time being, and the police and firemen were nobly assisted by nurses, sisters of charity, clergymen and priests. Miss Hennessey told of one lady of her acquaintance who took her four children to the performance. She, herself, escaped but was heartbroken at the death of her four children, one of whom was never identified. There were only three bodies out of the many hundreds which were mutilated absolutely beyond recognition and these were buried by the city council. Among the victims were 38 school teachers, one being Mrs. Holmes, of Chicago, who taught Miss Hennessey five years ago.

On the following day, Thursday, hundreds, in a long line, waited outside the various morgues to be permitted to claim their relatives who had been victims of the awful fire. On that day and the next the streets were crowded with funeral processions, in fact it all seemed to be one long funeral procession. Many bodies, owing to the fact that all the hearses were taken, were conveyed to the burial grounds in the street cars. At the present time all the theatres are closed for investigation while many of the schools, churches and even hospitals have been condemned and ordered to close their doors. This is the well-known story which will always be remembered on this continent as one of the most dreadful occurrences of the era, which Miss Hennessey so graphically describes. It is one of grief and one cannot help shuddering at the very thought of 600 persons cooped up in a burning building with nothing but certain death ahead of them.

100 ALREADY DEAD

Explosion in the Harwick Coal Mine at Cheswick, Pa.

190 MINERS WERE ENTOMBED

Great Delay Occasioned in Work of Rescue Owing to Cages Having Been Blown Up—Only One Man So Far Rescued, But It Is Thought 75 More Are Yet Alive.

Pittsburg, Jan. 26.—From all that could be gathered at a late hour last night, between 100 and 130 men are lying dead in the headings and passageways of the Harwick mine of the Allegheny Coal Company at Cheswick, the result of a terrific explosion yesterday. There are 190 men entombed, but at 12.45 75 of them had been located and most of them are considered alive.

Cage after cage has gone down into the mine and come up again, but only one miner of all those who went to work in the morning was brought to the surface. The man rescued is Adolph Gunia, and he is still in a semi-conscious condition at the temporary hospital in the rude schoolhouse above the mine.

The explosion occurred about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The first warning was the sudden rumble. A sheet of flame then rose from the deep shaft.

Hurled Through the Tipple.

Both mine cages were hurled through the tipple, 20 feet above the landing stage, and the three men in the tipple were hurled to the ground. A mule was thrown high above the shaft and fell dead on the ground.

The injured men in the tipple were brought at once to this city, where Henry Mayhew, a check weighman, and Geo. Wolton, a tipple man, died. The rumble of the explosion and the crash at the pit mouth startled the little village and the wives and children of the men below rushed to the scene of the disaster, but found little encouragement. There was no way to get into the deep workings. The cages that let the men into the mines and brought them out again when the day's work was done were demolished. All day long there was a jam of waiting women and children about the mouth of the pit.

Rescue Began in Afternoon.

There were calls for assistance and for surgical aid from the men in charge of the mine, but it was not until 4 o'clock in the afternoon that the first attempt at rescue was made. This was a failure, as the two men who volunteered to go down were driven back by the foul air.

Shortly after 5 o'clock Selwyn Taylor, a mine expert, and one of his assistants, signalled for the engineer to lower them into the shaft. Taylor is still down there and alive. Three times efforts have been made to reach him, but so far without avail.

F. W. Cunningham, the mine inspector of the 14th district, reached Harwick last night. He said: "The mine where the explosion took place was inspected, I think, about the first of December. There was some gas in there then, but I never considered the mine dangerous."

Light in Every Cottage.

H. F. Hutchinson, who gave out the lamps to the miners before they went to work in the pit yesterday morning, said: "At 7.10 o'clock I had given out between 180 and 190 lamps."

There is a light in every cottage in the little hamlet above the pit mouth. There was still a crowd about the mouth of the pit late last night, but it will probably be hours before the full extent of the catastrophe is known.

SHOWS CALLED OFF.

Roof of Fat Stock Building Comes Down and Hurts Three.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The new fat stock building in course of construction at the Exhibition grounds collapsed yesterday morning, owing to the heavy accumulation of snow on the roof.

Three men were injured, Contractor Lackey, Joseph Delorme, carpenter, of Hull, and John Hill, carpenter, of Ottawa. Hill is the most seriously hurt. His injuries are internal and it is feared that he may not recover. About $20,000 had been spent on the building by the city.

The Dominion Live Stock Commissioner states that owing to the accident the fat stock show and sale, the horse show and the convention of live stock men, which were to have been held here in March, will be called off.

Dead Man Identified.

London, Jan. 26.—The identification of the man killed on the C. P.R. at O'Brien's Crossing on Sunday evening was not established until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the body being identified by a brother-in-law as Charles Temple. The deceased was a farmer, but had been employed at Carling's Brewery. He left here about 5 o'clock Sunday night to go to his home. He was 25 years of age and leaves a widow and two children.

BEST COLONIAL POLICY.

British Liberals Have an Interesting Debate on the Subject—The Various Plans Mooted.

London, Jan. 26.—There was an interesting debate last night at the National Liberal Club upon the position of the Liberal party and colonial policy. Lord Carrington was in the chair.

The Right Hon. Richard B. Haldane, K.C., M.P., declared that fiscal union would mean disunion. Imperial Federation was like thrusting a ramrod into a delicate piece of machinery. Unless each component part retained complete freedom the Empire would not last ten years. As links in the Empire he suggested the temporary enlargement of the Imperial Cabinet by the addition of colonial advisers, the more frequent summoning of the Committee on Imperial Defence and the transformation of the House of Lords into a grand Imperial chamber for the discussion of Imperial questions, where the agents-general of the various colonies could sit and the colonies bring forward their difficulties.

F. A. Channing, M.P., believed the best colonial policy lay in the absolute freedom of every unit.

Mr. Hawksley, solicitor for the late Cecil Rhodes' estate, argued that before the House of Lords could become an Imperial chamber, it needed amendment, which was an impossibility unless backed by the country. Proposals for an enlarged Cabinet were of no value unless carried by the House of Commons.

J. Samuel, M.P., said the day was far distant when a member for Montreal would sit side by side with the member for Paddington. The real links of the Empire were an Imperial law tribunal and the Committee on Imperial Defence. Colonial sentiment avoided the fetid atmosphere of the House of Lords. The colonials fighting in South Africa themselves outnumbered the Boers and Australia was able to throw 100,000 men into India in the time of need.

Cause of Clallam Disaster.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 26.—Chief Engineer Scott A. Delaunay of the lost steamer Clallam gave evidence before the coroner's inquest that the disaster to the steamer, which involved such loss of life, was due to the broken dead-light, which had been broken at least three months. Had the rudder been in good condition Captain Roberts would have been able to get the steamer around to the wind, and the broken dead-light then brought into such a position as it could have been blocked.

MR. C. E. ROMAINE DIED IN TORONTO.

Grandfather of Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot Died at 88 years of Age.

Yesterday's issue of the Globe contained notice of the death of Mr. Charles Edward Romaine, grandfather of Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, of Peterborough:—

"Mr. Charles Edward Romaine, one of the best known figures among the older generation in Toronto, passed away early Saturday morning in the 83rd year of his life. Up to the death of his wife two years ago he enjoyed good health but after that sad event he lost much of his interest in public matters, and latterly failed rapidly.

"He was born at Fort Levis, opposite Quebec, of Italian parentage, and came to Toronto when a young man. Taking an interest in municipal matters he was elected councillor in 1852 and 1853 and alderman in 1854 and 1855 for St. James' ward. In politics he was a strong Liberal, and in 1858 he was a candidate against the late Hon. G. W. Allan to represent Toronto district in the Legislative Council but was defeated. It is an interesting circumstance that Wm. Lyon Mackenzie, who had come back from exile, turned in and helped the Conservatives.

"He was appointed a few years later to the position of inspector of the Inland Revenue Department, but was superannuated about 25 years ago, and afterwards held a clerkship in the Assessment Commissioner's office. He built the first four-story building in Toronto in King street west, Nos. 83 to 93, known as the Romaine building. He left two daughters — Mrs. Chisholm, of Guelph, and Miss Romaine — who were present when he died, and Mr. Harry Romaine, now living in Toronto. Mr. Romaine bore a striking resemblance to the late Sir John Macdonald, which frequently led to mistakes to the amusement of Mr. Romaine himself."

BURNS' BIRTHDAY WAS RECOGNIZED

At St. Andrew's Church Last Night—Moving Pictures Enjoyed.

The anniversary of Burns' birthday was celebrated at St. Andrew's church yesterday by an entertainment given under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large audience was present and a pleasant and profitable evening was spent in an appropriate, Scotch manner. The main attraction on the program was a number of limelight views, illustrating a short story entitled "In His Steps," which were given by Mr. J. B. Carnegie, of Toronto. Interwoven with the story was "The Holy City," which was sung by Miss Bryce, of Keene. The next item on the programme was a solo by Miss Boyce, "Robbie Burns," which was heartily applauded and, in fact, encored, the singer replying. Mr. Gilbert Scott next sang "Scots, Wha Ha'e," and was encored. The "Blue Bells of Scotland," sung by Miss Bryce, was also encored. Next followed a number of animatograph pictures by Mr. Carnegie. He showed: the coronation of King Edward VII, soldiers going on board a warship; Lord Roberts' returning from the front; passing a warship; moving trains; British entry into Kronstadt; a battleship firing a salute; ex-President Kruger; Gordon Highlanders on the march; Gen. French's scouts; a squadron of rough riders; in a laundry; a fire in New York; the war in the Philippines; on board a warship at Santiago; high diving; a baby show; Negroes eating watermelons and "Time to Get up." The pictures throughout were most amusing and were heartily appreciated and uproariously received by the younger members of the audience.

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls, Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries.

Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality,—often it is never recovered. Miss Pratt says, —

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely rundown, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness." — MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

THE NUMBERED BALLOT.

Those who are so alarmed at the outcome of the very partial investigation of the voting on New Year's Day in Toronto as to fear that voting by ballot is a failure, and those whose only feeling is an intense desire to see a mass of wickedness cleared up for the sake of future elections, should have their attention directed to the utility of the numbered ballot, says the Globe. Under the election law of Great Britain the ballot is printed with the same number on the ballot and the stub, so that in the case of a scrutiny it is possible to ascertain, with respect to any particular ballot, who marked it.

It is obvious that, while this device cannot prevent all forms of wrongdoing—personation, for example — it makes some forms of fraud very dangerous to the perpetrator. In the case of ballots open to the suspicion of having been altered after they are put in the ballot-box it becomes possible to get the testimony of the voters as to how they actually marked them. It is worth while, in the light of what has already taken place in the way of revelation, to consider whether it would not be expedient to substitute by immediate enactment the numbered ballot for the one at present in use. There is plenty of time to secure during the pending session the necessary amendment of the municipal election law.

Persistent efforts to create a prejudice against the numbered ballot have been made for years past by the Conservative Opposition in this Province. A great deal has been said in favour of the ballot used in the Dominion elections, the stub of which is without any mark to identify it with the ballot torn from it. The British numbered ballot has been in use in this Province since the introduction of this method of voting thirty years ago. It was the choice of the late Attorney-General Mowat, and time has fully justified his preference. It served a useful purpose at more than one scrutiny in the early history of contested elections, and, though resort to it has seldom been had in recent years on account of the expense, it has been allowed to remain in the statute as a safeguard. It would be quite appropriate on all grounds that the municipal ballot should be assimilated to the Provincial one, so that it might serve as a deterrent at future elections.

NORTH OXFORD AND ELECTORAL PURITY.

The public observes the Ottawa Free Press, will be greatly interested to observe what effect the decision of the Liberals to keep the control of the campaign in North Oxford in the hands of the candidates and local organization has upon the result of the contest.

The Conservatives have introduced into the riding all the most obnoxious features of the party machine. It is a matter of common belief that in the majority of cases where corruption is practised in a riding the responsibility lies with the elements that are imported into the riding; and yet it is considered to be a hazardous thing to fight the campaign without professional assistance.

Lieut.-Col. Munro and the Liberals of North Oxford have faith in themselves and in their ability to carry the election without the help of paid outsiders. Should they succeed, it will be a splendid object lesson in politics, for it cannot be doubted that other constituencies will be encouraged to follow the North Oxford plan.

Should it be demonstrated that men with their record of Messrs. Birmingham and Wright, the Conservative organizers, are able to accomplish what Col. Munro fails to do by making a straightforward appeal to his fellow-electors, it will go far to prove that the professional element is indeed indispensable.

One thing at least will be clear—that persons who profess abhorrence of political corruption and who yet register their votes in favour of the candidate who is championed by Messrs. Birmingham and Wright, are insincere in their professions and hypocritical in their methods.

Col. Munro is a man of high character and ability; he is well known and popular throughout the riding. He is a man who can make the test of a principle which cannot fail to commend itself to right-thinking men, under conditions as favourable as could be looked for anywhere. Should he be unsuccessful, a severe blow will have been struck to the cause of electoral reform.

Reference was made in these columns during the North Renfrew contest to the practices with which Mr. Birmingham's name has been associated. The election courts of the province told the story of his work during the early nineties. For a time he was so utterly discredited that his services were not called into requisition by his party; but he is now back at his old work.

The electors of North Oxford are not likely to have forgotten his achievements, and from his presence in the constituency a pretty obvious inference may be drawn as to the sincerity of the desire which is put forward with much vigour and plausibility in the Conservative and so-called Independent press for electoral reform and political purity.

The issue will be confused by the introduction of other factors, but this fact should not be lost sight of—that the Liberals are fighting for a principle that makes for the elevation of provincial politics. The electors are being asked to condemn the Government on the strength of Mr. Gamey's story and the conduct of Mr. Jackson of Ingersoll in the South Oxford election in the matter of the alleged purchase of evidence to prove corruption on the part of the Conservatives; but here they have before them the fact that the Liberal party is fighting with clean hands, while their opponents are using instruments that are besmeared with electoral filth.

The Government's administrative record is unassailable. Not a word of convincing criticism has been advanced against it. What North Oxford has to say upon it will have a significance that cannot fail to be understood.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

Conservatives, who are still given to trusting the statements of the organs of the party are to meet with another disappointment. For some time the subsidized organs opposing the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway scheme have been spreading the idea that the eastern section of the proposed line would not be built, the Government having been forced to abandon that part of the scheme. wish was father of the thought. The Opposition would welcome anything that appeared to be likely to cripple or minimize the great undertaking, the abandonment of so important a part of the work, would give the obstructionists much satisfaction. But it will not be abandoned; the transcontinental character of the line will be maintained. Speaking on Friday night Hon. Mr. Emmerson said:

"You know it has been stated by many that Moncton is not to be the terminus, that by reason of certain modifications which have been asked for, and certain proposals which have been made, instead of a great transcontinental railway from Port Simpson in the West to Moncton in the East, there would be a line coming down only to North Bay. Some have been kind enough to say it might come as far east as Quebec.

"It is unquestionably true that certain modifications have been asked for in connection with the contract which was for so many months discussed in Parliament. But they are on the whole of a very moderate character indeed. In fact the people of Canada will be both glad and surprised, in view of all they have heard, when they learn of the few reasonable alterations which are being asked for. I am not, sir, in a position to say just what these modifications are. It would not be constitutional usage, it would not be in accord with the position which I hold, to make any attempt at this stage to enter into particulars. But there is one thing that I can say, and I can say it on behalf of the Government of Canada, that there is no proposal to cut out the eastern section of the trans-continental railway. There is neither the suggestion nor the suspicion that this is even desired by those who are interested in the scheme, and upon whom the burden will in a very large degree fall."

This is definite enough, and indicates that there is no reason to expect that any changes will be made that will detract from the value to Canada of the great undertaking. organs will have to try a new tune. —Hamilton Times.

Queensland's Agent-General Talks of Canada and Australia as Storehouses For Britain—New Zealand's Preference.

London, Jan. 26.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Horace T. Tozer, K.C.M.G., Agent-General, in London, for the colony of Queensland, Australia, speaking at the London Institute last night referred to Canada and Australia as the storehouses of the Empire. Canada was able to turn out ten times as much wheat, and when she did Australia would look after the butcher's trade.

The Times' New Zealand correspondent says that public feeling considers Premier Seddon's Preferred Bill is not generous enough.

Australia's Views.

Premier Deakin (Commonwealth of Australia) says the whole Ministerial party, the majority of the labor members and a large majority of the Opposition favor a preferential arrangement within the Empire. The customs department has estimated that £7,000,000 yearly could be diverted to British manufacturers without injury to Australian industries.

The Italian Vice-Consul in London has advised his Government that there are no opportunities for the employment of Italians in English agriculture, but that they could emigrate to Canada with advantage.

Praise For Canadians.

Miss Irene Foster of Pictou, Nova Scotia, and Miss Mackay, also a Canadian, delighted a large audience in Steinway Hall last night. The London dailies all praise Miss Foster's brilliant notes.

ENGLISH LAW.

Shelters the Toronto Junction Pool Room—Col. Gibson's Address—Defends Calling of the House.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—Attorney-General Gibson took the opportunity, in speaking on the address in the Legislature yesterday, of making a lengthy statement in denial of the charges that the department has been remiss in its duty in dealing with the pool room at Toronto Junction. He said the Canadian law on the subject was similar to that of England, and quoted from the decision in the Kempton Park betting case, where the case failed because it was found those who resorted to the place did their betting with one another. The Junction room, Col. Gibson said, was cleverly devised to come within the meaning of that decision. The Attorney-General spoke with feeling of the charges that had been made against him in connection with this case, and protested that he had endeavored to do his duty. In the remaining portions of his speech, which was not concluded, Col. Gibson presented new and vigorous arguments on the North Renfrew case and the calling of the House. Mr. J. P. Downey concluded his speech, touching on many points in a witty manner. Col. Gibson will conclude this afternoon, and will be followed by Mr. St. John. There is a prospect that the debate will last all this week, and probably into next week.

International Arbitration.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—Thomas Barclay, LL.D., of Paris, France, who paved the way for the Anglo-French arbitration treaty and who was instrumental in bringing to an end the obnoxious caricatures of Queen Victoria in Paris, spoke to the Canadian Club here yesterday on arbitration and kindred topics. His address was an appeal to commercial men to be arbitrationists.

PRIVATE RAILROADS

Taken Over by Japanese Government for Military Purposes.

FAR EAST SITUATION GRAVE

Japanese Journals Place No Reliance on Pacific Talk of Russia—Say Greater Strain Than War is Hollow Peace and the Keeping Up of Armaments in Anticipation of War.

London, Jan. 26.—The Tokio correspondent, Bennett Burleigh, of The Daily Telegraph, has sent the following cablegram:

"The official Gazette publishes an Imperial ordinance, empowering the Government to assume control of all private railways, etc., for military purposes.

"The situation is very grave and developments are hourly expected."

Japan's Army Has Not Landed.

Seoul, Jan. 26.—The report of a landing of a Japanese army at Masampho is found to be untrue.

Skeptical of Russia.

London, Jan. 26.—The Tokio correspondent of The Times says the leading Japanese journals continue to be skeptical of Russia's pacific intentions and argue that the patching up of a hollow peace would be a prelude to future rivalry in armaments which would cause a greater strain than a war; whereas, a fight to-day would be a preface to many years of peace.

Russian Troops Moving.

Pekin, Jan. 26.—The American Government is arranging to despatch the senior student interpreters here to Mukden, Port Dalny and Antung to act as American Vice-Consuls.

A small detachment of Russian cavalry has passed through Kaopangtzu on their way to Ichou. This region was retroceded to China long ago.

Advices received here from Port Arthur are to the effect that a battalion of Russian troops are moving from that point toward the Korean frontier.

Ready This Week.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 26.—The exchange of communications between the Foreign Office, the members of the Committee of the Far East, Viceroy Alexieff and Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister at Tokio, is still going on. No official indication has been given of when a conclusion will be received; but, a diplomat who is close to such negotiations, expressed the opinion that the Russian reply will possibly be ready this week.

Danger From Corea.

London, Jan. 26.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from St. Petersburg says that while the Bourse there has been nervous, owing to the uncertainty of the situation, the progress of the negotiations inspires increasing confidence.

The principal danger now, according to this despatch, is said to be confined to the disorderly elements in Corea. The latest news received here represents a great majority of the Coreans as sympathizing with Russia and hostile to Japan. Other despatches say that the Japanese are embarking 10,000 laborers at Tien Tsin in order to hasten the completion of the Seoul-Fusan Railroad.

Some anxiety has been expressed in St. Petersburg regarding the military movements of China.

Chinese Want Peace.

Pekin, Jan. 26.—The Chinese authorities have approached the Ministers here of several powers with proposals directed towards attempting mediation with Russia and Japan. China is exceedingly anxious that war should be avoided.

To Call Out 86,000.

London, Jan. 26.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Warsaw says arrangements have been made to call 86,000 reserves in the Kharkoff, Kieff and Odessa districts should it become necessary to do so.

Barbarous Surgical Operation.

For the Cure of Piles.

Is not only intensely painful, dangerous to life and very expensive; but in the light of modern medical research, and since the discovery of the Pyramid Pile Cure, wholly unnecessary. If you have any doubt on this point kindly read the following letter from one who knows that the claims regarding the merits of the Pyramid Pile Cure are borne out by facts.

"For a long time I suffered with blind piles. They gave me so much pain and uneasiness that they almost disqualified me for doing anything. I saw an ad. in the Atlanta Journal of the Pyramid Pile Cure, and ordered a fifty cent box, and they cured me. Oh, how glad that I am well again!"

"The Pyramids cured me and I am satisfied that they will cure anybody else who is suffering as I was, if they will use them.

"You may use this in any way you see proper if my experience will encourage any sufferer to use your Pyramids, I shall be glad. B. K. Hicks, Calhoun, Ga."

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at fifty cents a package, and its merit is so well known that the sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

Lansdowne, Londonderry and Gerald Balfour May Get Out.

London, Jan. 26.—The Daily News yesterday morning publishes a rumor that further Cabinet resignations are imminent, saying the officers to resign probably are Lord Lansdowne, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Lord Londonderry, President of the Board of Education, and Gerald Balfour, President of the Board of Trade.

Closing Rally of the Liberal Campaign at Woodstock.

SIR RICHARD'S SUCCESSOR

Mr. Schell Chosen By South Oxford Liberals to Succeed Veteran Statesman—A Progressive Farmer—Hon. Mr. Evanturel and Hon Richard Harcourt Speak at Woodstock—Mr. Mahon's Address.

Woodstock, Jan. 26.—The polling of the vote to-day is all that remains of the North Oxford bye-election. So far as public discussion is concerned the campaign was brought to a close last evening by a most successful meeting in the interests of the Liberal candidate, Lieut.-Col. Munro, in the Woodstock Opera House. The building was crowded, and the speakers—Hon. Richard Harcourt, Hon. F. E. A. Eventurel and A. W. Mahon of Woodstock—were given an excellent reception and a close hearing. The chair was occupied by Malcolm Douglas, acting President of the North Oxford Reform Association. Lieut.-Col. Munro, the Reform nominee, was absent at his home in Embro, where he addressed his final meeting. Mr. Mahon opened the speaking in a brief but comprehensive address, reviewing the work of the Ross Administration and pointing out the source of the strength of Col. Munro's appeal to the electors. He deplored that the Conservatives throughout the campaign had insisted on keeping close to the corruption issue. It was a pity that a higher level of discussion could not have been reached, but Liberals were quite prepared to meet them on that ground. Mr. St. John talked on nomination day about the "machine" that, he said, had camped at a certain hotel at Pembroke during the campaign in North Renfrew. But did he or any of his party associates who shouted for electoral purity say a word about the machine that was camped in the Dufferin Hotel in Woodstock? Hon. Mr. Evanturel made an excellent address and was frequently applauded. Hon. Richard Harcourt's speech covered the record of the Administration, with special attention to the great electrical development at the Falls and educational question. He made a strong appeal in closing for the return of Col. Munro, and he trusted that whatever the result of the polling on the morrow, there would be no electoral wrangdoing. The ballot was for freemen, and he hoped that each elector would realize the responsibility which rested upon him. Mr. Harcourt's effort was a most convincing and inspiring one, and he was cheered and cheered again.

The Liberal party in North Oxford never presented a more united front than at present and hope ran high in the ranks last night.

SCHELL IN SOUTH OXFORD.

Successor to Sir Richard Cartwright Chosen From Among Farmers.

Mount Elgin, Jan. 26.—In spite of the heavy snow drifts which blocked the railroad and rendered it necessary for the delegates to drive here, some two hundred and sixty-five delegates, representing every sub-division in the riding of South Oxford, assembled to nominate a candidate in the Liberal interest for the Commons. The enthusiasm with which the delegates were inspired was demonstrated by the fact that many of them had to drive for miles across the fields, the road not having been dug through the heavy snow drifts, which rendered it impossible to drive over the highways. The proceedings of the convention were harmonious to a degree, and although the fight was waged with earnestness and determination by the supporters of the various aspirants for five ballots, upon the sixth the ballot was made unanimous in favor of Mr. Malcolm S. Schell, a prosperous farmer of East Oxford township.

Honored Sir Richard.

Mr. Alexander Rose presided, and in opening the meeting voiced the universal regret of the Liberals of the riding that through failing health and the long distance between his home and the riding Sir Richard Cartwright had been compelled to withdraw.

A resolution was presented by Donald Guthrie and Alexander M. McFarlane, on behalf of the Executive and officers of the association, directing that an address be presented to Sir Richard, regretting that he had seen fit to withdraw his name from the convention, and assuring him that had he allowed his name to go before it he would have continued to receive the enthusiastic endorsation of the delegates. The resolution also expressed the most cordial appreciation of Sir Richard as a representative, and of the high position he has taken in the Government of the country as Minister of Trade and Commerce and member of the High Commission, referred in terms of approbation to his masterly addresses in the House of Commons and upon the platform, and expressed the earnest hope that Sir Richard may be restored to good health, and long spared to take part in the councils of the country. The resolution was adopted by a standing vote.

Petition Against Doslop.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—J. G. Forrie, barrister of Pembroke, went to Toronto last night to file a petition against the election of E. A. Duglop, M.P.P., for North Renfrew. He makes wholesale charges of boodling and alleges that the Germans of North and South Algoma were purchased en bloc. He also asks for the disqualification of Mr. Dunlop.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure

Costs Nothing if it Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for Rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within 30 days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against Rheumatism—a potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do. And I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal card for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

Write me and I will send you the book. Try my remedy for a month, if it fails the loss is mine.

Address Dr. Shoop, box 47-9, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

CORRUPTION IN TORONTO.

Assessment Department Seriously Charged By Ald. John Dunn.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—The City Council met yesterday afternoon. The meeting was preceded by a secret session of the Board of Control at which W. R. Riddell, K.C., was recommended as counsel for the civic investigation. At 3 o'clock Mayor Urquhart presented a message to the Council, in which the enormity of the revelations so far made was alluded to and the matter of investigation endorsed. His Worship noted four classes of corruption charged: Fraudulent voting by poll officials, personation by individuals, voting too many times, and "the taking part in the campaign, for corrupt purposes, by corporations or other associations, for the purpose of furthering their private interests." A resolution was passed appointing Mr. Riddell, and giving the county judge wide powers of investigation.

Then came the sensation of the day. Ald. John Dunn publicly charges that the voters' lists for the year 1901, prepared in 1900, were falsified by the addition of the names of voters who neither were tenants or owners, and that such falsification was carried on in the office of the Assessment Commissioner and by him at the instigation of a certain alderman. A resolution was also introduced impounding the rough books of the assessors from 1899 to 1902 inclusive. Mr. Fleming, called characterized the charges as "sensational resolutions."

WOLF! WOLF! AND THERE IS NO WOLF.

People Fooled Once are Slow to Respond When Danger Comes.

We have all read in our school readers the story of the boy tending the sheep who thought to have fun with the servants and cried out wolf! wolf! The servants rushed to his assistance to find that it was a false alarm, and when the wolf really came they would not respond to the call of the boy and the flock was destroyed.

It is the fashion nowadays among certain proprietors of patent medicine that "will cure every disease on earth" to try to frighten every one into believing that he is afflicted with some dangerous malady, by reciting thousands of symptoms and indications of disease. People see so much of this that when they really become so afflicted they will pay no attention to remedies of merit that they really stand in great need of.

The proprietors of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets do not claim that their remedy will cure anything but catarrh and they give the American people credit for having sense enough to tell for themselves when they are suffering from that disease. If you have catarrh, you know it and want to be cured and that's all there is to it.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are without doubt the most effective cure for catarrh. You may look the country over and you will find no one who will dispute that statement. They have cured so many sufferers of this odious and dangerous disease and have done so much good throughout the land that their name has become a household word. They thoroughly renovate and cleanse the entire system of all catarrhal poisons and impurities and by thus striking at the root of the disease effect cures that are complete and permanent.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. You cannot afford to tamper with this treacherous disease when a sure cure is within such easy reach.

Dana's Ten Books.

Charles A. Dana once made a list of ten "indispensable books." They were: The Bible, Shakespeare, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, Bancroft's "History of the United States," Irving's "Life of Washington," Franklin's "Autobiography," Channing's "Essay on Napoleon Bonaparte," Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" and Tarbell's "Early Life of Lincoln."

Lack of Force.

More people fail from lack of force than from lack of education or opportunity, says Success. A man may be well educated or brilliant and yet for lack of force be a complete failure in his vocation. A man or woman may succeed without education, but not without force; without capital, but not without energy.

IN THE NICKLE BELT.

Comparison of Prices of Little Things Here and in England.

It was at Brandon Fair that we first realized that one of the drawbacks of this country is the total absence of useful things of small value. We have learned that lesson a hundred times since then. In the old country sixpence has a very appreciable buying power. Here ten cents, or fivepence, is practically the smallest coin in use, and is certainly of no more worth than twopence at home. At Brandon Fair the "side shows," which at home would charge a penny, twopence or at the very utmost threepence, for admission, charged invariably 15 cents, or 7½d., and they were crowded. I was in a shop where a mother was buying a little candy for a fractious and pestering child, and she gave 5 cents, or 2½d., for an amount that would have been purchased in England for a halfpenny. It costs you fivepence to get your boots blacked, and a shilling for a shave in a hotel. Any drink, in the smallest of tumblers, such as a couple of tablespoonsful of gin and a squirt of stone ginger beer, costs 15 cents. I had a little ammonia and sweet oil mixed in a small bottle to neutralize mosquito bites. The cost was two shillings. If you ask for lager beer they give you a small glass, one-third of a half-pint bottle, for fivepence. A bottle of lager beer, which I could get for sixpence in Sheffield, costs two shillings in a Canadian hotel—not lager brought from Germany, but locally brewed. It is necessary, in brief, to pay heavily for small purchases or do without them. The latter is the better plan. It seems to me that "living" in Canada is quite twice as dear as living in England, but in Canada the food would be somewhat more varied and profuse. A single working man has to pay thirty shillings a week for food and lodgings on the average, and he can easily spend another pound a week on such luxuries as smoking and drinking. I suspect that a good deal of the saving which goes on here is made possible by men going without things that are unnecessary. The strong temperance feeling of the country, has, in no inconsiderable degree, an economic basis.—John Derry, one of the visiting British journalists, in The Sheffield Independent.

Not a Canadian Bird.

As the robin is with us but half the year, it is not right to claim him as a Canadian bird, as is sometimes done. He is of a migratory nature, and leaves us at the end of October, returning early in April. This bird is the finest songster that visits us, and when caged and carefully attended to makes a most cheerful and amusing companion, writes Sydney Smith of Toronto. In my time I have had many kinds of birds, but not one of a more attractive and pleasing disposition than the robin. What I would particularly draw attention to is a remarkable illustration of this bird losing his own natural song and learning from tuition something altogether different. Having got possession of him when he dropped from the nest, I whistled to him, or in his hearing, repeatedly from day to day, and when not at home one or other of the members of the family did the same, so that now he cannot be recognized by his song as a robin. Sweet as his natural song is, what he has acquired is sweeter still. In reality it is not a song, but a melodious and changeable whistle interluded with variations of many and peculiar noises. When spoken to by one of the family he invariably answer in bird language, and he gives unmistakable proof that he knows one person from another. The first footstep that reaches his ear in the morning brings from him a welcome salutation, and no matter how late at night the last one home is greeted with a cheerful word or two from Bobby. Noticing at an early stage his fondness for play, I introduced a few trinkets, which he pounced upon at once, and ever since I have kept him supplied with small things, which he delights to pick up and throw about his cage. The more noise they make the more he enjoys the fun. I have also hung on a string from a wire at the top of the cage a very small bell. This he takes hold of and swings to and fro which causes it to jingle. His fondness for music is demonstrated whenever the piano is being played or when singing is heard in the house. At such times he raises his voice above all. How to feed and care for the robin in captivity is necessary above all things if you wish him well. In the first place, keep him clean, or give him the means of keeping himself clean. He should have his daily bath, as he is passionately fond of water. For food give him neither meal nor any kind of prepared stuff, but simply fresh meat in very small pieces. That is as near his natural food as you can get. When fruit is in season give him a few berries, or even now a few table currants is a welcome and wholesome addition to his bill of fare.

Oldest Trade Secrets.

The two oldest secret trade processes now in existence are considered to be the manufacture of Chinese red, or vermilion, and the method of inlaying the hardest steel with gold and silver, which seems to have been practiced at Damascus ages ago and is known only to the Syrian smiths and their pupils even to this day.

Moon Worship in Britain.

Lunar superstitions lingered until a late period in the British islands. A writer of the seventeenth century says: "In Yorkshire, etc., northward, some country people doe worship the new moon on their bare knees, kneeling on an earthfast stone. And the people of Athol, in the highlands of Scotland, doe worship the new moon." Speaking of the Irish, he continues, "Whether or no they worship the moon I know not, but when they first see her after the change they commonly bow the knee and say the Lord's Prayer and near the wane address themselves to her with a loud voice after this manner, 'Leave us as well as thou foundest.'"

Sylvester O'Halloran, the Irish historian, speaking of the corresponding customs of the Phoenicians and Irish, adds: "Their deities were the same. They both adored Bel (or the sun), the moon and the stars. The house of Rimmin, which the Phoenicians worshiped in (like our temples of Flechta in Manbi), were sacred to the moon."

Chasing the Squaw.

A young Englishman who recently arrived in Woodstock from the old country, and is not apparently accustomed yet to the beauties of Canadian sunsets, such as were seen here a few weeks ago, was the victim of a curious illusion, says a Woodstock paper. A number of evenings ago the whole western sky was illuminated with a beautiful red, which was increased by the presence of dull clouds, which gave the sky the appearance of reflecting a terrible conflagration. Passing down Dundas street about four in the evening he heard what he thought was the fire bell, and looking to the westward the dull, red glare told him there must be some large fire raging in that direction. It might be the House of Refuge or large barns in the vicinity. At any rate, the fire seemed to be near the city, and he resolved to visit it, and started down the street on the run. He kept on until he nearly reached the river, when he stopped. The conflagration seemed to be no nearer than before, so he made up his mind to go back. Just then the clouds broke and he realized his mistake. After viewing the beauties of the sight a little further he wearily tsudged homeward again. He doesn't talk much about Canadian sunsets now, however much he appreciates them.

WARDEN E. A. PECK.

Mr. E. A. Peck, who was this afternoon elected Warden of Peterborough County by unanimous vote of his fellow-councillors, is well qualified by natural endowments to fill the important position to which the votes of his confreres have elected him. Mr. Peck, during his term of office as County Councillor has proved himself an able administrator of county affairs, and has shown a good grasp of the business, which the council has been called upon to transact. This experience gained should qualify him to fill with efficiency the more important office to which he has this afternoon been elected.

Mr. Peck, aside from his office in the County Council is one of the prominent business men in Greater Peterborough and has been actively associated with public affairs in the town for a number of years. His connection with the County Council as a member of that body dates from January 1898, when he was elected to fill a vacancy caused by the death of a member, and since that time he has been a member continuously, bringing his wide knowledge of public affairs to bear upon the duties of his office, which he has filled efficiently for six years.

Mr. E. A. Peck is the son of Mr. A. H. Peck, for many years, and until January 1st, 1904, treasurer of the Village of Ashburnham and the son has inherited the sterling qualities of the father, and is respected as a man of true worth. As a member of the law firm of Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, he has risen to a position of prominence in his profession. Mr. Peck holds a number of public offices, in all of which he has displayed characteristic thoroughness and fidelity to duty. He is Secretary of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, being re-elected to that office by acclamation at the last annual meeting. In church matters, Mr. Peck has taken a prominent part, and occupies a position on the Advisory Board of St. Luke's church, of which he is a member. He is also Superintendent of St. Luke's Sunday School, in which he takes a deep interest. He is also an enthusiastic fraternalist, and is Past Master of Corinthian Lodge, No. 155, A.F. and A. M.

Mr. Peck was at one time Secretary of the Conservative Association, of East Peterborough. In the selection which the County Council has made of Mr. Peck to fill the office of Warden, a wise choice has undoubtedly been made, and the County is to be congratulated upon securing the services of one so well qualified to fill the office as Mr. Peck.

MAYOR'S DINNER AN ENJOYABLE EVENT.

Prominent Town Officials and Public Men Gather as Guests of Mayor Roger.

Matters of Present Import to "Greater Peterborough" Were Discussed—The Trent Valley Canal and Its Water to Peterborough.

At the Mayor's banquet, held last last night in Long's Palm Parlour, a number of the town's influential men gathered on the invitation of His Worship, and some highly interesting and profitable discussion on matters of interest to the town took place. This discussion was participated in by nearly all those present, and with the views expressed by gentlemen outside of the Council before them, the Mayor and Aldermen will doubtless be in a position to deal more intelligently with matters coming up for discussion during the year.

The two questions upon which the most discussion took place, were those of the Trent Valley Canal, and its importance to the town of Peterborough, particularly, and the country generally, and the question of city incorporation. On both of these questions there appeared to be an almost unanimity of opinion. All, of course, were agreed that the completion of the Trent Valley Canal would be of great benefit to the town, and a number of different plans were suggested whereby the completion might be facilitated. That which found most favour, apparently, was to impress upon the newly-appointed Transportation Commission, as strongly as possible, the great national benefit the canal would prove, in providing the cheapest possible way in which to ship the grain from the North-west to the seaboard.

The question of city incorporation was pretty thoroughly discussed, both by members of the Council, and other gentlemen who spoke, and one of the most valuable contributions to the subject was the excellent address given, on the request of the Mayor, by Mr. S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk, who is recognized as an authority on municipal affairs. Mr. Armstrong explained minutely the changes in the form of municipal government which city incorporation would necessitate. These changes were seen to be very slight, and, for the most part, unimportant. The general impression left by those who spoke, and who expressed opinions, was that the majority were in favour of raising Peterborough to the standing of a city. A number of material advantages were pointed out, and few, if any, disadvantages were found to exist.

Another important question which was considered was that relating to the municipal water works system. Mr. T. F. Matthews, chairman of the Water Commissioners, gave a lucid address on the situation which the presented state of the system presented, and it was seen that the department had been exceedingly well managed, so well, in fact, that last year, after all operating expenses had been met, and an amount placed against the sinking fund there was a surplus to the town of over $5000, which had been applied to lowering the town taxes. This was an exceedingly gratifying state of affars, and one at which a number of the speakers expressed pleasure. Mr. Matthews stated that a new tariff of rates was being prepared, and by it consumers would get a reduction from the rates now charged.

The question of the new Drill Shed was also the subject of some discussion, the main point talked of being the site upon which it should be built, a number of alternative sites being suggested.

The Mayor is to be congratulated upon the signal success of his second annual banquet.

* * * * * * * * *

Last night His Worship Mayor Roger, entertained the members of the Town Council, the town officials, and a number of other gentlemen, to a very pleasant dinner held in Long's Palm Parlours. The affair was an informal gathering and was one thoroughly enjoyable.

Surrounding the festive board, were His Worship Mayor Roger, who acted as chairman, Aldermen H. Rush, vice-chairman, ex-Mayors W. Yelland, J. Corkery, A. L. Davis, and Jas. Stevenson, D. Hughes-Charles President Board of Trade; E. A. Peck, County Councillor; T. F. Matthews, Chairman of the Water Commissioners; Ald. J. Edgcumbe, Clinkscale, Batten, Hicks, Morrison, McWilliams Johnston, Mason and Adams; E. H. D. Hall, Town Solicitor; F. H. Dobbin, W. H. Moore, chairman of the Town Trust Commissioners; S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk; Felix Brownscombe, Town Treasurer; Robert Innis, chairman of the Charity Board; John Carnegie, Town Trust Commissioner; T. A. S. Hay, Town Engineer; G. I. Rossel, Chief of Police; D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate; Wm. Henderson, Superintendent of the Water Works; H. Evans, Street Commissioner; J. J. McBain, President Children's Aid Society; Finch W. Miller, Relief Officer.

The feast spread was one for which Mr. Long is justly noted, and one to which the Mayor's guests did ample justice.

The first toast proposed was that to "The King," which was received with enthusiasm in the usual way.

After this toast the Mayor stated that in the banquet this year the custom of last year would be followed, and he had asked a number of gentlemen to speak on questions of public interest.

MANUFACTORIES

Ald. Morrison was the first speaker, and his subject was that of "Manufactories." Peterborough, he said, was essentially a manufacturing town, and it must maintain that position. She must hold the industries at present here and secure others. Speaking of the chief arguments which would have to be advanced in order to secure them for the town he said that one of the first considerations would be that of railway facilities, easily accessible sidings, and good freight rates. In this respect he believed the manufacturers in Peterborough were somewhat handicapped. In order to offset this Ald. Morrison said that some other advantages must be offered. These Peterborough could offer. In the matter of power, Peterborough has as cheap power as is being generated in Canada. Peterborough also has a low tax rate. Water is also cheap, and he expressed the hope that the Commissioners would be able to still further reduce the price of water to manufacturers. Cheap light can also be procured. Another point in which the town excels is that of labour. He congratulated the town on the excellent quality of the labouring men. Ald. Morrison said the great drawback the town had was the freight rates, and the only solution he saw was the completion of the Trent Valley Canal. He thought there would be an opportunity in the next few years to secure the early completion of the canal. The great trouble he thought was that the people had not been educated to the benefits which the completion of the canal would give. He believed that if the canal were completed the citizens would save $20,000 per year in the cost of fuel. He advocated the appointment of men who would be able to write up the advantages of the canal. The question should be written up as a national enterprise. He hoped the Transportation Commission would come to Peterborough and hold a session and hear the evidence in favour of the canal. The speaker thought that if Sir William Mulock could be brought to see the great benefits of the canal there would be little danger of not securing its early completion. If the canal were open it would be no trouble to secure manufacturers to locate here. He believed that if Peterborough were incorporated a city it would be much easier to secure industries. The United States manufacturers who are proposing to locate in Canada, never think of the towns; but look only to the cities. At the present time three or four are being communicated with and hopes are entertained of being able to secure them.

MR. DUMBLE ON "THE CANAL."

Mr. D. W. Dumble was the next speaker, and congratulated the Mayor on his excellent record of last year. He also complimented the previous speaker on his work during the past year. Mr. Dumble was in favour of the canal. He would be in favour of securing an expert to report on the canal and its advantages. No railway was ever made or will be made that can compete with the water route to the seaboard, and so enlarge the spout. The Trent Canal will have greater carrying capacity than the new Erie Canal, for which $100,000,000 had been appropriated. If the canal were completed the Cereal Company could ship its products to England with greater facility. He thought the canal would be completed, and hoped to see it.

Mr. John Carnegie, following, said that he too was deeply interested in the canal, and had spent considerable time in its advocation. One of the great drawbacks in working for it was the lack of funds. Peterborough owed a great deal to the canal, even in its partially completed state. He thought that the town owed the location of the Cereal Company to the fact that Mr. Stuart believed that the canal would speedily be completed. Another question he was pleased to see interest being taken in was the conservation of the water supply. The district had a right to ask for the expenditure of money to conserve the waters. He hoped the proposition of Ald. Morrison would receive the support which its merits deserved.

CHAIRMAN OF THE WATER COMMISSIONERS

Mr. T. F. Matthews was the next speaker, and he also congratulated the Mayor on his re-election, but thought the town should also be congratulated upon its excellently administrated affairs, which, he said, was the best governed town in Ontario. Mr. Matthews' remarks were directed to the question of water supply. Canada, in the matter of water supply, was well situated, and had not to contend with a great many of the difficulties experienced in England, where the large cities made the matter difficult. He quoted figures to show that the ratepayers in Peterborough were more liberally treated than in other cities. At the present rate there was sufficient money collected to pay all the operating expenses of the water works plant, and also to provide for the sinking fund. He maintained that so long as the consumers only were charged water rates the sinking fund should be paid by general taxation. A new tariff was in course of preparation in which the manufacturers would, he thought, be liberally treated. He believed that in the course of ten years considerable changes would have to be made. These would include a stand pipe, or reservoir, and the dam enlarged. He believed that the affairs of the water works had been carefully administered in the past. Mr. Matthews thought that the manufacturers here should be treated well in the question of water rates.

SANITATION AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

Mr. W. H. Moore, following, said that he felt like congratulating the Mayor on his re-election and also on the excellent Board of Aldermen with which he would be surrounded. He thought the application to be made to the Legislature to elect Aldermen for two years a good one, and thought also that Aldermen should be paid for their services. He also thought that a mistake had been made in not applying to be raised to a city, and believed that the people had the utmost confidence in the future prosperity of the town.

Mr. Moore believed that one of the most important considerations in securing industries was that of sanitation, and he thought that more attention should be paid to this matter. The streets of the town were not in as good a condition as they should be, and hoped some attention should be given to it in the future.

Mr. Moore advocated the adoption of a civic fire insurance fund, as had been recommended in other cities. He concluded by wishing the Mayor a happy an along incumbency of his office.

FIFTH WARD REPRESENTATIVE.

Ald. Adams, followed, congratulating the Mayor on the honour of being the first Mayor of "Greater Peterborough." He was pleased to hear that the affairs of the Water Works were in such a good condition.

The question of securing manufacturers to the town was an important one, and he felt that any manufacturers here now should be fairly dealt with, and any promises made should be faithfully carried out. The chief disadvantage Peterborough experienced was, as Ald. Morrison had said, in the freight rates.

Doing Excellent Work in British Columbia and West.

In sending a cheque for $25.00 in aid of the Lady Minto Hospital Fund, a gentleman in British Columbia wrote to Mrs. McAllister, local secretary of the fund as follows:—

"I certainly appreciate the importance of having these hospitals established at the different points indicated. While I was at Arrowhead and Revelstoke, B.C., I heard the greatest amount of interest taken in the establishment of these hospitals, and the excellent work they have done for the benefit of the unfortunate. I certainly wish you every success in being able to make a good showing from this district."

A WORD TO BOARD OF TRADE.

A few days ago the Examiner took the liberty of calling the attention of the local Board of Trade to the advisability of taking means to impress the importance of the completion of the Trent Valley Canal upon the Dominion Transportation Commission. It was also hinted that Mr. John Bertram, a former citizen of Peterborough, being a prominent member of the Comission, would be predisposed to consider with more attention the merits of this waterway. Point is given this assumption by the fact that Mr. Bertram has specifically stated as much. On his way home from the Maritime Provinces, where the Commission has been sitting and taking evidence, Mr. Bertram was interviewed and generally outlined the Commission's work. Among others, he made the significant statement to the press: "A careful investigation will also be made of the Trent Valley Canal and its possibilities." This is a cue to the Board of Trade, and the civic authorities, to be in readiness to place before the Commission the mass of evidence that can be presented in favour of the canal as an important and necessary link in our transcontinental transportation facilities, and also as an important factor in the development of the district through which its passes, over a wide area on each side of the line of its route. As before remarked in these columns, thanks to the work of the Trent Valley Waterway Association, such evidence is easily available. But it needs to be collected, condensed, ready for submission to the Commission in the most assimilated form. It needs to be as strongly presented as possible. We know a strong case can be made out and a strong case must be presented. If this be done there is no fear of a favourable report not being presented by the Commissioners. Owing to the strong hostility of powerful interests to the completion of this canal, the Government requires the assurance of the commission especially appointed, to influence action in regard to improving and extending the transportation facilities of the Dominion. At the same time collateral influence might be brought into motion. The farmers on each side of the route of the canal are largely indifferent to its construction. Means should be taken to educate them to a different mode of thinking. They should be shown that the completion and operation of the canal will not only have a natural influence in cheapening and improving transportation of grain, but also that by the development of manufactories along the line of its route, very much enlarged employment will be given to labour, increased supplies will be demanded, and that a better market for farm products will be created. In fine no stone should be left unturned by the citizens and officials of Peterborough to promote in every way the completion of the important work, the Trent Valley Canal.

The Fastest Game of the Series To-night—Shepherd-Neil Matches This Afternoon.

FAST GAME WITH PIRATES TO-NIGHT.

Both Teams out to Win and Game may Decide Championship.

Present Standing of Teams in Group 2 Chaucer Elliott to Referee Game To-night.

The Picton "Pirates" will be on hand to-night to play the local septette, and the game is bound to be one of the fastest ever played in Peterborough. Picton started out the season with the fixed intention of winning the Intermediate Championship, and if they lose the game to-night, their chances of winning this district even will be small. Consequently they will no doubt put forth every effort to take a fall out of the boys in blue, who also have designs on the championship, and who will give the "Pirates" all they want to do to win out. The same team that played at Belleville on Friday night will be on the ice to-night, and that it will be a battle royal goes without saying. "Chaucer" Elliott, one of the best referees in the O.H.A. will officiate to-night, and the game will be a clean one. The standing of the teams in this District now is as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.	To Pl'y
Belleville	4	1	1
Picton	3	1	2
Peterborough	3	2	1
*Port Hope	0	4	0

*Port Hope defaulted.

Should Peterborough win to-night and should the Pirates take a fall out of the Belleville team on Friday, as a great many who are competent to speak, believe they will, the three teams would then be tied for first place, and if it comes to playing off on neutral ice, we have a pretty good idea where the championship of the district will land.

The game to-night will commence at 8.15 sharp, and holders of 50 cent limited sale tickets will be admitted at the west side door, provision having been made for this, which will greatly convenience those holding these tickets.

The management is greatly pleased with the way in which the request to refrain from smoking in the rink has been met, and hopes that to-night the same courteous respect for the expressed wish of the management, who are anxious to conserve the comfort of all the spectators, will be given.

The team to represent Peterborough to-night in the Picton-Peterborough game will be:

Goal, Mercer; point, Howell; cover point, Cavanah; rover, Harold Armstrong; centre, Whiteroft; left wing, Graham; right wing, Roy Armstrong.

PETERBOROUGH JUNIORS LOST AT COBOURG.

The Leaders Succeeded in Defeating the Little Team.

The Junior O.H.A. team visited Cobourg last night and played a game with the leaders of the district, who, with the assistance of two men whom the Port Hope team declare are over age, succeeded in defeating the visitors, the score being 13—2.

Peterborough's little team had a pretty hard proposition to solve when they attempted to defeat on their own ice the team that has gone through the season without having a defeat registered against them.

The rink at Cobourg, after having been used to the large well lighted one at home, was to the visitors particularly hard to play in, and, in addition to this, the ice was in bad shape.

Taking everything into consideration, the boys played a good game, and have no reason to feel ashamed of their record in last night's game. Cobourg has admittedly the strongest team in District 2, Junior O.H.A., and on their own ice are almost invincible. Two goals scored by the visitors last night were due to Parker and Kennedy.

The visiting team was as follows:
Goal, VanEvery,
Point, Moore.
Cover point, Parker.
Forwards, Hall, Kennedy, Smith, and Long.
Referee. McCallum.

LOCAL HORSES MADE VERY GOOD SHOWING

At the Ottawa Race Yesterday Afternoon.

Peterborough horses made a great showing down at Ottawa at the winter races held there yesterday, in the 2.22 and 2.14 trot and pace. In the 2.22 trot and pace Rob Roy, owned by George Powell, and Blucher owned by Dr. Johnston, took third and fourth places respectively. In the 2.14 trot and pace Sphinx B., owned by George Powell, came in third, the winner being the famous Looking Glass, who is matched to meet the equally renowned Gypsy Girl.

KEENE TOO STRONG FOR LAKEFIELD.

Defeated Them Last Night by a Score of 11-3.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Keene, Jan. 26th, 1904.—The game here to-night between Lakefield and Keen, was the locals at all times though the visitors put up a nice, clean game. The game was a little late in starting and the attendance was not large. At half time the score was 3—3 in favour of the locals and at full time 10—3 in favour of the same team.

The teams lined up as follows:

Keene, Goal, J. R. McIntyre, point, J. Dickson; cover point, Jas. Quinn; rover, Fred Walsh; left wing, V. McCarthy; centre, M. Miller; right wing, W. McIntyre; time-keeper, F. Mason; umpire, F. Walsh.

Jack Anderson, of Norwood, proved a very efficient referee, and kept the game clean, catching all that was going that was not good hockey. Both teams heartily endorsed his work.

Both teams were banquetted after the match and the best of spirits prevailed throughout the entire evening. Will McIntyre was given a try out in this game and played up to expectations.

The return game will be played in Lakefield on Wednesday next.

PORT HOPE PROTESTS COBOURG JUNIORS.

Says two Players are Over the Junior Age Limit.

A protest was received by Secretary Hewitt of the O.H.A. on Monday from the Port Hope club against the Cobourg Club, which plays in the Junior Series. The protest is based on the following grounds:

That two players of the Cobourg team—Arthur Bentley and Edward C. Moffatt—are over the stipulated age (20 years), as shown by accompanying certificates, duly signed by the Deputy Registrar-General, Peter H. Bryce:

Edward C. Moffatt, aged 20 years, on March 2, 1903.

The protest is signed by Geo. H. Ralston, president, and Thos. Tuer, secretary of the club. The usual $25 accompanies the protest.—Star.

The manager of the Examiner hockey team has been trying out some of his new men and states that he has some good material, and expects when he gets all the team in shape to administer a crushing defeat to the Review septette, if he can persuade them to meet his men in a match, of which he expresses some doubt. It appears that the still hunt for players which the manager of the Review team instituted some time ago, has not resulted as satisfactorily as had been hoped for, the chief difficulty being the fact that he could not assure the men he was after that he could get together a winning team, and all he had to offer as an inducement was a flukey victory won from the Examiner team last year, when even the referee, whose integrity no one could for a moment doubt, publickly declared that the best team lost.

However that may be, the Examiner team will take no chances this year, and the members have decided to cancel all engagements to social functions, and devote the time to getting into shape for the game, which will be played in about two weeks, it is expected.

• • • •

Two hockey teams, both aspirants for championship honours in the Sidewalk League, met yesterday afternoon after school hours on the sidewalk on Dublin street and played a fast and exciting game of Canada's great national game. The contesting teams were the Beavers and Dublin Street teams, the former winning by 1—0. The line-up of the winners was as follows: Goal, W. Lawson; point, H. Innes; cover point, H. Carrin; forwards, Fred Worley, Earl Fredinburg, Bill Turner, Bill Davidson.

TUG-OF-WAR.

The team of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. do hereby challenge the Quakers to a contest for the Sykes trophy. J. E. Sharpe, captain.

THE CLOSED DOOR.

Three Books That Should Receive Some of Our Study Time.

Here, you who are hunting happiness, a minute, please. Do the duty; peace will come. When a man strives to rise from the rut and clamber from the crowd, obstacles that are new will be sure to meet him, and the world will hold him by the coat tail and try to get his neck beneath their feet. Yet, meet trials calmly, and do not seek unduly to avoid them, or turn aside from difficulty. Hills are steeper in the distance, and bridges are never crossed till reached.

Do the duty, and peace will come.

There is a happiness not found in society, no matter how splendid that society may be. It is as indefinable as the soul; indeed, it is a happiness of soul, and not of sense, and it is the keenest in the hours when we are much alone. True, there is a happiness in mingling with our fellows. But this is the peace that comes from being in touch with the infinite; a joy of receiving the precepts from the Master-mind. It is the peace behind the closed door.

Then, too, there is a happiness not found in the theatre, a pleasure not possible in listening to the greatest creations of the human pen. On Saturday, men, women and children by the thousands swarmed Toronto's play houses. They were tired from a week's toil, and wanted a rest. They paid cash for their pleasure, and probably had a good time, a pleasant two or three hours. But the pleasure, the peace and happiness, I allude to, is far different to this, and costs much. Money may not buy it. This happiness is secured by the conquest of self. In each of our lives there is the touch of drama. Have we a Jerusalem in view? When the final curtain lowers upon us and we have completed our brief act, can we say, "It is finished?" Or, will there be a wreck handed to the undertaker that will soon be forgotten?

Then there is happiness that does not come through travel. It is the happiness of the room with the door closed, the blind drawn, and the mind reflective. Too often the traveler sees but wood, stone, towns, cities, lakes, hills, mountains, a jumbled mass. He sees but does not know them. He observes them as they appear to be, and not as they are. But this closed door teaches us realities and not appearances. It aids the knower and brings near the Known. The teachings of the closed door open the eye to the world's best things. It brings peace, the peace indescribable.

There is also the delight that comes from books, and in them we secure much food for thought. There are the books that breathe out inspiration in every chapter, books that point to sowing and reaping, books of passion and love, books of history, of biography, books on everything. It is well to read. However, the three greatest books are the most neglected. They are not on the library shelves, and their names and numbers are not on the catalogues.

There is this book of self, "Know Thyself." Most of us are closed books even to ourselves. I look in the glass, but I do not see myself. I look at my hands, that is not myself. What a perfect mechanism, too, this eye, this ear, the tongue, what well oiled joints, what a mysterious make-up of flesh and blood anyhow! If the tenement be so wonderful how mighty the dweller! But the closed door will open the volume of self, and perhaps we can read a chapter.

Then there is the great book of nature that is spread before us. We ransack the earth for diamonds and precious stones; for gold, silver, and copper. We destroy forests and measure them for money; we harness rivers; but there is more in Nature than this. There is the flight of the bird and its migration. There is the snowdrop that, wavering, drifts from the clouds and falls a tiny star upon your coat.

Then there is that other book that is read in 370 dialects and languages, and was 1,500 years in completion. How many have ever read it through?

It costs to know. It takes pains. It means sacrifice. But, if we do our duty peace will come.

Matheson says:

And feel the promise is not vain
That morn shall tearless be."

ARE BETTER THAN GREAT RICHES

What? Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Why? Because They Assure a Good Stomach, Comfort, Contentment and a Feeling That Work is a Pleasure.

A good stomach is better than great riches, for a good stomach means comfort, contentment and a liking for work that makes the day's duties one continual round of pleasure. And a good stomach is better than great riches, because it is within the reach of all.

Everybody cannot be rich, because there is not money enough to go round, but everybody can have a good stomach. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will give it to them. Thousands of Canadians will tell you the same story that Edward Rousseau, of Bruce Mines, Ont., relates. He says:—

"For upwards of ten years I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia. I doctored almost continually and used almost everything I could hear of, but got nothing to cure me till I began to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I took two boxes of them and they made me feel like a new man. I think Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the greatest medicine in existence. I have proved they cure when other medicines fail."

If Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure such advanced stages of Dyspepsia as Mr. Rousseau's is it any wonder that they quickly dispose of the earlier stages known as Indigestion?

ANOTHER IDEA MOOTED.

Earl of Bedford Would Exempt Farms of Britain From Taxation Until Colonies Become Empire's Granaries.

London, Jan. 25.—(C. A. P.)—The Duke of Bedford, speaking to the North Bedfordshire Liberal-Unionist Association on Saturday, announcing why he had become a Chamberlainite, said that the new fiscal system would help the English farmers. Until the great corn fields of Canada, India and the Soudan began to yield the supply, agricultural land should be exempted from taxation like raw material: It was unwise to rely for bread on the granary of the world when the key was not in our own pockets. The Americans could starve us into submission without firing a shot, if we were engaged in war.

W. Trant, Regina, writes to The Chronicle that Chamberlain's policy will kill the western Canadian ranch trade. Prosperity at Medicine Hat is due to the fattening yearly of herds of cattle driven from Texas and Mexico.

The People's Newspaper says England will never be free of the menace of Chicago wheat gamblers until Canada and Australia are given a preference. Wheat then, it argues, will be cheaper in London than now.

Germany For Free Trade.

The Chronicle's Berlin correspondent wired that large classes in Germany hold that Britain's adoption of protection to be the signal for Germany and America to adopt free trade.

Harold Cox, secretary of the Cobden Club, has resigned on the ground of ill-health. The Express says it means the breaking up of the famous club.

The Telegraph's Johannesburg correspondent wires that 45,000 genuine signatures are appended to a petition in favor of Chinese labor, which will be presented to-day to the Legislature. Debarring officials the vote will be 70 per cent. in favor of admission of the Chinese.

Reduce Land Tax.

Dr. Cunningham, addressing the Ely Chamber of Commerce, said food taxation widened the basis of taxation. To reduce taxation on land would give a basis for bargaining in foreign markets for manufacturers.

A London firm, protesting against the rigorous duty being collected on all catalogues sent for distribution in Australia, provokes The Chronicle to say: "Thus Australia encourages British trade."

A cable to The Telegraph says: South African experts say a powerful ring of British manufacturers has been formed supplying South African trade.

Whole System Rundown and Shattered. Doctors Did Not Understand the Case.

Mr. S. B. Guild, Ellershouse, N. S., writes as follows:—"I wish to express my gratitude for the great good accomplished in my case by your Paine's Celery Compound. My whole system was rundown and shattered. I was under the care of several doctors, but they did not seem to understand my case, and could do nothing for me. I commenced using your Paine's Celery Compound, and it soon made me a new man. My nervous system is completely built up, my appetite is healthy, and I feel better and stronger than ever before. Paine's Celery Compound has done these wonders for me, and I cannot thank you sufficiently."

A Bold Holdup.

Within my time in Texas (and I am not such an old man either) two stagecoaches containing about twenty-three passengers were stopped and all the valuables of the passengers taken by one man. The robber made them all stand in a row and "hand over." The route was only traveled by one coach, but on account of the large number of passengers an additional coach was put on that day. The robber stopped the first coach and made the passengers get out. When the passengers in the first coach were lined up the second coach made its appearance. He made them get out and then told them he didn't expect two coaches. That was nerve. A Jew insisted on retaining enough of his money to get his dinner. The robber took all and then gave him back 50 cents, and the Jew got into an argument with him as to the amount being sufficient to get a meal. That was cheek. The robber went off with all the money of the twenty-three passengers, and yet there were many brave men in that caravan, but discretion was the better part of valor. The robber had two pistols out and ready. A shot from one of the twenty-three would have caused the robber to shoot, and several would have been killed. That's the only way they looked at it.—Forest and Stream.

"An' how's yer husband the day?" asked Mrs. Rafferty of Mrs. Muldoon.

"Sure, an' he's no better," replied Mrs. Muldoon. "The doctor's afraid morality will set in."

Here is what he writes us: "Last spring I was in a very critical condition, my system was all run down. I felt drowsy and miserable, and thought I would surely die if I did not get something to build me up. After reading one of your almanacs I decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and before I had taken two bottles I had gained ten pounds in weight, and am now in perfect health, and I can certainly recommend Burdock Blood Bitters to build up the system."

LIFE ON OTHER PLANETS.

A Subject About Which We Know Absolutely Nothing.

Upon the question whether life bearing planets can exist in other solar systems than our own the answer of science is clear and distinct. It is precisely the same which Professor Newcomb gave concerning the possible inhabitants of Mars, "The reader knows just as much of the subject as I do, and that is nothing at all." Within our solar system we can indeed form some crude estimate of probabilities; beyond it, nothing. All the amazing progress of modern science, all the revelations made by the spectroscope or by photography, all the advance in biology, have not brought us one step nearer an answer to the question, "Is this the only inhabited world?" We stand essentially where Whewell and Brewster did in the middle of the nineteenth century, or we might indeed say where Galileo and Capoano were 300 years ago. We can indeed spin out the discussion at greater length than our predecessors and can introduce a far larger number of more or less irrelevant facts, but of serious argument, either for or against, we are entirely destitute. — Professor Maunder in Knowledge.

Irving Improved.

"Now tell me what you can about Ichabod Crane," said the teacher as she took up the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

The little pupil described Ichabod's personal appearance and concluded with, "And he carried home the palm that belonged to the parson."

The teacher gasped. "What are you talking about?" she demanded.

"Well, it said so in the book, and I'll find it for you," said the pupil excitedly, and she turned the pages until she found a certain paragraph which she triumphantly pointed out. And the teacher read, "It was a matter of no little vanity to him on Sundays to take his station in front of the church gallery with a band of chosen singers, where in his own mind he completely carried away the palm from the parson."

Umbrellas and Religious Services.

Umbrellas have always been intimately associated with religious services in Catholic churches. They were introduced in the church services of the Byzantine church, are borne over the host in procession and form part of the pontifical regalia as well as that of a cardinal. It is quite likely that the cardinal's hat is derived from the umbrella.

In Italian heraldry a vermilion umbrella in a field argent signifies dominion. The Harleian manuscripts have at least one drawing of an Anglo-Saxon gentleman whose servant shades him with a sort of umbrella having a curved handle and evidently not meant to close.

No Bother Whatever.

"Do you ever have any trouble with the plants when your wife goes away?" asked the hatchet faced man sadly.

"None whatever," replied the cheerful chap. "They always die within a week after she leaves, and all I have to do is to put them away until she comes back."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

EAT WHILE THEY MOVE.

Chef Tells of a Peculiarity of Patrons of Dining Cars.

The chef on one of the Pennsylvania dining cars was particularly talkative the other day. The train was waiting for its Philadelphia passengers, and every table in the diner was occupied. The second call of Baltimore passengers were standing around the aisles waiting for vacant places. There was no little amount of dissension among those whose appetites had not yet been appeased. The diners seemed to be eating in a most leisurely fashion, with no apparent concern for those who were less fortunate.

"It's always the way," said the dark complexioned cook, glancing through the car. "When the train is running along those people will eat about twice as fast as they do ordinarily. But when she comes to a stop they start to talk and hardly touch a bite. It's the motion of the moving train that does it. Now, you just watch them and see if I'm not right."

Just then the train pulled out, and the observer saw a sight which firmly convinced him that his informant had spoken truthfully. Plates, knives and forks began to rattle industriously. Every one began to eat as if his life depended upon the next mouthful.

"Didn't I tell you so!" called out the grinning philosopher.

"The" O'Gorman Mahon.

The last of the Irish duelists, O'Gorman Mahon, was indignant at the number of his colleagues in the Irish party who claimed the prefix and by way of ridiculing their pretensions to chieftainship assured the house there were only three personages properly entitled to it—the pope, the devil and the O'Gorman Mahon. The O'Conor Don, The McDermott, The O'Donoghue, The McGillicuddy of the Reeks, The O'Grady and The O'Sullivan are regarded as entitled to the distinction as heads of old Irish families, clans or septs. There are also some in Scotland, notably "The McNab," whose ancestor had a boat of his own at the time of the flood, being too proud to accept the hospitality of Noah.

Brain Controls Every Muscle.

Injury to Brain or Nerves, Deficiency of Nerve Force, Mean Paralysis and Helplessness.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Every muscle of the body controlled by the will is connected with the brain, and every muscular action is originated by nervous force, generated in the brain and transmitted along the nerves to the muscles.

When the nerves are injured or diseased, when there is a deficiency in the supply of nervous energy, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or some form of helplessness results because the brain no longer has control of the muscles.

It may be weak heart action, inability to digest food, failure of the lungs to purify the blood or impaired action of any of the vital organs, but the cause of trouble is with the nerves.

The restorative action of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is soon felt throughout the entire system, because it restores the vigor and vitality of the nerves—fills them with new nerve force, the vital power of the body; wakness, nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness and low spirits disappear and new energy and strength take their place.

Mr. John Rouael, school teacher, living at 596 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—

"As a remedy for nervousness and nervous dizzy headaches, I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food excellent. I was troubled a great deal with headache, and my system was pretty well run down, but the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has made a radical change in my condition. My nerves have become strong and healthy, the headaches have entirely disappeared, and I believe that the credit is entirely due to this preparation."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 7

OLD ENGLISH LAWS.

Some Curious Ones That No One Ever Needs—The Price of Beer—Fun. Bidding Bigamy.

The Briton is considered to be the most law-abiding citizen in the world. And yet they all break the law—unconsciously, of course—nearly every day of their lives.

To begin with the church, the bishops of the Church of England wear a short apron, which, strictly speaking, is not an apron at all, but a shorb cassock without collar or sleeves. It should be worn by all ranks of the clergy from the bishop to the deacon, and a hundred years ago this was so. The law has never been repealed, although it is practically obsolete except, as already stated, as regards the bishops.

Then we have the laws for the due observance of Sunday, which still remain in the statute books. Charles I. and his Parliament were responsible for an act which forbids any carrier to travel on business that day, the penalty being twenty shillings.

It is a moot point—which we do not believe has been tested—whether this law would not suffice to stop the railway companies' Sunday traffic. They are carriers in every sense of the word, and had they been in existence prior to 1627 would almost certainly have been mentioned in the act.

Of course, if a test case were brought before the courts, the only result would be that a bill would be hurriedly drafted by the Railway Companies' Association in order to repeal the out-of-date law at the earliest possible moment.

There was another curious act passed in "1 Caroli I.," as the statute book calls it, by which it was declared illegal to play any games on a Sunday. The penalty—still enforceable—is 3s. 4d. for each offence; the alternative is to spend three hours in the stocks.

A still more remarkable law remains unrepealed, dating from the time of "1 Jacobi I."—i.e., the first year of the reign of James I., which was 1603. By this it is illegal to charge more than one penny a quart for the best ale or beer, and one halfpenny a quart for small beer, or light table beer, as we call it. The penalty for each offence was twenty shillings.

In "1 Jacobi I." it was also forbidden for any man or woman to marry until their former wife or husband should be dead. This is merely their quaint way of forbidding bigamy. Of course, it will always be a serious thing—in more senses than one—for a man to have two wives, but it was much more serious in "1 Jacobi I." for the penalty was death for each offence.

Official receivers frequently express an indignant opinion that a bankrupt during his examination has committed perjury. But scolding is of no use in such cases, and vague threats as to the public prosecutor are frequently little better.

What the receiver should do is to invoke the aid of our old friend "1 Jacobi I.," and order the offender to be nailed by one ear to the pillory for two hours for each offence, the ear to be cut off when the man is released. The only difficulty would be that many bankrupts would not have ears enough.

The sumptuary laws have never been properly withdrawn. The repeal of certain of these enactments—also in 1603—does not appear to cover several curious acts passed in the reign of good King Hal.

This worthy gentleman regulated the dress of every person in his kingdom. Nobody under the rank of a knight or a knight's lady or offspring was allowed to wear crimson or blue velvet or embroidered apparel. Damask and satin were forbidden to people whose income did not exceed £100 per annum.

Persons with fewer than 200 marks a year—that is, about £140—were not allowed to wear velvet gowns, jackets or coats, or gold ornaments of any kind.

This law, if it were taken from the shelves and dusted ready for everyday use again, would do away with the velvet jacket of the gamekeeper and the poacher. The plea that these articles are more frequently made of velveteen than velvet would only make the case worse, by bringing up another law which forbids the lowering of the standard of manufacture.

The velvet collar on the overcoats of many of our readers, and the skull cap of the same material would have to be abandoned. The wives of some of us would have to sell or give away their silk dresses, gold bangles and rings, and their fur jackets. Even a narrow edging of fur around the wristbands and the collar would be forbidden by this terrible act.

The only consolation is that the woman of those days simply refused to obey the sumptuary laws, and and probably their descendants of today would be equally heroic in the sacred cause of dress.

Queen Elizabeth, being a woman herself, appreciated this difficulty, and met it with her usual promptitude. When it was reported to her that a certain law regulating the length of cloaks and the quantity of material they were to contain was being disregarded she stationed men at the city gates, armed with huge scissors, and if anybody passed with a cloak that was over long, out came the scissors and remorselessly snipped a piece away.

The laws of the good old times regulated everything. The wages to be paid by farmers to their overseers and men, the prices of various articles of merchandise, the dress to be worn by each rank of society.

When it was reported that gluttony was increasing in all classes it was promptly enacted that servants should have only one meal of meat or fish daily, and their masters two, the appetite to be stayed during the remainder of the day by milk, butter, cheese, bread and beer.

As for bluff King Hal, who was not the man to consider the feelings of spring poets, he even ordered all his subjects to cut their hair short.

WOLSELEY ANECDOTES.

His One Dread Mitigated by Trusting Implicitly in God's Providence.

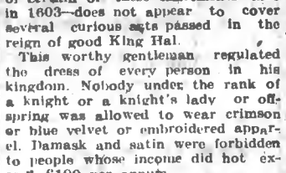
Lord Wolseley says he has often thought to himself, before the bullets have begun to whistle near him, whether he would be killed that day, and his one dread has been—a dread that ate into his soul—that if killed he would die without having made the name he hoped a merciful God might permit him to win. "All through my life—sinner though I have been—I trusted implicitly in God's providence; I believed He watched over me, and intended me for some important work."

During the war of 1860 the treacherous Chinese captured Sir Harry Parkes while carrying on negotiations in their camp. Mr. Loch rode up to General Sir Hope Grant, told him of the position, and then volunteered to ride to Chang-kia-wan and bring up the British, who were in the town. Sir Hope agreed, and said: "I will send Wolseley with you." Capt. Brabazon, who was standing close by, said: "Colonel Wolseley has not yet come up, sir; may I go instead?" He went, never to return. Had I been there at the moment I should have been captured, and beheaded as he was near the Pa-li-chwang Bridge very shortly afterwards, whilst being taken as a prisoner to Pekin. How inscrutable are the ways of Providence!

The extent to which stalwart soldiers may become a terrified mob in the twinkling of an eye is amazing. The surrounding darkness, and the suddenness with which they are awakened; the shouts, and, still worse, the clang of arms, all add to their causeless flight. Men so bewildered often bayonet one another; I have known even officers to cut down their comrades in the first burst of wild alarm. Once an officer took aim at an enemy and sent a bullet through his own foot.

Gordon, "God's friend," was in many ways the most remarkable man I ever knew. He told me he prayed daily for two men, of whom I was one. He was one of the very few friends I ever had who came up to my estimate of the Christian hero.

I have often been asked if I could point to any advantage anyone ever secured from being a Freemason; my answer has always been that the only wounded officer left in the Redan on September 8, 1855, who was taken by the Russians to the hospital in the city, was Captain Herbert Vaughan, of the 90th Light Infantry. This advantage he secured by making himself known as a Mason to the first Russian officer who approached him as he lay badly shot through both legs.



$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

The Vice-President Independent Order of Good Templars.

An experience which many women have was related by Miss Agnes Stebbins, of 231 East 59th Street, New York City, as follows: "I had very poor health for a year until life looked dark and dreary to me. Had headaches, backache, also pain, my sleep was broken and fitful. I longed for health. Tried several medicines but none were of any lasting benefit until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I soon realized that I had found the right remedy. It helped nature to throw off the poisons that saturated the system, removed all pains and strengthened the digestive organs, and brought the roses of health back to my cheeks. This medicine if taken occasionally keeps the system in perfect condition, helping it to throw off the disease and consequences of exposure to dampness. I am pleased to give it my endorsement."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A SEA GIRT TOMB.

Francois Rene Was Buried on a Rock in the Atlantic.

Francois Rene, vicomte de Chateaubriand, some twenty years before his death, writing to the mayor of St. Malo, his native town, made the request that the town would grant him on the west point of the rock of Grand bay a space sufficient for his burial. To this island rock, accessible only at low tide, the body of the great French litterateur was brought at his death.

A granite cross marks the spot. At high tide the rock becomes an island, and the waves of the Atlantic beat against this lonely grave. The fiftieth anniversary of the funeral was celebrated by a pilgrimage to the Grand bay, each person being requested to take some floral tribute.

After solemn mass in the cathedral a procession, headed by the mayor and two members of the French academy, crossed the sands and mounted the rocky slopes, and with the sound of music and the firing of salutes the floral homage was made. Poems composed for the occasion were recited, an oration was pronounced by M. le Vicomte de Vogue, and at night the Grand bay displayed green funeral lights.

Mourning In Korea.

Koreans wear full mourning for their fathers. The dress is of hemp cloth, with a hempen girdle. A face shield is used to show that the wearer is a sinner and must not speak to any one unless addressed. The costume is retained for three years, the shield for three months. This is worn for a father only. Secondary mourning is worn for a mother and no mourning at all for a wife. The hat is of wicker. During the China-Japanese war the United States minister ordered every American citizen to have in readiness a dress of this sort for disguise in case of flight.

His Standard of Measurement.

"I thought you claimed this was a good restaurant," he grumbled as they passed from the room of the big dry goods store.

"Well, isn't it?"

"Bah! I know of a place over on Madison street where you can get three times as much as we've had for a quarter."

Landee's Grasshopper.

The golden grasshopper on the tower of the Royal Exchange has been for nearly three and a half centuries a London landmark as familiar as the cross on St. Paul's or the dragon on Bow Church steeple.

Sir Thomas Gresham, a royal agent in three successive reigns, founded the Exchange in the reign of Elizabeth. He erected at his own expense a beautiful structure in the Flemish style of architecture, with shops on the first floor. A bell-tower crowned by a huge grasshopper, stood on one side of the chief entrance. The bell in this tower summoned the merchants at 12 o'clock noon and 6 o'clock evening. During the Great Fire of 1666 the building was totally destroyed. The statues of kings and queens which ornamented the corridors were precipitated into the enormous cellars, and with them the tower and grasshopper.

Gresham was loyally loved by the metropolis, and his generous services were not forgotten. From the mountain of debris the grasshopper was rescued, and it was placed—a lofty vane of gilt brass—above the new dome supported by eight Corinthian columns, and to this hour swings to the points of the compass, perpetuating the sign and crest of the Gresham family. The old clock is in this tower, and had four dials and chimed four times daily. On Sunday, "the 104th Psalm"; on Monday, "God Save the King"; on Tuesday, "Waterloo March"; on Wednesday, "There's nae luck aboot the hoose"; on Thursday, "See the Conquering Hero Come"; on Friday, "Life Let Us Cherish," and on Saturday, "Foot-Guards' March." In 1838 fire again devastated the stately building, beginning soon after 10 o'clock at night, and by next morning the clock-tower alone was standing. It is significant that the last air played by the chimes before they went crashing through the tower roof, crushing the entrance arch below, was, "There's nae luck aboot the hoose," then the eight bells ceased their clanging.

The grasshopper was unharmed, and to this day remains, eleven feet of shimmering metal looking down from its perch 108 feet above the busy streets.

King Edward VII. Prayer Book.

Among the exhibits of printed books at the Guild of Handicraft, recently opened at Bond street, London, special interest attaches to the "Praper-bool of King Edward VII.," of which the presentation copy that his Majesty has promised to accept is on view. This Prayer-book, which has taken two years to produce, has been brought out by the special permission of the King. The type has been specially designed by Mr. C. R. Ashbee, while the decorations which consist of about 150 wood-cut blocks.

The Tone of Machinery.

Engineers judge of the condition of their machinery by the tone it gives out while running. Every engine, whether stationary or locomotive, has a particular tone of its own. The engineer becomes accustomed to that, and any departure from it at once excites a suspicion that all is not right. The engineer may not know what is the matter. He may have no ear for music, but the change in the tone of his machine will be instantly perceptible, will be instantly recognized and will start him on an immediate investigation.

While the Orchestra Plays.

"I do wish the woman back of me would stop kicking my chair," sighed a woman at the theater the other evening. "Ever since the overture began she has been keeping time with her feet, and besides all that she is fanning the back of my neck and trying to hum a tune she doesn't know. Isn't it strange how some people act when there's any music about? Now, just look at that little woman in the second row tapping all five fingers of one hand against her forehead. She's unconscious of it too. And there's another woman over there in the box who seems to think she is leading the orchestra with her fan. The men are just as bad too. Just look around and see the number of men who are keeping time with their heads, their hands or their feet. Then there is always some creature who makes a nuisance of himself by whistling through his teeth all the time the orchestra is playing. Even you, my dear"—this to her husband—"are keeping strict time with your programme while I'm lecturing about other people's misconduct."

How Iron-ox Tablets Cured a Welland Man's Sluggish Liver.

February 2, 1903.

I was feeling bad; was sleepy all the time; as soon as I ate my meals I would fall asleep if I did not go out. Saw the doctor two or three times, but that did me no good. I was in the drug store and picked up one of your little booklets and read about Iron-ox Tablets being good for the liver; took about four boxes and that tired feeling was gone. I felt like a new man. Iron-ox Tablets cured me.

Ald. Adams thought the Water Commissioners should at once take steps to install a filter.

His Worship remarked that it was a pleasure to welcome Ald. Adams as a member of the Council. The Mayor, speaking on the question of Water Works, said that there were parts of the town which were unprotected from fire, and hoped that this would be remedied. He congratulated the Water Commissioners on the record of 1903, and felt that all would agree that the purchase of the Water Works was a good move.

ALD. McWILLIAMS ON MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

The next speaker was Ald. McWilliams, who addressed the gathering on one or two aspects of the present form of municipal government. The municipal system of government in Ontario has been thought for many years to be nearly perfect, but of late some changes have been contemplated or inaugurated. One of these changes was in the reduction in the number of County Councillors, to which some objections have been taken because of the fact that it separated the county affairs from the townships. Another reform was one which applied more particularly to Town and City Councils. It had been found that it was becoming increasingly difficult to secure good men to take office as Aldermen. To remedy this in Toronto, a Board of Control had been appointed, which had proven successful there and might now be extended to towns.

A third innovation was the abolition of the ward system, of which Peterborough was one of the first towns to adopt. He believed that this system had been fairly successful, though not altogether so, the most serious objection was that it was extremely difficult for the average voter to express an intelligent opinion on the fitness of the whole board of aldermen, for re-election. Ald. McWilliams paid a high tribute to the exceptional ability of Mr. Armstrong, the town clerk, and said that but for him he would have found it very difficult to form an opinion on municipal questions. The remedy for the second difficulty experienced was the election of the aldermen for two year terms.

Ald. McWilliams did not believe that it would be a good policy to pay aldermen as had been suggested by Mr. Moore, but his solution would be the appointment of small boards of commissioners to whom could be handed over the working out the details of important matters. He thought the Council should be representative of all classes.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charlen following complimented the Council on its re-election and upon its record. He had not been a long resident of Peterborough, but he had seen that it was bound to grow. The Trent Valley Canal was an absolute necessity to Peterborough, and it should be put upon a business busis. Apart from the fact that Peterborough was a manufacturing town, it was also a good distributing town. He was proud to live in a town which enjoyed so many advantages. He expressed the honour he felt at being elected to the position of President of the Board of Trade, and hoped the citizens would give the Board their support.

Mr. E. A. Peck followed, congratulating the Mayor and Council on their election, and he believed it to be the general opinion that the Council was an excellent one. He had felt it an honour to be invited to attend the banquet as representing the County Council, and had been deeply interested in the discussion, particularly in that on the Trent Valley Canal. He was of the opinion that the town should be raised to the standing of a city, and enumerated some of the advantages to be gained.

Ald. McWilliams, in answer to a question, asked by Mr. Moore, gave some of the reasons why it had been decided by the Committee of the Whole not to apply for city incorporation, although he had been in favour of it himself.

MR. ARMSTRONG'S LUCID ADDRESS.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong, in response to a request from the Mayor gave some information with reference to the question of city incorporation, stated that the great question people were asking was, "What will it cost?" and he had found that on only two matters would the expenditure be raised. One of these was for an increase in the salary of the Police Magistrate of $200 a year, and the other in the Court of Revision. These were the only instances in which the expenditure would be increased. There would, however, be some changes in other matters. One of these would be the increase of qualification for Alderman from $100, freehold and $1200 leasehold, to $600 freehold and $2000 leasehold property qualification. There would also be some change in the Police Department, that department being administered by Commissioners.

Mr. Armstrong also enumerated a number of other minor changes which city incorporation would necessitate. These will be dealt with later in a special article.

Mr. Matthews brought up the question of salaries to town officials. He thought now that the fifth ward had been taken over increased salaries should be paid on account of the increased work, and dwelt on the efficiency with which they had filled their offices.

Mr. Dumble followed along the same line.

Mr. J. J. McBain, Mr. Yelland, Ald. Rush, F. H. Dobbin, Ald. Batten, E. H. D Hall, also spoke briefly.

Ald. Edgcumbe and Mr. Miller favoured the company with solos.

After giving three hearty cheers and a tiger for His Worship Mayor Roger, the gathering dispersed about 11 o'clock.

COUNTY COUNCIL'S OPENING MEETING.

Mr. E. A. Peck Unanimously Elected Warden This Afternoon.

Receiving of Deputation—Council Went into Committee of the Whole to Appoint Committee.

The January Session of the County Council of the County of Peterborough was commenced this afternoon at 2 p.m.

The following members were in attendance: — Councillors Richard Crowe, Dennis Maloney, W. T. Curtis, Wm. T. Buck, Thos. Johnston, E. A. Peck, Thos. M. Hunter, G. W. Fitzgerald and John Monoque.

Councillor Shaw was the only absent member when the Council went into Session.

ELECTION OF WARDEN

The Clerk, Mr. R. P. Watt, made the official announcement that the first duty of the Council was the selection of one of their number to fill the position of Warden for 1904.

Councillor Fitzgerald moved, seconded by Councillor Curtis, that Councillor E. A. Peck be Warden for the coming year.

There being no other nominations, the Clerk declared Councillor Peck duly elected Warden for 1904.

The announcement was received with applause.

The newly elected Warden then donned the robes of office and was escorted to his chair by Councillors Fitzgerald and Curtis. He then addressed the Council and said that he was exceedingly gratified that he had been elected Warden of the County. It was a position any citizen might feel proud to occupy. He would endeavour to discharge the duties of the office with the utmost care for the interests of the County. There were two matters out of the ordinary that would come up at this session. The first was that since the last session of the Council the important Village of Ashburnham had seen fit to annex itself to its sister municipality of Peterborough. It would be necessary to have the accounts adjusted between the town and the county. The other matter was regarding the erection of a House of Refuge for the county. The Legislature had now made it compulsory to erect a House of Refuge by the first of Jan., 1906. It may not be necessary to take action at this session of the council but he thought the members might as well have these matters before them. He did not think it necessary to say anything further and asked the members to proceed with the business of the session.

The clerk read the minutes of the last session of the council, which were on motion adopted.

Several communications were read and held over.

RECEIVING OF DEPUTATIONS.

It was arranged that Wednesday afternoon be fixed for the receiving of deputations.

Councillor Hunter moved, seconded by Councillor Moloney, that the council go into Committee of the Whole for the appointing of the Standing Committees for the year.

The council then adjourned to meet at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

THE HEAVY SNOWS IMPEDE TRAFFIC

From the West—Roads to the North are Blocked.

Trains from the west were two hours late to-day, the cause of this being the heavy snow storms. The railways report that it is only to the west that their lines are blocked, and told the Examiner to-day that the trains from the east were on time. Early this morning a blinding snow storm began, and continued throughout the day, and the strong wind caused the snow to drift to an almost impassible degree in the country. The roads to the north and west are so blocked as to be almost impassable, according to the story of a solitary farmer who had to come to town on business. The streets were almost deserted throughout the day, very few caring to stir outside their doors and brave the fury of the tempest.

The Picton hockey team is expected here to-night, and their arrival will fortunately not be delayed, as might have been the case. The sky throughout the forenoon and the beginning of the afternoon seemed to indicate that the storm had not reached its zenith.

IN MEMORY OF "BOBBIE BURNS."

A Pleasant Evening was Spend Last Night at Residence of Mr. Houston.

Last night at the residence of Mr. W. Houston a number of Scotch friends met to celebrate the anniversary of Burns' birthday. A splendid repast was provided, consisting of Haggis and other choice dishes. After supper, the chairman, Mr. Houston, in a neat little speech, brought to the mind of those present the immortal memory of the Scottish bard. Mr. Houston then gave the toast, "The Immortal Memory," after which the "Star of Robbie Burns," was sung by Mr. J. MacIntosh. "The King" was then given in toast by Mr. T. Hendry, after which "Ma Nannie's Awa'" was sung by Mr. J. Lang. Mr. F. Whyte then gave the "Army and Navy," in toast. Following that, many songs were sung, including "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," by Mr. Houston; "Rantin' Robin," by Mr. Hendry; "Bonnie Mary o' Argyle," by Mr. Paton, and a recitation, entitled "Burns' Address to the De'il," by Mr. Irvine. After a very happy evening the company joined hearts and hands in singing "Auld Lang Syne." It was a great success and could well be called "A Nicht wi' Burns."
